(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this Order:

(1) "Agave fiber" means agave fiber of the species of agave sisalana, agave fourcroydes, and agave cantala, of all grades and qualities including tow, waste, fiber under 20" in length, commonly known in the trade as sisal, henequen, cantala and maguey, and sometimes preceded by an adjective designating the country or district of origin.

(4) "Processing" means any use of Agave Fiber for the manufacture of any article or commodity into which Agave Fiber goes or of which it becomes a part.

(5) "Dealer" means any person who procures Agave Cordage or Agave Twine for storage or for sale, and includes selling agents, warehousemen, and other commercially recognized agents acting for their own account or for others, whether or not acquiring title to such Agave Cordage or Agave Twine.

(6) "Wrapping twine" means twine, including lath yarns (ply and yarn goods) as included in National Bureau of Standards Simplified Practice Recommendation R 92-38, and any other twine suitable for the same purposes for which those twines described in said Simplified Practice Recommendation R 92-38 are used, which contains Agave Fiber, but shall not include Binder Twine.

(7) "Binder twine" or "Binding Twine" means a single yarn twine, manufactured of Agave Fiber, measuring 500 feet, 550 feet, 600 feet or 650 feet to the pound, with a plus or minus tolerance of 5 per centum which contains a lubricant of not less than 10 per centum of the total weight of the twine and an insect repellent, and is put up in balls of approximately 5 or 8 pounds each, and is suitable for use with a harvesting machine, and is used in the harvesting of agricultural products.

(c) Restrictions on deliveries of Agave fibers. No Person shall hereafter make or accept delivery of Agave Fiber, of any grade or quality, unless specifically authorized by the Director of Industry Operations: Provided, however, That deliveries of Agave Fiber may be made:

(g) Control of stocks of Agave Fiber. Control is hereby taken of the distribution and use of Agave Fiber. Any Agave Fiber at any time hereafter in the inventory of any person shall be sold and delivered by such person if, and as, specifically directed in any order of the Director of Industry Operations which may be issued whenever the Director of Industry Operations shall determine that a shortage of any particular grade of Agave Fiber for defense, or for private account and for export, renders it necessary or appropriate so to allocate such Agave Fiber in the public interest, or to promote the National Defense by so directing its sale and delivery by such person. Any such sale shall be made at the established prices and terms of sale and payment therefor. No person shall dispose of or use Agave Fiber in any manner inconsistent with any such order.

(2) Each cordage processor shall at the request of the War Production Board on forms and in the manner prescribed, furnish all the information asked necessary to effect the terms of this Order.

(i) Appeal. Any Person affected by this Order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a degree of unemployment which would be unreasonably disproportionate compared with the amount of Agave Fiber conserved, or that compliance with this Order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from nondefense to defense work, may appeal to the War Production Board by letter or telegram: Ref: M-84, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reason he considers he is entitled to relief. The Director of Industry Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

PART 1093—SXP COTTON SEED

General Preference Order No. M-92 To Conserve the Supply and Direct the Distribution of Domestically Produced SXP Cotton Seed

Whereas, the uncertainty of future shipments of Egyptian cotton from abroad and national defense requirements for extra long staple cotton have created a shortage of the supply thereof for defense, for private account, and for export, and it is necessary in the public interest and to promote the national defense to conserve and allocate the existing supply of domestically produced SXP cotton seed in the manner and to the extent hereinafter in this Order provided:

Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered, That:

Any such seed found to be suitable for planting shall be subject to the provisions of paragraph (d).

(d) Restrictions on deliveries of SXP cotton seed and assignment of Preference Ratings. Notwithstanding anything in Priorities Regulation No. 1 to the contrary, no oil mill or cotton gin in the States of Texas, New Mexico, or Arizona shall hereafter sell or otherwise transfer title to, or make any deliveries of, and no Person shall purchase or accept delivery of SXP cotton seed found by a duly authorized representative of the Secretary of Agriculture to be suitable for planting, by determination on Form PD-288, except upon the following categories of purchase orders:

and found to be in either of such categories by a duly authorized representative of the Secretary of Agriculture. Such orders are hereby assigned a preference rating of B-1, and acceptance thereof is required as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 1.

(2) Such other purchase orders as may from time to time be specifically authorized by the Director of Industry Operations, and acceptance whereof may be required by said Director.

(e) Application of Preference Rating. Any person, in order to apply the preference rating assigned by paragraph (d) (1) to deliveries to him, must:

(1) Endorse on each purchase order which is covered by the rating assigned hereunder, a statement in the following form, signed by an official duly authorized for such purpose, specifying the rating assigned and the appropriate Serial Number or Numbers:

Preference Rating B-1 is applied hereto under Preference Rating Order M-81, with the terms of which Order the undersigned is familiar.

The Director of Industry Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

That said defendant also wilfully violated section 4 II (e) of the Act and Part II (e) of the Code by selling during the period January 1, 1941, to March 31, 1941, both dates inclusive, five cars or approximately 274.4 net tons of modified mine run, and mine run coals, produced by said defendant at its said mine, to Emerson Mfg. Co., Suncook, New Hampshire, at $1.95 per net ton f. o. b. said mine, whereas said coal is classified as Size Group 3 and priced at $2.20 per net ton f. o. b. said mine in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 1 For All Shipments Except Truck.

That said defendant also wilfully violated section 4 II (e) and (h) of the Act, Part II (e) and (h) of the Code, and Rule 1 of section III of the Marketing Rules and Regulations, by allowing, during the period October 1, 1940, to March 31, 1941, both dates inclusive, distributor's discounts from the applicable minimum prices on the sales of approximately 1,012.55 net tons of various sized coals, produced by said defendant at its said mine, to H. M. Scott, who was not registered as a distributor by the Division.

That said defendant also wilfully violated section 4 II (e) of the Act and Part II (e) of the Code by selling through C. R. Burkholder to the Penn Hardware Company of Reading, Pennsylvania, during the period from February 3, 1941, to February 5, 1941, both dates inclusive, approximately 97.5 net tons of screen lump coal, Size Group No. 1 produced by said defendant at its said mine at a price of $2.40 per net ton f. o. b. the mine, whereas, the effective minimum price for said coal is $2.45 per net ton f. o. b. the mine, as set forth in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 1 For All Shipments Except Truck.

That said defendant also wilfully violated Rule 9 (a) of Section II of the Marketing Rules and Regulations by allowing and paying to C. R. Burkholder a sales commission of 30 cents per net ton on the transactions referred to in the paragraph immediately above, although a certified copy of a sales agency agreement between said defendant and said C. R. Burkholder was not filed with the Division as required by Rule 4 of Section II of the Marketing Rules and Regulations.

[Docket No. A-721, Part II]

MEMORANDUM OFINION AND NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR REOPENING THE HEARING

District Board No. 3 filed an original petition, pursuant to the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, in Docket No. A-721, for the establishment of price classifications and minimum prices for the coals of certain mines in District No. 3. Thereafter, an Order Granting Temporary Relief and Conditionally Providing for Final Relief was entered on March 25, 1941, 6 F.R. 1887, in the said docket establishing price classifications and minimum prices for such coals, including the coals of the Duffey Mine, Mine Index No. 1193, of A. B. Holcomb, a code member in District No. 3, for truck shipments. The said Order provided that the minimum prices established therein were temporary for a period of forty-five (45) days and that within that period applications to stay, terminate, or modify such temporary minimum prices or pleadings in opposition to the granting of the permanent relief requested in the original petition might be filed.

Within such period, Eugene L. Campbell et al. (six others), code members in District No. 3 (the "Campbell petitioners"), filed an intervening petition in Docket No. A-721 to modify the temporary minimum prices established for the coals of Mine Index No. 1193 and in opposition to granting the permanent relief requested in the original petition, and requesting that the minimum prices temporarily established for the coals of the said mine be increased in various particulars. Thereafter an Order Reopening Proceedings as to Mine Index No. 1193, Severing Portion of Docket No. A-721 Relating to Mine Index No. 1193 and Designating Same as Docket No. A-721 Part II and Notice of and Order for Hearing was entered on September 6, 1941, directing that a hearing be held in regard to the revision of the minimum prices for the coals of the said mine in Size Groups 2, 5, and 7 for truck shipments.

Pursuant to Orders of the Director, a hearing in Docket No. A-721 Part II was held on November 7, 1941, before Charles S. Mitchell, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof in Clarksburg, West Virginia. All interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise be heard. District Board No. 3 and the Campbell petitioners appeared. The preparation and filing of a report by the Examiner having been waived by the parties, the record in the proceeding was thereupon submitted to the undersigned. On December 27, 1941, 6 F.R. 6308, the undersigned made Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law and rendered an Opinion in Docket No. A-721 Part II, and an Order was entered granting the relief prayed for by the Campbell petitioners, effective fifteen (15) days from the date of the Order.

On January 10, 1942, District Board No. 3 filed a petition to reconsider and modify, or, in the alternative, to vacate the said Order of December 27, 1941, and to reopen the record in Docket No. A-721, Part II for the purpose of taking additional evidence. District Board No. 3 also filed a motion to stay the effect and operation of the said Order of December 27, 1941. In its said petition, District Board No. 3 indicates that it desires to adduce the testimony of D. T. Buckley, Chairman of District Board No. 3, to the effect that the said Order of December 27, 1941, will seriously impair the coordination existing among No. 5 Block Seam code member producers, and between them and other competitors, including the Campbell petitioners. Moreover, the petition alleges that it was not possible for Buckley to attend the hearing at Clarksburg, West Virginia, on November 7, 1941, and that no competent witness testified at the said hearing concerning such coordination.

It is apparent from the record that the evidence heretofore adduced as to such coordination is unsatisfactory, and it appears that the record should be reopened for the purpose of taking additional evidence as to such coordination and also as to the marketing history of the coals of the competing code member producers involved in such coordination subsequent to the entry of the said Order of December 27, 1941. The parties should not, however, be permitted to introduce cumulative evidence as to such matters. The evidence indicates that the Campbell petitioners had not suffered a material loss in operating time because of the temporary minimum prices established for the coals of the said mine by the said Order of March 25, 1941. Moreover, the Campbell petitioners have not filed any pleading in opposition to the said petition and motion of District Board No. 3. It appears, therefore, that the parties will not be prejudiced by the vacating of the said Order of December 27, 1941, and the reestablishment of the temporary minimum prices provided by the said Order of March 25, 1941, for the coals of the said mine.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That the petition and motion filed by District Board No. 3 in Docket No. A-721 Part II be granted to the extent set forth herein and in all other respects denied.

It is further ordered, That the hearing in Docket No. A-721 Part II be reopened for the purpose of taking additional evidence not cumulative of evidence already adduced and that such record be submitted to the Acting Director.

It is further ordered, That such hearing be held on March 9, 1942, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day before Examiner Joseph A. Huston, at a hearing room of the Bituminous Coal Division, at the Post Office Building, Clarksburg, West Virginia.

It is further ordered, That the said Order of December 27, 1941, be, and it hereby is, vacated and set aside.

And it is further ordered, That commencing forthwith, the minimum prices set forth in the said Order of March 25, 1941, for the coals of the Duffey Mine, Mine Index No. 1193, of A. B. Holcomb, for truck shipments be, and they hereby are, temporarily reestablished, pending the said hearing.

Notice is hereby given that applications to stay, terminate or modify the temporary relief granted herein may be filed pursuant to the Rules and Regulations Governing Practice and Procedure Before the Bituminous Coal Division in Proceedings Instituted Pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

Dated: February 19, 1942.

[Docket No. D-15]

IN THE MATTER OF PROCEEDINGS TO DETERMINE IF CERTAIN REGISTERED DISTRIBUTORS ARE BONA FIDE MERCHANTS ACTIVELY, REGULARLY AND CONTINUOUSLY ENGAGED IN THE BUSINESS OF PURCHASING COAL FOR RESALE AND ACTUALLY RESELLING IT IN NOT LESS THAN CARGO OR RAILROAD CARLOAD LOTS WITHIN THE MEANING OF § 304.13 OF THE RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE REGISTRATION OF DISTRIBUTORS: AND FOR THE REVOCATION OF THE REGISTRATION OF DISTRIBUTORS WHO ARE NOT SO ENGAGED

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

The Bituminous Coal Division having, on June 13, 1941, issued Order No. 325, requiring all registered distributors to report the details of their purchases and resales for the period from October 1, 1940 to June 1, 1941, and

On August 29, 1941, having issued a Statement of the Director, No. 40, concerning the policy and procedure of the Division in determining eligibility of applicants for registration as distributors, setting forth therein that the reports required to be filed by said Order No. 325 "are now being studied by the Division, and appropriate steps will be taken to remove from the list of registered distributors all ineligible persons," and

The registered distributors, whose names and addresses are set forth in Exhibit A, attached hereto, having failed to file the reports required by said Order No. 325, and having failed thereby to show that they are bona fide merchants actively, regularly and continuously engaged in the business of purchasing coal for resale and reselling it in not less than cargo or railroad carload lots within the meaning of Section 304.13 of the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors.

It is, therefore, ordered, That each of said registered distributors, whose names are set forth in Exhibit A, attached hereto, be, and is hereby required to show cause why his or its registration should not be revoked, as hereinafter provided;

It is further ordered, That each of said registered distributors shall file a verified answer to this Order to Show Cause, on or before April 1, 1942, at the offices of the Division, 734 15th St. NW., Washington, D. C., setting forth therein the following information with respect to purchases and resales of bituminous coal made by him or it from October 1, 1940 (or from the date of his or its registration, whichever is later) to February 1, 1942:

(1) Name, address and registration number.

(2) The tonnage purchased during each month (a) direct from code members, (b) from sales agents of code members, and (c) from other registered distributors. (Give the name and address of each code member, sales agent or registered distributor from whom such purchases were made.)

(3) Total tonnage purchased during each month (a) upon which discounts from the minimum prices were allowed, and (b) upon which no discounts from the minimum prices were allowed.

(4) Total tonnage resold during each month in less than cargo or railroad carload lots, or other retail transactions. Include all coal physically handled by distributor (except water-borne coal physically handled over docks where the resale of the coal was in such quantities and deliveries made in such manner, as to constitute a carload lot quantity within the meaning of § 304.10 (b) of the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors).

(5) Total tonnage resold during each month in quantities of not less than cargo or railroad carload lots and not physically handled by the distributor, and all water-borne coal physically handled over docks where the resale of the coal was in such quantities and the deliveries were in such manner as to constitute a carload lot quantity within the meaning of § 304.10 (b) of the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors, setting forth the tonnage by months resold to:

(a) other registered distributors,

(b) other distributors, not registered,

(c) railroad companies,

(d) all other purchasers, specified, if possible, by type or nature of business.

(6) The name and address of each retailer to whom coal was resold and the tonnage resold to each by months. Indicate which, if any, of such retailers are in any manner affiliated with respondent. (For this purpose only "affiliated" means the existence of a relationship whereby the distributor and any such retailer are under a common control or ownership, partial or complete, or where either has a financial interest in the other, directly or indirectly, or where any officer or employee of one has any financial interest in or is otherwise connected with the other).

(7) If copies of invoices have not been filed pursuant to the provisions of Order No. 313, the answer shall set forth the names and addresses of each person to whom coal was resold, the amount paid therefor by the distributor, the amount charged therefor to the customer, the f. o. b. point of sale, and the manner of transportation employed.

(8) A statement of the reasons, if any there be, why the registration of such distributor should not be revoked.

It is further ordered, That failure to file such answer within the time prescribed may be deemed to be an admission that the person so failing to file is not a bona fide merchant actively, regularly and continuously engaged in the business of purchasing coal for resale and actually reselling it in not less than cargo or railroad carload lots within the meaning of § 304.13 of the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors, and an order revoking said registration may be entered.

It is further ordered, That if any answering respondent has failed to show cause, as herein provided, why his or its registration should not be revoked, such respondent will be afforded opportunity to be heard at a time and place to be later designated, and offer evidence in sppport of his or its answer. If, after such hearing, the respondent fails to establish that he or it is a bona fide merchant actively, regularly and continuously engaged in the business of purchasing coal for resale and reselling it in not less than cargo or railroad carload lots within the meaning of § 304.13 of the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors, an order revoking his or its registration may be entered.

[Docket No. 1780-FD]

IN THE MATTER OF EDWIN R. EBERHART, DEFENDANT

ORDER APPROVING AND ADOPTING WITH MODIFICATION, THE PROPOSED FINDINGS OF FACT, PROPOSED CONCLUSIONS OF LAW, AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE EXAMINER, AND REVOKING AND CANCELLING CODE MEMBERSHIP

This proceeding was instituted upon a complaint filed with the Bituminous Coal Division ("Division") on June 28, 1941, pursuant to the provisions of sections 4 II (j) and 5 (b) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 (the "Act"), by Bituminous Coal Producers Board for District No. 4 ("District Board 4"), alleging that Edwin R. Eberhart, a code member in District 4, defendant, had wilfully violated the Bituminous Coal Code (the "Code") or rules and regulations thereunder by selling for shipment by truck during February and March 1941, approximately 6600 net tons of 2" x 0 nut and slack coal (Size Group 7), produced at the defendant's Eberhart Mine (Mine Index No. 1727), in District 4, and delivered the same by truck at prices lower than the effective minimum f. o. b. mine price for such coal, and praying that the Division either cancel and revoke the defendant's code membership, or, in its discretion, direct the defendant to cease and desist from violations of the Code and rules and regulations thereunder.

A hearing was held before W. A. Cuff, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof, in Canton, Ohio, on October 10, 1941.

The Examiner made and entered his Report, Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law, and Recommendations in this matter dated December 15, 1941, in which he found that the defendant had wilfully violated the Act by selling and delivering during the period February 3 to May 29, 1941, 6273.165 tons of 2" x 0 nut and slack coals to several named purchasers at prices below the applicable effective minimum price plus the actual cost of transportation. The Examiner recommended that the defendant's code membership be revoked and cancelled.

An opportunity was afforded to all interested parties to file exceptions to the Examiner's Report, and supporting briefs. The defendant has filed exceptions to the Examiner's Report, Proposed Findings of Fact, and Proposed Conclusions of Law, and has filed a supporting brief. No exception is taken to the Examiner's findings with respect to the tonnages sold by defendant and the prices received therefor. Exception is, however, taken to (1) the propriety of the proceeding, (2) the exercise of jurisdiction over the defendant, and (3) the sufficiency of the evidence to support the finding with regard to the costs of trucking.

The defendant excepted to the procedure of the Examiner in permitting counsel for the Division, in the absence of the complainant, to appear in the hearing and adduce evidence with respect to the transactions alleged in the complaint, over the timely objection of the defendant. It appears from the record that the complaint was filed by District Board 4 and that due notice of the time and place of the hearing was given to the complainant; that the complainant failed to appear; that the complainant failed to take action in the premises authorized or required by the Act; and, that thereupon, an attorney for the Division proceeded to develop the facts concerning the violation charged.

The defendant urged that the Division has no power under the Act to initiate or prosecute a complaint against a code member and that there is no provision in its Rules of Practice and Procedure governing such matters which provide for Division counsel appearing in these circumstances. The Division in this case has not assumed such power.

A complaint of violation having been properly filed pursuant to the provisions of the Act, a hearing was duly called for the purpose of developing all the relevant facts pertaining to the alleged violation. To the end of securing a comprehensive record embodying those facts it is the function and indeed the responsibility of the representative of the General Counsel's Office to develop those facts both by direct and cross examination of witnesses to ensure that an adequate record is made upon the basis of which the Acting Director can determine whether or not the alleged violation was committed. The action of the representative of the Office of the General Counsel in this case accords with this responsibility. Charged as it is with the responsibility of administering the Bituminous Coal Act, the obligation of the Division to determine the facts upon the filing of a complaint of violation is beyond dispute.

In the second exception the defendant contended that the Examiner's Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law and Recommendations should be set aside and the complaint dismissed for the reason that defendant is not engaged in interstate commerce and, therefore, is not subject to the Act.

In the first paragraph of section 4-A of the Act, it is provided that:

> Whenever the Commission upon investigation instituted upon its own motion or upon petition of any code member, district board, State or political subdivision thereof, or the consumers' counsel, after hearing finds that transactions in coal in intrastate commerce by any person or in any locality cause any undue or unreasonable advantage, preference, or prejudice as between persons and localities in such commerce on the one hand and interstate commerce in coal on the other hand, or any undue, unreasonable, or unjust discrimination against interstate commerce in coal, or in any manner directly affect interstate commerce in coal, the Commission shall by order so declare and thereafter coal sold, delivered or offered for sale in such intrastate commerce shall be subject to the provisions of section 4.

Pursuant to section 4-A a hearing was held (Docket 18-FD) and an Order entered by the National Bituminous Coal Commission on November 11, 1937, declaring that "substantially all transactions in bituminous coal in intrastate commerce in all localities within the State of Ohio directly affect interstate commerce in such coal," and that there will be an undue or unreasonable advantage, preference or prejudice as between transactions in intrastate commerce in Ohio on the one hand and interstate commerce in bituminous coal on the other hand and an undue, unreasonable, or unjust discrimination against interstate commerce in coal if such transactions or any substantial part thereof are not regulated and subjected to the provisions of section 4 of the Act. The Order provided that on and after December 15, 1937, all bituminous coal sold, delivered, or offered for sale in transactions in intrastate commerce in such coal in all localities within the State of Ohio shall be subject to the provisions of section 4 of the Act and to all relevant Orders of the Commission then in effect or that may thereafter be promulgated. The Order further provided that any producer who may believe that his or its transactions in intrastate commerce in bituminous coal should be exempted from this Order or sections 4 or 4-A of the Act, may, at any time hereafter, file an application for exemption pursuant to Section 4-A of the Act and be entitled to a hearing and appropriate Orders thereon.

In his brief the defendant contends that he was not a code member at the time the above-mentioned Order was entered, and, therefore, the Order is not applicable to him. The record shows (Exhibit 2) that the defendant's acceptance of the Code was executed by him on July 27, 1937, and became effective on July 28, 1937. Thus the defendant is in error as to the date of his effective code membership. Moreover, without regard to the date of an acceptance of the Code, a code member, by virtue of the acceptance of the Code, becomes subject to the Code and all rules and regulations thereunder.

The defendant did not avail himself of the right to file a petition for exemption nor of his right to contest the order entered in Docket No. 18-FD under the provisions of Section 6 (b) of the Act.

The defendant, not having availed himself of either remedy, may not collaterally attack the Order entered in Docket No. 18-FD in this proceeding, notwithstanding the provision of section 3 (f) of the Act, urged by defendant in the brief, that acceptance of the Code shall not preclude or estop the defendant from contesting the constitutionality of any provision of the Act or of the Code, or the validity or application of either to him or to any part of the coal produced by him. The defendant is not estopped but he must exercise his right of attack in the manner provided for in the Act.

There is a stronger reason why, in this proceeding, the defendant should not be heard to contend that he is not amenable for these transactions on the alleged ground that they are intrastate. The second paragraph of section 4-A of the Act provides that "Any producer (code member) believing that any commerce in coal is not subject to the provisions of Section 4 (the Code) or to the provisions of the first paragraph of this section may file with the Commission an application, verified by oath or affirmation for exemption, . . ." and provides machinery by which such exemption, if proper, may be obtained. The record does not show that the defendant has filed such application. Not having followed that procedure, the defendant cannot now be heard collaterally to say that the transactions are outside the field of regulation under the Act. Moreover, it is doubtful whether such a showing could be made.[1]

The third exception relates to the sufficiency of the evidence with respect to truck transportation charges. The Examiner found that part of the coal in question was transported in independently owned trucks hired by the defendant. The defendant concedes that the transportation charges for such coal exceeded that which the defendant added to the f. o. b. mine selling price and as to these coals the findings of fact are not questioned. The remaining coals were transported in trucks owned by the defendant and the defendant contends that the transportation cost of $.4829 per net ton found by the Examiner is not supported by the evidence. I have examined the record and the evidence and I find and conclude that the uncontroverted evidence shows that the transportation cost was at least $.4829. The Examiner found that the cost was exactly $.4829 per net ton. The evidence shows that such cost was more than $.4829 per net ton. The cost of tires, tubes, depreciation, license, repairs, et cetera, was not shown by the evidence and was not included in the $.4829. Such expenses are material. I find, therefore, that the exception is not well taken. On the contrary, I find from the evidence that the Examiner's finding should be modified to show that the actual cost of transporting the coal in question in trucks owned by the defendant was $.4829 per ton plus. Since only $.40 per net ton was added to the minimum f. o. b. mine price, this modification does not affect the result.

Accordingly, I find that the exceptions of the defendant to the Report, Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law, and Recommendations of the Examiner are not well taken and should be denied.

The undersigned having determined, after a consideration of the record and the defendant's exceptions, that the Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law, and Recommendations of the Examiner, as hereinabove modified, should be approved and adopted as the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law of the undersigned;

It is, therefore, ordered, That the exceptions of the defendant to the Report, Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law, and Recommendations of the Examiner be and the same hereby are denied.

It is further ordered, That the Proposed Findings of Fact and Proposed Conclusions of Law of the Examiner, as herein modified, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted as the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law of the undersigned.

It is further ordered, That pursuant to section 5 (b) of the Act, the code membership of the defendant, Edwin R. Eberhart, be and it is hereby revoked and cancelled, effective fifteen (15) days from and after the date of this Order.

It is further ordered, That prior to any reinstatement of the defendant to membership in the Code, the defendant shall pay to the United States a tax in the amount of $4,648.41, as provided in section 5 (c) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

PART 1301—MACHINE TOOLS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 1—SECOND-HAND MACHINE TOOLS

[Issued by the Price Stabilization Division, Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, and the Office of Price Administration]

Whereas the Office of Price Administration is charged with functions related to the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations; and

Whereas in the second-hand machine tool trade, prices have risen in such fashion and to such extent since May, 1940, as compared with other basic commodities, and in particular as compared with new machine tools, as to result in price instability and dislocations injurious to the national defense; and

Whereas such price increases are not justified but represent, on the part of a few, the result of speculative activity, and withholding of sales and offers to sell in the prospect of further unwarranted price increases, amounting to profiteering and hoarding; and

Whereas the absence of any maximum price standards makes it difficult and in some cases impossible for the trade voluntarily to cooperate with the Government in maintaining price stability and in preventing excessive and speculative price increases; and

Whereas the establishment of such standards by the Government is necessary to facilitate such cooperation, and to prevent the kind of price policy which leads to a weakening of the defense effort through disastrous inflation, undue burdens upon the Government, economic dislocations, price spiraling, and profiteering, and the establishment of such standards is otherwise necessary in the public interest and in the interest of national defense; and

Whereas on the basis of information secured by independent investigation by this Office and by the Office of Production Management and information furnished through the cooperation of the trade, I find that the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1301.7, constitute reasonable limitations on prices for second-hand machine tools.

Now, therefore, in order to facilitate cooperation with the Government in maintaining price stability and in preventing excessive and speculative price increases injurious to the defense program and to the public interest and welfare, it is directed that:

§ 1301.1 Maximum prices for second-hand machine tools. On and after March 1, 1941, prices for second-hand machine tools, exclusive of extras, shall not exceed the prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1301.7 of Price Schedule No. 1. No person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of second-hand machine tools at prices higher than those set forth in § 1301.7, Appendix A. Lower prices may, however, be charged, demanded, paid, or offered. The price limitations set forth in § 1301.7, Appendix A, shall not be evaded by additional or extra charges for repair or reconditioning, commissions, or otherwise.*

*§§ 1301.1 to 1301.7, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1301.2 Records and reports. Each dealer in second-hand machine tools shall file with the Office of Price Administration a report on each floor-type second-hand machine tool in his stock or purchased through him as agent, and a report on each second-hand machine tool sold or otherwise disposed of, by him or through him as agent.

(a) All reports on second-hand machine tools must be made on Form 100:1, copies of which may be had upon request to this Office. Form 100:1 may be reproduced by the dealer, or printed on the reverse side of regular stock sheets, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the report and that the report is on 8½ by 11 inch paper.

(b) Dealers shall file reports, not later than March 25, 1941, for each second-hand machine tool in stock as of March 15, 1941. A report for each second-hand machine tool added to stock after March 15, 1941, shall be filed not more than one week after the machine tool is purchased or otherwise acquired. Failure to object to an offering price as disclosed by a report does not constitute approval of the price by this Office.

(c) Reports for each second-hand machine tool sold or otherwise disposed of by or through a dealer after March 15, 1941, shall be filed by the dealer within one week after the transaction. Every report of sale or other disposition shall state the name and address of the purchaser. This information need be noted under item 17, Remarks, on only one of the sales reports. Requests for copies of invoices may be made by this Office at any time.

(d) When a second-hand machine tool is sold or otherwise disposed of within one week after acquisition and before the report of inventory or addition has been filed, such report of inventory or addition shall not be required. In such case, however, the report of sale or other disposition shall note that no previous report on the machine tool has been filed.

(e) For the purpose of reporting sales, the receipt of an order shall be reported as a sale. (If the order is later canceled, this Office is to be advised forthwith and the machine tool reported as added to inventory.)

(f) When a machine tool is disposed of by lease, or otherwise than by sale, a full statement of the transaction shall be made on the report.

(g) Inasmuch as prices, including commissions, may not exceed the ceiling prices, all offering or sale prices quoted in the report shall include commissions to be charged, or which have been charged, respectively.

(h) Where a dealer has acted as purchasing agent, he shall make a report on the second-hand machine tool as if it had been purchased and immediately sold by him (see paragraph (d) above), and shall report the amount paid by the purchaser, including any commission paid to him as purchasing agent.

(i) Dealers shall assign a separate inventory number to each second-hand machine tool handled by them and shall use this number in making reports hereunder. If a machine tool is held in joint ownership, the inventory report shall be made by the dealer who has possession of the machine tool, or if none of the owners has possession of it, by the dealer in whose name the machine tool was purchased. When the machine tool is sold, the dealer in whose name the sale is made shall report the sale, referring to the inventory number previously assigned to the machine tool.

(j) All reports shall be filed in duplicate, and signed by the dealer or by an officer of the dealer.

(k) Complete records shall be preserved by dealers on all second-hand machine tools purchased, sold, or otherwise handled or dealt in after March 15, 1941.

(l) Subject to the provisions of § 1301.5 below, all information filed or received pursuant to Price Schedule No. 1 shall be treated as confidential, except that it may be transmitted to any other agency or department of the Government.

(m) Extras may be defined as supplementary equipment furnished by the manufacturer at an added cost. Second-hand extras are subject to the same maximum price percentage that is applicable to the basic second-hand machine tool to which the extras are added. All extras must be separately listed as required in Form 100:1.*

[§ 1301.2 as amended September 24, 1941, effective September 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 4885]

§ 1301.3 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 1, the term:

(a) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, association, partnership, or other business entity;

(b) "Dealer" means a person in the business of buying and selling second-hand machine tools as a principal or in the business of buying or selling such tools as an agent or broker;

(c) "Machine tool" includes all machines for the cutting, abrading, shaping, forming, and joining of metals;

(d) "Second-hand" refers to machine tools which have previously been used or purchased for use;

(e) "Stock", referring to second-hand machine tools, includes tools which are owned by the dealer in question, or on which he has obtained an option, or for which he has secured a selling agency.

(f) "Rebuilt and guaranteed" applies only to a machine tool which (1) has been rebuilt or is in equivalent condition to a rebuilt machine tool and is invoiced as such (a rebuilt machine is one in which worn or missing parts have been replaced or reworked, and which has been tested under power so as to prove that it has a substantially equivalent performance to that of the machine when new); (2) has been tested under power so as to prove that it has a substantially equivalent performance to that of the machine when new; and (3) carries a binding guaranty of satisfactory performance for a period of not less than 30 days from date of shipment.*

[Paragraph (f) added by amendment September 24, 1941, effective September 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 4885]

§ 1301.4 Modification of Price Schedule No. 1. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 1 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof.*

§ 1301.5 Enforcement of Price Schedule No. 1. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 1, this Office will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed of the instances of such profiteering or noncooperation; and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest in the maintenance of fair prices. Persons who have evidence of the demand or receipt of prices above the limitations set forth, or of speculation, manipulation of prices or hoarding are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration giving as complete description of the particular machine tools as may be practicable.*

Explanatory Information

1. The date of manufacture can be determined from the serial number stamped on the machine by the manufacturer.

2. As used above, the term "rebuilt and guaranteed" applies only to a machine tool which (1) has been rebuilt or is in equivalent condition to a rebuilt machine tool and is invoiced as such (a rebuilt machine is one in which worn or missing parts have been replaced or reworked, and which has been tested under power so as to prove that it has a substantially equivalent performance to that of the machine when new); (2) has been tested under power so as to prove that it has a substantially equivalent performance to that of the machine when new; and (3) carries a binding guaranty of satisfactory performance for a period of not less than 30 days from date of shipment.

3. Machine tools formerly equipped with a cone drive are often now manufactured with a geared head. In such cases determine the price of an equivalent new machine tool by deducting 20 percent from the March 1, 1941 price of the new geared-head machine tool.*

PART 1302—ALUMINUM

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 2—ALUMINUM SCRAP AND SECONDARY ALUMINUM INGOT

[Issued by Price Stabilization Division, Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply and the Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration, being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations, has determined, after full investigation and after consultation with representatives of the trade and with the Office of Production Management, (a) that the total supply of primary and secondary aluminum is grossly inadequate to satisfy combined defense and civilian demands, (b) that almost the entire supply of primary aluminum and an increasing proportion of the supply of secondary aluminum is being required for defense purposes, (c) that resulting competition for secondary aluminum has exerted highly inflationary pressure upon prices of aluminum scrap and secondary aluminum ingot and has driven such prices to unreasonable levels wholly disproportionate to the price at which primary aluminum has been voluntarily stabilized, (d) that such uncontrolled price increases have led to hoarding, speculation, profiteering and price instability injurious to national defense and have necessitated establishment of maximum prices for aluminum scrap and secondary aluminum ingot, (e) that, in order to bring such maximum prices into proper relationship to the recently reduced price of primary aluminum and into proper relationship to each other, it is essential that the maximum prices heretofore established be revised, and (f) that such maximum prices as so revised and set forth herein constitute fair and reasonable limitations on prices of aluminum scrap and secondary aluminum ingot and that their establishment is in the interest of national defense and welfare.

[1] Issued: 6 F.R. 1021; published as Title 32, Ch. VI, sections 1 to 7, inclusive, and Appendices A, B, and C. Amended: 6 F.R. 1478, 1871; supplement No. 1, 6 F.R. 2335. Renumbered, codified, and amended: 6 F.R. 4885.

[Preamble as amended October 31, 1941, effective November 1, 1941; 6 F.R. 5568]

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1302.1 Maximum prices of aluminum scrap and secondary aluminum ingot. On and after November 1, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer aluminum scrap or secondary aluminum ingot, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of aluminum scrap or secondary aluminum ingot, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B, incorporated herein as §§ 1302.10 and 1302.11.*

§ 1302.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A and B (§§ 1302.10 and 1302.11, respectively) hereof may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

[§ 1302.3 revoked by amendment January 9, 1942, effective January 13, 1942; 7 F.R. 224]

[§ 1302.4 as amended, October 31, 1941, effective November 1, 1941; 6 F.R. 5568]

§ 1302.5 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of aluminum scrap or secondary aluminum ingot shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of:

(1) Each such purchase or sale, showing the person from or to whom each such purchase or sale was made, the date thereof, the price paid or received, other terms of sale and shipment, and the quantity in pounds and the quality by grades of aluminum scrap or secondary aluminum ingot involved; and

(2) At the close of each month, the amount in pounds of each grade of aluminum scrap and secondary aluminum ingot (i) on hand, (ii) on purchase order, and (iii) committed to be sold.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of aluminum scrap or secondary aluminum ingot, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

(c) "Secondary aluminum ingot" means the grades of secondary aluminum ingot set forth in § 1302.11, Appendix B, hereof.*

[§ 1302.8 as amended October 31, 1941, effective November 1, 1941; 6 F.R. 5568]

§ 1302.9 Effective date.

This Schedule (§§ 1302.1 to 1302.11, inclusive), as amended, shall become effective November 1, 1941. Shipments of aluminum scrap and secondary aluminum ingot made prior thereto shall be governed by the terms of Price Schedule No. 2 which were in effect on the date of shipment.*

§ 1302.10 Appendix A: Maximum prices for aluminum scrap.

[F. o. b. point of shipment]

Grade of aluminum scrap	Column I: Maximum price (cents per pound) in lots less than 1,000 pounds	Column II: Maximum price (cents per pound) in lots of 1,000 to 20,000 pounds (if shipped by truck) or 1,000 to minimum carload (if shipped by rail)	Column III: Maximum price (cents per pound) in lots of 20,000 pounds or more (if shipped by truck) or minimum carload (if shipped by rail)
Plant scrap:
Segregated 2S:
Clips or other 2S solids	10	11	11½
Mixed clips or other mixed solids	8½	9½	10
Segregated borings and turnings	7½	8½	9
Mixed borings and turnings	6½	7½	8
Obsolete scrap:
Pure cable	10	11	11½
Old sheet and utensils	9½	10½	11
Old castings and forgings	10	10½	11
Pistons free of struts	10	10½	11
Pistons with struts	8	8½	9

NOTE 1. Segregated solid plant scrap other than 2S. Maximum prices are not established for solid plant scrap other than 2S which is segregated, identified, handled, sold, and delivered in accordance with Supplementary Order M-1-d (7 F.R. 160) or other instructions and regulations issued by the Director of Priorities, Office of Production Management; scrap of this description is therefore not subject to the Price Schedule. "Plant scrap" means scrap which is generated in the course of fabrication or manufacture and includes new material or parts rejected or discarded because defective, damaged in processing, or otherwise unfit for use. The terms "Solids" and "Solid Plant Scrap" mean plant scrap generated by shearing, clipping, cutting, blanking, or similar process, also defective or rejected wrought aluminum parts, defective or rejected castings and gates, sprues, risers or similar foundry scrap. Scrap shall not be deemed "Segregated", whether in the form of solids or in the form of borings, turnings or other machinings, unless it consists of one alloy only and is so identified and handled as to be accepted for reprocessing into aluminum of the original alloy specifications without the necessity for other than routine examination by the processor.

NOTE 2. Low-grade or contaminated scrap. Maximum prices may be charged and paid only for scrap of the respective grades which meets generally accepted maximum standards of the trade. Low-grade scrap, scrap which is not clean and dry or which is otherwise contaminated, and scrap which for any other reason fails to meet such maximum standards, must be sold at prices proportionately below the established maximum prices. It is particularly important that proper deduction be made for oil, water and other forms of contamination contained in borings, turnings and similar machinings.

NOTE 3. Quantity differentials. The requisite quantities for which premiums are provided in Columns II and III, above, may consist of various grades of aluminum scrap, but other metals may not be included for the purpose of making up such quantities. It will be considered that the requisite quantity has been sold and shipped, in case delivery is made by truck, if such quantity is sold in one lot and delivery is made within a period of seventy-two consecutive hours. A minimum carload is the minimum quantity required to obtain the railroad carload rate from the point of shipment to the destination.

NOTE 4. Aluminum foil. Aluminum foil and light gauge aluminum sheet which does not exceed 0.006 of an inch in thickness is not considered within this Price Schedule.

[§ 1302.10 as amended January 9, 1942, effective January 13, 1942; 7 F.R. 224]

PART 1303—ZINC

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 3—ZINC SCRAP MATERIALS AND SECONDARY SLAB ZINC

[Issued by the Price Stabilization Division, Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, and the Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations.

The supply of both primary and secondary zinc is insufficient to satisfy the total defense and essential civilian demands. An increase in the price of primary slab zinc has been made in order to maintain and expand supply. It is necessary to revise the prices of zinc scrap materials and secondary slab zinc in order to maintain their proper relationship to the prices of primary slab zinc. After investigation and consideration it has been determined that the maximum prices set forth herein are fair and reasonable.

[Preamble as amended, October 17, 1941, effective October 17, 1941; 6 F.R. 5334]

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1303.1 Maximum prices for zinc scrap materials. On and after October 17, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer zinc scrap materials, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of zinc scrap materials, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1303.9.*

§ 1303.2 Maximum prices for secondary slab zinc. On and after October 17, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer secondary slab zinc, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of secondary slab zinc, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix B hereof, incorporated herein as § 1303.10.*

Inferior grades shall continue to be purchased at the differential below the corresponding listed grade price which the consumer paid during the period September 1, 1940 to January 31, 1941. Bundles with less than 50% tin-coated material shall be priced at $5.00 per gross ton under Basic Open Hearth Grades; bundles with more than 50% tin-coated material shall be priced at $8.00 below Basic Open Hearth Grades.

Except upon prior approval by the Office of Price Administration, no grade of scrap deemed by buyer or seller or both (1) to be superior to any grade listed above shall be purchased at a premium above the corresponding listed grade with the following exceptions: (a) In the case of cast iron borings, containing no more than 0.5 percent oil content, for chemical use in the manufacture of explosives, the basing point price shall be $3.00 per gross ton over the price of Item 11. Where cast iron borings are purchased for chemical use other than in the manufacture of explosives, the price shall be $1.00 per gross ton over the price of Item 11. (b) In the case of inert iron scrap and any alloyed ferrous scrap, except manganese scrap, purchased by an Electric Furnace or Acid Open Hearth for recovery of alloy content, such grades may be purchased at the differential above the corresponding listed grade which the consumer paid during the period September 1, 1940, to January 31, 1941.

Mixed shipments of Basic Open Hearth or Blast Furnace grades shall be deemed shipments of unprepared scrap and shall be priced in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section, unless the consumer has authorized a mixed shipment in his purchase order.

[7] Except in cases in which the Office of Price Administration has given prior approval to Basic Open Hearth consumers to purchase Alloy Free Low Phos. and Sulphur Turnings at the prices listed above, no Basic Open Hearth Blast Furnace consumer may purchase any of the above grades at a price in excess of the price listed herein for the corresponding Basic Open Hearth or Blast Furnace Grade. [8] The prices of Items 12 and 22 shall not exceed the prices of Basic Open Hearth and Blast Furnace Grades respectively, unless delivered to the consumer direct from the industrial producer thereof. (b) The most favorable basing point. The "most favorable basing point" is the basing point which, when used to compute the shipping point price in the manner set forth in paragraph (c) (1) and (2) below, will yield the highest shipping point price.

(c) Maximum shipping point prices. (1) Where shipment to the consumer is wholly or partially by rail, or vessel, or combination of rail and vessel. Where the shipment of scrap to the consumer is by rail, or vessel, or combination of rail and vessel, the scrap is at its shipping point when it has been placed f. o. b. railroad car or f. a. s. vessel for shipment to the consumer. In such cases, the maximum shipping point price shall be:

(i) For shipping points located within a basing point, the price listed in paragraph (a) hereof for the scrap at the basing point in which the shipping point is located, minus the lowest established switching charge for scrap within the basing point; and

(ii) For shipping points located outside a basing point, the price listed in paragraph (a) hereof for the scrap at the most favorable basing point, minus the lowest established charge for transporting scrap from the shipping point to such basing point by rail or water carrier, or combination thereof. Where vessel movement is involved in the computation, in lieu of any established charges at the dock or of any charge or cost customarily incurred at the dock, 75 cents per gross ton must be included as part of the deduction in computing the shipping point price: Provided, however, At Memphis, Tenn., the deduction shall be 50 cents per gross ton, at Great Lakes ports $1.00 per gross ton, and at New England ports $1.25 per gross ton.

(2) Where shipment to the consumer is solely by motor vehicle. Where the shipment of scrap to the consumer is solely by motor vehicle, the scrap is at its shipping point when it has been loaded on such vehicle. In such cases, the maximum shipping point price shall be:

(i) For shipping points located within a basing point, the price listed in paragraph (a) hereof for the scrap at the basing point in which the shipping point is located minus the lowest established switching charge for scrap within the basing point; and

(ii) For shipping points located outside a basing point, the price listed in paragraph (a) hereof for the scrap at the most favorable basing point minus the lowest established charge for transporting scrap by public carrier from the shipping point to such basing point. Where vessel movement is involved in the computation, in lieu of any established charges at the dock or of any charge or cost customarily incurred at the dock, 75 cents per gross ton must be included as part of the deduction in computing the shipping point price: Provided, however, At Memphis, Tenn., the deduction shall be 50 cents per gross ton, at Great Lakes ports $1.00 per gross ton, and at New England ports $1.25 per gross ton. If no established transportation rate exists for a portion of the movement from shipping point to basing point, the actual charge or cost customarily incurred by the shipper in such portion of the movement shall be included as part of the deduction in computing the shipping point price.

(3) No Charge shall be deemed an established charge within the meaning of Price Schedule No. 4 unless it has been the basis of actual movement of scrap to the most favorable basing point during the calendar year 1941.

[Paragraphs (c) (1), (2), and (3) as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 701]

(4) Exceptions to the formula for computing shipping point prices.[1] (i) At all shipping points in the United States, the maximum shipping point price for No. 1 Heavy Melting Steel Scrap (with St. Louis price differentials for the other grades) need not fall below $13.00 per gross ton. In Tampa, Florida, Pensacola, Florida, Gulfport, Mississippi, Mobile, Alabama, New Orleans, Louisiana, Lake Charles, Louisiana, Port Arthur, Texas, Beaumont, Texas, Galveston, Texas, Texas City, Texas, Houston, Texas, and Corpus Christi, Texas, the maximum shipping point price need not fall below $14.00 per gross ton for No. 1 Heavy Melting Steel Scrap (with St. Louis price differentials for the other grades).

(ii) Maximum shipping point prices at any shipping point in New York City, Brooklyn, N. Y., and New Jersey, which by reason of vessel rates have Buffalo or Sparrows Point as their most favorable basing point shall be computed from the prices at the Bethlehem, Pennsylvania basing point rather than the prices at Buffalo or Sparrows Point.

(iii) The maximum shipping point price within the Cincinnati basing point for Basic Open Hearth Grades and Items 18, 19 and 20 shall be the Cincinnati basing point price minus 80 cents per gross ton.

(iv) The maximum shipping point price for No. 1 heavy melting steel (with Sparrows Point differentials for the other grades) at all shipping points within the Boston, Mass., switching district shall be $15.05 per gross ton f. o. b. cars or f. a. s. vessel, or, where delivery to the consumer is solely by motor vehicle, loaded on such vehicle.

[Subparagraph (4) as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 928]

[1] See also paragraph (e).

(d) Maximum prices delivered to the plant of a consumer. Scrap is at its point of delivery to the consumer when it has arrived for unloading at the plant of the consumer. In no case shall any charge or cost incurred in placing the scrap at the shipping point or any charge or cost incurred in unloading the scrap at the point of delivery, or in subsequent handling, be included in the maximum delivered price.

(1) Where transportation from shipping point to point of delivery is wholly or partially by rail, or vessel, or combination of rail and vessel, the maximum delivered price shall be the shipping point price as determined in paragraph (c) of this section, plus the established charge for transporting the scrap from the shipping point to the point of delivery by the mode of transportation employed.

Where transportation from shipping point to point of delivery includes water movement, if no established rate exists for such water movement, then the actual charge or cost incurred in such movement may be used in computing the maximum delivered price.

Where transportation to the point of delivery includes water movement, no established charges at the dock, or any charge or cost customarily incurred at the dock, may be included in the delivered price. In lieu thereof, 75 cents per gross ton may be included in the maximum delivered price: Provided, however, That this maximum allowance shall be 50 cents per gross ton at Memphis, Tenn., $1.00 per gross ton at Great Lakes ports, and $1.25 per gross ton at New England ports. Such allowances must be shown as a separate item on the invoice.

(2) Where transportation from shipping point to point of delivery is solely by motor vehicle. (i) Where transportation is by public carrier, the maximum delivered price shall be the shipping point price as determined in paragraph (c) of this section, plus the established public carrier charge for transporting the scrap by motor vehicle from the shipping point to the point of delivery.

(ii) Where transportation is by other than public carrier, the maximum delivered price shall be the shipping point price as determined in paragraph (c) of this section, plus the charge for transporting the scrap at the established rail carload rate for the lowest minimum weight from the rail siding nearest the shipping point to the rail siding nearest the point of delivery: Provided, however, That this charge need never fall below $1.00 per gross ton.

[Paragraphs (d) (1) and (2) as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 928]

(3) In no case, however, shall the delivered price exceed by more than one dollar the price listed in paragraph (a) for the basing point nearest, in terms of established transportation charges, to the consumer's plant, with the following exceptions:

Exception 1. For consumers having St. Louis as their nearest basing point the delivered price may not exceed the St. Louis basing point price by more than $1.50: Provided, That the delivered price of scrap shipped to such consumers from shipping points in Arkansas may not exceed the St. Louis basing point price by more than two dollars. For consumers whose nearest basing points are Detroit, Birmingham and Alabama City, respectively, the delivered price may not exceed by more than two dollars the price at their respective basing points.

Exception 2. In the case of machine shop turnings or related grades of turnings, as defined herein, delivered to electric furnace producers of ferro alloys, and in the case of chemical borings delivered to chemical users thereof, the delivered price shall not be limited to one dollar in excess of the price at the basing point nearest the consumer's plant.

Exception 3. "Remote Scrap" means all the kinds and grades of iron and steel scrap referred to in § 1304.13, Appendix A, and having a shipping point and a point of origin within the states of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Florida, Oregon, Utah, North Dakota, and South Dakota, Colorado scrap shall be remote scrap for Colorado consumers only.

(i) The delivered price of remote scrap may exceed by more than $1.00 but not more than $5.00 the price at the basing point nearest the consumer's plant; Provided, That immediately upon delivery of such scrap, the consumer files with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., (a) a fully detailed statement under oath setting forth the name and address of the seller, the shipping point of the scrap, the grade, quantity and price at shipping point, delivered price, the mode of transportation employed and the transportation charges from the shipping point to the point of delivery, and (b) certified copies of all bills of lading covering the shipment of such scrap from the remote shipping point to the point of delivery.

(ii) Where the delivered price of remote scrap would exceed by more than $5.00 the price at the basing point nearest the consumer's plant, the consumer may not purchase or accept delivery of such scrap until his application to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for permission to absorb the additional transportation charges necessary to secure such scrap has been approved. Applications by consumers must be under oath and fully detailed, setting forth the name and address of the seller, point of shipment of the scrap, the grade, quantity and price at shipping point, proposed delivered prices, the mode of transportation to be employed, and the transportation charges from the shipping point to the consumer's plant. The application must also contain a statement by the consumer of its need for, and its willingness to accept, such scrap at the price quoted.

Immediately upon delivery of such scrap, the consumer must comply with the filing requirements of paragraph (1) (b) above.

Exception 4. Where scrap is shipped by vessel from Duluth, Minnesota, or Superior, Wisconsin, to consumers located in Buffalo, New York, Elyria, Ohio, Cleveland, Ohio, Saginaw, Michigan, Detroit, Michigan, or Chicago, Illinois, the delivered price shall not be limited to one dollar in excess of the price at the basing point nearest the consumer's plant.

Exception 5. In computing the delivered price of Billet, Bloom and Forge crops originating in and shipped from the Pittsburgh Basing Point, the maximum transportation charges which may be added to the shipping point price shall be $2.50.

Exception 6. The delivered price of Low Phos. and Sulphur Punchings and Plate Scrap, Low Phos. and Sulphur Bar Crops and Smaller, Alloy Free Low Phos. and Sulphur Turnings, and First Cut Heavy Axle and Forge Turnings produced in industrial plants in the State of Michigan and shipped directly to consumers located in or nearest, in terms of established transportation charges, to the Buffalo, N. Y., Pittsburgh, Brackenridge, or Midland, Pa., basing points, shall not exceed by more than $3.00 the price at the basing point nearest the consumer's plant.

Exception 7. Where scrap is shipped from a New England shipping point, the maximum transportation charges which may be added to the shipping point price shall be $6.27 per gross ton.

Exception 8. Where the shipping point price of scrap is computed from water rates, and water movement is not available the year round, consumers who can establish that they did receive delivery of such scrap by water within $1.00 of the price at their nearest basing point between April 15 and November 15, 1941, may pay the shipping point price plus all-rail transportation charges from the shipping point to the point of delivery whenever water movement is not available.

[Exceptions 1 to 8, inclusive, as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 701]

(e) Unprepared scrap. The maximum prices established hereinabove are maximum prices for prepared scrap. The term "unprepared scrap" shall have its customary trade meaning and shall not include such demolition projects as bridges, box cars or graveyard automobiles, which must be so priced that the prepared scrap will deliver to the consumer within the maximum delivered price established hereinabove.

For unprepared scrap, maximum prices shall be $2.50 less than the maximum prices for the corresponding grade or grades of prepared scrap. In no case, however, shall Electric Furnace and Foundry grades, listed in paragraph (a) above be used as the "corresponding grade or grades of prepared scrap."

Except as otherwise provided hereunder, where scrap is to undergo preparation prior to its arrival at the point of delivery, such scrap is not at its shipping point, as that phrase is defined in paragraph (c) of this section, until after such preparation has been completed. Where a consumer purchases unprepared remote scrap in rail carload lots, if no adequate facilities for preparation exist at or near the shipping point, the consumer may designate a dealer or dealers to prepare such scrap for its use at a maximum preparation fee of $2.50 per gross ton. In such cases the maximum delivered price shall be the shipping point price for unprepared scrap at the remote shipping point plus all-rail transportation charges to the point of delivery at the dealer's yard plus a $2.50 per gross ton preparation fee plus transportation charges from the dealer's yard to the point of delivery after the scrap has been loaded on the delivering carrier. Interim loading, unloading and similar charges may not be absorbed by the consumer. The maximum delivered price of such scrap shall not exceed by more than $5.00 the price at the basing point nearest the consumer's plant except upon prior approval of the Office of Price Administration as provided in Exception 3 in paragraph (d) of this section. Every purchase of scrap on this preparation fee basis shall likewise be subject to all the filing and other requirements in Exception 3 of paragraph (d) of this section.

At no time shall ownership of such scrap reside in the dealer to whom the preparation fee is paid.

[Paragraph (e) as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 928]

§ 1304.14 Appendix B: Maximum prices for iron and steel scrap originating from railroads—(a) Scrap originating from railroads—operating in a basing point named below (all prices given below are per gross ton). The scrap is at its point of delivery to the consumer when it has arrived for unloading at the plant of the consumer. Where used in this appendix, the term "transportation charges" means the established charges for transporting the scrap to the point of delivery by the mode of transportation employed. In no case shall the maximum delivered price include any charge or cost incurred in unloading the scrap at the point of delivery or in subsequent handling.

[1] Where the railroad originator of the scrap operates in two or more of the Basing Points named above, the highest of the maximum prices established above for such Basing Points shall be the maximum price of the scrap delivered to a consumer's plant at any point on the railroad's line.

[2] The term "rails for rerolling" includes any rails which are sold to be used for rerolling, irrespective of whether or not such rails are usable for re-laying.

(ii) Grades not listed. (a) The price at which a consumer located on the line of the railroad from which the scrap originated may purchase any grade of scrap not listed above shall not exceed the average price per gross ton which such railroad sold such grade delivered to the Plant of a consumer, whether located on or off the line of the railroad, during the period commencing September 1, 1940, and ending January 31, 1941, or, in case no sale was made during the period, the price at which the grade was last sold by the railroad prior thereto, and, in either event, adjusted to allow for the average grade differentials of the railroad in a manner indicated in subparagraph (b) below.

(b) For purposes of subparagraph (a) above, the maximum prices for any grade not listed in paragraph (1), (i), shall be adjusted to allow for the average grade differentials of the railroad by:

First, computing the amount of the base grade differential for the railroad which shall be the difference between the average price per gross ton at which the railroad from which the scrap originated sold No. 1 Railroad Grade Heavy Melting Steel Scrap delivered to the plant of the consumer, whether located on or off the line of the railroad, during the period commencing September 1, 1940, and ending January 31, 1941, and the railroad's maximum price established for such grade under paragraph (1), (i); and

Second, by applying this base grade differential to the price to be adjusted by either subtracting the amount of such differential from such prices in case the railroad's average price of No. 1 Railroad Grade Heavy Melting Steel Scrap exceeds the railroad's maximum price established for such grade under paragraph (a), (1), or adding the same in case the railroad's average price is less than such maximum.

(2) Delivered to a consumer's plant located off the line of the railroad from which the scrap originated. Except in the case of shipments of scrap by vessel from Duluth, Minnesota, or Superior, Wisconsin to consumers located in Buffalo, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Elyria, Ohio, Detroit and Saginaw, Michigan, and Chicago, Illinois, the maximum price is either of the following, whichever is greater:

(i) The maximum price established in paragraph (1) above, for scrap delivered to a consumer on the line of the railroad from which the scrap originated, or, if the consumer can establish that he has been served by the same source of scrap in the past, this maximum price plus transportation charges (including off-the-line switching charges), from the railroad's line to the point of delivery, of not more than two dollars per gross ton for Rails for Rerolling, Scrap Axles and other scrap for rerolling, and of not more than one dollar per gross ton for all other grades of scrap; or

(ii) The prices listed in paragraph (1) above, for the Basing Point nearest the consumer's plant.

Where scrap is shipped by vessel from Duluth, Minnesota, or Superior, Wisconsin, to consumers located in Buffalo, New York, Elyria, Ohio, Cleveland, Ohio, Detroit and Saginaw, Michigan, and Chicago, Illinois, the maximum delivered price shall be the maximum price established in paragraph (1) above, for scrap delivered to a consumer on the line of the railroad from which the scrap originated, plus transportation charges from the railroad's line to the point of delivery.

[Subparagraph (2) as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 701]

(b) Scrap originating from railroads not operating in any of the basing points named above. Except in the case of Rails for Rerolling, the maximum price of any grade of such scrap delivered to consumers located on and off the line of the railroad shall not exceed:

(1) For the grades listed above, either of the following, whichever is less:

(i) The average price per gross ton at which the railroad originator of the scrap sold any such grade to consumers located on and off the line of the railroad during the period commencing September 1, 1940 and ending January 31, 1941; or

(ii) The price at the Basing Point nearest, in terms of transportation charges, to the consumer's plant; and

(2) For the grades not listed above, either of the following, whichever is less:

(i) The average price per gross ton at which the railroad originator of the scrap sold any such grade to consumers located on and off the line of the railroad during the period commencing September 1, 1940, and ending January 31, 1941; or

(ii) The average price per gross ton as determined in Subparagraph (1) hereof, minus the amount by which the average price of No. 1 Railroad Grade Heavy Melting Steel scrap, as determined in (1), exceeds the price of No. 1 Railroad Grade Heavy Melting Steel scrap at the Basing Point nearest, in terms of transportation charges, to the consumer's plant.

In the case of Rails for Rerolling, the maximum price of such scrap f. o. b. the line of the railroad originator thereof shall be the average price per gross ton at which the railroad originator sold such grade f. o. b. its line during the period commencing September 1, 1940, and ending January 31, 1941. The maximum price of Rerolling Rails shall be the f. o. b. line price thus established plus transportation charges from the railroad's line to the rerolling mill's point of delivery.

This exception for Rails for Rerolling applies only to railroads not operating in a Basing Point named in paragraph (a), (1), (i) hereof.

(c) Maximum prices for scrap which cannot be identified as to origin, scrap originating from mines, logging roads, and similar sources, and scrap originating from railroads who do not, within two weeks after the issuance of this schedule, file average price information with the Office of Price Administration. Railroad scrap shipped from a dealer's yard shall be deemed to have lost its railroad origin. In the case of railroad scrap which cannot be identified as to origin, scrap originating from mines, logging roads, and similar sources, and scrap originating from any railroad which does not, within two weeks after the issuance of this schedule, file the average price information required under paragraphs (a) or (b) hereof and by § 1304.4 of this schedule, the maximum prices shall be as follows:

(1) In the case of scrap rails, scrap rails 3 feet and under, scrap rails 2 feet and under, scrap rails 18 inches and under, and rails for rerolling, the shipping point price shall be computed by application of the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1304.13, Appendix A, to the prices at the most favorable basing point in § 1304.15, Appendix B. In no case need this shipping point price fall below $14.00 for scrap rails, $16.00 for scrap rails 3 feet and under, $16.25 for scrap rails 2 feet and under, $16.50 for scrap rails 18 inches and under, and $15.50 per gross ton for rails for rerolling. The maximum delivered price shall be the shipping point price thus obtained plus transportation charges from the shipping point to the point of delivery.

(2) All other grades of such scrap shall be classified under § 1304.13, Appendix A, or § 1304.15, Appendix C, and their maximum prices shall be governed by the provisions of the applicable appendix.

[Paragraph (c) as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 928]

(d) Unprepared scrap. The maximum prices established hereinabove are maximum prices for prepared scrap. For unprepared scrap, maximum prices shall be $2.50 less than the maximum prices for the corresponding grade or grades of prepared scrap.

Where scrap is to undergo preparation prior to its arrival at the point of delivery, such scrap is not at its shipping point, as that phrase is defined in paragraph (c) hereof, until after such preparation has been completed.

[Paragraph (d) as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 701]

Such certificate shall, among other things, specify the quantity and grade of the scrap, the shipping point, the point of delivery, and the transportation charges from shipping point to point of delivery. The consumer shall acknowledge receipt of the material on the face of the certificate. Certification must be executed on the Office of Price Administration's Form 104:15 (or a copy thereof). PART 1306—IRON AND STEEL

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 6—IRON AND STEEL PRODUCTS

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply and adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Price Schedule No. 6 was issued on April 16, 1941, to stem a threatened general increase in steel prices. It successfully achieved its major purpose. Such inequities and hardships as were inevitably involved in an action of this nature have been alleviated in the course of administration. In June 1941 a revision of Price Schedule No. 6 was issued to incorporate certain suggestions received from a cross-section of the industry. In the light of the experience of recent months, however, it is now thought desirable to reissue a revised Price Schedule No. 6 designed to eliminate certain ambiguities and minor errors. This revision in no way affects the major provisions of the original Price Schedule No. 6. It continues to employ the multiple basing point, price leadership, and extras systems which are presently in effect in the industry. As before, this acceptance of these systems merely as a vehicle for determining price should not be regarded as approval thereof, nor should this reservation be regarded as indicating disapproval.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that—

§ 1306.1 Maximum prices for iron or steel products. On and after April 17, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1306.4 hereof, no producer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any iron or steel product, and no person shall accept delivery of any such product at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1306.10: Provided, That with respect to any sale of any such product for future delivery, a contract may provide for the payment of an adjusted price or for the payment of a price in effect at the time of shipment if such contract also expressly states that the price at time of shipment shall not exceed the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration and in effect at time of shipment.

Provided further, That the provisions of Price Schedule No. 6 shall apply only to sales, offers to sell, deliveries, or transfers of iron or steel products moving within, into or out of one of the 48 states of the United States or the District of Columbia. The export provisions of Price Schedule No. 6 shall apply to any sale for delivery outside the 48 states or the District of Columbia.*

* §§ 1306.1 to 1306.14, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1306.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A (§ 1306.10) may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1306.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 6 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of any iron or steel product, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 6 shall not be evaded by improper classification of any iron or steel product; by improper application of extras; by elimination or reduction of any customary or general privilege as defined in § 1306.10 (i); by the charging of any premium for prompt or early delivery; by the splitting of orders into small quantities with design to increase prices; or by pricing on an f. o. b mill basis or on the basis of any other than designated basing points, when either of these practices results in a higher than ceiling delivered price.*

§ 1306.4 Existing contracts. A price in excess of the maximums established herein shall not be charged, demanded, paid, or offered in the case of any contract entered into subsequent to April 16, 1941. Contracts entered into on or prior to April 16, 1941, which do not conform to the requirements of Price Schedule No. 6, may be completed on the contract terms only with respect to shipments made prior to March 15, 1942.*

§ 1306.5 Records and reports. (a) Every producer of iron or steel products shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, copies of all invoices dated January 1, 1941, or later, relating to sales of such products, including sales to warehousemen, jobbers, brokers, and all other persons purchasing for resale. Every such invoice shall clearly indicate the price actually paid, together with all discounts or other credit terms.

(b) Every producer of iron or steel products shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on or before February 16, 1942, all charges, terms and discounts, including base prices published or quoted as of April 16, 1941, and extras which were (1) published and quoted and (2) actually and customarily charged as of April 16, 1941, insofar as such filing was not made prior to the effective date of this Amended Price Schedule No. 6. On and after February 16, 1942, except as provided in § 1306.10 (b) or as specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration, no prices, extras, or other charges permitted by Price Schedule No. 6 may be charged which have not been filed with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1306.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the terms and provisions of Price Schedule No. 6, the Office of Price Administration will use its full powers of enforcement to compel remedial action and future compliance by any such violator. These powers may include steps in an appropriate court of law, such administrative remedies as may be proper, as well as the informing of the Congress and the public, and the enlisting of the cooperation of the various state or federal governmental agencies, including the procurement services of the Government. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or of manipulation of the price of iron or steel products, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1306.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 6. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 6 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom. In considering any such application the Office of Price Administration may require the submission in affidavit form of any further data which it may consider relevant, and it shall upon request have access to the records and books of the applicant. In connection with any such application for relief, a sworn affirmation of compliance with this and all other Price Schedules issued by the Office of Price Administration must be submitted or the absence thereof clearly explained.*

§ 1306.8 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 6, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, trust, corporation or other business entity, including executors or administrators, trustees in bankruptcy, receivers, or other court-appointed officials;

(b) "Producer" or "producer of iron or steel products" means any person who manufactures or produces any of the iron or steel products as defined in paragraph (c) herein;

(c) "Iron or steel products" means and includes all iron or steel ingots, all semi-finished iron or steel products, all finished hot-rolled or cold-rolled iron or steel products, and any iron or steel product which is further finished by galvanizing, plating, coating, drawing, extruding, etc. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the term shall include all products listed in Appendix B (§ 1306.11) of Price Schedule No. 6. The term shall also include all seconds and off-grade iron or steel products: Provided, That the term shall not include pig iron.[1]

[1] See Price Schedule No. 10.

(d) "Governing basing point" means that established basing point the use of which results in the lowest delivered price at the place of delivery.

(e) "Emergency basing point" means the established basing point at or nearest the place of production or of origin of shipment.

(f) "Usual market area" of any mill with respect to a shipment of any product means that area into which the particular iron or steel product had, in the course of the two years prior to April 16, 1941, been customarily shipped by such mill in quantities comparable to the shipment being made.

(g) "Basing point base prices" means:

(1) The prices announced prior to December 31, 1940, or customarily quoted by Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, American Steel & Wire Co., Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., National Tube Co., and Columbia Steel Co., as base prices effective during the first quarter of 1941, or in effect on April 16, 1941, and applicable at designated basing points for iron or steel products; or

(2) In the case of an individual producer, the prices announced or customarily quoted by such producer during the first quarter of 1941, or in effect on April 16, 1941, as base prices applicable at designated basing points for iron or steel products: Provided, That the base prices under this subparagraph (2) shall not be in excess of the base prices under subparagraph (1), for the purpose of this definition, except to the extent which actually prevailed in the case of such producer, during the entire third quarter of the year 1940; or

(3) Where there are delivered prices applicable at a particular place, including Detroit, eastern Michigan, and the Gulf and Pacific Coast basing points listed in Appendix C (§ 1306.12), and such prices are less than the basing point base prices at the nearest governing basing point plus transportation charges, such prices for the purpose of Price Schedule No. 6 shall be deemed basing point base prices applicable for delivery at such place: (i) Provided, That such prices, except in the case of the Gulf and Pacific Coast ports, are not to be used to arrive at delivered prices to other destinations: (ii) Provided further, That when delivery is made in any part by water transportation, to these maximum delivered prices may be added any excess in the charges for war risk marine insurance above the charges prevailing prior to January 8, 1942: (iii) Provided further, That this paragraph need not apply (a) in the case of a shipment to or based upon Gulf or Pacific Coast points, if the customary means of transportation are not used, or (b) if the shipment is outside the usual market area, as defined in § 1306.8 (f), in which cases the shipment may be priced in accordance with paragraph (b) of Appendix A (§ 1306.10).

(h) (1) "Extras" means when used with reference to domestic sales (i) the published or quoted extras of the subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel Corporation as of April 16, 1941, or (ii) the published or quoted extras of the individual producer, as of April 16, 1941, being additions to or deductions from the base price to make adjustment for variations in the product sold from the product governed by the base price, which variations might be in size or other physical specifications, chemical analysis, processing or other quality or treatment or in the quantity of the product: Provided, That (except as permitted under § 1306.10 (h)) where any extra may have been so published or quoted but had not been charged, in whole or in part, by a producer for a specific application to a particular group or groups of buyers on April 16, 1941, or during the two years prior thereto, before such published extra may be charged or invoiced by such producer after March 15, 1942, to such particular group or groups of buyers such producer must apply for approval to and receive approval from the Office of Price Administration for the charging of such extra for such application to such particular group or groups of buyers.

Any extra approved by the Office of Price Administration under this section may after publication thereof be charged by all producers covered by Price Schedule No. 6. Without limiting the generality of this proviso, approval may be denied for the charging of any such extra, even if published as of April 16, 1941, to the extent that such extra during the two years prior to April 16, 1941, had been generally ignored in pricing steel for a particular group or groups of buyers so that the failure to charge such extra constituted a customary trade practice in respect to such buyers.

(2) "Extras" when used with reference to export sales means (i) the export extras published or quoted by the United States Steel Export Company, by the Steel Export Association, or by the individual producer, as of April 16, 1941; or (ii) where extras provided under (i) are not applicable, domestic extras as defined in paragraph (h) (1) above.*

§ 1306.9 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 6. This Schedule (§§ 1306.1 to 1306.9, inclusive) shall become effective April 17, 1941.*

[This Schedule, as amended (§§ 1306.1 to 1306.14, inclusive) shall become effective February 4, 1942]

§ 1306.10 Appendix A: Domestic and export ceiling prices for sales by producers of iron and steel products. (a) The domestic ceiling delivered price for any iron or steel product for which there are basing point base prices shall be the aggregate of:

(1) The basing point base price at the governing basing point;

(2) Applicable extras, as defined in and subject to the provisions of § 1306.8 (h) (i): Provided, That in no case shall an extra or extras be charged for any processing, testing, chemical specification, special quality, quantity, etc., unless these services are actually performed and are necessary in order to furnish an iron or steel product of a type and quality required to fabricate successfully the article in question or to meet the specifications of the purchaser.

(3) Transportation charges in effect at the time of shipment from the governing basing point to the place of delivery as customarily computed.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a), if in any case in which by reason of unusual circumstances arising directly from the emergency demands of the war program, a shipment of any product is made to a place which is not within the usual market area of the mill from which shipment is made, the emergency basing point may be used and transportation charges may be calculated from the emergency basing point to the place of delivery. Such transportation charges shall in no case exceed the actual cost of transportation on the shipment. All persons selling iron or steel products under this paragraph (b) shall maintain complete and readily available records of all such sales and shall report such sales to the Office of Price Administration as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require.

(c) The export ceiling price for any iron or steel product for which there are basing point base prices shall be the aggregate of: (1) the basing point base price at the governing basing point or at the emergency basing point; (2) applicable export extras; (3) export transportation charges in effect at the time of shipment from the governing or emergency basing point to the place of delivery, as customarily computed: Provided, That the export price at a particular seaboard point may be the aggregate of (i) the export base price of United States Steel Export Company F. A. S. seaboard at such point in effect on April 16, 1941, (whether sales are F. A. S. or F. O. B. mill with freight prepaid to seaboard) (ii) applicable export extras. In the case of C. I. F. sales adjustments for additional transportation and insurance charges may be made. (Such F. A. S. prices for principal products at principal ports are listed in § 1306.13 Appendix D).

(d) The ceiling delivered price for any iron or steel product for which there are basing point base prices when such products are purchased for account of the Lend-Lease Administration, shall be the aggregate of (1) the domestic basing point base price at the governing basing point, or at the emergency basing point; (2) applicable domestic or export extras; and (3) export transportation charges in effect at the time of shipment from the governing or emergency basing point to the place of delivery, as customarily computed.

(e) For all iron or steel products, such as specialty products, for which there are no basing point base prices and extras or United States Steel Export Company F. A. S. seaboard prices, the ceiling prices shall be the prices and extras which were or would have been charged by the seller on April 16, 1941 (upon the basis of the prices, discounts, charges, or extras then listed or quoted by the seller) for such iron or steel products.

(f) The maximum delivered price for all seconds or off-grade iron or steel products shall not exceed the maximum delivered price for comparable iron or steel products of prime quality.

(g) The maximum base price for carbon steel ingots, rerolling quality, standard analysis, shall be $31.00 per gross ton, f. o. b. mill.

(h) In any case in which the maximum prices set forth in Price Schedule No. 6 are not applicable to a new product or a substantial variation in a product or a new process, the producer shall file with the Office of Price Administration his prices or charges for such product or process, and the Office of Price Administration reserves the right to disapprove the charging of such prices or charges.

(i) All customary or general privileges in effect as of April 16, 1941, including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, delivery and other services of all kinds, credit or other terms of payment, functional discounts and allowances such as those customarily made to jobbers, dealers or other distributors and discounts and allowances customarily made to specific classes of purchasers such as manufacturers of roofing materials, chain link fencing, culverts, etc., shall be continued without diminution or extra charge: Provided, That this paragraph shall not apply to any reductions in published or quoted base prices arising from specific competitive situations.

PART 1307—RAW MATERIALS FOR COTTON TEXTILES

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 7—COMBED COTTON YARNS AND THE PROCESSING THEREOF [1]

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Stable operation of the cotton textile industry is essential to the production of commodities necessary for the defense of the nation and to the uninterrupted flow of goods to civilian consumers. An inflationary movement in the price of any basic material used in the manufacture of cotton textiles and related products raises costs of production for the entire industry. This necessarily jeopardizes the legitimate opportunities for profit of manufacturers in the field, makes it difficult and in some cases impossible for the trade to cooperate with the government in maintaining price stability, and increases the prices for which the public must pay for many basic necessities.

Recent months have seen a rapid advance in the price of combed yarns, which constitute an important raw material used in the manufacture of cotton textiles, garments, and other products The increases which have taken place far exceed the current rise in manufacturing costs. Present price levels of combed yarns are, therefore, inflationary in character; they are the result of, and unless subjected to control, will lead to further speculative activity and withholding of yarn from the market.

Accordingly, pursuant to and under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, and after consultation with the Price Administration Committee, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1307.1 Maximum prices for combed yarns and for mercerizing, bleaching, and gassing. (a) On and after the applicable ceiling date, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment (except as provided in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1307.12), no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer combed yarn and no person shall buy, offer to buy, accept delivery of combed yarn, at prices higher than the applicable maximum prices set forth in Appendix A: Provided, That the provisions of Price Schedule No. 7 shall not apply to retail sales of combed yarn.

(b) On and after the applicable ceiling date, regardless of the terms of any contract or other commitment, no person shall charge and no person shall pay for the mercerizing, bleaching, and/or gassing of combed yarn, prices higher than the applicable maximum prices set forth in § 1307.12, Appendix A.*

*§ 1307.1 to 1307.12, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 5875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1307.3 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 7 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of combed yarn, or in connection with the mercerizing, bleaching, or gassing of combed yarn, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) No price agreed upon in any contract shall be changed by amendment of such contract, by substitution therefor of a new contract, or otherwise (whether or not such change is made pursuant to the terms of the original contract) if the change so effected results in an agreed price in excess of the maximum price applicable under § 1316.12 hereof, in accordance with the date the original contract was made, to the original contract or to deliveries pursuant thereto.*

§ 1307.4 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of combed yarn after February 2, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (1) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity and specifications of each kind or grade purchased or sold; (2) the quantity of combed yarn (i) on hand, and (ii) on order, as of the close of each calendar month; and (3) in the case of manufacturers (i) the quantity in pounds of each count of base-grade combed yarn manufactured during each calendar month and (ii) the quantity in pounds of each type of combed yarn, other than base-grade combed yarn, manufactured or sold during each calendar month, and the kind, grade, and staple of cotton used in each such type.

PART 1308—SCRAP AND SECONDARY MATERIALS CONTAINING NICKEL

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 8—PURE NICKEL SCRAP, MONEL METAL SCRAP, STAINLESS STEEL SCRAP, NICKEL STEEL SCRAP AND OTHER SCRAP MATERIALS CONTAINING NICKEL; SECONDARY MONEL INGOT, SECONDARY MONEL SHOT, AND SECONDARY COPPER-NICKEL SHOT

[Issued by Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by Office of Price Administration]

Due to the needs of the defense program, the demand for primary nickel, primary materials containing nickel, and for scrap and secondary materials containing nickel, has increased to the extent that the available supplies of such materials are insufficient to satisfy the total defense and civilian demand. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has been exerted upon the prices of such scrap and secondary materials causing their prices to rise greatly in excess of levels which are in proper relation to the price levels of primary materials. Price instability and dislocations injurious to the national defense and civilian economy have resulted. All this has made it difficult, and in some cases impossible for the trade to cooperate with the Government in maintaining price stability.

Accordingly, pursuant to and under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1308.1 Maximum prices on sales of pure nickel scrap, monel metal scrap, stainless steel scrap, nickel steel scrap, and other scrap materials containing nickel. On and after June 2, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, entered into prior to such date, except as provided in § 1308.3 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer at a price, to any other person, pure nickel scrap, ferro-nickel-chrome-iron scrap, ferro-nickel-iron scrap, monel metal scrap, cupro-nickel alloy scrap, stainless steel scrap, or nickel steel scrap, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1308.10. No person shall buy, or offer to buy, or accept delivery of, such scrap materials from any person at higher prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1308.10, Appendix A, may, however, be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

*§§ 1308.1 to 1308.11, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in Executive Orders 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1308.2 Maximum prices on sales of secondary monel ingot, secondary monel shot and secondary copper-nickel shot. On and after June 2, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, entered into prior to such date, except as provided in § 1308.3 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer at a price, to any other person, secondary monel ingot, secondary monel shot, or secondary copper-nickel shot, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix B, incorporated herein as § 1308.11. No person shall buy, or offer to buy, or accept delivery of, such secondary materials at higher prices. Lower prices than the prices set forth in § 1308.11, Appendix B, may, however, be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1308.3 Permission to carry out contracts. Any person seeking permission to carry out a contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, entered into prior to May 30, 1941, and calling for the delivery, after May 30, 1941, of any of the scrap or secondary materials described in Appendix A or B (§ 1308.10, § 1308.11) at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in the Appendices, may apply for such permission in writing upon forms available upon request made to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Permission will be granted if necessary to protect such person against loss in the disposition of inventory already acquired at prices higher than the established maximum prices. Permission, therefore, may be obtained only if such scrap or secondary materials, in quantities sufficient to carry out such contract or commitment, were acquired at prices higher than the established maximum prices, and held on May 30, 1941, by (a) the person seeking such permission, and (b) any other person, for delivery to the person seeking such permission, under a firm commitment entered into prior to May 30, 1941.*

§ 1308.3a Imports. §§ 1308.1 and 1308.2 apply to import of any of the scrap or secondary materials described in Appendix A or B (§§ 1308.10, 1308.11). However, any person who imports such materials may apply for permission to sell such materials at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in the Appendices. Such permission shall be applied for in writing upon forms available upon request made to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Permission will not be granted unless:

(a) the applicant has purchased the imported materials at prices not exceeding the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A or B (§§ 1308.10, 1308.11); and

(b) the prices at which the applicant seeks to sell the imported materials are approved by the Office of Price Administration. The Office of Price Administration will not approve the sale of imported scrap materials containing nickel at prices which exceed the delivered cost of the materials to the applicant plus the premiums allowed a converter on sales of the particular kind or grade of scrap material involved, as set forth in Appendix A, § 1308.10; and

(c) the prospective consumer of the imported materials is disclosed.*

[§ 1308.3a added by amendment June 26, 1941; effective June 26, 1941; 6 F.R. 3154]

§ 1308.4 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale or transfer at a price, of the scrap or secondary materials described in Appendix A or B, (§§ 1308.10, 1308.11), or in connection with a purchase, sale, or transfer at a price of any other materials, or by way of any service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1308.5 Record-keeping requirements. Every person purchasing or selling the scrap or secondary materials described in Appendices A or B (§§ 1308.10, 1308.11), shall, until such time as further information is deemed necessary or appropriate hereunder, keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration and preserve for a period not less than one year, complete and accurate records of:

(a) every purchase and sale of such scrap or secondary materials, showing the name and address of the person from or to whom each such purchase or sale was made, the date thereof, the price paid or received, and the quantity, in pounds or tons, of each kind or grade purchased or sold; and

(b) the quantity, in pounds or tons, of such scrap materials and, separately, the quantity, in pounds or tons, of such secondary materials (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each month.*

§ 1308.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, and other provisions contained in the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions contained in the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8, this Office will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed of any failure to abide by the provisions of the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8; and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who conform with the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8 in the maintenance of the ceiling prices herein set forth. Persons who have evidence of the demand or receipt of prices above the limitations set forth, or of any evasion of or effort to evade such requirements, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of the scrap and secondary materials, for which maximum prices are herein established, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1308.7 Supplemental schedule and reporting requirements. In order to insure compliance with the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8 supplements further stating its scope and, if necessary, requiring reports to the Government, will be issued from time to time when found appropriate.*

§ 1308.8 Modification of Price Schedule No. 8. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of the regulations in Price Schedule No. 8 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1303.9 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 8, the term:

(a) "Person" includes an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity.

(b) "Maker" of the scrap materials set forth in § 1308.10, Appendix A, paragraph (a), of Price Schedule No. 8 means the person who first sells, offers for sale, or delivers such scrap materials such as (1) any manufacturer or fabricator, who, as an incident to his manufacturing process, fabricating or other industrial uses, produces such scrap materials, or (2) any person who, in his business or as an incident to his business, demolishes or dismantles structures, machinery, vehicles or equipment and removes such scrap materials therefrom for the purpose of sale.*

[§ 1308.9 as amended September 5, 1941; effective September 6, 1941; 6 F.R. 4634]

INTRODUCTORY

Maximum prices herein established are for the principal kinds or grades of the scrap materials. All other kinds or grades, which are not specified, should be sold at their normal differentials from such principal kinds or grades. Moreover, the maximum prices are established

[9] The premiums set forth herein for mercerized, bleached, and/or gassed combed yarns also constitute maximum prices for mercerizing, bleaching and or gassing of combed yarn.

The maximum prices established in this Price Schedule do not apply to unmercerized bleached plied combed yarn or to the bleaching of plied combed yarn except in conjunction with the mercerizing thereof.

for scrap which meets generally accepted maximum standards in the trade—as, for instance, the Standard Classification for Old Metals of the National Association of Waste Material Dealers, Inc., contained in its Circular O, effective as of June 1, 1940. Scrap which fails to meet such standards should be sold at their normal differentials below the established maximum prices.

(a) Pure nickel scrap, ferro-nickel-chrome-iron scrap, ferro-nickel-iron scrap, monel metal scrap and cupro-nickel alloy scrap. The maximum prices established for the kinds and grades of scrap materials set forth in this paragraph, apply on sales of scrap, unsuitable and unprepared for industrial consumption. A converter of such scrap materials, as hereinafter defined, may receive, in addition to the maximum prices set forth below, a stated maximum premium for scrap which he has converted. A "converter" of such scrap materials is defined for the purposes of Price Schedule No. 8, as any person, other than a maker of such scrap materials, who:

(1) Sells scrap directly to a consumer thereof; and,

(2) By chemical test or assay, determines the metal constituents of the scrap; and,

(3) On that basis, sorts, grades, treats, packages or briquettes by power press, and otherwise prepares, the scrap, making it suitable for direct industrial consumption; and

(4) Guarantees the delivery of scrap in an agreed amount and analysis.

Unless such person satisfies the four criteria, set forth above, he may not receive a converter's premium. His scrap must not be sold at a price higher than the maximum prices set forth below.

Furthermore, a converter or any other person may receive, in addition to the maximum prices set forth below, a premium of a stated maximum amount on shipments of a specified quantity of material.

Such quantity may be made up of any kind or grade of stainless steel scrap, including both the chrome-nickel and the straight-chrome types. If delivery is made by truck, a carload lot shipment will be considered to have been made, for the purposes of Price Schedule No. 8, if the minimum quantity making up the carload lot is delivered to the buyer within two days after the first shipment of the lot is picked up by truck.

PART 1314—RAW MATERIALS FOR SHOES AND LEATHER PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 9—HIDES, KIPS AND CALFSKINS

[Issued by Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Cattle hides and kips and calfskins are the basic raw materials of the shoe and leather industry. Shoes and other leather products are purchased in large quantities by the War and Navy Departments. Defense industries use large quantities of industrial leather. Shoes are one of the most important single items in the average family clothing budget, and a substantial factor in the personal equipment of the military forces. Marked increases in shoe prices would be a serious threat to stability in the living costs of all members of the community. Accordingly, it is apparent that instability of hide and leather prices would be inimical to the general public welfare.

Since August, 1940, hide prices have risen steadily with only an occasional slight interruption in their upward trend. Shoe prices have been under pressure from hide prices. Beginning in February, 1941, this upward trend became so pronounced as to stimulate speculative buying of hides and skins, and forward buying of shoes and other leather products. On March 15th, in an effort to check this inflationary spiral, the Price Stabilization Division of the Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense issued a general warning pointing out that the basic supply and demand factors did not justify increases in hide prices and attributing such increases to purely speculative influences. Despite this warning, hide prices in recent weeks have reached their highest level since 1928 with the exception of one week in 1937. These increased prices have been reflected in the latest bids on shoes for the Army and the Civilian Conservation Corps. Therefore, the War Department rejected all bids on 1,000,008 pairs of shoes for the Army and 283,816 pairs of shoes for the Civilian Conservation Corps.

It is apparent, therefore, that the public interest requires that maximum prices be established for hides, kips and calfskins.

Accordingly, pursuant to and under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, and after consultation with the Price Administration Committee, It is hereby directed that:

§ 1314.1 Maximum price established for hides. On and after June 16, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person shall sell or deliver, or offer to sell or deliver, any hides, whether for immediate or future delivery, and no person shall buy, or accept for delivery, any hides, whether for immediate or future delivery, at a price exceeding the maximum price set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1314.11. Lower prices may, however, be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

Persons who have evidence of the demand or receipt of prices above the limitations set forth, or any evasion of or effort to evade such prices, or of speculation, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories of hides, kips or calfskins, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

PART 1306—IRON AND STEEL

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 10—PIG IRON

[Issued by Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration is charged with maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations. Iron and steel scrap and Pig Iron are basic materials for the production of iron and steel products. By Price Schedule No. 4, revised,[1] and Price Schedule No. 6, revised,[2] respectively, price ceilings have been placed on iron and steel scrap and on iron and steel products. Recent wage increases and the increased demand for Pig Iron resulting from the national defense emergency have been exerting pressure upon the price structure, causing the prices of certain grades and kinds of Pig Iron to be increased. In the interest of national defense and the public interest a price ceiling is necessary. On the basis of information secured by independent investigation by this Office, and upon information furnished by the trade, I find that the maximum ("ceiling") prices as set forth below constitute reasonable limitations on prices for Pig Iron.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734 it is hereby directed that:

§ 1306.51 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 10:

(a) The term "Person" includes an individual, corporation, association, partnership, or other business entity.

(b) The term "Pig Iron" includes all Pig Iron such as Basic, Foundry, Malleable, Bessemer, Low-Phosphorus, High-Silicon or Silvery, Gray Forge, Charcoal, etc., commonly produced in blast furnaces.

(c) The term "Basing Point Base Price" means the prices for Pig Iron as listed in § 1306.56, Appendix A.

(d) The term "Differential" means those provided in § 1306.56, Appendix A, otherwise the charges in effect June 24, 1941, prescribing additions or deductions from the base price to make adjustment for various analyses of the product sold from the product governed by the base price, which variations may be in chemical analysis, or other quality of the product.

(e) The term "Governing Basing Point" means that basing point the use of which results in the lowest delivered price at the place of delivery; in the case of exports it may also mean the established basing point at or nearest the place of production.*

*§§ 1306.51 to 1306.58, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in Executive Order Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1306.52 Maximum ("ceiling") prices on sales of pig iron. On and after June 24, 1941, regardless of any commitment theretofore entered into, no Person who produces Pig Iron shall sell or deliver or offer to sell or deliver any such product, and no purchaser shall buy or accept delivery or offer to buy or accept delivery from such Person of any such product, at a price exceeding the maximum ("ceiling") price: Provided, That with respect to any sale of Pig Iron for future delivery, a contract may provide for the payment of an adjusted price not to exceed the maximum ("ceiling") price in effect at the time of shipment.

A lower price than the ceiling price may be charged, demanded, offered, or paid. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 10 shall not be evaded by additional charges for prompt or early delivery, or by other direct or indirect methods, nor shall the other terms and conditions of sale be made more onerous to the purchasers than those available or in effect on June 24, 1941.

(a) The domestic ceiling price for any grade or kind of Pig Iron for which there are Basing Point Base Prices shall be the aggregate of: (1) the Basing Point Base Price at the Governing Basing Point; (2) Differentials; (3) transportation charges from the Governing Basing Point to the place of delivery as customarily computed.

(b) The export ceiling price for any grade or kind of Pig Iron for which there are Basing Point Base Prices shall be the aggregate of: (1) the Basing Point Base Price at the Governing Basing Point; (2) Differentials; (3) export transportation charges from the Governing Basing Point to the place of delivery as customarily computed.

For all special kinds or grades of Pig Iron for which there are no Differentials, the ceiling prices shall be the Basing Point Base Prices and the special differentials which were or would have been charged by the seller on June 24, 1941, (upon the basis of the prices, discounts charges, or special differentials then listed or quoted by the seller), for such kinds or grades of Pig Iron, exclusive of any premium or charge for advanced delivery or any other inducement offered by the buyer or demanded by the seller to negotiate the sale.*

§ 1306.53 Records. (a) Every Person who produces Pig Iron shall retain copies of all invoices, dated January 1, 1941, or later, relating to sales of such products, including sales to exporters, brokers and all other Persons purchasing for resale. Reports on such sales, in such form as may be determined, will be required by Supplements issued under Price Schedule No. 10.

(b) Every Person who produces and sells Pig Iron shall file a copy of his price schedules, including Differentials, stating the prices, charges and discounts in effect on June 24, 1941. Such materials shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on or before July 10, 1941.*

§ 1306.54 Supplement. In order to facilitate the application of Price Schedule No. 10, Supplements further stating its scope will be issued from time to time as may be necessary, or appropriate.*

§ 1306.55 Modification. Price Schedule No. 10 is issued upon the basis of presently existing conditions. It is subject to adjustment or revocation if called for by changed conditions. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 10 (whether arising from action taken in reliance on a commitment of sale at prices in excess of those herein established, or from any other cause) may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any proposed modification thereof.*

PART 1316—COTTON TEXTILES

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 11—FINE COTTON GREY GOODS[2]

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and dislocations.

Cotton Grey Goods are used as the basic fabric for finished cotton textiles. They are also used extensively in an unfinished state. Finished cotton textiles constitute a major portion of the material used in both military and civilian clothing. Furthermore, Cotton Grey Goods, in both their finished and unfinished states, are indispensable to the manufacture of numerous other items used by both the armed forces and civilians.

In the last 12 months the cotton grey goods market has advanced sharply. During that period there has been a 68 percent increase in the average price of the principal constructions. This has meant a 106 percent increase in the average mill margin for those types of cloth. This upward price movement has been out of all proportion to any increases in costs of materials and production. Largely responsible for this inflationary trend have been the fear of buyers that prices would continue to rise, and the activity of speculators and hoarders who have taken advantage of this fear and of the heavy demand for textiles arising from defense needs.

It is apparent, therefore, that in order to insure stability of the price structure and to forestall widespread speculation, hoarding, and profiteering, the national defense and the public interest require that maximum prices be established for Cotton Grey Goods.

The maximum prices set forth below allow a mill margin substantially above the average which the industry has enjoyed during the past five years.

On the basis of information secured by independent investigation by this Office, and upon information furnished by the trade, I find that the maximum prices herein established are necessary and reasonable.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, and after consultation with the Price Administration Committee, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1316.1 Maximum prices for fine cotton goods. On and after the applicable ceiling date (as set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1316.13), regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer fine cotton goods, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of fine cotton goods, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, except as provided in § 1316.3.*

*§§ 1316.1 to 1316.14, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

[§ 1316.2 as amended December 23, 1941, effective December 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 6695]

§ 1316.3 Wholesalers, jobbers, and retailers. The maximum prices established herein and the provisions of §§ 1316.5 and 1316.6 are not applicable to sales or deliveries of fine cotton goods made by any wholesaler, jobber, or retailer in the performance of a recognized distributive function: Provided, (a) That sales and deliveries of fine cotton goods (1) to a domestic converter or finisher or (2) by the manufacturer thereof or by any agent of such manufacturer, shall not be made at prices higher than the established maximum prices; and (b) that records, as required by § 1316.5, shall be kept of every sale or delivery by a wholesaler or jobber for export.*

[§ 1316.3 as amended, December 23, 1941, effective December 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 6695]

§ 1316.4 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 11 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of fine cotton goods, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) No price agreed upon in any contract shall be changed by amendment of such contract, by substitution therefor of a new contract, or otherwise (whether or not such change is made pursuant to the terms of the original contract) if the change so effected results in an agreed price in excess of the maximum price applicable under § 1316.13 hereof, in accordance with the date the original contract was made, to the original contract or to deliveries pursuant thereto.*

[§ 1316.4 as amended December 23, 1941, effective December 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 6695]

§ 1316.5 Records. Every person making purchases or sales of fine cotton goods after December 23, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each construction of fine cotton goods purchased or sold; (b) the quantity in yards of fine cotton goods, (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month; and (c) in the case of manufacturers, the quantity in yards or pounds of each construction of fine cotton goods manufactured during each calendar month. When used in this section, the term "fine cotton goods" includes fine cotton goods whether or not subject to the maximum prices established herein.*

(b) Every seller of fine cotton goods shall, with respect to each delivery thereof, transmit to the purchaser an invoice or similar document which shall either contain the information required by (a) above or make reference to the contract in which such information is set forth.*

[2] The term "spot cotton price," when used herein, means the average, published daily by the United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Marketing Service, of the price quotations for middling 15/16-inch cotton on ten designated spot markets.

[3] Except as provided in paragraph (c), this method of determining the maximum price shall be used in connection with deliveries and transfers pursuant to sales or contracts of sale made before, as well as on or after, the applicable ceiling date.

* Sales under "open-price" contracts, pursuant to which the price is to be determined as of a date subsequent to that on which the contract is entered into, are permissible hereunder, provided that the contract (1) specifies the quantity of goods to be delivered and (2) fixes the exact date upon which the price is to be settled. In connection with such contracts the date on which the price is settled shall be regarded, for purposes of paragraph (d), as the day on which the sale or contract of sale is made.

[1] The maximum price for cloth of a thread count listed in this table but of a different width from that mentioned therein shall be directly proportionate, in the ratio of the respective widths, to the stated maximum price for cloth of that thread count.

For seconds and short lengths of any fabric subject to the maximum prices established in this Price Schedule No. 11, the maximum prices shall be five per cent less than the above prices.

[2] For 40" 96 x 100 combed lawn meeting United States Marine Corps specifications for Rubberized Poncho (adopted May 10, 1938 corrected to December 30, 1940) a premium of ¾ cent per yard may be charged.

[Table II as amended February 2, 1942, effective December 24, 1941, 7 F.R. 713]

(e) Premiums. (1) In addition to the maximum prices set forth in (d) above, a premium may be demanded, charged, paid, or accepted for fine cotton goods made pursuant to specifications furnished by the buyer establishing special physical requirements which cannot be met by the same goods of commercial quality: Provided, That, except in accordance with permission granted under § 1316.13 (e) (3):

(i) The premiums shall not exceed the highest differential in price charged (in cents over the then prevailing market price of the same goods of commercial quality) by the seller for goods of the same specifications during the 12 months immediately prior to June 1941, or, if no such goods have been sold by the seller during that period, 5 per cent of the otherwise applicable maximum price;

(ii) No premium shall be charged hereunder, unless the specifications to which the goods are made were issued by the buyer prior to July 21, 1941.

(2) Every seller making a sale, contract of sale, or delivery of fine cotton goods at a price including all or part of any premium permissible under § 1316.13 (e) (1) shall, on or before the 10th day of the succeeding month, file with the Office of Price Administration a sworn statement on Form 111:8 stating, with respect to each sale, contract of sale, or delivery made during the preceding calendar month, the date of the sale or contract of sale; the quantity of goods covered thereby; the date or dates when delivery is to be or has been made; the name of the manufacturer of the goods and of the buyer; the price agreed upon, charged, or paid; the buyer's specifications, in accordance with which the goods are made; the date of issuance thereof by the buyer; the use to which the goods are to be put; and the special physical requirements which are relied upon for the premium charged: Provided, That if a report, as required hereunder, is duly made of a sale or contract of sale, or any delivery pursuant thereto, no report need be made of any subsequent delivery of the same kind of goods pursuant to such sale or contract of sale.

(3) Application may be made by any buyer, or, where goods have been sold but not delivered prior to the applicable ceiling date, by any seller, to the Office of Price Administration for permission to pay or accept, in addition to the maximum prices appearing in paragraphs (c) or (d), a premium for (i) fine cotton goods made to such buyer's specifications issued on or after July 21, 1941; (ii) specification goods of a kind not manufactured by the seller during the 12 months immediately prior to June 1941, and for which the buyer considers it fair to pay such seller a premium of more than 5 per cent over the otherwise applicable maximum price; (iii) specification goods of a kind manufactured and sold by a seller during the 12 months immediately prior to June 1941 under such circumstances that the highest differential in price charged (in cents over the then prevailing market price of the same goods of commercial quality) by such seller during said 12-month period does not represent a fair and equitable return for the additional manufacturing cost entailed in meeting the specifications for such goods; or,(iv) fine cotton goods of a quality demonstrably superior to that of the same goods of staple commercial grade. Such application, which shall be sworn to before a notary public, shall be accompanied by a yard-long sample of the fabric in its full width and state in detail (i) the construction of the cloth, including the width, thread count, and weight, and, with respect to both the warp and filling yarns, the yarn number and the staple, grade, and kind of cotton used; (ii) the specifications, if any, to which the goods are made; (iii) the use to which the goods are to be put; (iv) the reasons, if any, why goods of staple commercial quality would not be satisfactory for such use; and (v) the person or persons, if any, from whom the goods were purchased and the premiums if any, paid (in cents over the prevailing market prices of the same goods of commercial quality) for such goods during the 3 years preceding the application. Upon receipt of any such application the Office of Price Administration will permit any person affected by such application to file a written statement setting forth facts pertinent to the issue of whether permission to pay a premium should be granted and, if so, in what amount; and will conduct such further investigation as it deems necessary and proper. No permission will be granted hereunder unless it is shown that it is essential to the buyer's business to obtain goods of the type for which he seeks to pay a premium and that the seller is entitled to receive a premium for such goods, and unless the Administrator finds that production of such goods would not be inconsistent with the interests of national defense. Permission granted to any buyer or to any seller hereunder will constitute authority for the other to accept or pay, as the case may be, the premium approved therein. In granting any permission hereunder the Office of Price Administration will require appropriate reports to be filed by the buyer and seller.*

[§ 1316.13 as amended December 23, 1941, effective December 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 6695, with the exception of Tables I and II which were amended February 2, 1942]

§ 1316.14 Effect of amendments. Unless the contrary is expressly provided in any amendment to Price Schedule No. 11:

(a) such amendment shall not be deemed to affect the provisions of Price Schedule No. 11 as they stood prior to such amendment;

(b) it shall be permissible for any person to make or accept delivery of fine cotton grey goods at the price agreed upon in a contract of sale or purchase entered into prior to such amendment, if such price was subject to and in conformity with Price Schedule No. 11 when such contract was made;

(c) deliveries made pursuant to contracts entered into prior to the effective date of such amendment shall not be made or accepted at prices higher than the maximum price applicable under the terms of Price Schedule No. 11 as in effect when the contract was made.*

PART 1309—COPPER

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 12—BRASS MILL SCRAP

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

The requirements of the defense program have increased the demand for brass mill scrap, causing the prices of such scrap to rise above levels which are in proper relation to the price levels of primary materials. Price instability and dislocations injurious to the national defense and civilian economy have resulted. As a consequence, it has become difficult, and, in some cases, impossible for the trade to cooperate with the Government in maintaining price stability.

Accordingly, pursuant to and under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1309.11 Maximum prices for brass mill scrap. (a) On and after July 22, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, entered into prior to such date, except as provided in § 1309.12 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer at a price, brass mill scrap, to any other person, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of, brass mill scrap, from any person, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1309.19. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1309.19, Appendix A, however, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.

(b) If brass mill scrap is imported into the United States, or if imported brass mill scrap is resold in the United States, there may be added to the maximum price established by this section the actual amount of United States import or customs duty paid on such scrap: Provided, That:

(1) the total amount paid or received for such imported scrap f. o. b. shipping point in the continental United States does not exceed the maximum price established in this section plus the actual amount of import or customs duty paid;

(2) the import or customs duty paid is shown as a separate item on the records required to be kept in accordance with section 1309.14 hereof and on any invoice rendered to the buyer; and

(3) the buyer files a report of each such purchase with the Office of Price Administration on form 112:3 within five days of the date thereof.

[Paragraph (b) added by amendment December 27, 1941, effective December 27, 1941, 6 F.R. 6798]

* §§ 1309.11 to 1309.19, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1309.12 Permission to carry out contracts entered into prior to July 22, 1941. Any person seeking permission to carry out a contract of sale or other commitment, entered into prior to July 22, 1941, and calling for the delivery, after July 22, 1941, of brass mill scrap at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in § 1309.19, Appendix A, may apply for such permission in writing upon forms available upon request made to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Permission will be granted if necessary to protect such person against loss in the disposition of inventory already acquired at prices higher than the established maximum prices. Permission, therefore, may be obtained only if quantities of brass mill scrap, sufficient to carry out such contract or commitment, were acquired at prices higher than the established maximum prices, and held on July 22, 1941, by (a) the person seeking such permission, and (b) any other person, for delivery to the person seeking such permission, under a firm commitment entered into prior to July 22, 1941.*

§ 1309.13 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 12 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer at a price, of brass mill scrap, or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer at a price, of any other materials, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1309.14 Record-keeping requirements. Every person making purchases or sales of brass mill scrap shall, until such time as further information is deemed necessary or appropriate hereunder, keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, and preserve for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of:

(a) every purchase and sale of such scrap, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the person from or to whom each such purchase or sale was made, the price paid or received, and the quantity, in pounds or tons, of each kind or grade purchased or sold; and

(b) the quantity, in pounds or tons, of such scrap (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each month.*

§ 1309.15 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 12, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 12, (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments through calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 12 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits, and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 12. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions thereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of any or all of the grades of brass mill scrap or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged and requested to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

[§ 1309.15 as amended October 1, 1941, effective October 3, 1941, 6 F.R. 5041]

§ 1309.16 Supplemental schedule and reporting requirements. In order to insure compliance with Price Schedule No. 12, supplements further defining its scope and, if necessary, requiring reports, to the Government, will be issued from time to time when found appropriate.*

§ 1309.17 Modification of Price Schedule No. 12. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 12 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1309.18 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 12 the term:

(a) "Person" includes an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Brass mill scrap" means the kinds and grades of nonferrous scrap materials which are a by-product of the fabrication of materials produced by brass mills.*

[§ 1309.18 as amended October 1, 1941, effective October 3, 1941, 6 F.R. 5041]

§ 1309.19 Appendix A: Maximum prices. Maximum prices herein set forth are for the principal kinds or grades of brass mill scrap. All other kinds or grades of brass mill scrap which are not specified, except cupro-nickel alloy scrap, should be sold at the normal differentials from such principal kinds or grades. Cupro-nickel alloy scrap shall be sold in accordance with the provisions of Price Schedule No. 8 which establishes maximum prices for scrap and secondary materials containing nickel.

The maximum prices are established for scrap which is clean, dry and free from foreign materials and which meets generally accepted maximum standards in the trade. Scrap which fails to meet such standards should be sold at normal differentials below the established maximum prices.

40,000 pounds or more at one time 1

The maximum prices set forth above apply on shipments in lots of less than 15,000 pounds. However, as indicated above, on shipments in lots of 15,000 pounds at one time, a maximum of ⅛¢ per pound may be added to such prices. On shipments in lots of 40,000 pounds or more at one time a maximum of 1¢ per pound may be added to such prices. A lot of 15,000 pounds for the purposes of Price Schedule No. 12, may be made up of any kind or grade of heavy scrap, or of any kind or grade of turnings and rod ends, but heavy scrap may not be mixed with either turnings or rod ends or both, to make up a lot of 15,000 pounds. A lot of 40,000 pounds or more for the purposes of Price Schedule No. 12 may be made up of any kind or grade of brass mill scrap.

If delivery is made by truck, a shipment in lots of 15,000 pounds or 40,000 pounds or more as the case may be, will be considered to have been made "at one time", for the purposes of Price Schedule No. 12, if such lot is delivered to the buyer within two days after the first shipment of the lot is so delivered.

PART 1312—LUMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 13—DOUGLAS FIR PLYWOOD[1]

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Douglas fir plywood, made primarily from Douglas fir peeler logs, is widely used as a building material, as a form for concrete shapes, as lining for the inside of freight cars and trucks, and as a display material. In the defense program, it has been extensively employed in the construction industry, and in the production of aircraft, pontoon bridges, and small boats. The recent increased use of plywood stemming from the defense program and the accompanying expanded economic activity has so increased demand for plywood that current requirements considerably exceed the existing capacity of the industry. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has been exerted upon the prices of these products, causing them to rise greatly in excess of previously existing levels in the industry. Such price increases have markedly outstripped cost advances. Certain members of the plywood industry have refused to cooperate voluntarily with the Office of Price Administration in maintaining stable prices, and those producers who have cooperated by withdrawing price increases have therefore been subjected to unjust discrimination.

§ 1312.1 Maximum prices for Douglas fir plywood. On and after February 20,

* Issued: 6 F.R. 3180, as §§ 1316.1 to 1316.8, inclusive. Amended: 6 F.R. 3595, 3988, 4323, 5093, 5335. Corrected: 6 F.R. 5549. Amended: 6 F.R. 6360. Sections renumbered and amended: 6 F.R. 6695. Corrected: 6 F.R. 6768. Amended: 7 F.R. 618, 714.

[1] Title changed from "Douglas Fir Peeler Logs and Douglas Fir Plywood" by amendment February 7, 1942, effective February 20, 1942; 7 F.R. 905.

1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, for domestic or export use, any Douglas fir plywood, where the shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distrbution plant, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1312.10.*

*§§ 1312.1 to 1312.10, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1312.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1312.10, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1312.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 13 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of Douglas fir plywood, alone or in conjunction with any other material; or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege; or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding; or by making terms or conditions of sale more onerous than those in effect or available to the purchaser on August 1, 1941; or by unnecessary routing plywood through a distribution plant; or by any other means.*

§ 1312.4 Records and reports. Every person who, during any calendar month, shall sell one or more carloads of Douglas fir plywood for shipment originating at the mill shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the prices, and the quantities and grades sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 13 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1312.5 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 13, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 13, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 13, and (c) that the procurement and other services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 13. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of Douglas fir plywood, or the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1312.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 13. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 13 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 13.*

§ 1312.7 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 13 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity.

(b) "Mill" means a factory or plant which processes Douglas fir peeler logs into Douglas fir plywood.

(c) "Manufacturer" means a person operating a mill.

(d) "Less than carload" means a quantity of one or more grades or sizes of Douglas fir plywood, the aggregate weight of which is less than 38,000 pounds. Either Douglas fir doors or Douglas fir millwork, or both, may be included with plywood in computing such aggregate weight.

(e) "Distribution plant" means a wholesale or retail warehouse or yard which purchases or receives Douglas fir plywood from a mill or another distribution plant for purposes of unloading and resale or redistribution, and which regularly maintains a stock of plywood.*

§ 1312.8 Delivered prices. A delivered price in excess of the maximum f. o. b. mill prices set forth in § 1312.10, Appendix A, may be charged, consisting of such maximum prices plus actual transportation costs paid by the seller. However, for the purposes of this section, the following two practices shall not be deemed a deviation from the use of actual transportation costs:

(a) The charging of a sum equivalent to the one-twentieth of a dollar nearest to such actual transportation costs; and

(b) the computation of transportation costs on the basis of a system of estimated average weights used by the seller during the month of July, 1941: Provided, That a copy of such system of estimated average weights has been filed with the Office of Price Administration either before the use of such system in a transaction subject to Price Schedule No. 13 as amended, or within thirty days of the effective date of this Amendment.*

§ 1312.9 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 13. This Schedule (§§ 1312.1 to 1312.10, inclusive) shall become effective August 5, 1941.*

[Title, Preamble, and §§ 1312.1 to 1312.9, inclusive, as amended, shall become effective February 20, 1942]

PART 1309—COPPER

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 15—COPPER

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply and adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocation. Copper is a basic material for the production of many defense products and as such has been subjected to a method of complete control of its distribution by a General Preference Order of the Office of Production Management, No. M-9-a, effective August 2, 1941. In order to equalize the price to all consumers under that preference order and in the interest of national defense and of the public, the establishment of maximum prices for copper is necessary. On the basis of information furnished by the Trade and secured by independent investigation by the Office of Price Administration, I find that the maximum prices set forth below constitute reasonable limitations on the price of copper.

Therefore, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1309.51 Maximum prices for copper. (a) On and after February 1, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1309.53 of this chapter, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer copper and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of copper at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1309.60: Provided, That any person may sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer copper to

[1] Issued: 6 F.R. 3865. Amended: 6 F.R. 4885. Renumbered and amended: 7 F.R. 905. Corrected: 7 F.R. 954.

Metals Reserve Company or any other government department, agency or corporation previously approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration, and Metals Reserve Company or any other government department, agency or corporation so approved by the Office of Price Administration, may buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of copper at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in § 1309.60.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in § 1309.60, the prices established by Price Schedule No. 15 are delivered prices at the buyer's place of business and are gross prices before the deduction of any discounts and include all commissions.*

*§§ 1309.51 to 1309.60, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1309.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1309.60 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1309.53 Permission to carry out contracts entered into prior to August 12, 1941. Any person who has, prior to August 12, 1941, entered into a contract of sale or other firm commitment calling for delivery or transfer, after that date, of copper at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 15 may make application, upon forms available upon request, to the Office of Price Administration for permission to carry out such contract or commitment at the contract price. Such permission will be granted only:

(a) Where the applicant has entered into a firm commitment with a purchaser prior to August 12, 1941, at a price not more than $\frac{1}{2}$¢ per pound in excess of the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 15, and where such firm commitment is actually carried out prior to December 31, 1941, or such later date as may be permitted in each case upon application to the Office of Price Administration, or

(b) Where the applicant is a dealer, the permission is necessary to protect the applicant against loss, the contract or firm commitment was entered into prior to August 12, 1941, and the copper, or the purchase contract for the copper, to fulfill such contract or firm commitment was acquired prior to April 25, 1941.*

§ 1309.54 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 15 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of copper, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding or otherwise.*

§ 1309.55 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of copper after August 12, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of:

(a) Each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity in pounds or tons of each kind or grade purchased or sold; and

(b) The quantity, in pounds or tons, of copper (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 15 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1309.56 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 15, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 15, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 15; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 15 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 15. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of copper, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1309.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 15. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 15 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless the person making such application shall have, to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration, complied with Price Schedule No. 15.*

§ 1309.58 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 15, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, corporation, association, partnership, or other business entity.

(b) "Copper" means all copper metal refined by any process of electrolysis or fire refining to a grade and in a form suitable for fabrication, and shall include all such metal produced from domestic or imported ores, concentrates, or other copper bearing material, or scrap.

(c) "Carload lot" means the minimum quantity of copper required to obtain railroad carload rates from the point of shipment to the point of destination.

(d) "Dealer" means a person who receives physical delivery of copper and sells or holds the same for resale without change in form.*

[This Schedule (§§ 1309.51 to 1309.60, inclusive) shall become effective on August 12, 1941]

This Price Schedule No. 15 (§§ 1309.51 to 1309.60, inclusive), as amended, shall become effective February 1, 1942. Deliveries of copper made prior thereto shall be governed by the terms of this Price Schedule No. 15 which were in effect on the date of such delivery.*

§ 1309.60 Appendix A: Maximum prices—(a) Maximum base prices for copper, except casting copper, sold by a refiner or producer.

Amount of shipment	Price
Carload	12¢ per pound delivered Connecticut Valley points.
Less than carload	12⅛¢ per pound f. o. b. refinery.

These maximum base prices are for electrolytic, lake or other fire refined copper in the shape of wire bars or ingot bars made to meet either the American Society of Testing Materials Standard specifications B 5–27 for electrolytic copper or B 4–27 for lake copper and sold by a refiner or producer.

(b) Maximum base prices for casting copper.

Amount of shipment	Price (f. o. b shipping point)
More than 20,000 pounds	11¾¢ per pound.
Less than 20,000 pounds	12¢ per pound.

These maximum base prices are for casting copper in the shape of ingot bars or small ingots made by fire refining to a standard of 99.5 per cent pure including silver as copper.

(c) Differentials for copper of other kinds or grades or in other shapes or forms. For copper of any other kind or grade or in any other shape or form than that set forth in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, the maximum price shall be the applicable maximum base price set forth in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section plus or minus the premium or discount for copper of such kind or grade, or in such shape or form which would customarily have been added to or subtracted from the base price on August 11, 1941.

(d) Differentials for delivery of copper in carload lots at points other than Connecticut Valley points. For copper, except casting copper, delivered in carload lots at any point other than a Connecticut Valley point the maximum price shall be the maximum base price set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, plus or minus the delivery differential which on August 11, 1941 would customarily have been added to or subtracted from the base price.

The same delivery differentials shall apply to lake or other fire refined copper, except casting copper, as were applied to electrolytic copper on August 11, 1941.

(e) Premiums on sales of copper in less than carload lots by other than refiners or producers. Sales of copper in less than carload lots by other than a producer or refiner may be made f. o. b. shipping point but the maximum price f. o. b. shipping point shall not exceed the maximum base price as set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, after the adjustments for the kind or grade, shape or form and delivery differentials provided for in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, plus the applicable one of the following quantity premiums:

500–999 pounds	1½

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 16, RAW CANE SUGARS

[Issued by Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations. I find that the supplies of sugar are ample; in fact, they exceed those supplies which were required to satisfy consumption last year and are sufficient this year to provide consumers with the highest per capita consumption on record. The current sharp upswing of sugar prices is detrimental to the public interest and national defense, and will, if not stopped, cause serious dislocations.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1334.1 Maximum prices for raw cane sugars. On and after August 14, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as may be provided in a supplement or supplements to Price Schedule No. 16, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer raw cane sugars to any person, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of raw cane sugars from any person, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1334.9. These prices are gross prices before discounts of any nature are deducted, and they include all commissions and all other charges.*

*§§ 1334.1 to 1334.12, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1334.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1334.9, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1334.3 Records. Every person making purchases or sales of raw cane sugars after August 14, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of:

(a) Each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold; and

(b) The quantity of raw cane sugars (1) On hand, and (2) On order, as of the close of each calendar month.*

§ 1334.4 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to comply with the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 16, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price regulations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 16, this Office will make every attempt to assure: (a) That the Congress and the public are fully informed of any failure to abide by the provisions of Price Schedule No. 16, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who conform with Price Schedule No. 16 in the maintenance of the maximum prices herein set forth. Persons who have evidence of the demand or receipt of prices above the limitation set forth or of any evasion of or attempt to evade such requirements or of speculation or manipulation of the prices of sugar or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventory thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1334.5 Supplements to Price Schedule No. 16. In order to insure compliance with Price Schedule No. 16, supplements further defining its scope, and, if necessary, requiring reports to the Government will be issued from time to time when found appropriate.*

§ 1334.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 16. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 16 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1334.7 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 16, the term:

(a) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, association, partnership, or other business entity;

(b) "Raw cane sugars" means any sugars which are principally of crystalline structure and which are to be further refined or improved in quality, and any sugars which are principally not of crystalline structure but which are to be further refined or otherwise improved in quality to produce any sugars principally of crystalline structure.*

§ 1334.8 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 16. (a) This Schedule (§§ 1334.1 to 1334.9, inclusive) shall become effective on August 14, 1941.*

§ 1334.9 Appendix A: Maximum prices for raw cane sugars. (a) Maximum prices per pound for raw cane sugars from offshore producing areas of 96 degrees polarization duty paid cost and freight basis shall be as follows:

(1) United States Atlantic ports north of Cape Hatteras to and including New York, 3.74 cents.

(2) United States Atlantic ports north of New York, 3.76 cents.

(3) United States Atlantic ports south of Cape Hatteras and United States Gulf of Mexico ports, 3.73 cents.

(4) United States Pacific Coast ports, 3.74 cents less the customary deduction. Such deduction must be submitted to and approved by the Office of Price Administration as to amount before deliveries may be accepted.

(5) In the event that two or more ports of loading shall be used in Cuba, 0.01 cent per pound may be added to the above maximum prices.

(6) With respect to any sale of the sugars included in this paragraph (a) for forward delivery, a contract may provide for the payment of an adjusted price not to exceed the maximum price in effect at the time of arrival at quarantine at the port of destination, except that an annual or other similar long-term contract providing for several deliveries during the term of such contract may employ a method of averaging prices during such term: Provided, That (i) the average price for such term does not exceed a price obtained by averaging the maximum prices in effect during such term in accordance with the method employed in such contract; (ii) such contracts customarily were made between the parties thereto and such method of averaging prices was customarily used therein; and (iii) such contracts and evidence of the applicability of this exception thereto are submitted to and approved by the Office of Price Administration prior to the commission of any act in performance of such contracts.

(b) Maximum prices per pound for continental United States raw cane sugars of 96 degrees polarization shall be as follows:

(1) The maximum prices for such sugars are established at the raw sugar mill and shall be calculated by deducting from the maximum price duty paid cost and freight basis payable for Cuban sugars of like test at the nearest customs port of entry in the area in which the raw sugar mill is located the transportation charge per pound based on the published freight rate from such raw sugar mill to the refinery nearest freightwise to such raw sugar mill. This maximum price is f. o. b. the conveyance for delivery to the refinery from the raw sugar mill. The maximum price delivered to the refinery shall be this maximum raw sugar mill price plus actual transportation charges from said raw sugar mill to the refinery processing such sugar.

(2) With respect to any sale of the sugars included in this paragraph (b):

(i) A contract may provide for averaging the prices during the season in accordance with the customary method: Provided, That (a) the average price for the season does not exceed a price obtained by averaging the maximum prices in effect during the season in accordance with such method; and (b) the season used in determining the average price commences not later than the date fixed by the United States Department of Agriculture pursuant to the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, as the beginning of the sugarcane marketing season and terminates not later than the date fixed by the United States Department of Agriculture pursuant to said Act as the termination of said season.

(ii) A contract may provide for the payment of an adjusted price not to exceed the maximum price in effect at the time of arrival at the buyer's warehouse or place of business. In the event that more than one delivery is made pursuant to the same contract, the adjustment of the price and the payment thereof shall be made in respect to each delivery separately.

(c) Adjustment for polarization:

The maximum prices specified herein shall be adjusted by making allowances per pound for each degree of polarization above or below 96 degrees (fractions of a degree in proportion) in accordance with the method customarily used prior to August 14, 1941. It is not required that such method be used. However, the maximum prices for the various tests shall not exceed the prices obtained by applying such method for sugars of like test.*

[§ 1334.9 as amended January 26, 1942, effective January 26, 1942; 7 F.R. 544]

§ 1334.10 Application to carry out certain forward delivery contracts. To provide for carrying out certain forward delivery contracts in accordance with § 1334.1, any person who, prior to August 14, 1941, entered into a forward delivery contract calling for the delivery or transfer, after that date, of raw cane sugars at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 16 may make application to the Office of Price Administration on form 116.1 which will be furnished upon request, for permission to carry out such contracts at the contract price. Such permission will be granted if it is found that hardship will result from a denial thereof. Such applications shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration on or before September 15, 1941.*

[§ 1334.10 added by supplement August 22, 1941, effective August 23, 1941; 6 F.R. 4371]

§ 1334.11 Provision for liquidation of futures positions established prior to August 14, 1941. Liquidation of a position or positions, long or short, established prior to August 14, 1941, in No. 3 contract on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc., which has been or which shall be made, is hereby excepted from the operation of the provisions of §§ 1334.1 to 1334.10, inclusive, Price Schedule No. 16.*

[§ 1334.11 added by supplement September 19, 1941, effective September 20, 1941; 6 F.R. 4843]

§ 1334.12 Evasion. The price limitations established by Price Schedule No. 16 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of raw cane sugars, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discounts, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding, or by shifting the incidence of a cost which customarily has been borne by the buyer or the seller to the other party to the contract, or by any other means.*

PART 1333—TIN

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 17—PIG TIN

[Issued by Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by Office of Price Administration]

The Office of Price Administration being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and economic dislocations, has determined, after full investigation and after conference with representatives of the trade, that the establishment of maximum prices for pig tin is essential in order to accomplish these purposes and is in the interest of national defense and national welfare and that the maximum prices set forth herein are fair and reasonable.

This action is necessary because the current situation in the Far East, from which the United States imports almost all metallic tin used in this country, makes uncertain the continuance of an adequate supply of this strategic metal. An increased demand, accompanied by a fear of a decrease in supply, has already had an inflationary effect upon the price of tin and threatens to exert even greater inflationary pressure in the future.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1333.1 Maximum prices for pig tin. On and after August 16, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1333.4 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, pig tin, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of pig tin at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1333.10.*

*§§ 1333.1 to 1333.10, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1333.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1333.10, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1333.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 17 shall not be evaded either by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer, of pig tin alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1333.4 Exemption from Price Schedule No. 17 of firm commitments entered into prior to August 16, 1941. Firm commitments entered into prior to August 16, 1941, for the sale of pig tin at prices higher than the maximum prices established in Price Schedule No. 17, may be completed at contract prices provided that:

(a) Full details of each such commitment and such other pertinent information as may be requested, be reported by the seller to the Office of Price Administration on or before August 30, 1941, on forms which may be obtained from said Office, and

(b) All deliveries at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 17 be completed on or before December 31, 1941, or such later date as may be permitted upon application made in each such case to the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1333.5 Records. Every person making purchases or sales of pig tin on or after August 16, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than five years, complete and accurate records of (a) every such purchase and sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity, in pounds or tons, of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity, in pounds or tons, of pig tin (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.*

§ 1333.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 17, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 17, this Office will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who conform with Price Schedule No. 17. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices above those herein set forth, or of any evasion of or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of pig tin for which maximum prices are herein established, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1333.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 17. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 17 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

PART 1339—BURLAP AND BURLAP PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 18—BURLAP

[Issued by Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by Office of Price Administration]

Burlap, virtually all of which is imported from India, is widely used for packaging feed, fertilizer, and agricultural and industrial products. It is also extensively employed in the manufacture of floor covering, furniture, and other goods.

During the past twelve months prices of spot burlap in New York have risen more than one hundred percent. These increases, which have raised the price of burlap considerably above the highest prices in recent years, have added unjustifiable costs to American agriculture as well as to industry and the ultimate consumer.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1339.1 Maximum prices for burlap. On and after August 16, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1339.4 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer burlap, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of burlap at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1339.11.*

*§§ 1339.1 to 1339.11, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1339.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1339.11, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1339.4 Permission to carry out contracts entered into prior to August 16, 1941. Any person who, prior to August 16, 1941, has entered into a contract of sale or other firm commitment calling for the delivery or transfer after that date of burlap at prices higher than the established maximum prices, may make application to the Office of Price Administration, on Form 118:1 provided for that purpose, for permission to carry out such contract or commitment at the contract price. Such permission will be granted only to the extent necessary to protect the applicant against loss in the disposition of inventory acquired prior to August 16, 1941, at prices higher than the established maximum prices and held by the applicant on that date. Such application shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration on or before October 1, 1941.*

§ 1339.5 Records. Every person making purchases or sales of burlap after August 16, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, the quantity of each kind or construction, and the type of transaction (i. e., spot or afloat).*

§ 1339.6 Affirmations of compliance. On or before September 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has sold, or delivered, or purchased, or accepted delivery of burlap, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 118:2 containing a sworn statement that during the month all such sales, purchases, or deliveries were made at prices in conformity with Price Schedule No. 18 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 118:2 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style or content of the form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1339.7 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 18 or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 18, this Office will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who conform with Price Schedule No. 18. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of burlap for which maximum prices are herein established, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.

§ 1339.8 Modification of Price Schedule No. 18. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 18 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1339.9 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 18, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Burlap" means jute burlap (whether new, stained, second hand, or re-sewn) of the constructions listed in § 1339.11, Appendix A, when either (1) in the United States available for immediate delivery or (2) aboard vessels en route to the United States.*

[§ 1339.9 as amended February 7, 1942, effective February 7, 1942; 7 F.R. 906]

§ 1339.10 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 18. This Price Schedule (§§ 1339.1 to 1339.11, inclusive) shall become effective August 16, 1941.*

§ 1339.11 Appendix A: Maximum prices for burlap. There are two maximum prices for the enumerated constructions of burlap established by Price Schedule No. 18, depending upon the date of actual delivery of the burlap to the purchaser. For burlap actually delivered on or before December 31, 1941, the maximum prices which may be paid are the prices set forth in Column I. For burlap delivered after that date, the maximum prices are the prices set forth in Column II.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 19—SOUTHERN PINE LUMBER

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply and adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Southern pine lumber is widely used in the construction industry for exterior and interior finish, framing, millwork, sheathings, floorings, and sub-floorings and in the manufacture of motor vehicles, low grade furniture, and household and farm appliances. In the defense program it has been extensively employed in the construction of cantonments, defense housing projects, and factories. The increased use of southern pine lumber stemming from the defense program and the accompanying expanded economic activity has caused demand to exceed supply. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has caused prices to rise greatly in excess of previously existing industry levels. Such price increases have markedly outstripped cost advances. Warnings to industry members to reduce prices to reasonable levels have failed to secure more than temporary price reductions. Those producers who have manifested a willingness to cooperate with the Government have been unable effectively to keep prices down because of the large number of operators who have consistently maintained high prices. Under these circumstances, voluntary cooperation with the request of the Office of Price Administration to maintain reasonable prices would subject those complying with the request to unjust discrimination.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1312.26 Maximum prices for Southern pine lumber. On and after November 24, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1312.33 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, for domestic or export use, any southern pine lumber, where the shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distribution yard, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1312.34: Provided, That in the case of retail sales as defined in § 1312.32, where the shipment originates at a mill rather than at a distribution yard, a mark-up of not more than $3.50 per 1,000 feet board measure may be added to the maximum prices set for in § 1312.34, Appendix A.*

*§§ 1312.26 to 1312.34, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1312.27 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1312.34, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1312.28 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 19 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of southern pine lumber, alone or in conjunction with any other material; or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege; or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding; or by making terms or conditions of sale more onerous than those in effect or available to the purchaser on September 5, 1941; or by unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard; or by unreasonable refusing to ship except in mixed cars or trucks, or in specified lengths, or under other circumstances entitling the seller to a premium; or by charges for delivery which exceed the actual cost to the seller of such delivery; or by falsely or wrongly grading or invoicing lumber; or by grading as a special grade lumber which can be graded as a standard grade; or by any other means.*

[§ 1312.28 as amended November 18, 1941, effective November 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 5876]

§ 1312.29 Records and reports. Every person who, during any calendar month, shall sell 34,000 pounds or more of southern pine lumber for shipment originating at the mill shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, a complete and accurate record of every such sale made during such month, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the prices, and the quantities and grades sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 19 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

Persons who have evidence of the demand of prices above the limitations set forth, of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of southern pine lumber, or the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

[§ 1312.30 as amended November 18, 1941, effective November 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 5876]

§ 1312.32 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 19, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity. The term includes, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, any mill operator, manufacturer, commission salesman, manufacturer's representative, concentration yard operator, wholesaler, wholesale distributor, wholesaler's agent, or retailer.

(b) "southern pine" means the species of shortleaf pine (Pinus eschinata), loblolly pine (Pinus taeda), slash pine (Pinus caribaea), such longleaf pine (Pinus palustris) as contains less than six annual rings per inch and less than one-third summerwood, or any other Pinus species known commercially as "southern pine."

[Paragraph (b) as corrected November 21, 1941, effective November 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 5935]

(c) "Mill" means a manufacturing plant, concentration yard, or other establishment which sells less than 75 percent of the volume of its southern pine lumber at retail and which processes, by sawing, or by planing or other comparable method, at least 25 percent of the volume of southern pine logs or lumber purchased or received by it.

[Paragraph (c) as amended September 3, 1941, effective September 5, 1941; 6 F.R. 4588]

(d) "Distribution yard" means a wholesale or retail lumber yard which purchases or receives southern pine logs or lumber from a producer, a mill, or another distribution yard for purposes of unloading, sorting, and resale or redistribution, which regularly maintains a stock of lumber, and which (1) processes, by sawing, or by planing or other comparable method, less than 25 percent of the volume of such logs or lumber so purchased or received by it, or (2) regardless of the percentage of such processing, sells more than 75 percent of the volume of its southern pine lumber at retail.

[Paragraph (d) as amended September 3, 1941, effective September 5, 1941; 6 F.R. 4588]

(e) "Retail sale" means a sale which satisfies all of the following tests:

(1) It must be a sale of lumber to a consumer or contractor for use in building, construction, remodeling, repair, maintenance, or fabrication, and not for resale in substantially the same form.

(2) It includes only sales in less than carload quantities. Where shipment is by water or by truck, the maximum retail sale quantity shall be 20,000 feet board measure. For the purpose of this subparagraph, the size of the sale is determined by the size of the order.

(3) The sale must be accompanied by the following services: delivery to the job site or other point specified by the purchaser, and at such times and in such quantities as the purchaser specifies; tallying and checking; the privilege of exchanging goods and returning unused material; and the readiness and ability of the seller to replace deficiencies and adjust complaints from stocks kept on hand for such purposes.

[Paragraph (e) as amended November 18, 1941 effective November 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 5876]

(f) "Volume" means the board foot volume of lumber processed from logs, processed from other lumber, or sold, as the case may be, within the six months immediately prior to the transaction subject to Price Schedule No. 19.

[Paragraph (f) added by amendment September 3, 1941, effective September 5, 1941; 6 F.R. 4588]

(g) "Deliver" means to make physical transfer of lumber to a purchaser, or to a carrier, not owned or controlled by the seller, for carriage to a purchaser to whom the lumber has been previously sold.*

[Paragraph (g) added by amendment November 18, 1941, effective November 24, 1941; 6 F.R. 5876]

§ 1312.33 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 19. [This Schedule (§§ 1312.26 to 1312.34, inclusive) shall become effective September 5, 1941]

§§ 1312.26, 1312.28, 1312.29, 1312.30, 1312.31, 1312.32, 1312.33, and 1312.34, as amended, shall become effective November 24, 1941: Provided, That firm commitments entered into prior to November 24, 1941, for the sale of any southern pine lumber covered by Price Schedule No. 19 prior to November 24, 1941, at prices not exceeding the maximum prices established by such Price Schedule No. 19, may be completed at the contract price.*

PART 1309—COPPER

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 20—COPPER AND COPPER ALLOY SCRAP[2]

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

[The provisions of Price Schedule No. 20, shown in small type are in force and effect until February 27, 1942, when they are superseded by the provisions shown in larger type]

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocation. Copper scrap is a basic material for the production of electrolytic copper, copper ingot and copper alloy ingot, all of which are important in the manufacture of many defense products. Requirements of the defense program have increased the demand for copper scrap causing its price to rise above levels which are in proper relation to the price level of primary materials. Price instability and dislocations injurious to the national defense and civilian economy have resulted. As a consequence, it has become difficult and in some cases impossible for the trade to cooperate with the Government in preventing inflationary price movements. On the basis of information secured by independent investigation by this Office, and after consultation with the trade, I find that the maximum prices set forth below constitute reasonable limitations on the price of copper and copper alloy scrap.

[Preamble as amended February 5, 1942, effective February 27, 1942; 7 F.R. 815]

Therefore, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1309.61 Maximum prices for copper and copper alloy scrap. On and after October 17, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, except as provided in §§ 1309.64 and 1309.69 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer copper scrap, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of copper scrap at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof incorporated herein as § 1309.70.*

[§ 1309.68 as amended February 5, 1942, effective February 27, 1941, 7 F.R. 815]

§ 1309.70 Appendix A: maximum prices. For the purpose of this Schedule each grade of scrap listed below shall include all kinds and qualities of scrap falling within the broad category listed. However, the maximum prices herein set forth are applicable only to copper scrap which meets maximum standards for such grades generally accepted in the trade, as for instance the standards set forth in the Standard Classification for Old Metals, Circular O of the National Association of Waste Material Dealers, Inc., effective as of June 1, 1940. Scrap which fails to meet such standards shall be sold at a price less than the applicable maximum price. This Schedule does not include copper scrap which is a byproduct of the fabrication of copper sheet, tube, rod or other brass mill products, the maximum prices for which are established by Price Schedule No. 12—Brass Mill Scrap.

(a) Kind or grade of scrap.

	Maximum prices per pound of material, f. o. b. point of shipment
No. 1 copper wire	10¢
No. 1 heavy copper	10¢
No. 2 copper wire (containing 96% copper)	9¢
Mixed heavy copper (containing 96%
Light copper (containing 92% copper)	8¢

If the copper content of No. 2 copper wire or mixed heavy copper scrap is more or less than 96% or if the copper content of light copper scrap is more or less than 92%, the maximum price per pound of material set forth above shall be increased or decreased at the rate of 0.11775 cents for each 1% variation in the copper content with proportionate adjustments for variations of less than 1%.

Prices may be quoted or material invoiced on a delivered price basis. However, if prices are so quoted or material is so invoiced, and the total delivered price exceeds the maximum price fixed by this Schedule, (1) the delivery charge shall be shown as a separate item, (2) the price f. o. b. point of shipment (calculated by subtracting the delivery charge from the total delivered price) shall not exceed the maximum price set forth in this Schedule, and (3) the delivery charge shall not exceed the lowest commercial rate for the most nearly comparable service.

(b) Premiums. To the maximum prices set forth above either but not both of the following premiums may be added if the conditions set forth below are fulfilled:

(1) Premium for copper scrap in crucible shape—1¼¢ per pound.

Copper scrap in crucible shape shall include only:

(i) Briquetted No. 1 copper wire. A briquette shall include any compressed, self-adhering bundle whose measurements do not exceed 16 x 10 x 12 inches and which contains nothing but clean, untinned No. 1 copper wire of 16 B & S wire gauge or larger, free from burnt, brittle copper wire and from all foreign substances.

(ii) No. 1 heavy copper scrap, trolley wire, or other copper wire of 16 B & S wire gauge or larger which is (a) clean, free from tin, solder, brazing and all other foreign substances, (b) cut or bundled in lengths not exceeding 16 inches, and (c) in a shape suitable for charging into a crucible or electric furnace.

(2) Premium on shipments of 40,000 pounds or more at one time—½¢ per pound. (This premium shall not apply to copper scrap in crucible shape.)

For the purposes of this premium a shipment of copper scrap may be made up of any kind or kinds of copper scrap listed in this Schedule. If delivery is made by truck, a shipment made "at one time" may include all deliveries made to the buyer within a period of 48 consecutive hours.

(c) Special-purpose copper scrap.[1] Copper wire especially selected and prepared for the use of producers of copper sulphate or of other chemicals, copper segments used by makers of copper powder, or any copper scrap prepared for the special use of steel mills, iron foundries, aluminum smelters or any other special user except producers of copper, brass or bronze castings may upon application to the Office of Price Administration be granted a special premium above the maximum prices fixed by this Schedule. This premium shall be granted only (1) if the specified material has normally commanded such a premium because of its special uniformity, purity, or preparation, (2) if the material is sold to the type of user for whom it has been especially prepared, and (3) if the sale to the specific user has been approved by the Office of Price Administration.*

[Preceding § 1309.70, in small type, as amended October 10, 1941, effective October 17, 1941, superseded by following § 1309.69]

(27) Light Brass shall consist of clean miscellaneous yellow sheet brass that is too light for heavy yellow brass, and may include tinned or nickel-plated material but must be free of gun shells containing paper, ashes, or iron, and of clock works, loaded lamp bases, gaskets, iron, dirt, and foreign material.

(28) Yellow Brass Breakage shall consist of miscellaneous yellow brass containing a maximum of 10% free iron.

(29) Automobile Radiators shall consist of mixed unsweated automobile radiators, which must contain at least 40% of honeycomb radiators. Radiators must be complete, containing top and bottom tanks.

(c) Maximum prices for lead-covered and insulated copper wire. The maximum price for insulated copper cable or wire, except lead-covered cable or wire, shall be computed by multiplying the weight of such copper wire or cable, exclusive of insulation, by the applicable maximum price provided in paragraph (a) of this section, and deducting from the resulting product not less than 0.15 cents per pound of total weight before removal of insulation.

The maximum price for the copper content of lead-covered cable shall be computed by multiplying the weight of such copper cable, stripped of lead covering, by the applicable maximum price provided in paragraph (a) hereof. The maximum price for the lead content of such lead covering is fixed by Price Schedule No. 71.

(d) Maximum prices for mixed lots of scrap. If any scrap other than crucible copper or copper alloy scrap is delivered in a mixed lot containing scrap of more than one grade, then (1) the entire lot shall be considered to be of the lowest-priced grade, or (2) the buyer may sort the scrap and pay for each grade but in such event the maximum price provided in paragraph (a) of this section for each of such grades shall be reduced by ¼ cent per pound. If the same maximum price is established by paragraph (a) of this section for all of the grades of scrap contained in such lot, the second method of settlement provided in this paragraph must be used. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply if each grade of scrap is packed in separate containers or is otherwise physically segregated by the seller.

(e) Maximum delivered prices. Copper or copper alloy scrap may be sold, offered for sale, delivered or transferred at a price delivered buyer's receiving point. If such delivered price exceeds the applicable maximum price provided in paragraph (a) of this section, (1) the delivery charge shall be shown as a separate item and (2) the price f. o. b. shipping point (calculated by subtracting the delivery charge from the delivered price) shall not exceed the applicable maximum price provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

Whenever the seller delivers copper or copper alloy scrap in his own conveyance, the charge for delivery shall not exceed the lowest published rate for a similar delivery by a public carrier or, if there is no such carrier, the lowest available commercial rate for the most nearly comparable service.

(f) Quantity premiums. The maximum prices listed in paragraph (a) of this section may be increased by the addition of the applicable one of the following quantity premiums:

(1) For the sale and shipment at one time of 40,000 pounds or more containing only one item, ½¢ per pound.

(2) For the sale and shipment at one time of 40,000 pounds or more containing not more than three items, ¼¢ per pound.

For the purposes of this paragraph an item means those kinds or grades of copper or copper alloy scrap which are preceded by the same index number in paragraph (a) of this section.

If the seller makes delivery by truck, or if the buyer carries the scrap away by truck, "the sale and shipment at one time" may include all scrap delivered under one order to the buyer at his receiving point or loaded on to the buyer's truck at the point of shipment within a period of forty-eight (48) consecutive hours excluding Sundays and legal holidays.

No quantity premium may be added to the price of any scrap to which a crucible scrap premium, as defined in paragraph (g) of this section, has been added.

(g) Crucible scrap premiums. (1) Premiums for crucible copper.[8] To the maximum prices listed in paragraph (a) of this section a premium of 1¢ per pound for copper scrap in crucible shape may be added.

Copper scrap in crucible shape shall include only:

(i) Briquetted No. 1 copper wire. A briquette shall include any compressed, self-adhering bundle whose measurements do not exceed 16 x 10 x 12 inches.

(ii) Exclusively No. 1 copper (a) cut or bundled in lengths not exceeding 16 inches and (b) in a shape suitable for charging into the buyer's crucible or electric furnace.

(2) Premium for crucible copper alloy scrap.[8] To the maximum prices for copper alloy scrap listed in paragraph (a) of this section, a premium of ¾ cent per pound may be added for copper alloy scrap in crucible shape, specially prepared for foundry use. This premium may be added only on sales of scrap to those brass foundries authorized by the War Production Board to purchase copper alloy scrap.

Copper alloy scrap in crucible shape for foundry use includes only heavy, clean scrap of uniform alloy content, in pieces no one dimension of which exceeds 16 inches.

No crucible scrap premium may be added to the price of any scrap to which a quantity premium, as defined in paragraph (f) of this section, has been added.

(h) Maximum prices for special purpose copper scrap.[9] Persons using copper wire or copper segments which are specially selected and prepared for their use in the manufacture of copper powder or copper sulphate or other chemicals, or persons using any other copper scrap, specially selected and prepared for their use in the manufacture of iron, steel, aluminum or other alloys, except producers of copper, brass or bronze castings or ingots, may apply to the Office of Price Administration for permission to pay a price for such copper scrap in excess of the maximum prices fixed by Price Schedule No. 20. Permission to pay such a price will be granted to such person only if the following conditions are fully complied with:

(1) The material, before August 19, 1941, normally commanded a premium over the price of No. 1, No. 2 or light copper scrap because of its special uniformity or preparation.

(2) The user normally purchased such material before August 19, 1941.

(3) Application is made in writing to the Office of Price Administration by the user setting forth such information as the Office of Price Administration deems necessary to determine the proper maximum price for such material.

(4) The user has complied with the terms of Price Schedule No. 20 to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration.

(i) Maximum prices for imported scrap. If copper or copper alloy scrap is imported into the United States, or if imported copper or copper alloy scrap is resold in the United States, there may be added to the maximum price established by this section the actual amount of United States import or customs duty paid on such scrap: Provided, That:

(1) The total amount paid or received for such imported scrap f. o. b. point of shipment in the continental United States[10] does not exceed the maximum price established in this section plus the actual amount of import or customs duty paid;

(2) The import or customs duty paid is shown as a separate item on the records required to be kept in accordance with § 1309.64 hereof and on any invoice rendered to the buyer; and

(3) The buyer files a report of each such purchase with the Office of Price Administration on Form 120:8 within five (5) days of the date thereof.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 21—FORMALDEHYDE

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Increasing demands for formaldehyde in the manufacture of synthetic resins for military and civilian needs have created a shortage of supply. Speculators have taken advantage of this situation to raise the resale price of appreciable quantities of formaldehyde to as packed in bales. Each of the foregoing exceptions was conditioned upon the use of all such copper scrap in the manufacture of copper powder, copper sulphate or other chemicals; upon compliance with all requirements of the War Production Board; and upon the furnishing of a report to the Office of Price Administration at the end of each month giving the amount of scrap purchased during the month, the dates of purchase and delivery, the name of the buyer, and the price paid.

[Footnote 1 added by amendment February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 713]

[8] No premium shall be demanded or paid for crucible copper or copper alloy scrap unless such copper is sold and shipped separately from any other grade of scrap or is packed in separate containers or otherwise physically segregated by the seller.

[9] Pursuant to this paragraph the Administrator has granted the following special premiums:

(a) Metals Refining Company, Hammond, Indiana, by a letter dated December 4, 1941—Permission to purchase not in excess of 120 tons of scrap copper wire per month during the period December 1, 1941 to June 1, 1942 at a price not in excess of 11¼¢ per pound f. o. b. shipping point, such wire to be specially selected and prepared to meet that company's specifications calling for soft copper wire no larger than 6 B&S nor smaller than 18 B&S wire gauge, entirely free from solder ends, insulation, lacquer, ash or any other foreign substance, and packed in loose bales or coils.

(b) The Sherwin-Williams Company, Bound Brook, New Jersey, by a letter dated December 22, 1941—Permission to purchase not in excess of 50 tons of scrap copper wire per month during the period November 1, 1941 to June 1, 1942 at a price not in excess of 11¼¢ per pound f. o. b. shipping point, such wire to be specially selected and prepared to meet that company's specifications calling for copper wire containing not less than 98% copper, reasonably free from tin and containing 80% or more of 10 gauge or smaller wire, packed in loose bales, boxes or barrels.

(c) Superior Copper Products Company, Chicago, Illinois, by a letter dated December 10, 1941—Permission to purchase not in excess of 120 tons of scrap copper wire per month during the period December 1, 1941 to June 1, 1942 at a price not in excess of 11¼¢ per pound f. o. b. shipping point, such wire to be specially selected and prepared to meet that company's specifications calling for strictly No. 1 copper wire no larger than 8 B&S wire gauge and no smaller than 16 B&S wire gauge, free from all tin, lead, solder, insulation, connections, lugs, et cetera and packed in bales.

Each of the foregoing exceptions was conditioned upon the use of all such copper scrap in the manufacture of copper powder, copper sulphate or other chemicals; upon compliance with all requirements of the War Production Board; and upon the furnishing of a report to the Office of Price Administration at the end of each month giving the amount of scrap purchased during the month, the dates of purchase and delivery, the name of the buyer, and the price paid.

[10] "Point of shipment in the continental United States" in the case of overland shipments from Canada or Mexico means the freight station in the United States at or nearest to the point on the boundary at which the shipment enters the United States.

high as 47¢ per pound, contrasted with the manufacturers' price of 6¢ per pound for comparable quantities. These speculative prices are threatening to rise to even higher levels. It is necessary to curb such speculation in order to protect consumers, to eliminate the danger of price rises in other industries that use formaldehyde, and to promote stable contractual relationships.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734 it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.51 Maximum prices for formaldehyde. On and after August 20, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, formaldehyde in containers of 45 lbs. or more and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of, formaldehyde in containers of 45 lbs. or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.60.*

§ 1335.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 21 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of formaldehyde, or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.54 Records. Every person making purchases or sales of formaldehyde in containers of 45 lbs. or more shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the formaldehyde purchased or sold.*

§ 1335.55 Affirmations of compliance. On or before September 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has sold formaldehyde in containers of 45 lbs. or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 121: 1 containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 21 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 121: 1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.

§ 1335.56 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, report requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 21, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 21, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 21. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of formaldehyde, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 21. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 21 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

PART 1340—FUEL

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 22—PENNSYLVANIA GRADE CRUDE OIL

[Issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Adopted by the Office of Price Administration]

Petroleum products are widely used throughout the nation by the armed forces, and for many civilian purposes, including the carrying on of industrial processes essential to national defense. Pennsylvania grade crude oil, a distinctive crude oil, includes Bradford crude, Southwest Pennsylvania crude and West Virginia, or Eureka crude. The total daily production for these oils is about 76,000 barrels. Due to the defense program, and national defense production, there has been a greater demand for these oils in recent months.

The Office of Price Administration has recently instituted an inquiry into the price of these oils. Since November, 1940 and up to July 31, 1941, or during the past nine months, Pennsylvania Bradford grade crude oil has increased in price from $1.85 to $2.75 a barrel, or a total of 90¢. The Southwest Pennsylvania and West Virginia crude oil prices have also increased in price 90¢ or from $1.50 to $2.40 and $1.44 to $2.34, respectively, during the same period.

A proposal was made to this Office further to increase these prices 25¢ as of August 1. The prices proposed were higher than any prior prices for these oils during the past 10 years. They also represented percentage increases over 1940 prices higher than for any other crude oil produced in the country.

However, the proposed increases were deferred when this Office asked that supporting evidence justifying them be submitted. The South Penn Oil Company, principal producer, purchaser and price leader, then agreed to submit data showing the economic justification for the price increase. After some information had been submitted and pending the furnishing of other data, the prices were increased. These increases, posted as of August 14, resulted in an increase in the price of Bradford crude from $2.75 to $2.98 a barrel, or a further increase of 23¢ per barrel, and Southwest Pennsylvania was increased from $2.40 to $2.65 a barrel, and the West Virginia crude from $2.34 to $2.59, both increases amounting to 25¢.

In response to usual pricing and trade practices, the foregoing increases were followed by corresponding price increases of 25¢ for the Southeastern Ohio crude oils, and 23¢ for the various grades of Oil City-Titusville crude oils.

The inquiry thus far conducted has failed to demonstrate an adequate economic basis for these increases. No showing has been made that labor or material cost increases, if any have occurred, have not already been met by the prior increases in prices. It has been contended that the higher prices would in a small measure stimulate drilling. But the anticipated amount of new drilling was uncertain and was one of the facts under investigation by this Office. Moreover the increased prices would apply to the entire present production of 76,000 barrels per day, as well as to the small volume which new drilling would yield in the future.

No sound basis having been established for these price increases, they therefore appear inflationary in character. Such an inflationary movement in the price of commodities tends to weaken the defense effort by causing economic dislocations and price spiraling and profiteering.

The opportunity which has been granted to the producers to demonstrate that price increases are warranted remains open to them.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, and after consultation with the Office of the Petroleum Coordinator for National Defense, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1340.21 Maximum price for Pennsylvania grade crude oils. On and after August 23, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1340.22, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of, Pennsylvania grade crude oils at prices higher than those set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1340.29.*

§§ 1340.21 to 1340.29, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1340.22 Commissions allowed on resales above maximum prices. The price limitations set forth in § 1340.29, Appendix A, shall prohibit the addition of commissions above said maximum prices except that persons who buy Pennsylvania grade crude oils for resale under contracts and who have contracts in existence on the effective date of Price Schedule No. 22 which provide that the price on resale shall be the "posted price" plus a specified commission may receive the maximum price plus said commission specified in the contracts: Provided, That (a) said contracts were entered into in writing prior to August 14, 1941; (b) said contracts are binding and valid in character; (c) certified copies of each such contract are filed with the Office of Price Administration within ten (10) days after the effective date of Price Schedule No. 22; and (d) no such contract has been extended or amended without the approval of this Office. Persons who buy for resale and wish to enter into contracts, or wish to extend or amend contracts, providing for prices on resale higher than the maximum prices listed in § 1340.29, Appendix A, may make application to this Office for permission to receive such higher prices.*

§ 1340.23 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Price Schedule No. 22 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1340.24 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 22 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of Pennsylvania grade crude oil, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, except as provided in § 1340.22 herein, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1340.25 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 22, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 22, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 22. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or any evasion or effort to evade the provisions of Price Schedule No. 22, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1340.27 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 22 the term (a) "person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity; (b) "Pennsylvania grade crude oil" means the crude oils listed in § 1340.29 Appendix A.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 23—RAYON GREY GOODS

Recent events have further disturbed a market situation in rayons which was already unsettled. A shortage of rayon yarns for some time past has forced chemical firms producing these yarns to make deliveries in amounts far under their customers' requirements. Concurrently, the restricted supply has forced prices of both grey goods and finished goods up to levels which are unwarranted by such minor cost increases as have occurred.

To check these rises, leading weavers entered into a voluntary agreement with the Office of Price Administration on July 16, 1941, to refrain from further price advances on certain specified standard constructions. Among primary producers these voluntary ceilings were successfully maintained, but the market continued to be disturbed by second-hand sales at inflated levels.

Now that civilian supplies of silk are unavailable, the diversion of rayon yarns to silk manufacturers inevitably will aggravate the existing shortage of rayon for weaving and disrupt price stability unless remedial action is taken.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

*[§ 1337.11 to 1337.22, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1337.12 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1337.22, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1337.13 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 23 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of rayon grey goods, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1337.14 Records. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of rayon grey goods after August 25, 1941, whether or not of the constructions enumerated in § 1337.22, Appendix A, hereof, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than 1 year: (1) complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or seller, the price paid or received and the quantity in yards of each construction purchased or sold; and (2) copies of each contract of sale and invoice or similar document containing the details required in § 1337.15 hereof.

(b) Every manufacturer of rayon grey goods shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than 1 year complete and accurate records setting forth: (1) a full description of each construction of rayon grey goods whether or not of the constructions enumerated in § 1337.22, Appendix A, manufactured or sold, including (i) the width, specifying whether in or off the loom, (ii) the cloth count, i. e., the number of ends and picks per inch, specifying whether in or off the loom, and (iii) a full description of the yarn both in the warp and in the filling, specifying in each case the denier and number of filaments, the process by which made, the twist or combination, if any, and, if a blend, the percentages of each type of yarn so blended; and (2) the quantity in yards of each construction of rayon grey goods, whether or not of the constructions enumerated in § 1337.22, Appendix A, produced during each calendar month.*

PART 1342—ANIMAL HAIR

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 24—WASHED CATTLE TAIL HAIR AND WINTER HOG HAIR

Recent expansion of United States Navy personnel has resulted in a heavy demand by the Navy for curled hair mattresses. These mattresses are composed in large part of cattle tail hair, more than two-thirds of the annual production of which was required for the mattresses purchased by the Navy during the last fiscal year. Cattle tail hair is thus a commodity of considerable importance in the defense program. The quantity of winter hog hair used by the Navy is relatively small in proportion to the country's total output, but hog hair is being used increasingly as a substitute for several scarce materials, and the market situation is also complicated by a large potential demand for hog hair to supply essential requirements under the Lease-Lend Act.

As a result of the much increased demand and the temptation to speculation which this has provided, prices of cattle tail hair and winter hog hair have shown sharp increases which are not warranted by any increase in cost of production and which can have little effect in augmenting the supply. While there is no established market price for either commodity, bids recently received by the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department for winter hog hair ranged from 10¢ to 13½¢ per pound, whereas last winter and spring price quotations on this commodity ranged between 6¾¢ and 8½¢ per pound. Such inflationary price increases, if continued, would unjustifiably increase the cost of Naval mattresses and supplies purchased under the Lease-Lend Act, as well as privately consumed products requiring curled hair.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1342.1 Maximum price established for washed cattle tail hair, processed winter hog hair and coil dried winter hog hair. On and after August 27, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer washed cattle tail hair, processed winter hog hair, or coil dried winter hog hair, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of washed cattle tail hair, processed winter hog hair, or coil dried winter hog hair at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1342.10.*

* §§ 1342.1 to 1342.10, inclusive, are issued under the authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1342.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1342.10, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1342.4 Records. Every person making purchases or sales during any calendar month of 500 pounds or more of washed cattle tail hair, or 10,000 pounds or more of coil dried winter hog hair, or 5,000 pounds or more of processed winter hog hair, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each purchase or sale of washed cattle tail hair, processed winter hog hair, or coil dried winter hog hair, made during such month and thereafter, showing the date thereof, the name of the buyer or the seller, the prices paid or received, and the quantity of washed cattle tail hair, processed winter hog hair, or coil dried winter hog hair so purchased or sold.*

§ 1342.5 Affirmation of compliance. On or before October 10th, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has purchased or sold, whether for immediate or future delivery, 500 pounds or more of washed cattle tail hair, or 10,000 pounds or more of coil dried winter hog hair, or 5,000 pounds of processed winter hog hair, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 124:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such purchases or sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 24 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 124:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1342.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, report requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 24, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 24, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 24. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of washed cattle tail hair, processed winter hog hair, or coil dried winter hog hair, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.

§ 1342.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 24. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 24 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception thereto.*

§ 1342.8 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 24, the term:

(a) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, association, partnership, or other business entity;

(b) "Winter hog hair" means hair removed from hogs slaughtered during the months of November, December, January, February and March;

(c) "Coil dried winter hog hair" means winter hog hair which has been washed and dried indoors by artificial heat;

(e) "Washed cattle tail hair" means hair clipped or otherwise removed from cattle switches or tails, which has been washed and dried.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 26—DOUGLAS FIR LUMBER

Douglas fir lumber, a Pacific Coast product, is often employed co-extensively and to some extent interchangeably with Southern pine lumber. It is widely used in the construction industry for exterior and interior finish, framing, mill work, sheathings, floorings, and sub-floorings, and in the manufacture of crates, utility furniture, and household and farm appliances. In the defense program it has been extensively employed in the construction of cantonments, defense housing projects, and factories, and in the production of ships and airplanes. The increased need for Douglas Fir lumber has prompted government efforts to secure expanded production, but the supply has failed to keep pace with the augmented demand stemming from the defense program and the accompanying economic expansion. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has caused prices to rise greatly in excess of previously existing industry levels. Such price increases have markedly outstripped cost advances. Issuance of a Price Schedule is therefore necessary to protect consumers and those members of the industry who are attempting to keep prices down.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1312.51 Maximum prices for Douglas fir lumber. On and after November 10, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment except as provided in § 1312.58 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, for domestic or export use, any Douglas fir lumber, where the shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distribution yard, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1312.59: Provided, That such maximum prices shall not apply where actual delivery has been made by the mill to a purchaser, or to a carrier for delivery to a purchaser, prior to November 10, 1941; and: Provided, That in the case of retail sales as defined in § 1312.57 (f), where the shipment originates at a mill rather than at a distribution yard, a mark-up of not more than $3.50 per 1,000 ft. board measure may be added to the maximum prices set forth herein.*

* §§ 1312.51 to 1312.59, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1312.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1312.59, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1312.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 26 shall not be evaded by unusual charges for extending credit or for early delivery, by charges for delivery which exceed the actual cost of such delivery, except as otherwise provided in § 1312.59 (d), by unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard, by unreasonable refusal to ship except in mixed cars or in specified lengths, or under other circumstances entitling the seller to a premium, or by other direct or indirect methods. The seller shall in all cases give the purchaser the option of making his own transportation arrangements.*

[§ 1312.53 as amended. November 1, 1941, effective November 10, 1941; 6 F.R. 5592]

§ 1312.55 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 26, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 26, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 26, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from purchasing Douglas fir lumber from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 26. Persons who have evidence of any offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade provisions hereof, or of speculation, or of manipulation of prices of Douglas fir lumber, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1312.56 Modification of Price Schedule No. 26. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 26 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless the person making such application shall have, to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration, complied with Price Schedule No. 26.

[§ 1312.56 as amended November 1, 1941, effective November 10, 1941; 6 F.R. 5592]

§ 1312.57 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 26, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, association, partnership, corporation, or other business entity. The term includes, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, any mill operator, manufacturer, commission salesman, manufacturer's representative, concentration yard operator, wholesaler, wholesale distributor, wholesaler's agent, or retailer.

(b) "Douglas fir" means the botanical species of Pseudotsuga taxifolia produced in those parts of Oregon and Washington lying west of the crest of the Cascade Mountains.

(c) "Mill" means a manufacturing plant, concentration yard, or other establishment which processes, by sawing or by planing or other comparable method, at least 25 per cent of the volume of Douglas fir logs or lumber purchased or received by it.

(d) "Distribution yard" means a wholesale or retail lumber yard which purchases or receives Douglas fir logs or lumber from a producer, a mill, or another distribution yard for purposes of unloading, sorting, and resale or redistribution, which regularly maintains a stock of lumber, and which processes, by sawing, or by planing or other comparable method, less than 25 per cent of the volume of such logs or lumber so purchased or received by it.

(e) "Volume" means the board foot volume of lumber processed from logs, processed from other lumber, or sold, as the case may be, within six months immediately prior to the transaction subject to Price Schedule No. 26.

(f) "Retail sale" means a sale which satisfies all of the following tests:

(1) It must be a sale of lumber to a consumer or contractor for use in building, construction, remodeling, repair, or maintenance, and not for resale in substantially the same form.

(2) It includes only sales in less than carload quantities. Where shipment is by water or by truck the maximum retail sale quantity shall be 20,000 ft. board measure. For the purpose of this paragraph the size of the sale is determined by the size of the order.

(3) The sale must be accompanied by the following services: delivery to the job site or other point specified by the purchaser and at such times and in such quantities as the purchaser specifies; tallying and checking; the privilege of exchanging goods and returning unused material; and the readiness and ability of the seller to replace deficiencies and adjust complaints from stocks kept on hand for such purposes.*

[Paragraph (f) added by amendment November 1, 1941, effective November 10, 1941; 6 F.R. 5592]

[This Schedule (§§ 1312.51 to 1312.59, inclusive) shall become effective October 1, 1941]

§§ 1312.51, 1312.53, 1312.56, 1312.57, 1312.58 and 1312.59, as amended, shall become effective November 10, 1941: Provided, That firm commitments entered into prior to November 10, 1941, for the sale of Douglas fir lumber at prices not exceeding the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 26 before this amendment, may be completed at contract prices: Provided, That all deliveries pursuant to such firm commitments are completed on or before February 1, 1942.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 28—ETHYL ALCOHOL

A sharp increase in the demand for ethyl alcohol has occurred in recent months. Ethyl alcohol is not only essential for the production of high explosives used by the armed forces, but is also used in the manufacture of many civilian products related to national defense. Upon the price of ethyl alcohol depends the price of many other essential chemicals. Investigation by the Office of Price Administration reveals that since the beginning of this year the tank car price of ethyl alcohol SD2B, the basic formula among those affected by this schedule, has risen from 22½ cents per gallon to 24½ cents per gallon and is threatening to rise even higher. The average price of the same formula in 1940 was 20½ cents per gallon. On August 30, 1941, producers, dealers, and purchasers of industrial solvents were requested by the Administrator of the Office of Price Administration not to raise prices above the July 29, 1941, level without prior consultation with his Office. Despite this request and without prior consultation, one of the largest manufacturers of ethyl alcohol recently quoted a price of 49 cents per gallon for SD2B with respect to a proposed order for defense purposes. Other increases in price have also been noted, although the majority of the industry has shown cooperation in keeping the price of SD2B at 24½ cents. After a conference with members of the industry, the Office of Price Administration has determined that, under existing circumstances, there is no justifiable reason for raising the price above 24½ cents, and that further increases in price would therefore be inflationary in character.

Such an inflationary movement in the price of prime chemicals would tend to weaken the defense effort by causing dislocations, price spiraling, and profiteering.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.150 Maximum prices for ethyl alcohol. On and after September 15, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer ethyl alcohol in quantities of 500 gallons or more when packaged in containers of 50 gallons or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept deliveries of ethyl alcohol in quantities of 500 gallons or more when so packaged, from any manufacturer, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A incorporated herein as § 1335.159.*

§ 1335.151 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1335.159, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.152 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 28 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of ethyl alcohol, or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of any other material by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.153 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of ethyl alcohol in quantities of 500 gallons or more shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each sale showing the date thereof, and the name and address of the buyer, the prices received, the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers of the ethyl alcohol sold.*

§ 1335.154 Affirmations of compliance. On or before October 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every manufacturer who, during the preceding calendar month, has made sales of ethyl alcohol in quantities of 500 gallons or more when packaged in containers of 50 gallons or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 128:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 28 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 128:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½ paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.155 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 28, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 28, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 28, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from purchasing ethyl alcohol from those persons who fail to conform to Price Schedule No. 28. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, or demand of payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or of manipulation of prices of ethyl alcohol, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.156 Modification of Price Schedule No. 28. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 28 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom.*

§ 1335.157 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 28 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Manufacturer" means a person operating a factory, plant, or distillery, which manufactures or produces ethyl alcohol.

(c) "Ethyl alcohol" means the formulae of ethyl alcohol listed in § 1335.159, Appendix A, hereof and specified by or registered with the United States Treasury Department, Bureau of Internal Revenue.*

§ 1335.158 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 28. This Schedule (§§ 1335.150 to 1335.159, inclusive) shall become effective on September 15, 1941.*

§ 1335.159 Appendix A: Maximum prices for ethyl alcohol. The following maximum prices are established for ethyl alcohol (188–190 proof unless otherwise indicated) of the formulae listed below whether produced synthetically or from the fermentation of molasses, corn or other raw material:

PART 1345—COKE

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULED NO. 29—BY-PRODUCT FOUNDRY AND BY-PRODUCT BLAST FURNACE COKE

By-product foundry and by-product blast furnace coke are important elements in the manufacture of iron and steel. Maximum prices have been established for pig iron and iron and steel scrap, other important elements of iron and steel costs.

Prices of by-product foundry and by-product blast furnace coke are now from $1.00 to $1.25 per ton higher than a year ago. A further upward movement of coke prices would exert pressure upon the prices of iron and steel. The stabilization of present coke prices is important in the prevention of inflation.

After full investigation and conferences with representatives of the coke industry, it has been determined that the establishment of maximum prices for by-product foundry and blast furnace coke is essential and is in the interest of national defense and the public welfare.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1345.1 Maximum prices for by-product foundry and by-product blast furnace coke. On and after October 1, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, by-product foundry or by-product blast furnace coke, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of by-product foundry or by-product blast furnace coke at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B, incorporated herein as §§ 1345.9 and 1345.10 respectively.*

* §§ 1345.1 to 1345.11, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875; 6 F. R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1345.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A and B (§§ 1345.9 and 1345.10) may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

1345.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 29 shall not be evaded either by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of by-product foundry or by-product blast furnace coke, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

[1] Issued: 6 F.R. 4761. Amended: 6 F.R. 6615.

§ 1345.4 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of by-product foundry or by-product blast furnace coke after October 1, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 29 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1345.5 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 29, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 29, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 29. Persons who have evidence of any offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of by-product foundry or by-product blast furnace coke, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1345.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 29. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 29 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1345.7 Definition. When used in Price Schedule No. 29, the term "person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity.*

§ 1345.8 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 29. This Schedule (§§ 1345.1 to 1345.10, inclusive) shall become effective October 1, 1941.*

PART 1347—PAPER AND PAPER PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 30—WASTEPAPER [2]

The Office of Price Administration, being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and economic dislocations, has determined after an exhaustive investigation and after numerous conferences with representatives of all branches of the trade, that the establishment of maximum prices for wastepaper is essential in order to accomplish these purposes and is in the interest of national defense and national welfare, and that the maximum prices set forth herein are fair and reasonable.

The defense effort has placed an increasing burden upon the wastepaper supply since it is a basic raw material in the manufacture of containers for food and manufactured products. Additional demands upon the wastepaper supply are made by manufactures of almost all types of paper, the channels of trade through which wood pulp was imported having been shut off by the war. Inflationary price rises threaten, and immediate action to prevent disastrous price spiraling is essential.

For several months this Office has attempted to prevent unwarranted price increases through the medium of individual voluntary price agreements. The more responsible dealers and mills have evidenced a willingness to cooperate. This segment of the industry has been unable to keep prices within those established by the agreements, however, because of certain operators who have put high prices before national welfare, and have attempted to circumvent the price agreements.

[Preamble as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 660]

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734,* it is hereby directed that:

§ 1347.1 Maximum prices for wastepaper. On and after October 1, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, in the continental United States, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer wastepaper, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of wastepaper at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1347.10.

[§ 1347.1 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 660]

§ 1347.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1347.10, Appendix A, may, however, be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1347.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 30 shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of waste paper, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1347.4 Records. Every person making purchases or sales aggregating ten short tons or more of any or all grades of waste paper in any one month shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each purchase or sale of waste paper made during such month and each month thereafter, showing the date thereof, the name of the buyer or of the seller, the prices paid or received, and the quantity and grade or grades so purchased or sold. Such records shall set forth separately the f. o. b. point of shipment price and the transportation charge.*

§ 1347.5 Affirmation of compliance. All persons who are required by § 1347.4 to keep records, shall transmit, on or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the tenth day of each month thereafter, an affirmation of compliance on Form 130:1 containing a sworn statement that during the month for which the record is kept all purchases and sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 30 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 130:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration or, provided no change is made in the style and content of it and that it is reproduced on 8" x 10½" paper, may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmation of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1347.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions contained in Price Schedule No. 30, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 30, (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments through calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 30 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 30. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of any or all of the grades of waste paper or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged and requested to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1347.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 30. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 30 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 31—ACETIC ACID

As a direct consequence of expanded economic activity induced by the national defense program the demand for acetic acid has risen sharply in the past few months. Acetic acid is essential in the manufacture of a large number of important products such as rayon yarn, film, plastics, transparent wrapping materials, lacquers, varnishes and white lead. The prices of all acetate solvents are based primarily upon the price of acetic acid.

Synthetic production of acetic acid accounts for the bulk of acetic acid consumed by this country. Most of the remainder, commonly referred to as "natural acetic acid", is produced by wood distillation at a cost often in excess of the cost of synthetic production. The tank car price of synthetic glacial acetic acid in the third quarter of 1941 was approximately 20% higher than in the second quarter. A further increase to 6½ cents per pound has recently been announced for the fourth quarter. The tank car price of natural acetic acid in terms of 100% acid content has increased in recent months from 5 cents to 7½ cents per pound and higher. Prices of other grades of acetic acid generally reflect the tank car prices for synthetic glacial and natural acetic acid in terms of 100% acid content and have increased correspondingly.

The Office of Price Administration has conferred with producers of both synthetic acetic acid and natural acetic acid. No justifiable reasons have been advanced for increasing the prices of synthetic acetic acid and natural acetic acid beyond 6¼ cents and 7¼ cents per pound respectively for tank cars. Increases in such prices would, therefore, be inflationary in character. Such inflationary movements in the prices of basic chemicals would tend to weaken the defense effort by causing dislocations, price spiraling and profiteering.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.201 Maximum prices for acetic acid. On and after September 29, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, acetic acid in quantities of 3,000 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of, acetic acid in quantities of 3,000 pounds or more from any person, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.210.*

§ 1335.202 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1335.210, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1335.204 Records and reports. Every person making any purchase or sale of acetic acid in quantities of 3,000 pounds or more shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the prices paid or received, and the specifications and quantity including the size of the containers, of the acetic acid purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 31 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.205 Affirmations of compliance. On or before October 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has made any sale of acetic acid in quantities of 3,000 pounds or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration, an affirmation of compliance on Form 131.1 containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 31 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 131.1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.206 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 31, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 31, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 31, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from purchasing acetic acid from those persons who fail to conform to Price Schedule No. 31. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of acetic acid or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

PART 1347—PAPER AND PAPER PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 32—PAPERBOARD SOLD EAST OF THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

The Office of Price Administration, being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises, has determined that the establishment of maximum prices for paperboard is essential in order to accomplish these purposes and is in the interest of national defense and national welfare, and that the maximum prices set forth herein are fair and reasonable. The determination of these prices comes after exhaustive investigations and numerous conferences with representatives of all branches of the paperboard trade.

Paperboard, and the boxes and containers manufactured therefrom, have become essential to the prosecution of the defense effort. The Office of Price Administration, through voluntary agreements and the establishment of price schedules for wastepaper and other commodities, has been exerting its efforts to prevent undue price rises in those raw materials which go to make up paperboard. The price rises which are threatening in the paperboard industry are, therefore, unwarranted. Because of the countless uses for paperboard, the effect of an inflationary price would be to create a dangerous price spiral and, therefore, immediate action is necessary.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1347.51 Maximum prices for paperboard. On and after February 3, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, in the area east of the Rocky Mountains, no producer, and no agent or representative of a producer, shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any grade of paperboard, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of any grade of paperboard from a producer, or agent or representative of a producer, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B, hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1347.61 and 1347.62, respectively. The sale of any paperboard shipped from or into the area east of the Rocky Mountains, shall be subject to Price Schedule No. 32.*

*§§ 1347.51 to 1347.65, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

PART 1307—RAW MATERIALS FOR COTTON TEXTILES

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 33—CARDED COTTON YARNS

From August 1940 to May 1941 the prices of cotton yarns and cotton textiles were marked by an inflationary rise. To check this advance, the Office of Price Administration issued a schedule of maximum prices for combed yarns in May 1941, and a schedule for six leading types of cotton grey goods in June 1941. It was the aim of the Office of Price Administration in taking these measures to bring about an appropriate adjustment of prices for related products in the cotton textile field to those set forth in the schedules for combed yarn and cotton grey goods. Carded yarns, however, which normally sell for several cents less per pound than combed yarns are now commanding prices as high, and in some instances higher, than the ceiling prices established for combed yarns. This dislocation in the price structure of the textile industry is injurious to national defense and to the civilian economy.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1307.51 Maximum prices for carded cotton yarn. (a) On and after the applicable ceiling date (as set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1307.60), except as provided in § 1307.51 (b) hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer carded cotton yarn for commercial use, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of carded cotton yarn for commercial use, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in § 1307.60, Appendix A.

(b) The provisions of Price Schedule No. 33 are not applicable to carded cotton yarn when sold, by persons other than the producer thereof, for use as wrapping twine or for resale for ultimate use as wrapping twine.*

[Paragraph (b), formerly paragraph (c), added by amendment January 21, 1942, effective October 6, 1941 (7 F.R. 475). Redesignated as paragraph (b) by amendment of February 2, 1942, which revoked former paragraph (b).]

[1] Issued: 6 F.R. 5012. Amended: 6 F.R. 5073, 5699, 6087. Renumbered and amended: 6 F.R. 6799. Amended: 7 F.R. 603, 661.

§ 1307.53 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 33 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of carded cotton yarn, alone, or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) No price agreed upon in any contract shall be changed by amendment of such contract, by substitution therefor of a new contract, or otherwise (whether or not such change is made pursuant to the terms of the original contract) if the change so effected results in an agreed price in excess of the maximum price applicable under § 1607.60 hereof, in accordance with the date the original contract was made, to the original contract or to deliveries pursuant thereto.*

[Paragraph (b) added by amendment November 26, 1941, effective November 27, 1941; 6 F.R. 6047]

§ 1307.54 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of carded cotton yarn for commercial use after October 5, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, the quantity in pounds, and the specifications of the carded cotton yarn sold or purchased, and (b) the quantity of carded cotton yarn (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 33 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1307.55 Affirmations of compliance. On or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who during the preceding calendar month has purchased or sold, whether for immediate or future delivery, or delivered or accepted delivery of carded cotton yarn for commercial use, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 133:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such purchases, sales, or deliveries were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 33 or with any exception thereto or modification thereof. Copies of Form 133:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8" x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1307.56 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 33, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 33, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 33. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of carded cotton yarn, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1307.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 33. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 33 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1307.58 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 33, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Carded cotton yarn" means carded cotton yarn of all qualities of the specifications for which maximum prices are established in § 1307.60, Appendix A;

[Paragraph (b) as amended, February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 712]

(c) "For commercial use" means for any use or purpose except use by an individual buyer at retail for home or private consumption;

(d) "Ceiling date" means the date, as specified in § 1307.60, Appendix A, on which Price Schedule No. 33 becomes effective with respect to any given yarn.

(e) "For export" means to a person outside the United States, its territories and possessions.*

[Paragraph (e) added by amendment February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 712]

§ 1307.59 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 33. This Schedule (§§ 1307.51 to 1307.60, inclusive) shall become effective October 6, 1941.

§ 1307.60 Appendix A: Maximum prices for carded cotton yarn—(a) Terms of sale—(1) Freight—(i) Sales and deliveries by producers. As applied to sales and deliveries by the producer, the maximum prices established herein include freight up to one cent per pound to the purchaser's place of business. The producer may require the purchaser to pay any freight in excess of one cent per pound. If the producer does not pay the freight, the maximum price shall be that shown herein less freight (up to one cent per pound) at the lowest published rate. In the case of sales or deliveries for export, if export is by sea, the seaport from which the yarn is shipped, or, if export is overland, the point at which the yarn leaves the United States, shall be regarded as the purchaser's place of business.

(ii) Sales and deliveries of stock yarn.[1] As applied to sales and deliveries of stock yarn, the maximum prices established herein are prices f. o. b. the stock-yarn seller's shipping point.

(2) Discounts and commissions. The maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 33 are gross prices before any discounts are deducted and they include commissions and all other charges.

The maximum prices for carded yarns established in paragraph (b) below shall be discounted by two per cent when payment is made within thirty days of delivery.

(b) Maximum prices—(1) Determination of maximum price. The maximum price for any offer to buy or sell, sale or contract of sale, delivery or transfer of carded cotton yarn shall be determined from (2) below, as qualified by (3) below, in the following manner.

(i) Offer to buy or sell. By the cotton spot price[2] of the business day immediately preceding that on which the offer was made except that, if the offering price is not otherwise specified, an offer to buy or sell at the maximum price applicable on the day the contract of sale is to be made shall not be a violation of Price Schedule No. 33.

(ii) Sale or contract of sale. By the cotton spot price of the business day immediately preceding the day on which the sale or contract of sale is made, regardless of the maximum price applicable to the offer pursuant to which such sale or contract is made.

(iii) Delivery or transfer.[3] By the cotton spot price of the business day immediately preceding that on which the sale or contract of sale is made, regardless of any change in the cotton spot price subsequent thereto, except that, when the sale or contract of sale was made on or before July 20, 1941, the applicable maximum price shall be determined on the basis of a cotton spot price of 15.99 cents per pound.

(2) Table of base maximum prices. The following are base maximum prices for all carded yarns. They are subject to the premiums and discounts set forth in (3) below. For a yarn intermediate between any two appearing in this table, the maximum price shall be that price obtained from this table by interpolation in accordance with the respective yarn numbers.

(v) Tinged and part-waste yarn. The maximum price for any tinged or part-waste carded yarn shall be the base maximum price set forth in (2) above, less the normal trade differential.

(c) Ceiling date. The maximum prices established herein became effective on February 3, 1942, which shall constitute the ceiling date for all carded yarns.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 34—WOOD ALCOHOL

Methyl alcohol is an essential chemical which is used as an antifreeze and in the manufacture of formaldehyde, denatured alcohol, paints, varnishes, enamels, and many other products. Most methyl alcohol is produced synthetically. The remainder, herein referred to as "wood alcohol," is produced by the distillation of wood.

As a result of conditions engendered by the national defense program, the demand for methyl alcohol has increased sharply, causing a shortage of supply. A steep rise in the prices of the various grades of wood alcohol has occurred. The price of the denaturing grade, representing approximately one-half of the wood alcohol production, increased from 45 cents per gallon for tank-car quantities in the second quarter of 1941 to 60 cents per gallon in the third quarter. Substantial transactions have taken place at even higher prices. Such a price movement threatens to create an unsound market in wood alcohol and also to dislocate the market for synthetic methyl alcohol. Producers of the latter product have refrained from increasing its price. The largest producer, in fact, has announced a price reduction in recent weeks. It is therefore unnecessary at this time to establish maximum prices for synthetic methyl alcohol.

After investigation and conferences with representatives of the methyl alcohol industry, the Office of Price Administration has found that, under existing conditions, there is no justifiable reason for prices of wood alcohol in excess of 60 cents per gallon for tank-car quantities. Further increases in price would, therefore, be inflationary.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.251 Maximum prices for wood alcohol. On and after October 10, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer wood alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of wood alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.259.*

*§§ 1335.251 to 1335.259, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.252 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1335.259, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.253 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 34 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of wood alcohol, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of formula or grades of wood alcohol, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.254 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of wood alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more after October 10, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the wood alcohol purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 34 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.255 Affirmations of compliance. On or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has sold wood alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 134:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 34 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 134:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on an 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.256 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 34, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 34, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interests and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 34, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from purchasing wood alcohol from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 34. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of wood alcohol, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.258 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 34, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Wood alcohol" means the various grades of methyl alcohol of wood origin listed in § 1335.259, Appendix A, hereof.*

(a) Tank cars—(1) East of the Mississippi River.

	Cents per gallon, delivered
Denaturing grade	60
Pure methyl alcohol	60
95% methyl alcohol[1]	60
97% methyl alcohol[1]	60

[1] Specifically designated percentages include all approximations thereof.

(2) West of the Mississippi River. Maximum prices for tank car quantities in territory west of the Mississippi River are determined by adding 3 cents per gallon to the maximum prices established above for tank cars in territory east of the Mississippi River.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 35—CARDED GREY AND COLORED-YARN COTTON GOODS

In June 1941, the Office of Price Administration, as a first step toward stabilizing prices for the major types of cotton textiles, issued Price Schedule No. 11, establishing maximum prices for six leading kinds of cotton grey goods. In August that Schedule was supplemented by maximum prices for other classes of grey goods. Now maximum prices are extended to further important types of grey goods, and to the principal types of cotton colored-yarn goods. For convenience, the carded-yarn fabrics already under maximum prices have been withdrawn from Price Schedule No. 11 and are included, along with numerous other textiles made of carded yarn, in Price Schedule No. 35; grey goods made of combed yarns will continue to be covered by Price Schedule No. 11.

§ 1316.51 Maximum prices for cotton goods. On and after the applicable ceiling date (as set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1316.61), regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer cotton goods, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of cotton goods, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in § 1316.61, Appendix A, except that:

(a) The maximum prices established herein are not applicable to sales or deliveries of cotton goods to any person or persons outside the United States, its territories and possessions;

(b) Except as may be expressly provided elsewhere herein, the provisions of Price Schedule No. 35 are not applicable to sales or deliveries of cotton goods made by any wholesaler, jobber, or retailer in the performance of a recognized distributive function: Provided, That sales and deliveries of cotton goods (1) to a converter or finisher, or (2) by the manufacturer thereof or by any agent of such manufacturer shall not be made at prices higher than the established maximum prices.*

[Paragraph (b) as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 10, 1942; 7 F.R. 931]

* § 1316.51 to § 1316.62, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1316.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1316.61, Appendix A may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1316.53 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 35 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of cotton goods, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) No price agreed upon in any contract shall be changed by amendment of such contract, by substitution therefor of a new contract, or otherwise (whether or not such change is made pursuant to the terms of the original contract) if the change so effected results in an agreed price in excess of the maximum price applicable under § 1316.61 hereof, in accordance with the date the original contract was made, to the original contract or to deliveries pursuant thereto.*

[Paragraph (b) added by amendment November 26, 1941, effective November 27, 1941; 6 F.R. 6047]

§ 1316.54 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of cotton goods after October 20, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity in yards of each construction purchased or sold; (b) the quantity in yards of cotton goods (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month; and (c) in the case of manufacturers, the quantity in yards or pounds of each construction of cotton goods manufactured during each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 35 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1316.55 Details required in contract of sale and invoice. (a) Every seller of cotton goods shall, with respect to each sale thereof, deliver to the purchaser a contract of sale which shall contain, in addition to the terms thereof, (1) the date on which the sale or contract of sale was made; (2) a full description of each construction of cotton goods sold, including (i) the width; (ii) in the case of grey goods, the cloth count; (iii) the number of yards per pound; (iv) where necessary to determine the applicable maximum price, the yarn numbers used in the warp and filling, or the average yarn numbers, as the case may be; and (v) where, in conformity with Price Schedule No. 35, a premium is charged or deduction made, the feature of the goods or of their manufacture for which such premium is allowed or deduction required; and (3) the discount, if any, allowed for prompt payment.*

§ 1316.56 [Revoked]

§ 1316.56 [Revoked by amendment February 9, 1942, effective February 10, 1942; 7 F.R. 931]

§ 1316.57 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 35, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 35, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 35, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 35. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of cotton goods or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§1316.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 35. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 35 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

The maximum prices set forth in paragraph (a) are applicable to such types of goods only when they are delivered pursuant to a sale or contract of sale entered into prior to the above-mentioned date; otherwise such goods are subject to the prices appearing in paragraph (b).

Paragraph (b) contains maximum prices for all cotton goods subject to Price Schedule No. 35. As qualified by paragraph (c), these maximum prices are applicable to all transactions except those subject to paragraph (a).

Paragraph (c) sets forth the conditions under which, in addition to the otherwise applicable maximum prices as found in paragraphs (a) and (b), premiums may be paid for (1) cotton goods made to special physical requirements established by the buyer, (2) cotton goods of demonstrably superior quality, and (3) window-shade cloth.

(b) (1) Determination of maximum price. Except as provided in paragraph (a) above, and subject to the qualifications contained in paragraph (c), below, the maximum price for any offer to buy or sell, sale or contract of sale, delivery or transfer of cotton goods shall be determined in the following manner:

(i) Offer to buy or sell. By the spot cotton price[1] of the business day immediately preceding that on which the offer was made, except that, if the offering price is not otherwise specified, an offer to buy or sell at the maximum price applicable on the day the contract of sale is to be made shall not be a violation of Price Schedule No. 35;

(ii) Sale or contract of sale. By the spot cotton price of the business day immediately preceding the day on which the sale or contract of sale is made,[2] regardless of the maximum price applicable to the offer pursuant to which such sale or contract is made;

(iii) Delivery or transfer.[2] By the spot cotton price of the business day immediately preceding that on which the sale or contract of sale is made, regardless of any change in the spot cotton price subsequent thereto, except that, where the sale or contract of sale was made on or before July 20, 1941, the applicable maximum price shall be determined on the basis of a spot cotton price of 15.99 cents per pound.

[1] The term "spot cotton price," when used herein, means the average, published daily by the United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Marketing Service, of the price quotations for middling 15/16-inch cotton on ten designated spot markets.

[2] Except as provided in Paragraph (a), this method of determining the maximum price shall be used in connection with deliveries and transfers pursuant to sales or contracts of sale made before, as well as on or after, the applicable ceiling date.

[3] Sales under "open-price" contracts, pursuant to which the price is to be determined as of a date subsequent to that on which the contract is entered into, are permissible hereunder, provided that the contract (1) specifies the quantity of goods to be delivered and (2) fixes the exact date upon which the price is to be settled. In connection with such contracts the date on which the price is settled shall be regarded, for purposes of paragraph (b), as the day on which the sale or contract of sale is made.

[Subdivision (iii) as amended November 26, 1941, effective October 21, 1941; 6 F.R. 6047]

(2) Terms of sale. The maximum prices set forth in paragraph (b) are prices f. o. b. the seller's point of shipment. The prices are gross prices before discounts of any nature are deducted and include all commissions; for certain types of goods, however, mandatory discounts are specified below.

(3) Ceiling date. The maximum prices set forth below in Tables I to V, inclusive, and the qualifications thereto of Paragraph (c), become effective on October 21, 1941, which shall constitute the ceiling date for the fabrics covered by said tables and by said qualifications thereto.

(4) Maximum price tables. In addition to the maximum prices set forth in the following tables, the following premiums for special manufacturing processes may be charged. None of the premiums allowable hereunder is applicable, however, to osnaburgs delivered against contracts entered into prior to January 23, 1942, or to print cloths of Class B or C; to any fabric excepted below; or to any fabric which, in its standard construction, is normally manufactured by means of the process on which such premium is predicated.

(c) (1) In addition to the maximum prices set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) a premium may be demanded, charged, paid or accepted for cotton goods (other than those named in subparagraphs (4) and (5) below) made pursuant to specifications furnished by the buyer establishing special physical requirements which cannot be met by the most nearly comparable goods of commercial quality: Provided, That, except in accordance with permission granted under § 1316.61 (c) (3):

(i) The premium shall not exceed the highest differential in price charged (in cents over the then prevailing market price of the most nearly comparable goods of commercial quality) by the seller for goods of the same specifications during the 12 months immediately prior to June, 1941, or, if no such goods have been sold by the seller during that period, 5 percent of the otherwise applicable maximum price;

(ii) No premium shall be charged hereunder, unless the specifications to which the goods are made were issued by the buyer prior to July 21, 1941.

[Subparagraph (1) as amended January 5, 1942, effective January 6, 1942; 7 F.R. 122]

(2) Every seller making a sale, contract of sale, or delivery of cotton goods at a price including all or part of any premium permissible under § 1316.61 (c) (1) shall, on or before the 10th day of the succeeding month, file with the Office of Price Administration a sworn statement on Form 135:2 stating, with respect to each sale, contract of sale, or delivery made during the preceding calendar month, the date of the sale or contract of sale; the quantity of goods covered thereby; the date or dates when delivery is to be or has been made; the name of the manufacturer of the goods and of the buyer; the price agreed upon, charged, or paid; the buyer's specifications, in accordance with which the goods are made; the date of issuance thereof by the buyer; the use to which the goods are to be put; and the special physical requirements which are relied upon for the premium charged: Provided, That if a report, as required hereunder, is duly made of a sale, or contract, of sale, or any delivery pursuant thereto, no report need be made of any subsequent delivery of the same kind of goods pursuant to such sale or contract of sale.

(3) Application may be made by any buyer, or, where goods have been sold but not delivered prior to the applicable ceiling date, by any seller, to the Office of Price Administration for permission to pay or accept, in addition to the maximum prices appearing in paragraphs (a) or (b), a premium for (i) cotton goods made to such buyer's specifications issued on or after July 21, 1941; (ii) specification goods of a kind not manufactured by a seller during the 12 months immediately prior to June 1941 and for which the buyer considers it fair to pay such seller a premium of more than 5 per cent over the otherwise applicable maximum price; (iii) specification goods of a kind manufactured and sold by a seller during the 12 months immediately prior to June 1941 under such circumstances that the highest differential in price charged (in cents over the then prevailing market price of the most nearly comparable goods of commercial quality) by such seller during said 12-month period does not represent a fair and equitable return for the additional manufacturing cost entailed in meeting the specifications for such goods; or (iv) cotton goods of a quality demonstrably superior to that of the same goods of staple commercial grade. Such application, which shall be sworn to before a notary public, shall be accompanied by a yard-long sample of the fabric in its full width and shall state in detail (i) the construction of the cloth, including the width, thread count, and weight, and, with respect to both the warp and filling yarns, the yarn number and the staple, grade, and kind of cotton used; (ii) the specifications, if any, to which the goods are made; (iii) the use to which the goods are to be put; (iv) the reasons, if any, why goods of staple commercial quality would not be satisfactory for such use; and (v) the person or persons, if any, from whom the goods were purchased and the premiums, if any, paid (in cents over the prevailing market prices of the most nearly comparable goods of commercial quality) for such goods during the 3 years preceding the application. Upon receipt of any such application the Office of Price Administration will permit any person affected by such application to file a written statement setting forth facts pertinent to the issue of whether permission to pay a premium should be granted, and if so, in what amount; and will conduct such further investigation as it deems necessary and proper. No permission will be granted hereunder unless it is shown that it is essential to the buyer's business to obtain goods of the type for which he seeks to pay a premium and that the seller is entitled to receive a premium for such goods, and unless the Administrator finds that production of such goods would not be inconsistent with the interests of national defense. Permission granted to any buyer or to any seller hereunder will constitute authority for the other to accept or pay, as the case may be, the premium approved therein. In granting any permission hereunder the Office of Price Administration will require appropriate reports to be filed by the buyer and seller.

[Subparagraph (3) as amended January 5, 1942, effective January 6, 1942; 7 F.R. 122]

(4) For window-shade or book cloth of the same constructions as print cloth of Class A or Class B, a premium of 6 cents per pound may be charged. Where any or all of such premium is charged, no premium is allowable for feeler motion. The premium permissible hereunder is not applicable to selected print cloth but only to goods manufactured for use in high quality window shades or for other uses requiring cloth equally free of imperfections.

On or before January 15, 1942 and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter every person who has sold window-shade or book cloth at all or part of the premium permissible hereunder shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on Form 135:6 of all such sales. The first report shall cover all sales, contracts of sale, or deliveries made between October 21 and December 31, 1941, inclusive; subsequent reports shall cover all sales or contracts of sale made during the calendar month preceding that in which the report is due.

(5) The provisions of subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) above are not applicable to the fabrics described below, for which the premiums set forth herein may be charged in addition to the otherwise applicable maximum price as set forth in paragraph (b): Provided, (i) That the fabrics are made for use in the manufacture of products to meet the specifications named below opposite the premium charged; and (ii) that the purchaser shall certify in writing to the seller, before any delivery is made, that the fabric is to be so used.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 36—ACETONE

The demand for acetone has increased sharply in recent months as a direct result of the National Defense Program. Acetone is not only essential in the manufacture of high explosives required by the armed forces but is also essential in the preparation of cellulose acetate rayon and many other products important for civilian use. The Office of Price Administration has ascertained that the tank-car price of acetone has increased from 6¢ at the beginning of this year to 7¢ per pound in the third quarter. Prices in excess of 7¢ per pound have been announced by certain large producers for the fourth quarter of 1941. The average price of acetone during 1940 was approximately 4⅞¢ per pound. After consultation with representatives of the industry, the Office of Price Administration has determined that there are no justifiable reasons for prices of acetone in excess of 7¢ per pound in tank-car quantities. Further increase in prices would, therefore, be inflationary.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.301 Maximum prices for acetone. On and after October 27, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer acetone in containers of 50 gallons or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept deliveries of acetone in containers of 50 gallons or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A incorporated herein as § 1335.310.*

*§§ 1335.301 to 1335.310, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.303 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 36 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of acetone, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of formula or grades of acetone, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.304 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of acetone in containers of 50 gallons or more on or after October 27, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale showing the date thereof, and the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the prices paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the acetone purchased and sold.

(b) On or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every producer of acetone, other than those engaged in the production of acetone synthetically, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on Form 136:1 in the detail required by such Form showing the total production of acetone by such producer during the previous calendar month, the respective percentages of such total produced from molasses, corn, or other raw material, the cost of such raw material, and such other information as such Form shall require. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 36 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1335.305 Affirmations of compliance. On or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person, who during the preceding calendar month has sold acetone in containers of 50 gallons or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 136:2, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 36 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 136:2 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½ paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.306 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 36, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 36, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 36, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 36. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of acetone, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.307 Modification of Price Schedule No. 36. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 36 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Acetone" means chemically pure acetone.*

§ 1335.309 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 36. This Schedule (§§ 1335.301 to 1335.310, inclusive) shall become effective October 27, 1941.*

§ 1335.310 Appendix A: Maximum prices for acetone. The following maximum prices are established for acetone whether produced synthetically or from the fermentation of molasses, corn or other raw material.

(a) Eastern territory.[2]

	Per lb. delivered
Tank cars	$0.158
Drums, car-load lots	.168
Drums, less than car-load lots	.173

In the case of acetone produced from the fermentation of molasses, the above maximum prices apply where the cost of the molasses used for such production is $2.50 per hundred pounds of sugar content, delivered to the plant of the producer. For each increase or a decrease of $0.10 in such cost, the maximum prices for such acetone shall be the above maximum prices plus or minus $0.004.

(b) Western territory.[2] The maximum prices established for acetone in Western Territory are the maximum prices established by paragraph (a) for acetone in Eastern Territory plus ½¢ per pound.

(c) Maximum prices for acetone delivered from local stocks. The maximum price for acetone delivered from local stocks maintained by others than producers shall be the maximum prices established by paragraphs (a) or (b) above, whichever the case may be, plus $0.01 per pound.

(d) Containers. For acetone sold in containers, a reasonable charge for such containers may be added to the maximum prices established by paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) above.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 37—NORMAL BUTYL ALCOHOL

As a result of conditions engendered by the National Defense Program, the demand for normal butyl alcohol has increased sharply in recent months. Normal butyl alcohol is an important chemical which is used in the manufacture of butyl acetate, lacquers, plasticizers and many other products. The price of normal butyl alcohol in tank-car quantities has increased from 8¢ per pound at the end of 1940 to 10¢ per pound in the third quarter of 1941. Certain producers have announced an additional increase to 11¢ per pound for the fourth quarter of 1941, and some sales have occurred at even higher prices. Further price advances are threatened.

After investigation and conferences with representatives of the butyl alcohol industry, the Office of Price Administration has found that there is no justifiable reason for a price of normal butyl alcohol in excess of 10¾¢ per pound. Further increases would therefore be inflationary.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.351 Maximum prices for normal butyl alcohol. On and after October 27, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer normal butyl alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of normal butyl alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.360.*

*§§ 1335.351 to 1335.360 inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.353 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 37 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of normal butyl alcohol, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of formulae or grades of normal butyl alcohol, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.354 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of normal butyl alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more on or after October 27, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the prices paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the normal butyl alcohol purchased and sold.

(b) On or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every producer of normal butyl alcohol, other than those engaged in the production of normal butyl alcohol synthetically, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on Form 137:1 in the detail required by such Form, showing the total production of normal butyl alcohol by such producer during the previous calendar month, the respective percentages of such total produced from molasses, corn, or other raw material, the cost of such raw material, and such other information as such Form shall require. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 37 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.355 Affirmations of compliance. On or before November 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person, who during the preceding calendar month has sold normal butyl alcohol in containers of 50 gallons or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 137:2, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 37 or with any exception or modification thereof. Copies of Form 137:2 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.356 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 37, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 37, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 37, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 37. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of normal butyl alcohol, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.357 Modification of Price Schedule No. 37. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 37 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom.*

§ 1335.358 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 37, the term—

(a) "Person" means an individual partnership, association, or other business entity.

§ 1335.359 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 37. This Schedule (§§ 1335.351 to 1335.360, inclusive) shall become effective October 27, 1941.*

§ 1335.360 Appendix A: Maximum prices for normal butyl alcohol. The following maximum prices are established for normal butyl alcohol whether produced synthetically or from the fermentation of molasses, corn or other raw material:

(a) Eastern territory.[1]

	Per lb. delivered
Tank cars	$0.158
Drums, less than car-load lots	.173

In the case of normal butyl alcohol produced from the fermentation of molasses, the above maximum prices apply where the cost of the molasses used for such production is $2.50 per hundred pounds of sugar content, delivered to the plant of the producer. (c) Maximum prices for normal butyl alcohol delivered from local stocks. The maximum price for normal butyl alcohol delivered from local stocks maintained by others than producers shall be the maximum prices established by paragraphs (a) or (b) above, whichever the case may be, plus $0.01 per pound.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 38—GLYCERINE

A sharp increase in the demand for glycerine has occurred in recent months as a result of the national defense program. Glycerine is an extremely important chemical, essential not only in the production of high explosives used by the armed forces but also in the manufacture of a great number of important civilian products. Upon the price of [1] When used in this Appendix, the term "Eastern" territory means the states of New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana and all states east thereof and the term "Western" territory means all other states of the United States.

glycerine depends the price of many other necessary chemicals. The tank-car price of crude glycerine (80% glycerol), the basic grade among those affected by Price Schedule No. 38, has risen from 7½¢ per pound at the beginning of this year to 18¢ per pound during the fourth quarter. The price of refined glycerine (95% glycerol) has increased in recent months from approximately 13¢ per pound to 21½¢ per pound and is threatening to rise even higher. The Office of Price Administration has consulted with representatives of the industry and has determined that there are no justifiable reasons for prices of crude glycerine and refined glycerine in excess of 11½¢ per pound and 18¢ per pound, respectively, in tank-car quantities. Further increases in price would therefore be inflationary.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.401 Maximum prices for glycerine. On and after November 10, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer glycerine in containers of 500 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of glycerine in containers of 500 pounds or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.410.*

* §§ 1335.401 to 1335.410, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.402 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1335.410, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.403 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 38 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of glycerine, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of formula or grades of glycerine, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.404 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of glycerine in containers of 500 pounds or more after November 10, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers of the glycerine purchased or sold.

(b) On or before December 10, 1941, and on or before the 10th day of every April, August and December thereafter, every producer of glycerine, whether of crude or refined or both, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on Form 138:1 in the detail required by the Form showing the total inventory of glycerine held upon the first day of each such month, and such other information as the Form requires. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 38 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.405 Affirmations of compliance. On or before December 20, 1941, and on or before the 20th day of each month thereafter, every person, who during the preceding calendar month has sold glycerine in containers of 500 pounds or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 138:2 containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 38 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 138:2 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½ paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.406 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 38, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 38, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 38, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 38. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of glycerine, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

PART 1325—CONSUMER'S DURABLE GOODS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 39—UPHOLSTERY FURNITURE FABRICS

Prices of upholstery furniture fabrics constitute an important cost to the furniture manufacturer. A survey of representative upholstery fabric manufacturers shows an average increase of 24 per cent in the period between January 1, 1941, and October 15, 1941. A contemplated price schedule will freeze current prices of wood furniture at their existing levels. Preventing further rises in upholstery furniture fabrics will implement this ceiling.

With the cooperation of the great majority of the industry, by means of individual voluntary agreements, the Office of Price Administration has succeeded in achieving some measure of stability in prices during September and October.

During that period, by letters of September 27 and October 15, this Office attempted to secure detailed cost and profit information from the industry to determine whether or not the previous price rises were justified. Hardly any of this information has been submitted. This investigation is continuing. This Office is also undertaking research, in conjunction with the Bureau of Standards, for the purpose of establishing standards of quality. Meanwhile, effective measures must be taken to prevent further increases which may result in unwarranted prices. After investigation, this Office has determined that the most effective action, and the one best calculated to assure uniform treatment for all members of the industry, is the issuance of a price schedule fixing maximum prices at 105 per cent of those in effect on September 10, 1941.

§ 1325.51 Maximum prices for upholstery furniture fabrics. (a) On and after November 10, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any present pattern of upholstery furniture fabrics at a price higher than the maximum price. The maximum price for any present pattern shall be 105 per cent of the price quoted for such pattern in the manufacturer's price list in effect on September 10, 1941, to the same general class of purchasers. If no such price exists, the maximum price shall be 105 per cent of the highest price, f. o. b. seller's point of shipment, at which such pattern was sold and delivered to a purchaser of the same general class in the sixty-day period ended September 10, 1941.

(b) The following maximum prices have been established for Brooks Brothers Company Incorporated, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: for each present pattern for which the price quoted in the September 20, 1941, price list exceeds 105 per cent of the price quoted for such pattern in the price list in effect on September 10, 1941, the maximum price shall be the price quoted for such pattern in the September 20, 1941 price list; for all other present patterns the maximum price shall be the price determined under the provisions of this section applicable to all manufacturers.*

[Paragraph (b) added by amendment February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 717]

§ 1325.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established in § 1325.51 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1325.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 39 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of upholstery furniture fabrics, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1325.54 Reports—(a) Line as of September 10, 1941. On or before November 20, 1941, each manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration reports on present patterns on Form 139:1, showing in the detail required by such Form the maximum prices established for such patterns by § 1325.51 of Price Schedule No. 39, the name or number of such patterns, the specifications used for such patterns, and such other information as such Form may require. Manufacturers who have already submitted information required in Form 139:1 need not duplicate such information, but shall fill out such part of the Form as is necessary to complete the information required, and shall enclose with the Form a reference to the information already submitted. Copies of Form 139:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Additions to such line. Every addition to a manufacturer's line which is first delivered to a purchaser (or to a carrier for shipment to a purchaser) in the period commenced September 10, 1941, and ended November 10, 1941, shall be reported on Form 139:1 to the Office of Price Administration on or before November 20, 1941. Every addition to a manufacturer's line which is first delivered to a purchaser (or to a carrier for shipment to a purchaser) after November 10, 1941, shall be reported on Form 139:1 to the Office of Price Administration within ten days after such delivery.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 39 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1325.55 Records. Every manufacturer making sales of upholstery furniture fabrics after November 10, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, and the prices received, the patterns, and the quantity of upholstery furniture fabrics sold.*

§ 1325.56 Affirmations of compliance. On or before January 1, 1942, and quarterly thereafter, every manufacturer who is required to keep records of sales under § 1325.55 hereof shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 139:2, containing a sworn statement that during such period all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 39 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 139:2 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½ inch paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1325.57 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 39, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 39, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state, and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 39; and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 39. Persons who have evidence of the receipt or demand of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of upholstery furniture fabrics, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

(b) "Manufacturer" means a person operating a factory, plant, or mill which manufacturers upholstery furniture fabrics, with the exception of persons who in the first six months of 1941, manufactured at least 80 percent by dollar volume of their products on the individual order of the purchaser, rather than for their stock, in quantities of 300 yards or less per pattern per month;

PART 1346—BUILDING MATERIALS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 40—BUILDERS' HARDWARE AND INSECT SCREEN CLOTH

Builders' hardware, which includes such items as knobs, handles, locks, hinges, and window bolts, and insect screen cloth are important elements in building construction, and as such have considerable significance both in the defense program and in the civilian economy. Shortages of their basic raw materials, chiefly copper, and to a lesser extent such metals as zinc and tin, have produced inflationary pressure upon builders' hardware and screen cloth, most noticeably in the case of existing inventories. The issuance by the Office of Production Management of Conservation Order No. M–9–c on October 21, as amended November 3, severely curtailing at once the use of copper in builders' hardware and screening (among other things), and prohibiting its use therein altogether after January 1, 1942, will tend to cause an accentuation of this pressure on inventories.

The present schedule, instead of specifying the ceiling price for each item of builders' hardware and screen cloth, fixes as maximum prices on a group of named items the highest prices prevailing during the fifteen-day period ending October 15, 1941. This action is taken because of the difficulty of classifying these products, and because of the danger of inflationary price action during the time that would be required for the preparation of individual schedules covering each product.

[Preamble as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 727]

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me under Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1346.1 Maximum prices for builders' hardware and insect screen cloth. (a) On and after February 3, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person, except a retailer as defined in § 1346.7 (b), shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer any of the builders' hardware or screen cloth products set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1346.9, at prices higher than the maximum price.

(b) (1) The maximum price shall be the highest price received by the seller for the delivery during the period between October 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941, of builders' hardware or screen cloth products of approximately the same grade, quality, and amount, to the same purchaser.

(2) If no such delivery to the same purchaser was made, the maximum price shall be the highest price received by the seller for a delivery during such period of builders' hardware or screen cloth products of approximately the same grade, quality, and amount, to a purchaser recognized by the trade as entitled to similar treatment.

(3) If no delivery of products of approximately the same grade, quality, and amount was made, the maximum price shall be determined from the price of a related builders' hardware or screen cloth product, delivered during such period, by making an appropriate adjustment for differences in type of product, grade, quality, amount, and type of purchaser. A "related builders' hardware or screen cloth product" means one bearing a recognized or determinable price relationship to the product being sold.

(4) In all other cases, the maximum price shall be the market price during such period for the same type of product, grade, quality, amount, and type of purchaser.*

§ 1346.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 40 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

[§ 1346.3 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 727]

Every such person shall also, within thirty days of the effective date of Price Schedule No. 40, have available a record of his selling prices, except retail prices, for such products during the period from October 1, 1941, to October 15, 1941.

Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 40 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 41—STEEL CASTINGS

The production of steel castings plays a critical role in the whole defense program. Steel castings at reasonable prices are essential to the increased flow of machines, tanks, ships, airplanes, guns, and, indeed, every variety of military and naval supplies, from the assembly line to the front line of the nation's defense.

Since January 1, 1941, the prices of steel castings have advanced to a point where a further increase would create pressure to raise the prices of ordnance, transportation equipment, and machinery of every description and cause unwarranted risk to our enlarged defense program in terms of delay and useless expense.

After a thorough investigation of costs and other factors relevant to the production and sale of steel castings and after numerous conferences with representatives of all branches of the steel castings industry, it has been decided in the interest of national defense and the public welfare, to establish maximum prices for steel castings of every description whatever.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1306.100 Maximum prices for steel castings and railroad specialties. (a) On and after December 1, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment and, except as provided in subdivision (b) of this section: (1) no producer shall sell, offer to sell, or deliver steel castings of any description whatever, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of such steel castings, at prices higher than the maximum, prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1306.112; (2) no producer shall sell, offer to sell, or deliver railroad specialties, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of railroad specialties, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix B hereof, incorporated herein as § 1306.113.

(b) To the extent that a contract for the sale of steel castings or railroad specialties does not require that deliveries thereunder be made until six or more months after the date said contract was entered into, a producer may sell or offer to sell steel castings or railroad specialties at prices not in excess of the prices issued by the Office of Price Administration applicable and in effect at the time deliveries are made.*

§ 1306.101 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1306.112, Appendix A, and § 1306.113, Appendix B, may be charged, paid, or offered.*

[§ 1306.101 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 751]

§ 1306.102 Castings produced on and after February 5, 1942, for which no price has been filed by the producer. Any producer undertaking to make a steel casting, (1) which is part of an order totaling $100 or more, and (2) for which steel castings, or a steel casting substantially similar in specification and design, no price has been filed by such producer pursuant to § 1306.104 of Price Schedule No. 41, shall file with the Office of Price Administration a request for approval of the proposed selling price for such steel casting on Form 141:4: Provided, That where the selling price is not higher than the price listed in the Comprehensive Report under the head of "Schedule Reference" for such steel casting, or for a steel casting substantially similar in design and specification, such producer shall not be required to request approval thereof. Copies of Form 141:4 may be obtained at the Office of Price Administration.*

[§ 1306.102 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 751]

§ 1306.103 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in § 1306.100 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of steel castings, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1306.104 Filing of prices. On or before December 1, 1941, every producer shall file with the Office of Price Administration the exact and complete price or prices, extras, terms, and conditions, classified by size and quantity, in accordance with which he sold or would have sold on July 15, 1941, steel castings subject to § 1306.112, Appendix A: Provided, That where such price or prices coincide with the "Comprehensive Report" the producer need only signify that such prices do coincide with those listed in said Comprehensive Report: And, pro-

[§ 1306.104 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 751]

§ 1306.105 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of steel castings after November 15, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity of steel castings (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of steel castings, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 42—PARAFFIN WAX

As a direct consequence of expanded economic activity induced by the national defense program, the demand for paraffin wax has increased greatly in the past few months. Paraffin wax is used as a coating on paper cartons for dairy products and in the manufacture of waxed and water-proofed papers, electrical insulation compositions, candles and many other important products. It is also used for such defense purposes as a coating on cartridges and a waterproofing agent for explosives.

Increased demand and speculative tendencies have caused the price of crude scale paraffin wax to rise above the price of refined paraffin wax of comparable melting points. The price of crude scale paraffin wax (122/124 A. M. P.) has increased in recent months from 2.8¢ to 6.25¢ per pound. During the year 1940, the price of such paraffin wax averaged 3.86¢ per pound.

After conferences with members of the paraffin wax industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that there are no justifiable reasons for prices of crude scale paraffin wax (122 124 A. M. P.) and refined paraffin wax (123/125 A. M. P.) in excess of 4.25¢ per pound and 5.20¢ per pound, respectively. Increases in such prices at this time would, therefore, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.451 Maximum prices for paraffin wax. On and after December 1, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer paraffin wax in quantities of 1,000 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of paraffin wax in quantities of 1,000 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.460.*

*§§ 1335.451 to 1335.460, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.452 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1335.460, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.453 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 42 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of paraffin wax, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of grades of paraffin wax, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.454 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of paraffin wax in quantities of 1,000 pounds or more after December 1, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the kind and size of the containers, of the paraffin wax purchased or sold.*

§ 1335.455 Affirmations of compliance. On or before January 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month has sold paraffin wax in quantities of 1,000 pounds or more whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 142:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 42 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 142:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.456 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 42, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 42, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 42, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 42. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of paraffin wax, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.457 Modification of Price Schedule No. 42. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 42 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That, no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 42.*

§ 1335.458 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 42, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, corporation, association or other business entity;

(b) "Paraffin wax" means crude scale, semi-refined and fully refined paraffin wax of the grades listed in § 1335.460, Appendix A hereof, except slabs or cakes of paraffin wax weighing two pounds or less;

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 43—USED STEEL BARRELS OR DRUMS

Used steel barrels or drums play a vital role in the distribution of petroleum and its derivatives, chemicals, and foods. To prevent excessive and unwarranted price increases in the petroleum, chemical, and food industries the establishment of ceiling prices for used steel barrels is absolutely essential. The present spiraling of such prices, unless controlled effectively, is certain to have an adverse effect on the national defense and the public welfare completely out of proportion to the intrinsic value of the used barrels or drums.

It has been determined, consequently, after complete investigation and after numerous conferences with representatives of the industry, to establish maximum prices for used steel barrels or drums as a necessary protection of the public welfare and the national defense.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1306.201 Maximum prices for used steel barrels or drums. On and after December 1, 1941, regard of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, used steel barrels or drums, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of used steel barrels or drums at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1306.210.*

[§ 1306.201 as amended January 30, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 618]

§ 1306.202 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1306.210, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1306.203 Evasion. The price limitation set forth in Price Schedule No. 43 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of a used steel barrel or drum, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

[§ 1306.204 Revoked by amendment January 30, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 618]

§ 1306.205 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of used steel barrels or drums after December 1, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity of used steel barrels or drums (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 44—DOUGLAS FIR DOORS

Douglas fir doors, manufactured from Douglas fir lumber and plywood, constitute the majority of doors produced in this country, and their price is a significant factor in construction costs. The importance of fir doors to the economy and the demand for these doors has greatly increased by virtue of the vastly expanded building activity stemming from and accompanying the defense program. Large numbers of fir doors are used in cantonments, factories producing military necessities, and defense housing projects. Despite markedly increased production, the supply of doors has not kept pace with the augmented demand. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has caused prices to rise greatly in excess of previously existing levels. The cumulated price increases cannot be justified either on the basis of the increased costs of production or on the assumption that higher prices bring out appreciably more production.

The Office of Price Administration has determined that the establishment of maximum prices for Douglas fir doors is essential to maintain price stability and prevent undue price rises and is necessary to protect consumers, the industry, and the national economy. The maximum prices set forth in Price Schedule No. 44 were determined to be fair and reasonable after extensive investigations, conferences with the industry, and full consideration of all relevant factors.

[Preamble amended December 27, 1941, effective January 1, 1942; 6 F.R. 6798]

§ 1312.151 Maximum prices for Douglas fir doors. On and after December 10, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer of Douglas fir doors shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, for domestic or export use and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of any Douglas fir doors from a manufacturer at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1312.159.*

* §§ 1312.151 to 1312.159, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1312.154 Records and reports. Every manufacturer who sells and every person who purchases from a manufacturer Douglas fir doors of a value of more than $1,000.00 in any month after December 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale made during such month showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity of Douglas fir doors (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of Douglas fir doors, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

PART 1346—BUILDING MATERIALS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 45—ASPHALT OR TARRED ROOFING PRODUCTS

Asphalt or tarred roofing products, primarily made of a felt base (composed of waste rags, waste paper and other fibers).

saturated and/or coated with asphalt or tar, are widely used as a building material. In the defense program, these products have been extensively employed in the construction industry. The recent increased use of asphalt roofing products stemming from the defense program and the accompanying expanded economic activity has so increased demand for such products that shipments for the first eight months of 1941 exceeded 26,000,000 squares. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has been exerted upon these products resulting in several successive price increases during the past four months totaling fifteen to sixteen per cent while total unit costs for most items have actually declined during the same period. Earnings have therefore steadily increased. While the present Price Schedule No. 45 reduces prices below current levels it still provides a very substantial margin of profit.

Price Schedule No. 45 utilizes the shipping point, freight equalization, and allowance systems presently in effect in this industry, including the customary practice of free deliveries in free shipping zones. Such acceptance and incorporation of these systems into Price Schedule No. 45, merely as a vehicle for determining prices, should not be regarded as approval thereof, nor should this reservation be regarded as disapproval.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1346.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established in Appendices A and B (§§ 1346.59 and 1346.60) may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1346.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 45 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of asphalt or tarred roofing products, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discounts, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on the effective date of Price Schedule No. 45, or by any other means.*

§ 1346.54 Records and reports. On and after December 12, 1941, every manufacturer who sells, delivers or transfers asphalt or tarred roofing products of a total value in excess of $1,000.00 per month, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, delivery or transfer, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the price paid or received, and the quantity (in squares) of each grade, type, shape, size, kind and color of asphalt or tarred roofing products sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 45 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 46—RELAYING RAIL

Relaying rails are used extensively in armament plants, as well as in the essential industrial and mining establishments provided for in the Defense Program. The prices of relaying rails have increased sharply since the beginning of 1941. In many instances, the price of relaying rail has been as high or higher than that of new rail. After a thorough investigation by the Office of Price Administration and numerous conferences with all branches of the relaying rail industry, I find that the maximum prices prescribed herein constitute a fair and equitable limitation on prices for relaying rail and are necessary to assure an adequate and even flow of relaying rail into defense channels.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1306.251 Maximum prices for relaying rail. On and after December 2, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer relaying rail, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of relaying rail, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1306.260.*

[§ 1306.251 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 7, 1942; 7 F.R. 656]

§ 1306.252 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in

§ 1306.254 [Revoked February 2, 1942, effective February 7, 1942; 7 F.R. 656]

§ 1306.255 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of relaying rails after January 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (1) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the shipping point price paid or received, transportation charges, if any, and the quantity and weight purchased or sold, and (2) the quantity of relaying rail (i) on hand, and (ii) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 46 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.

(b) Purchases of relaying rail in excess of 100 gross tons. Every person other than the consumer, making a purchase of used rail, in quantities in excess of 100 gross tons, not later than 15 days following the purchase shall file with the Office of Price Administration either (1) a certificate from an established, independent inspection bureau, or (2) an affidavit by such purchaser, stating the estimated division of such rail among relaying, rerolling, and scrap rails, as well as such further documents as may be required by the Office of Price Administration: Provided, That the rails so purchased shall be subject to any inspection and classification as to quality which may be made by the Office of Price Administration.

(c) Sales of relaying rail of 25 gross tons or more. Every seller making a sale to a consumer of relaying rails in quantities of 25 tons or more, shall file with the Office of Price Administration, not later than 15 days after such sale an affidavit from the consumer stating that such rails are to be used for relaying purposes, the quantity, weight per yard, source, shipping point price and delivered price of the shipment.*

§ 1306.256 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 46, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 46, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 46; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 46, and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 46. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of relaying rail, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1306.257 Modification of Price Schedule No. 46. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 46 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by a person complying with Price Schedule No. 46 and all other schedules issued by the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1306.258 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 46, the term:

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 47—OLD RAGS

The Office of Price Administration, being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and economic dislocations, has determined after an exhaustive investigation and after conferences with representatives of all branches of the trade, that the defense effort has placed an increasing burden upon the supply of old rags since it is a basic raw material in the manufacture of roofing and building material, that additional demands have been made upon the supply of old rags due to the fact that old rags are used in the manufacture of many high grades of paper, and that the large percentage of old rags previously imported has been shut off by the war.

Inflationary price rises threaten, and immediate action to prevent disastrous price spiraling is essential. The establishment of maximum prices for old rags is essential in order to accomplish these purposes and is in the interest of national defense and national welfare. The maximum prices set forth herein are fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1347.101 Maximum prices for old rags. On and after December 20, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, in the continental United States, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer old rags, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of old rags at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A, B, and C hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1347.110, 1347.111, and 1347.112.*

§ 1347.102 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A and B (§§ 1347.110 and 1347.111) may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1347.103 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 47 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of old rags, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1347.104 Records. Every person making purchases or sales aggregating ten tons or more of old rags in any one month after December, 1941 shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale made during such month and each month thereafter, showing the date thereof, the name of the buyer and of the seller, the prices paid or received, and the quantity and grade or grades so purchased or sold. Such records shall set forth separately the f. o. b. point of shipment price and the transportation charge. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 47 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

[Headnote of § 1347.104 changed from "Records and reports" by amendment February 2, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 661]

§ 1347.104a Reports—(a) By persons engaged in the selling or brokerage of old rags. All persons engaged in the selling or brokerage of old rags and required by § 1347.104 to keep records shall, on or before February 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, file under oath a report on Form 147:2 setting forth (1) the tonnage of old rags covered by Appendices A and B (§§ 1347.110, 1347.111) and all other old rags delivered during the month preceding the month in which the report is filed, and (2) the net inventory of old rags covered by Appendices A and B (§§ 1347.110, 1347.111), and all other rags on hand at the end of such month.

On or before February 10, 1942, all persons engaged in the selling or brokerage of old rags and required by § 1347.104 to keep records shall also file the monthly statement required above for each month during the period beginning December 1, 1939, and ending January 31, 1942.

(b) By consumers of old rags. On or before February 10, 1942, and for each succeeding month thereafter, all consumers of old rags required by § 1347.104 to keep records shall file under oath a report on Form 147:3 for the month preceding the filing of such report setting forth: (1) the total amount of old rags consumed during such month and (2) the inventory on hand at the end of such month.

On or before February 10, 1942, all consumers of old rags required by § 1347.104 to keep records shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a tabulation of their total consumption and end-of-month inventories of old rags and new cuttings for each month for the period beginning December 1, 1939, and ending January 31, 1942. These reports, insofar as practicable, should be filed for separate manufacturing units and the figures should be allocated to the particular manufacturing unit to which they apply.*

§ 1347.105 Affirmation of compliance. All persons who are required by § 1347.104 to keep records, shall transmit, on or before the 20 day of January, 1942, and on or before the tenth day of each month thereafter, an affirmation of compliance on Form 147:1 containing a sworn statement that during the month for which the record is kept all purchases and sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 47 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 147:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration or, provided no change is made in the style and content of it and that it is reproduced on 8" x $10\frac{1}{2}$" paper, may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmation of compliance hereunder.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 49—RESALE OF IRON OR STEEL PRODUCTS

Prices in effect on April 16, 1941, have been specified as maximum prices for sale of iron or steel products by producers, under Price Schedule No. 6, as revised on June 21, 1941.[2] A large proportion of the iron or steel products used in industry passes through the hands of jobbers, dealers, and distributors of various kinds. In some cases, these middlemen have charged exorbitant and unwarranted prices. It is therefore essential that the price charged by these persons, as well as the price charged by the producer, be kept within reasonable limits. To protect both the consumer and the jobbers, dealers, and other distributors who have maintained a reasonable price level, it has been determined by the Office of Price Administration that a Price Schedule covering all resale of iron or steel products should be issued. April 16, 1941, has been selected as the base date, since the maximum price at which the reseller may purchase from a producer has been established as of that date. Pending further investigation of transportation problems, maximum prices for Pacific Coast and Gulf Port prices are being specified.

[2] 6 F.R. 3061; 7 F.R. 785, 930.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1306.151 Maximum prices for the resale of iron or steel products. On and after December 15, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no seller as defined in § 1306.157 (b) of Price Schedule No. 49 shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer iron or steel products, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of iron or steel products at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1306.159.

Provided, That the provisions of Price Schedule No. 49 shall apply only to sales, offers to sell, deliveries, or transfers of iron or steel products moving within, into or out of one of the 48 states of the United States or the District of Columbia; Provided further, That the export provisions of Price Schedule No. 49 shall apply to any sale for delivery outside the 48 states or the District of Columbia.*

*§§ 1306.151 to 1306.162, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1306.152 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1306.159, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1306.153 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 49 shall not be evaded either by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, barter, delivery or transfer of iron or steel products alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by way of discount, premium, or other privilege, or by way of tying agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1306.154 Records and reports—(a) Records of sales, inventory and orders. Every person making sales, or purchases for resale, of iron or steel products, in quantities dealt in, or on which prices are quoted by established jobbers, dealers, or distributors, after December 15, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (1) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid on each purchase for resale and received on each resale, the quality and grade, the sizes, and the quantity of each product purchased or sold, and (2) the tonnage of iron or steel products on hand and on order, classified by product, in a manner similar to that of Form PD 83 as issued by the War Production Board. A copy of Form PD 83 may be had upon request by applying to the War Production Board.

(b) Filing prices. On or before December 31, 1941, every seller of iron or steel products having annual gross sales of $100,000 or more, even though iron and steel products comprise only a part of the total, during the year ending December 31, 1941, shall file in duplicate, in affidavit form, with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., his prices circulated to his salesmen or customers in effect on April 16, 1941, or customarily quoted and charged on that date, including extras lists, deduction lists, charges, and discounts. Special prices or discounts given to any customers and classes of customers as of April 16, 1941, shall be filed. This includes prices or discounts to jobbers, dealers and large, industrial or other special buyers. Every seller shall file individual price sheets for each warehouse or branch, showing city and country prices, wherever such exist; and he shall indicate the area or cities to which such prices apply. In the event that any prices so filed exceed the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 49, the seller shall, after the effective date of Price Schedule No. 49, eliminate this excess and charge a maximum price not in excess of the maximum prices established herein. Every seller shall state with regard to his April 16, 1941 price for each product, the range of sizes, types or cross-section covered by each price submitted; trade names, if any, and prices charged; prices for each base quantity; products sold in various quantity brackets, and prices for each bracket. If the person is a seller without prices as of April 16, 1941, (a) because of establishment of business after April 16, 1941, or (b) because of introduction of a product not handled on or prior to April 16, 1941, he shall file a list of his inventory as of December 1, 1941, and prices he proposes to charge for such products. These prices shall not be in excess of the maximum as established by Price Schedule No. 49. Additional filing requirements from Pacific Coast and Gulf Port sellers, and for carload business, are included in other sections of Price Schedule No. 49. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 49 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

[§ 1306.154 as amended February 2, 1942; effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 705]

§ 1306.155 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 49, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 49, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 49; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 49 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to

(iii) Other export merchants who customarily incur additional foreign costs or expenses in excess of those borne by the export merchant, as defined hereinabove, may apply to the Office of Price Administration for exception, stating reasons why an additional amount should be allowed. The application shall be in the form of an application for relief.

(2) The maximum export price as set forth above in subdivision (ii) shall include and shall not be increased by reason of any fees, commissions, or expenses, including commissions paid to other intermediaries, whether domestic or foreign, demurrage, storage charges, inspection fees, interest or financing charges, or other expenses connected with the transaction. The maximum price as so computed shall not be increased in any c. i. f. price except to the extent of insurance, ocean freight, and consular charges.

(3) The above margins over domestic maximum prices may be taken only by an export agent or export merchant, and not by both, and shall not be shared by any such person with any domestic seller, broker, agent, or other intermediary.

PART 1351—FOODS AND FOOD PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 50—GREEN COFFEE

During the past few months, green coffee prices have shown an inflationary increase as a result of changed conditions affecting foreign supplies and shipping facilities. This has occurred despite the fact that stocks in this and producing countries are adequate, and that the import quota for this year is substantially higher than the estimated national consumption. In order to maintain price stability and to prevent price rises, the Office of Price Administration has determined after careful study that the prices set forth below best accomplish these purposes.

[Preamble as amended December 27, 1941, effective December 29, 1941; 6 F.R. 6803]

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1351.1 Maximum prices for green coffee. (a) On and after December 11, 1941 no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer green coffee, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of green coffee at prices higher than the maximum prices; except that contracts entered into prior to December 11, 1941 providing for a price higher than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price.

[Paragraph (a) as amended December 27, 1941, effective December 29, 1941; 6 F.R. 6803]

(b) The maximum prices shall include all commissions and all other charges, except that:

(1) Increases in the charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941, for ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance may be added to the maximum prices only if such charges have been actually incurred by the seller on such sale. Decreases in said charges prevailing prior to opening of business on December 8, 1941, must be subtracted from the maximum prices.

(2) If the services of a broker or brokers are required either at the port of entry or in a secondary market, a commission or commissions which in the aggregate shall not exceed one percent of the selling price may be added to the maximum prices, provided such commissions have been actually paid.

[Paragraph (b) as amended January 30, 1942, effective January 31, 1942; 7 F.R. 663]

(c) The maximum prices for all types and grades of green coffee shall be as follows:

Country and price in cents per pound ex dock New York City

Brazil: Santos No. 2, 14⅛; Santos No. 4, 13⅜; Rio No. 7, 9⅜.
Colombia: Medellin Excelso, 16¼; Manizzles Excelso, 15⅞.
Costa Rica: Strictly Hard, 16½; Prime, 16.
Cuba: Good Washed, 14¼.
Ecuador: Extra Superior Unwashed, 11¼.

Guatemala: Strictly Hard, 16½; Good Washed, 14½.
Haiti: Good Washed Sweet, 13¾.
Hawaii: No. 1 Extra Prime, 16½.
Honduras: Good Washed, 15.
Jamaica: 14½.
Mexico: Coatepec, 16½; Tapuchula, 15½.
Nicaragua: Matagalpa, 15; Good Washed, 14½.
Peru: Fancy, 15¼.
Puerto Rico: Fancy, 15½; Good Washed, 14½.
Salvador: High Grown Washed, 16; Good Washed, 15½; Superior Unwashed, 13¾.
San Domingo: Good Washed Sweet, 13¼.
Surinam: 7¾.
Trinidad: 14½.
Venezuela: Fancy Washed Caracas, 15⅜; Standard Unwashed Sweet Maracaibo, 13⅜.
Abyssinia: 17.
Belgian Congo: 15½.
Bukoba: 13⅛.
Mocha (Arabia): 18½.
Netherlands East Indies: 19½.
Portuguese West Africa: 11¼.
Tanganyika: 15¾.
Uganda: 13.

In all cases the above descriptions apply to the best quality of each type and grade named. The maximum prices for green coffee imported from any other country, or for grades not named of poorer quality, shall be determined by applying the customary trade differentials in effect prior to December 8, 1941.

For aged grades of "extra superior" quality, or for imports from any country of limited amounts of coffee of quality markedly superior to the best grade listed for that country, a premium may be added to the maximum price listed for the corresponding grade, provided such premium is commensurate with trade practices prevailing prior to December 8, 1941.

[Paragraph (c) as amended December 27, 1941, effective December 29, 1941; 6 F.R. 6803]

(d) The maximum prices quoted above are ex dock New York City. The maximum prices ex dock any other port of entry shall be determined by adding to or subtracting from the New York City price the difference between the actual cost of ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance from the port of origin to New York City and the actual cost of ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance from the port of origin to such other port of entry.

(e) For any green coffee sold ex warehouse, rather than ex dock New York City or other port of entry, the cost of actually "putting the coffee into the warehouse" as defined in § 1351.7, may be added by the seller who incurred the cost.

[Paragraphs (d) and (e) as amended January 30, 1942, effective January 31, 1942; 7 F.R. 663]

(f) The delivered price for any type or grade of green coffee shall in no case exceed the maximum price plus the actual transportation charges from the dock or warehouse at New York City or other port of entry to the place of destination.

[Paragraph (f) as amended December 27, 1941, effective December 29, 1941; 6 F.R. 6803]

(g) Any person making sales of green coffee in lots of twenty-five bags or less may add to the maximum prices specified above an amount not in excess of 7½ per cent of the comparable selling price of lots of more than twenty-five bags.

[Paragraph (g) as amended January 30, 1942, effective January 31, 1942; 7 F.R. 663]

(h) The above prices shall be the maximum prices for all transactions except for futures contracts traded on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange. In such contracts the maximum prices shall be the closing prices on the Exchange as of December 8, 1941 for the months then traded in as listed below. The maximum prices for futures contracts for months, if any, after September 1942, shall not exceed the futures price for September 1942. The maximum prices for futures contracts, if any, traded in months currently inactive shall not exceed the maximum prices for the last active preceding month.

PART 1351—FOODS AND FOOD PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 51—COCOA BEANS AND COCOA BUTTER

During the past few months, the prices of cocoa beans, a wholly imported commodity, and cocoa butter have increased sharply as the result of uncertainties in the shipping situation and increases in transportation and insurance costs. This has occurred despite the fact that stocks of cocoa beans are now the largest ever accumulated in this country. Since the high nutritive value of the foods processed from cocoa beans makes them of material importance to both our armed forces and our civilian population, it is essential that any inflationary price rises in this commodity be curbed. The outbreak of hostilities in the Far East on December 7, 1941, gave rise to a sharp increase in speculative activity which caused this Office to issue a temporary freezing order on December 11, 1941, limiting prices to those prevailing on December 8, 1941.

In the intervening weeks, this Office has been engaged in a thorough study of the economic and trade position of cocoa beans and cocoa butter. Due consideration has been given to prices prevailing during the period October 1 to October 15, 1941, and adjustments made for relevant factors.

Therefore, to prevent any future price spiraling and to maintain the stability recently achieved by the trade, the Office of Price Administration hereby issues a permanent Schedule for cocoa beans and cocoa butter.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1351.51 Maximum prices for cocoa beans and cocoa butter. On and after December 11, 1941, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer cocoa beans or cocoa butter, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of cocoa beans or cocoa butter at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1351.61 and 1351.62, except that contracts entered into prior to February 3, 1942, but subsequent to December 11, 1941, may be carried out at prices not higher than the maximum prices contained in Price Schedule No. 51 as effective prior to this Amendment Number 2, and that contracts entered into prior to December 11, 1941, may be carried out at the contract prices.* (See § 1351.60.)

§ 1351.52 Export sales. The maximum prices for cocoa beans or cocoa butter sold for export may exceed the prices set forth in §§ 1351.61 and 1351.62 by no more than ten percent.*

§ 1351.53 Exempt sales. Sales of less than one bag of cocoa beans and of less than one bale of cocoa butter, and sales of cocoa butter deodorized or specially treated for pharmaceutical or cosmetic uses, shall be excepted from the operation of Price Schedule No. 51.*

§ 1351.54 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 51 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1351.55 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 51 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of cocoa beans or cocoa butter, or by way of premium, commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by any other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on December 11, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1351.56 Records and reports. (a) All sellers and all buyers who have entered into contracts prior to February 3, 1942, for the sale or delivery of cocoa beans or cocoa butter, on or after February 3, 1942, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 51, shall report all such contracts to the Office of Price Administration on or before February 25, 1942, stating (1) the name and address of the buyer and seller; (2) the actual date of the contract; (3) each and every delivery date provided for in the contract; and (4) the price, quantity, and description of the product sold.

After the buyer has received the final shipment called for by the contract he shall then report such receipt to the Office of Price Administration within two weeks thereof, certifying that the total amount received did not exceed the quantity specified in such contract.

(b) Every person making purchases or sales of cocoa beans or cocoa butter on and after February 3, 1942 shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records thereof, including the name of the purchaser, the date of the contract, the price paid or received, and the type, grade, quality, and amount sold.

(c) Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 51 shall submit such report to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1351.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 51. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 51 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom; Resolved, That no applications under this Section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 51.*

§ 1351.58 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 51, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 51, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 51; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of State, county, and local Governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 51 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from, those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 51. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of cocoa beans or cocoa butter, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1351.59 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 51 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Cost of putting cocoa beans into the warehouse" includes (1) "labor in and out" and (2) warehouse storage charges for not more than thirty days.

(c) "Cocoa beans and cocoa butter sold for export" means sales by a domestic seller directly to a foreign buyer or foreign broker.*

Decreases in said charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941 must be subtracted from the maximum prices.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 52—PEPPER

Pepper is one of the imported commodities which in the past have often been sharply influenced by speculative price manipulations. It is the most important and widely distributed spice used by the American housewife and by packing industries. The outbreak of hostilities in the Far East on December 7, 1941, gave rise to a sharp increase in speculative activity which caused this Office on December 11, 1941, to issue a temporary price freezing order, limiting prices to those prevailing on December 8, 1941.

In the intervening weeks, this Office has engaged in a thorough study of the economic and trade position of pepper. Due consideration has been given to the prices prevailing during the period October 1 to October 15, 1941, with adjustments for relevant factors. To prevent further price increases and to maintain the stability recently achieved, the Office of Price Administration hereby issues a permanent price schedule for black and white pepper.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1351.101 Maximum prices for pepper. On and after December 11, 1941, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer pepper, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of pepper at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1351.111, except that contracts entered into prior to February 3, 1942, but subsequent to December 11, 1941, may be carried out at prices not higher than the maximum prices contained in Price Schedule No. 52 as effective prior to this amendment No. 1, and that contracts entered into prior to December 11, 1941, may be carried out at the contract prices.• (See § 1351.110)

§ 1351.102 Export sales. The maximum prices for pepper sold for export may exceed the prices set forth in § 1351.111 by no more than ten per cent.•

§ 1351.104 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 52 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.•

§ 1351.106 Records and reports. (a) All sellers and all buyers who have entered into contracts prior to February 3, 1942, for the sale or delivery of pepper, on or after February 3, 1942, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 52, shall report all such contracts to the Office of Price Administration on or before February 25, 1942, stating (1) the name and address of the buyer and seller; (2) the actual date of the contract; (3) each and every delivery date provided for in the contract; and (4) the price, quantity, and description of the product sold.

After the buyer has received the final shipment called for by the contract he shall then report such receipt to the Office of Price Administration within two weeks thereof, certifying that the total amount received did not exceed the quantity specified in the contract.

(b) Every person making purchases or sales of pepper on and after February 3, 1942 shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records thereof, including the name of the purchaser, the date of the contract, the price paid or received, and the type, grade, quality, and amount sold.

(c) Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 52 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.•

§ 1351.108 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 52, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 52, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see that (a) the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 52; (c) full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of State, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 52 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from, those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 52. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of pepper, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.•

§ 1351.109 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 52 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Sales at retail" means sales to the ultimate consumer: Provided, That no grinder, processor, purchaser for resale, or commercial user shall be deemed to be an ultimate consumer.

(c) "Cost of putting pepper into the warehouse" includes (1) "Labor in and out" and (2) warehouse storage charges for not more than thirty days.

(d) "Pepper sold for export" means sales by a domestic seller directly to a foreign buyer and or foreign broker.•

§ 1351.110 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 52. This Schedule (§§ 1351.101 to 1351.108, inclusive) shall become effective on December 11, 1941.

[This Schedule (Preamble and §§ 1351.101 to 1351.111) as renumbered and amended, shall become effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 724]

§ 1351.111 Appendix A: Maximum prices for pepper. (a) The maximum prices shall include all import commissions. The maximum prices shall also include all other charges, except that:

(1) Increases in the charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941 for ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance may be added to the maximum prices only if such charges have been actually incurred by the seller on such sale. Decreases in said charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941 must be subtracted from the maximum prices.

(2) If the services of a broker or brokers are required, a commission or commissions which in the aggregate shall not exceed one percent of the selling price may be added to the maximum price, provided such commissions have been actually paid.

(b) The maximum prices for pepper shall be as follows:

	Cents per pound ex dock New York City
Lampong Black Pepper	6.50
Aleppy Black Pepper	8.50

The maximum prices for pepper imported from any other country or for grades of inferior quality not named shall be determined by applying the customary trade differentials to the above prices.

(c) The maximum prices quoted above are ex dock New York City. The maximum prices ex dock any other port of entry shall be determined by adding to or subtracting from the New York City Price the difference between the actual cost of ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance from the port of origin to New York City and the actual cost of ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance from the port of origin to such other port of entry.

(d) For any pepper sold ex warehouse, rather than ex dock New York City or any other port of entry, the cost of actually "putting the pepper into the warehouse" as defined in § 1351.109 may be added by the seller who incurred the cost.

(e) The delivered price for pepper shall in no case exceed the maximum prices specified above plus actual transportation charges incurred from the dock or warehouse at New York City or other port of entry to the place of destination or to the place of ship loading, if the pepper is intended for export.

(f) Any person making sales of pepper in lots of 100 bags or less may add to the maximum prices specified above an amount which shall not exceed:

5% on sales of 50 to 100 bags
7½% on sales of 25 to 49 bags
10% on sales of 5 to 24 bags
one cent on sales of 1 to 4 bags

(g) The above prices shall be the maximum prices for all transactions except for futures contracts traded on the New York Produce Exchange. PART 1351—FOODS AND FOOD PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 53—FATS AND OILS

The outbreak of war has disrupted trade in certain fats and oils with the result that normal price relationships are disturbed and inflationary price increases threaten to develop. Recent speculative activity has added to the danger of serious inflation and price spiraling and has made it necessary to issue immediately a Schedule establishing maximum prices. The general level of prices prevailing on October 1, 1941, is taken as the basis for the maximum prices established by this Schedule and adjustments upward have been made in order to achieve the normal relationships between fats and oils, and for other relevant factors. Certain fats and oils are covered in other Price Schedules and a few others are not covered.

Should unwarranted price rises occur with respect to these other fats and oils or at stages of distribution not covered by this Schedule, appropriate action will be taken by this office.

(e) The maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 53 for fats and oils shipped into or out of the United States by ocean transportation shall include the charges prevailing on October 1, 1941, for freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance connected with such transportation.

Increases in such charges may be added only if such charges have been actually incurred by the seller on such sale. Decreases in such charges shall be subtracted from the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 53.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 54—DOUGLAS FIR PEELER LOGS

Douglas fir peeler logs are the primary raw material in the manufacture of Douglas fir plywood. An earlier ceiling on peeler logs, incorporated in Price Schedule No. 13 with Douglas fir plywood, was in the form of a schedule establishing as maximum prices the prices prevailing on May 1, 1941. An interim amendment advanced the base date to prices prevailing on August 1, 1941. Subsequent investigation has made it possible to state maximum prices in dollars and cents terms.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1312.201 Maximum prices for Douglas fir peeler logs. On and after December 20, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer Douglas fir peeler logs to manufacturers of plywood, and no manufacturer of plywood shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of Douglas fir peeler logs, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as section 1312.209.*

*§§ 1312.201 to 1312.209, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1312.203 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 54 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of peeler logs, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by a tying agreement or other trade understanding or by making terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on August 1, 1941, or by any other means. If peeler logs are included in any shipment together with logs of other grades at a flat or average price, the percentage of peeler logs and the price therefor shall be separately stated in the invoice. Any attempt to secure a higher price for peeler logs by the device of charging a flat or average price which involves an unusual and excessive price for other grades included in the shipment shall be treated as an evasion of Price Schedule No. 54. If peeler logs are sold "camp run," rather than on grades, the "camp run" price shall not exceed the maximum price for the logs if sold on grades.*

§ 1312.204 Records and reports. Every person who shall sell to a manufacturer of plywood, and every manufacturer of plywood who shall buy, 100,000 ft. log scale or more of Douglas fir peeler logs during any calendar month, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity of peeler logs (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 54 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1312.205 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 54, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 54, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 54; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 54 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 54. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of Douglas fir peeler logs, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1312.206 Modification of Price Schedule No. 54. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 54 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no applications under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 54.*

PART 1330—CONTAINERS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 55—SECOND HAND BAGS

The availability of large quantities of burlap and cotton bags is an important concern of Agriculture and National Defense. Curtailment of the supply of burlap, substantially all of which must be imported from India, is now threatened by the hostilities in the Pacific. The capacity of the cotton textile industry to produce fabrics of the type used for bagging purposes is inadequate to produce sufficient quantities to meet the increased demands of war-time economy, particularly to the extent that cotton bagging may have to be substituted for burlap.

The price of second hand bags has approximately doubled since January 1, 1941. Such increases add to the cost of packaging agricultural and other commodities to an unwarranted extent and cannot serve to augment the supply. Further unjustified price advances are now threatened unless remedial action is taken.

It is contemplated that, after completion of studies now being made by the Office of Price Administration, a revised schedule covering second hand bags may be issued. If the studies so justify, maximum prices lower than those set forth herein may be established.

§ 1330.51 Maximum prices for second hand bags. (a) On and after February 16, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer second hand bags at prices higher than the maximum prices established herein: Provided, That contracts entered into prior to February 16, 1942, at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 55 (§§ 1330.51 to 1330.60, inclusive) prior to that date, may be carried out at the contract price: Provided further, That deliveries under any contracts executed between February 3, 1942, and February 15, 1942, inclusive, must be completed on or before March 30, 1942.

(b) (1) The maximum price shall be the highest price for which the seller sold, contracted to sell, or delivered during the period between October 1 and October 15, 1941, inclusive, second hand bags of the same type, size, weight, grade, and comparable quantity, to a purchaser of the same general class.

(2) If during the period between October 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941, inclusive, no such sale, contract to sell or delivery was made, the maximum price shall be a price in line with the maximum prices for related or similar types, sizes, weights, and grades of second hand bags determined in accordance with subparagraph (1) above, to purchasers of the same general class.

(c) Applications for permission to sell second hand bags at prices higher than the maximum prices determined in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (b) above, may be made by:

(1) Persons who made no sale, contract to sell, or delivery of second hand bags during the period between October 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941, inclusive; or

(2) Persons whose only transactions during the period between October 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941, were deliveries made pursuant to contracts entered into prior to October 1, 1941 at prices substantially below the market prices prevailing during said period:

Provided, That no such application shall be considered unless it contains a sworn statement setting forth:

(i) the facts upon which relief is sought;

(ii) a full description of each type, size, weight and grade of second hand bag which the applicant desires to sell;

(iii) a full statement of the relief sought; and

(iv) if such application is filed pursuant to subparagraph (2) above, a statement of the price or prices at which each such type, size, weight, and grade of second hand bags were last sold or delivered, prior to October 15, 1941, and the dates of such sales or deliveries.*

[§ 1330.51 as amended February 3, 1942, effective February 3, 1942; 7 F.R. 755]

§ 1330.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 55 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1330.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 55 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of second hand bags, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any premium, commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by a tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on December 6, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1330.54 Filing of prices. On or before March 10, 1942, every person who, during any single calendar month of 1941, sold more than one thousand second hand bags shall file with the Office of Price Administration, a list of all sales, contracts to sell, and deliveries made during the period between October 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941, inclusive, showing with respect to each sale, contract to sell, or delivery (a) the date thereof; (b) the name and address of the purchaser; (c) the quantity of each type, size, weight, and grade of second hand bags sold, contracted to sell, or delivered; and (d) the price contracted for or received for each type, size, weight and grade of second hand bag.*

§ 1330.55 Records and reports. Every person making sales of second hand bags after December 16, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records (a) of each such sale in aggregate lots of 100 bags or more, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the price contracted for or received, and the quantity of each type, size, weight and grade of second hand bags sold; and (b) the quantity of each type, size, weight, and grade of second hand bags (1) on hand and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 55 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1330.56 Affirmations of compliance. On or before the 10th day of January, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has sold more than one thousand second hand bags, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an Affirmation of Compliance on Form 155:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 55 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 155:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit Affirmations of Compliance hereunder.*

§ 1330.57 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 55, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 55, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 55; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 55, which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 55. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of second hand bags, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1330.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 55. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 55 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 55.*

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 56—RECLAIMED RUBBER

The continuity of imports of crude rubber from the Far East is seriously threatened as a result of the outbreak of war with Japan. It has therefore become necessary to restrict consumption of crude rubber to a filling of military and essential civilian needs. This restriction upon the processing of crude rubber is expected to cause a marked increase in the use of all materials that serve as substitutes for crude rubber. The demand for reclaimed rubber, in particular, may be expected to expand sharply, thereby producing strong upward pressure upon its price. The Office of Price Administration has determined after investigation and after conference with members of the industry that an increase in prices above the present levels will not increase the supply of reclaimed rubber.

It is of vital importance to the nation's war effort that the process of substitution of reclaimed rubber for crude rubber should be facilitated in every possible manner by holding the cost of such substitution to a minimum. Consequently, the present emergency demands that maximum prices for reclaimed rubber be established.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1315.51 Maximum prices for reclaimed rubber. (a) On or after December 20, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, reclaimed rubber, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of reclaimed rubber, at prices higher than the maximum price.

(b) (1) The maximum price shall be the highest price received by the seller for a sale during the period between November 5, 1941 and December 5, 1941, of reclaimed rubber of the same grade and quality, and of a comparable amount, to the same purchaser.

(2) If no such sale to the same purchaser was made, the maximum price shall be the highest price received by the seller for a sale during such period, of reclaimed rubber of the same grade and quality, and of a comparable amount, to a purchaser previously accorded similar treatment by the particular seller or recognized by the trade as entitled to similar treatment.

(3) If, for any grade and quality of reclaimed rubber, no sale was made during the period between November 5, 1941, and December 5, 1941, either to the same purchaser or to a purchaser so entitled to similar treatment, the maximum price for that grade and quality shall be a price which bears the same relationship to prices actually received by the seller during such period for other grades and qualities, as the price of that particular grade and quality normally bears to prices of such other grades and qualities.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) above, the maximum price for red tube reclaimed rubber shall be as follows:

(1) Delivered to purchaser's plant in carload lots—12 cents per pound;

(2) Delivered to purchaser's plant in less than carload lots—12¼ cents per pound.*

[Paragraph (c) added by amendment January 30, 1942, effective February 5, 1942; 7 F.R. 657]

§ 1315.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1315.51 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1315.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 56 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of reclaimed rubber, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making discounts or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on December 5, 1941, or by any other means: Provided, That nothing contained herein shall be construed to require the offering of any cash discount or to prevent the making of sales on a net basis.*

[§ 1315.53 as amended January 30, 1942, effective February 5, 1942; 7 F.R. 657]

§ 1315.54 Filing of prices. On or before January 15, 1942, every person who sells reclaimed rubber shall file with the Office of Price Administration:

(a) Any printed price lists or quoted prices, including a complete statement of all terms and discounts, that were in effect during the period between November 5, 1941 and December 5, 1941.

(b) Prices which he received from each of his purchasers for each of his grades and qualities of reclaimed rubber on all sales made during the period between November 5, 1941 and December 5, 1941.*

§ 1315.55 Records and reports. Every person making sales or purchases of reclaimed rubber after December 20, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each grade and quality of reclaimed rubber purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity of each grade and quality of reclaimed rubber (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 56 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time require.*

§ 1315.56 Affirmations of compliance. On or before January 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person, who, during the preceding calendar month has sold reclaimed rubber, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 156:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 56 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 156:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or provided that no change is made in the style and content of the form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1315.57 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 56, or in the event of evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 56, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government both state and federal are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 56; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 56 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits, and (d) that the Rubber Reserve Company and the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 56. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1315.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 56. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 56 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 56.*

§ 1315.59 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 56, the term:

PART 1352—FLOOR COVERINGS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 57—WOOL FLOOR COVERINGS

Wool floor coverings are an important item of household furnishings. Between August 1939 and May 1941 prices advanced 23.2% on a weighted average basis. The increase on one popular-priced item amounted to 33% in that period. In June 1941, the Office of Price Administration wrote the manufacturers of wool floor coverings requesting that they not increase prices on their lines to be marketed in the fall. Subsequently, individual voluntary agreements were reached with practically all members of the industry under which they agreed not to increase their prices prevailing on October 13 prior to December 15.

The outbreak of hostilities in the Far East, which is the source of all jute and much wool, the two principal raw materials, has a critical impact on the industry. Trade journal articles, and conferences with industry members, clearly indicate that price increases are planned. Efforts to obtain an extension of the individual voluntary agreements which expire on December 15 have been unsuccessful. In addition, requests by this Office to industry members on November 15 to submit detailed cost and profit data have elicted only a few replies. The cost study will continue. Meanwhile, effective measures must be taken to forestall further increases which may result in unwarranted prices. In order to prevent evasion of Price Schedule No. 57, changes in specifications are restricted.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1352.1 Maximum prices for wool floor coverings. On and after January 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract or sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any unit or wool floor covering at a price higher than the maximum price.

(a) (1) The maximum price for any unit of wool floor covering, in his price list in effect on October 13, 1941, or for any unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern, shall be 105% of the price quoted therein for such unit to the same person or to a person in the same general class, except as set forth in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (a).

(2) In the case of Karastan Rug Mills and Artloom Corporation, the maximum prices for the units of wool floor coverings listed below shall be the prices in effect on February 2, 1942:

Karastan Rug Mills—Karastan, Kara Louvre, and Karashah.

Artloom Corporation—Santoy, Kasharouk, and Home Pride.

(b) The maximum price for any unit of wool floor covering, not in his price list in effect on October 13, 1941, but sold (or contracted to be sold) by him during the period January 1–October 13, 1941, inclusive, or for any unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern, shall be 105% of the highest net price, f. o. b. manufacturer's point of shipment at which such unit was sold (or contracted to be sold) by him during such period to the same person or to a person in the same general class, or, if there is no such person, to any person.

(c) (1) The maximum price for any unit of wool floor covering differing in specifications (except for such changes in specifications as are authorized in § 1352.4) from any unit referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, shall be the price approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration after submission of a report to it by the manufacturer in accordance with § 1352.7 (c); and no sale, offer to sell, delivery, or transfer of such unit shall be made until such approval shall have been given.

(2) Approved prices. The maximum prices for the units of wool floor coverings listed below of the designated manufacturers shall be the prices in effect on February 2, 1942:

§ 1352.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established in § 1352.1 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1352.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 57 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the manufacture of wool floor coverings by deterioration of quality or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of wool floor coverings, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any service, transportation, or other charge, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making rebates, discounts or other terms and conditions of sale less favorable to the purchaser than those available or in effect on October 13, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1352.4 Change in specifications. On and after December 16, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any unit of wool floor covering, differing in specifications from:

Provided, That (1) changes may be made in yarn specifications which do not reduce quality, and which, in addition, in the case of pile yarn, do not vary the percentages of wool and each of the other component materials; and (2) other changes may be made in specifications with the permission of the Office of Price Administration upon the submission to it by the manufacturer of satisfactory evidence (i) that the material previously used is unavailable or cannot be procured except (a) at prohibitive cost, or (b) in violation of any priority or allocation order or any regulation of a federal agency; and (ii) that the material substituted is one calculated to preserve quality.*

§ 1352.5 Change in color or pattern. Changes in color or pattern, or both, of any unit of wool floor covering may be made.*

§ 1352.6 Records. Every manufacturer making sales of wool floor coverings on or after December 16, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the name, number or other designation of each unit, the price received for each unit, and the quantity sold.*

(c) Other units. The proposed price and the specifications of every unit of wool floor covering whose maximum price is determined by § 1352.1 (c) shall be reported by the manufacturer on Form 157: 3 to the Office of Price Administration at least ten days prior to his commencing the actual weaving of such unit, and at least twenty days prior to the date on which he first offers such unit for sale. Where, because of the effective date of Price Schedule No. 57, the report cannot be made within the prescribed time, it shall be made at the earliest possible date.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 57 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

PART 1354—WOOL AND WOOL PRODUCERS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 58—WOOL AND WOOL TOPS AND YARNS

The declaration by the Congress of the United States that a state of war exists between this country and the Axis nations makes it imperative that immediate steps be taken to protect the civilian population against increases in the cost of clothing and other primary requirements. Hostilities in the Pacific have raised the possibility of interference with the free flow of wool from foreign countries. At the same time there is every likelihood of an increase in the wool requirements of the armed forces of the United States. This combination of circumstances would, unless forestalled, result in a bidding up of the prices of raw wool, wool tops, yarns, waste, and wool by-products and substantially increase the cost of living of the civilian customer. As a measure of public interest it becomes necessary to establish maximum prices for such materials.

It is contemplated that, after completion of studies now being made by the Office of Price Administration, revised schedules covering wool and wool products will be issued. If the studies so justify, maximum prices lower than those set forth herein may be established.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1354.1 Maximum prices for wool and wool tops and yarns. (a) On and after February 2, 1942, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer wool or wool tops or yarns at prices higher than the maximum prices established herein: Provided, That contracts entered into prior to December 18, 1941, calling for a price higher than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price.

(b) (1) The maximum price for domestic shorn wool shall be the market price prevailing on October 1, 1941, or on December 15, 1941, for the same class, kind, type, condition and grade of domestic shorn wool: Provided, That, if there were no such market price, the maximum price shall be the highest price contracted for or received by the seller for the sale or delivery during the period between October 1, 1941 and December 15, 1941, inclusive, of domestic shorn wool of the same class, kind, type, condition and grade, to a purchaser of the same general class. If during said period no such sale or delivery were made, the maximum price shall be a price in line with the maximum prices for related kinds, types, conditions and grades, determined in accordance with this subparagraph (b) (1), to a purchaser of the same general class.

(2) The maximum price for wool, other than domestic shorn wool, and wool tops and yarns shall be the highest price contracted for or received by the seller for the sale or delivery during the period between October 1, 1941 and December 15, 1941, inclusive, of such wool or wool tops or yarns of the same class, kind, type, condition, and grade to a purchaser of the same general class: Provided, That if during said period no such sale or delivery were made, the maximum price shall be a price in line with the maximum prices for related kinds, types, conditions, and grades of such wool or wool tops or yarns, determined in accordance with this subparagraph (b) (2), to a purchaser of the same general class.

(3) The maximum price for wool sold by the importer thereof shall be increased or decreased by an amount equal to the actual increase or decrease in war risk insurance rates and freight rates over those prevailing for wool of the same class, kind, type, condition and grade during said period: Provided, That in all cases where the price is so increased, the invoice or similar document delivered to the purchaser shall show the amount of such increase.

(c) The maximum prices determined in accordance with paragraph (b) above shall be the maximum prices for all transactions except for grease wool and wool tops futures contracts traded on the Wool Associates of the New York Cotton Exchange, Inc. For such contracts, the maximum prices shall be the highest prices on said Exchange during the period between October 1, 1941 and December 15, 1941, inclusive: Provided, That contracts entered into on said Exchange prior to December 18, 1941, calling for a price higher than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price. Such maximum prices are as follows:

	Cents
Wool Top Futures	132.7
Grease Wool Futures	103.5

(d) Sales at retail are excepted from the operation of this Schedule.

(e) On and after January 17, 1942, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) above, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer wools or wool tops or yarns of the types and grades enumerated in Appendices A, B, C and D hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1354.10 to 1354.13, inclusive, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery or transfer of such wools or wool tops or yarns at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A, B, C, and D: Provided, That contracts entered into prior to December 18, 1941, calling for a price higher than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price.

[§ 1354.1 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 725]

§ 1354.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 58 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1354.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 58 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of wool or wool tops or yarns, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any premium, commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by a tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on December 6, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1354.4 Records and reports. Every person making sales of wool or wool tops or yarns after December 17, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the price contracted for or received, and the quantity of each class, kind, type, condition and grade of wool or wool tops or yarns sold. Every such person shall also on or before February 10, 1942, have available for the Office of Price Administration a record of his prices for all sales and deliveries of wool and wool tops and yarns during the period from October 1, 1941, to December 15, 1941.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 58 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.

§ 1354.5 Affirmations of compliance. On or before January 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month has sold wool or wool tops or yarns, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 158:1 containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 58 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 158:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1354.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 58, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 58, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 58; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 58 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 58. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of wool or wool tops or yarns, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1354.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 58. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 58 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 58.*

PART 1353—VEGETABLE FIBERS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 59—KAPOK

The supply of kapok, used principally for life-saving devices, sleeping bags, mattresses, cushions, upholstery, and sound and thermal insulation, is obtained primarily from the Netherlands East Indies. The uncertainty of further shipments, occasioned by the hostilities in the Far East, may be expected to result in curtailment of the supply, which is already inadequate to meet normal civilian needs for any extended period of time.

Prices of kapok have risen appreciably since December 6, 1941, and a further rise may be expected unless remedial action is taken. Such price increases cannot serve to increase the supply.

It is contemplated that, after completion of studies now being made by the Office of Price Administration, a revised schedule covering various grades of kapok will be issued. If the studies so justify, maximum prices lower than those set forth herein may be established.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 60—DIRECT-CONSUMPTION SUGARS

Since August 14, 1941, the Office of Price Administration has had in effect a price schedule on raw cane sugars. Until recently this ceiling price has been an effective control on prices in the later stages of the processing and distribution of sugar. With conditions created by the outbreak of war, the prices charged by certain primary distributors and wholesalers have increased sharply in spite of the fact that the price of raw cane sugar has remained constant. To permit the continuation of this situation would be to countenance speculative profits at the expense of the American public. As an emergency measure to correct this situation the Office of Price Administration issues Price Schedule No. 60 to control the maximum prices at which refined and other direct-consumption sugars may be sold to the wholesale and retail outlets. The maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 60 are set at the levels prevailing just before the recent advent of war and the subsequent unwarranted increases of prices of direct-consumption sugar.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1334.51 Maximum prices for sales of direct-consumption sugars by primary distributors. On and after January 9, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no primary distributor shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer direct-consumption sugars at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this section. These maximum prices are gross prices and shall include prevailing commissions, discounts, and all other charges.

(a) (1) The maximum basis price for fine granulated sugar processed by continental United States cane sugar refineries shall be $5.45 per one hundred pounds f. o. b. refinery.

(2) The maximum basis price for fine granulated beet sugar manufactured in the continental United States shall be $5.35 per one hundred pounds f. o. b. United States seaboard cane sugar refinery nearest freightwise to point of delivery.

(3) (i) The maximum basis price for fine granulated sugar delivered to the continental United States from offshore areas shall be $5.40 per one hundred pounds duty-paid basis, f. o. b. United States seaboard cane sugar refinery nearest freightwise to point of delivery.

(ii) The maximum price for turbinado, washed-white, or similar sugar for direct consumption delivered to the continental United States from offshore areas shall be $5.20 per one hundred pounds duty-paid basis f. o. b. United States seaboard cane sugar refinery nearest freightwise to point of delivery.

(4) The maximum basis price for direct-consumption sugars other than those sugars provided for in subparagraphs (a) (1), (a) (2), (a) (3), and (b) (1) of this section, processed from United States mainland sugar cane, including but not limited to turbinado, plantation white and high-washed sugars, shall be $5.35 per one hundred pounds f. o. b. United States seaboard cane sugar refinery nearest freightwise to point of delivery.

(5) The respective maximum basis prices established in subparagraphs (a) (1), (a) (2), (a) (3) (i), and (a) (4), of this section shall each be adjusted for grade and package differentials in accordance with the seller's differential therefor published or in effect on December 1, 1941.

(6) The maximum delivered price for each of the sugars provided for in subparagraphs (a) (1), (a) (2), (a) (3), and (a) (4) of this section, respectively, shall be determined by adding to the respective maximum basis f. o. b. prices, as adjusted for grades and packages, the transportation charges per one hundred pounds on a shipment of identical quantity from the refinery from which the lowest established transportation rate applies to the point of delivery. Such transportation rate shall be based on the mode of transportation and routing employed by the basing point refinery on December 1, 1941, in calculating the "freight application" or "selling prepay" to the point of delivery; provided, for deliveries in a refinery city metropolitan area, the maximum delivered price shall be determined by adding to the respective maximum basis f. o. b. prices, as adjusted for grades and packages, the delivery charge per one hundred pounds on an identical shipment based on the cartage rates employed by the seller on December 1, 1941.

(b) (1) The maximum price for direct-consumption raw cane sugar of 96 degrees, polarization, of domestic or foreign origin, shall be $4.60 per one hundred pounds United States mainland shipping point, including all taxes and duty.

(2) The maximum prices specified in subparagraph (b) (1) of this section, shall be adjusted by making allowances per pound for each degree of polarization above or below 96 degrees (fractions of a degree in proportion) in accordance with the method customarily used prior to the effective date of Price Schedule No. 60.*

§ 1334.52 Maximum prices for sales of direct-consumption sugars at wholesale by persons other than primary distributors. On and after January 9, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer direct-consumption sugars at wholesale, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of direct-consumption sugars at wholesale at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this section. These maximum prices are gross prices and include prevailing commissions, discounts, and all other charges.

(a) The basic maximum price shall be the highest price at which the seller sold such sugars of similar grade, package, and amount to a similar purchaser during either the period October 6, 1941 to October 11, 1941, inclusive, or the period December 1, 1941, to December 6, 1941, inclusive. The seller may select either period at his option. However, once having selected a period, the seller must use the period selected for all purposes of this section. The maximum price for sugars acquired subsequently at a higher net purchase cost shall be determined by adding to the basic maximum price the amount, if any, by which the said higher net purchase cost exceeds the net purchase cost of the sugars upon which the basic maximum price was based, provided the seller has first sold his entire inventory of lower cost sugars, and provided further, in calculating said maximum prices, the amount by which any net purchase cost exceeds the maximum prices established by § 1334.51 shall not be included.

(b) These maximum prices shall include at least the same absorption of transportation costs, and other charges, and at least the same rendition of services, as were or would have been observed or rendered by the seller on comparable shipments to the same place of destination during the period selected by the seller as provided for in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) In cases where a person makes sales of such sugars through more than one selling unit, other than salesmen making sales at uniform prices, each such unit shall be deemed to be a separate entity for the purpose of determining the maximum prices established by this section.*

[§ 1334.52 as amended January 9, 1942, effective January 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 225]

§ 1334.54. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established in Price Schedule No. 60 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1334.55 Evasion. The price limitations established by Price Schedule No. 60 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of direct-consumption sugars alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or material or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or by a tying-agreement or other trade understanding or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on December 1, 1941, for purchasers from primary distributors or during the period selected by the seller as provided for in paragraph (a) of § 1334.52, or by any other means.*

[§ 1334.55 as amended January 9, 1942, effective January 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 225]

§ 1334.56 Records and reports. Every person making sales of direct-consumption sugars after December 22, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of every sale including the date thereof, the name of the purchaser, the price paid, the grade, package and amount sold, and the date of shipment.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 60 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1334.57 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 60, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 60, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 60; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 60 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government, both State and Federal, are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 60. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of direct-consumption sugars, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1334.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 60. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 60 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modifications thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no applications under this Section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 60.*

(c) "Primary distributor" means any person who manufactures direct-consumption sugars or the agent of any such person, or any person who delivers to the continental United States from offshore areas or any person who takes such delivery or the agent of any such person who makes or takes such delivery. PART 1314—RAW MATERIALS FOR SHOES AND LEATHER PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 61—LEATHER

The declaration by the Congress of the United States that a state of war exists between this country and the Axis nations makes it imperative that immediate steps be taken to protect the civilian population against increases in the cost of shoes and other leather products. Hostilities in the Pacific have raised the possibility of decreased supplies of imported hides and skins. At the same time there is every likelihood of an increase in the leather requirements of the armed forces of the United States and of an increase in the quantities of leather and of leather raw materials to be furnished to those who are now our allies. This combination of circumstances, unless forestalled, would result in a bidding up of the prices of leather and leather products, which in time would substantially increase the cost of living of the civilian consumer, and at the same time increase the direct cost of the war effort. As a measure of public interest it becomes necessary to establish maximum prices for leather .

It is contemplated that, after completion of studies now being made by the Office of Price Administration, a revised schedule covering leather will be issued. If the studies so justify, maximum prices lower than those set forth herein may be established.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1314.51 Maximum prices for leather. (a) On and after December 29, 1941, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer leather at prices higher than the maximum prices established herein; except that contracts entered into prior to December 29, 1941, calling for a price higher than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price.

(b) (1) The maximum price shall be the highest price contracted for or received by the seller for the sale or delivery during the period between November 6, 1941 and December 6, 1941, inclusive, of leather of the same type, quality and grade to a purchaser of the same general class.

(2) If during said period no such sale or delivery was made, the maximum price shall be a price in line with the maximum prices for related types, qualities and grades of leather determined in accordance with subparagraph (1) above, to purchasers of the same general class.

(3) No seller of leather shall increase the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 61 by requiring a purchaser to pay transportation or other charges in connection with a sale or delivery of leather which such purchaser would not have borne during said period.

§ 1314.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by Price Schedule No. 61 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1314.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 61 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of leather, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any premium, commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on December 6, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1314.54 Records. Every person making sales of leather after December 29, 1941, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the price contracted for or received, and the quantity of each type, quality and grade of leather sold. Every such person shall also on or before January 10, 1942, have available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration a record of his prices for all sales and deliveries of leather during the period between November 6, 1941 to December 6, 1941.*

§ 1314.55 Reports. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 61 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1314.56 Affirmations of compliance. On or before January 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month has sold leather, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 161:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 61 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 161:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1314.57 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 61, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 61, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 61; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 61, which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 61. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of leather, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1314.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 61. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 61 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 61.*

§ 1314.59 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 61, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Leather" means the tanned or processed skins, other than dressed furs, of animals of all types; the term includes shearlings and is applicable to all types, qualities and grades of leather, whether whole pieces or cut stock;

(c) "Sales at retail" means sales to the ultimate consumer: Provided, That no manufacturer, processor, purchaser for resale or commercial user shall be deemed to be an ultimate consumer.*

PART 1358—TOBACCOS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 62—CIGARETTES

The Office of Price Administration is charged with maintaining price stability and preventing unwarranted price increases. On December 27, 1941, the American Tobacco Company announced a substantial price increase on Lucky Strike cigarettes. Officials of the company were asked by the Office of Price Administration to rescind the increase pending investigation of factors justifying the price advance. This the company refused to do, unless formally required to do so by the Office of Price Administration. Therefore, pending full investigation, the Office of Price Administration hereby limits the price of all brands of cigarettes sold by manufacturers thereof to those levels prevailing on Friday, December 26, 1941. After completion of the studies under way, further action will be taken.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1358.1 Maximum prices for cigarettes. On and after December 30, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person manufacturing cigarettes shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any brand of cigarettes at prices higher than those charged for such brand by said person for a similar quantity to a similar purchaser on December 26, 1941, or, in the event no sale was made on said date, at prices higher than the prices he would have charged on said date for a similar quantity to a similar purchaser; except, that any manufacturer of regular size economy cigarettes may sell such cigarettes at a price not higher than $5.15 per thousand less 10 percent and 2 percent.*

*§§ 1358.1 to 1358.9, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E. O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1358.2 Less than maximum prices: Lower prices than those charged on December 26, 1941, may be charged by any person manufacturing cigarettes.*

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 63—RETAIL PRICES FOR NEW RUBBER TIRES AND TUBES

The outbreak of war with the Japanese Empire makes uncertain the future shipment of rubber from the Far East and necessitates for the present time a great curtailment in the consumption of rubber for new rubber tires and tubes so that the rubber stockpile already accumulated may be available for military and essential civilian purposes. There are large stocks of new rubber tires and tubes in the hands of retailers, and sales from these stocks are permitted only to those consumers who can demonstrate that it is in the national interest for them to have such new tires or tubes.

Since July 3, 1941, the Office of Price Administration with the complete cooperation of the members of the tire and tube industry has stabilized, within maximum levels, the wholesale prices received by manufacturers for new rubber tires and tubes. Stabilization of retail prices is now considered essential to the success of the Government's effort to insure that the limited number of new rubber tires and tubes available are used where they are most needed in our economy.

The maximum retail prices set forth in Price Schedule No. 63 are established, after investigation and conferences with members of both the manufacturing and distributive phases of the industry, on the basis of price lists presently used by the industry and which were so used shortly before the outbreak of the war in the Pacific. Observance of Price Schedule No. 63 will be fair to buyers and to sellers alike, and will further the Government's program for the allocation of rubber tires and tubes to consumers.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1315.101 Maximum retail prices for new rubber tires and tubes. On and after January 5, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, at retail, any new rubber tire or tube, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B, hereof, incorporated herein as § 1315.110 and § 1315.111.*

*§§ 1315.101 to 1315.111, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1315.102 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A and B (§ 1315.110 and § 1315.111) may be charged or demanded.*

§ 1315.103 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 63 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, delivery, or transfer of a new rubber tire or tube, alone or in conjunction with any other article or material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by increasing the charges for the extension of credit or for the mounting of a tire or tube on a vehicle or for any other service over those in effect on November 25, 1941, or by making terms and conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than those available or in effect on November 25, 1941, or by any other means. The purchaser shall always have the option of paying at the time of the purchase the full cash price of the tire or tube, which shall not exceed the maximum price less any trade-in allowance. He shall also have the option of receiving delivery of such tire or tube at the seller's place of business, without having it mounted on a vehicle or having any other service performed.*

§ 1315.104 Posting of prices. Every person engaged in the business of selling new rubber tires or tubes at retail, shall keep posted in a conspicuous place in each retail establishment at which such tires or tubes are offered for sale, a price list setting forth the maximum retail prices applicable to such tires or tubes. Such statement shall be prepared and posted not later than 8:00 a. m. on January 5, 1942. Lists of maximum prices computed under the terms of Price Schedule No. 63 and prepared by manufacturers of manufacturers' brands and by owners of private brands, may be used for this purpose if received by the seller in time.

If on November 25, 1941 the seller made special charges for the extension of credit or for the mounting of tires and tubes or for any other services, and if he desires to continue such charges after January 5, 1942, such seller shall prepare a notarized statement listing the prices charged on November 25, 1941 for such extra services, and shall post such statement not later than 8:00 a. m. on January 5, 1942 along with the list of maximum tire and tube prices required to be posted by this section.*

§ 1315.105 Records and reports. Every person engaged in the business of selling new rubber tires or tubes at retail shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of every such sale of such articles, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the purchaser, the price, and the brand name, size, and quantity of all new rubber tires or tubes sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 63 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1315.106 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, posting or record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 63, or in the event of evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 63, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government both state and federal are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 63; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county and local government by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 63 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits, and (d) that the Rubber Reserve Company and the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 63. Persons who have evidence of the receipt or demand of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1315.107 Modification of Price Schedule No. 63. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 63 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 63.*

§ 1315.108 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 63, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Sale at retail" means any sale to a purchaser for use by such purchaser and not for resale;

(c) "New rubber tire or tube" means any of the new rubber tires or tubes expressly covered by Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1315.110;

(d) "Manufacturers' brands" of new rubber tires or tubes means all tires or tubes marketed under brand names owned by the manufacturer of such tires or tubes;

(e) "Private brands" of new rubber tires or tubes means all tires or tubes marketed under brand names not owned by the manufacturer of such tires or tubes.*

§ 1315.109 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 63. This Schedule (§§ 1315.101 to 1315.111, inclusive) shall become effective on January 5, 1942.*

§ 1315.110 Appendix A: Maximum retail prices for manufacturers' brands of new rubber tires and tubes. The following prices are the maximum prices that may be charged at retail for new rubber tires or tubes at the seller's place of business. The maximum prices set forth herein may not be exceeded for any such sale, even though in a particular case no used tire or tube is traded in. If a used tire or tube is traded in, the trade-in allowance shall be deducted from the maximum price.

The actual dollar amount of the Federal Excise Tax paid on any tire or tube may in each case be added to the maximum price established by Price Schedule No. 63.

(f) The maximum retail prices for all sizes not included in paragraph (a) shall be calculated for manufacturers' brands of passenger-car tires (4 ply) included in paragraph (b) as follows:

(1) Take the manufacturer's consumer list price in effect November 25 1941 for the unlisted size of tire and express it as a percentage of the manufacturer's consumer list price of the same date for the 6.00—16 passenger-car tire included in paragraph (b).

(2) Apply this percentage to the maximum price for the 6.00—16 (4 ply) passenger-car tire as shown in paragraph (a).

Example. On a November 25, 1941 consumer list for one of the brands of passenger-car tires shown in paragraph (b), the 6.00—16 tire was listed at $15.00. On the same date an odd sized tire was listed at $18.00. Dividing the 18 by the 15, it appears that the odd sized tire was listed at 120 percent of the 6.00—16 size tire. Since the 6.00—16 tire is now not to sell in excess of $14.75, the odd sized tire may not sell in excess of 120 per cent of $14.75, or $17.70.

(g) The maximum retail prices for all sizes not included in paragraph (a) shall be calculated for manufacturers' brands of truck tires (10 ply) included in paragraph (b) as indicated in paragraph (f), except that the 8.25—20 truck-tire shall replace the 6.00—16 passenger-car tire in making the calculations.

(h) The maximum retail prices for all sizes not included in paragraph (c) shall be calculated for manufacturer's brands of passenger-car and truck tubes included in paragraph (d) as indicated in paragraph (f), using the appropriate price for the 6.00—16 size tube in all calculations for passenger-car tubes and the appropriate price for the 8.25—20 size tube for truck tubes. The same calculations shall be made for all sizes not specified in paragraph (e) of the brands included in that paragraph.

(i) The maximum retail prices for all other lines, levels, qualities, or weights of passenger-car and truck tires and tubes sold under manufacturers' brands of the manufacturers listed in paragraphs (b), (d), and (e) for which maximum retail prices are not specifically fixed by Price Schedule No. 63 shall be calculated as follows:

(1) Take the manufacturer's consumer list price in effect November 25, 1941 for the particular brand, line, level, quality, or weight of tire or tube for which no maximum price is specifically fixed by Price Schedule No. 63 and express it as a percentage of the manufacturer's consumer list price of the same date for the corresponding size of the brand of this manufacturer for which a maximum price is specifically fixed by Price Schedule No. 63.

(2) Apply this percentage to the maximum price, for the corresponding size, set forth in paragraph (a), for tires, and paragraphs (c) and (e), for tubes.

Example. On a November 25, 1941 manufacturer's consumer list for one of the brands of passenger-car tires shown in paragraph (b), the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) was listed at $16.00. On the same date the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) of a lower quality brand of the same manufacturer had a list price of $12.00. Dividing the 12 by the 16, it appears that the lower quality brand was listed at 75 percent of the price of the brand listed in paragraph (b). Since the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) of the brand listed in paragraph (b) is now to sell not in excess of $14.75, the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) of the lower quality brand may not sell in excess of 75 percent of $14.75 or $11.05.

(3) If for any particular size of a brand, line, level, quality or weight of tire or tube for which no maximum price is specifically fixed herein, there is no corresponding size on the consumer list price in effect November 25, 1941 for the brand of this manufacturer for which a maximum price is specifically fixed herein, the maximum price for such size of such brand for which no maximum price is specifically fixed shall be determined by using the 6:00 x 16 size in the calculations called for in subparagraphs (1) and (2) above, and maintaining the same relationship between such other size and the 6:00 x 16 size of the brand for which no maximum price is specifically fixed as existed between such sizes on the November 25, 1941 consumer list price for such brand.

[Subparagraph (3) added by amendment January 31, 1942, effective February 5, 1942; 7 F.R. 657]

(j) The maximum retail prices for manufacturers' brands of passenger-car tires other than 4 ply and truck tires other than 10 ply shall be calculated to maintain the relationship expressed in paragraph (i) above.

(k) For manufacturers who do not have a consumer list, the calculations of the percentages called for in paragraphs (f), (g), (h), (i), and (j), shall be made on the basis of the manufacturer's selling price list.

(l) The maximum retail prices for manufacturers' brands of passenger-car and truck tires and tubes owned by manufacturers not listed in paragraphs (b), (d), and (e) shall be those given in paragraph (a) for tires and paragraph (c) for tubes.

(m) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Schedule (§§ 1315.101-1315.111), the maximum retail prices for all brands of passenger car tires owned by the following manufacturers, shall be as follows:

(1) The Armstrong Rubber Company: Maximum prices for the "Streamline" brand of passenger car tires for all sizes listed in paragraph (a) shall be the prices listed in paragraph (a), with other sizes determined according to the method set forth in paragraph (f). Maximum prices for the 6:00 x 16, (4 ply) "Air Coaster" and "Standard" brands of passenger-car tires shall be $12.90 and $10.05 respectively. Other sizes and plies of these brands shall remain in the same percentage relationship to these prices as they bore on the Armstrong Rubber Company's Consumer Price List in effect on November 25, 1941:

[Paragraph (m) added by amendment January 31, 1942, effective February 5, 1942; 7 F.R. 657]

§ 1315.111 Appendix B: Maximum retail prices for private brands of new rubber tires and tubes. The following prices are the maximum prices that may be charged at retail for new rubber tires or tubes at the seller's place of business. The maximum prices set forth herein may not be exceeded for any such sale, even though in a particular case no used tire or tube is traded in. If a used tire or tube is traded in, the trade-in allowance shall be deducted from the maximum price.

The actual dollar amount of the Federal Excise Tax paid on any tire or tube may in each case be added to the maximum price established by Price Schedule No. 63.

(f) The maximum retail prices for all sizes not included in paragraph (a) shall be calculated for the private brands of passenger-car tires (4-ply) included in paragraph (b) as follows:

(1) Take the consumer list price in effect November 25, 1941, for the unlisted size of tire and express it as a percentage of the consumer list price of the same date for the 6.00—16 passenger-car tire included in paragraph (b).

(2) Apply this percentage to the maximum price for the 6.00—16 (4-ply) passenger-car tire as shown in paragraph (a).

Example: On a November 25, 1941, consumer list for one of the brands of passenger-car tires shown in paragraph (b) the 6.00—16 tire was listed at $12.00. On the same date an odd-sized tire was listed at $14.40. Dividing the 14.40 by the 12, it appears that the odd-sized tire was listed at 120 per cent of the 6.00—16 size tire. Since this 6.00—16 tire is now not to sell in excess of $13.25, the odd size may not sell in excess of 120 percent of $13.25 or $15.90.

(g) The maximum retail prices for all sizes not included in paragraph (a) shall be calculated for private brands of truck tires (10 ply) included in paragraph (b), as indicated in paragraph (f) except that the 8.25—20 truck tire shall replace the 6.00—16 passenger-car tire in making the calculation.

(h) The maximum retail prices for all sizes not included in paragraph (c) shall be calculated for private brands of passenger-car and truck tubes included in paragraph (d) as indicated in paragraph (f), using the appropriate price for the 6.00—16 size tube in all calculations for passenger-car tubes and the appropriate price for the 8.25—20 size tube for truck tubes. The same calculations shall be made for all sizes not specified in paragraph (e) of the brands included in that paragraph.

(i) The maximum retail prices for all other lines, levels, qualities or weights of passenger-car and truck tires and tubes sold under private brands by the distributors listed in paragraphs (b), (d), and (e) for which maximum retail prices are not specifically fixed by Price Schedule No. 63 shall be calculated as follows:

(1) Take the consumer list price in effect November 25, 1941, for the particular brand, line, level, quality or weight of tire or tube for which no maximum price is specifically fixed by Price Schedule No. 63 and express it as a percentage of the consumer list price of the same date for the corresponding size of the brand of this distributor for which a maximum price is specifically fixed by Price Schedule No. 63.

(2) Apply this percentage to the maximum price, for the corresponding size, set forth in paragraph (a), for tires, and paragraphs (c) and (e), for tubes.

Example: On a November 25, 1941, consumer list for one of the brands of passenger-car tires shown in paragraph (b), the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) was listed at $14.00. On the same date the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) of a lower quality private brand tire handled by the same distributor had a list price of $11.20. Dividing the 11.20 by the 14, it appears that the lower quality brand was listed at 80 percent of the price of the brand listed in paragraph (b). Since the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) of the brand listed in paragraph (b) is now not to sell in excess of $13.25, the 6.00—16 size (4 ply) of the lower quality brand may not sell in excess of 80 percent of $13.25 or $10.40.

(3) If for any particular size of a brand, line, level, quality or weight of tire or tube for which no maximum price is specifically fixed herein, there is no corresponding size on the consumer list price in effect November 25, 1941, for the brand of this distributor for which a maximum price is specifically fixed herein, the maximum price for such size of such brand for which no maximum price is specifically fixed shall be determined by using the 6:00 x 16 size in the calculations called for in subparagraphs (1) and (2) above, and maintaining the same relationship between such other size and the 6:00 x 16 size of the brand for which no maximum price is specifically fixed as existed between such sizes in the November 25, 1941, consumer list price for such brand.

(j) The maximum retail prices for private brands of passenger-car tires other than 4 ply and truck tires other than 10 ply shall be calculated to maintain the relationship expressed in paragraph (i) above.

(k) For private brand distributors who do not have a consumer list, the calculations of the percentages called for in paragraphs (f), (g), (h), (i), and (j) may be made on the basis of wholesale price lists.

(l) The maximum retail prices for private brands of passenger-car and truck tires and tubes owned by distributors not listed in paragraphs (b), (d), and (e) shall be those given in paragraph (a) for tires and paragraph (c) for tubes.

(m) Notwithstanding any other provisions of Price Schedule No. 63 (§§ 1315.101–1315.111), the maximum retail prices for all brands of passenger-car and truck tires owned by the following private brand distributors shall be as follows:

(1) Triplex Tire Company: Maximum prices shall be the consumer price list of the company on file with the Office of Price Administration which was in effect on September 30, 1941.*

[Paragraph (m) added by amendment January 31, 1942, effective February 5, 1942; 7 F.R. 657]

Issued this 30th day of December 1941.[1]

LEON HENDERSON, Administrator.

PART 1356—COOKERS AND HEATERS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 64—DOMESTIC COOKING AND HEATING STOVES

Domestic cooking and heating stoves are essential household appliances. During the first ten months of 1941, stove manufacturers' prices have advanced approximately ten per cent on a weighted average basis. The increases on some items have amounted to more than thirty per cent. After a meeting with an industry panel on October 24, the Office of Price Administration on November 4 requested all stove manufacturers to forego increases in prices beyond the levels of October 24 pending the formulation of an industry-wide program. In general, members of the industry pledged their support to this request.

On December 13, 1941, the Office of Production Management issued General Limitation Order L–23[2] restricting the quantity of iron and steel which may be used for cooking stoves during the first four months of 1942. This order imposes an average cut of 35% below the monthly average of iron and steel used in the twelve months ended June 30, 1941. With further restriction of supply threatened, it becomes necessary to issue a price schedule at this time to prevent inflationary price increases.

It is the custom for stove manufacturers to announce their new lines and sales programs in January of each year. The issuance of a price schedule, at this time will enable manufacturers to follow this custom. The maximum price level permitted by Price Schedule No. 64 is 112% of the lowest prices prevailing during the period January 15–June 1, 1941. Price Schedule No. 64, which takes into consideration cost adjustments, substantially reflects mid-October prices, which represent an increase over January 15–June 1 prices. January 15–June 1 prices are used as a base because price relationships of the various manufacturers were then in more normal equilibrium. Price Schedule No. 64, while requiring some prices to be adjusted downward, has been determined after industry-wide studies of price, cost, and profit trends, and after consultation with members of an industry panel on December 27.

In order to prevent nullification of Price Schedule No. 64, changes in specification are restricted as an emergency measure. The restrictions, however, are subject to liberalization by this Office if experience shows the need.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1356.1 Maximum prices for stoves. On and after January 5, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any stove, at a price higher than the maximum price.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 65—RESALE OF FLOOR COVERINGS

The outbreak of hostilities in the Far East, which is the source of all jute, much wool, and most imported floor coverings, has a critical impact on the floor covering industry at all levels. In addition, the Office of Production Management announced on December 30 that a plan would shortly be put into effect which, for the first quarter of 1942, would considerably limit the amount of wool that could be used by manufacturers of floor coverings. Price Schedule No. 57[1] fixes the price of wool floor coverings at the manufacturer's level at 105% of prices prevailing on October 13, 1941. At the distributor's level, the decrease in supply is likely to result in inflationary price increases in all types of floor covering unless preventive steps are taken by this Office.

After careful investigation, it has been determined that the most effective action for the present is to set maximum distributors' prices on wool floor coverings and imported floor coverings at approximately existing levels. As inflationary pressures affecting other types of floor coverings appear, both manufacturers' and distributors' ceilings will be extended to include them.

A ceiling at October 13, 1941, prices is placed on distributor's sales of wool floor coverings. Although Price Schedule No. 57 places a ceiling upon the manufacturer of 105% of October 13 prices, the existence of inventories adequate for the present will prevent unfair pressure upon distributors. Following the issuance of Price Schedule No. 65, which is to be effective only for sixty days, conferences will be held with distributors of wool and imported floor coverings with a view toward setting up a more permanent price control program. Meanwhile, any distributor whose present inventory becomes depleted may apply for relief under § 1352.58 of Price Schedule No. 65.

Imported floor coverings may, under Price Schedule No. 65, be sold at existing levels. Since insignificant imports are now being received, no problem of higher than current cost inventories is presented.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1352.51 Maximum distributors' prices for wool and imported floor coverings. On and after January 5, 1942, and until March 5, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no distributor shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer any unit of wool or imported floor covering at a price higher than the maximum price.

(a) (1) (i) The maximum price for any unit of wool floor covering shall be the highest net price received by the distributor for the sale, delivery or transfer during the period October 1–October 13, 1941, inclusive, of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) to the same person, or a person in the same general class, or if there is no such person, to any person, except as set forth in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph (1).

(ii) In the case of George B. Galbraith and Company, Incorporated, J. J. Haines and Company, and William Goodacre & Sons, Limited, the maximum prices for the units of imported floor coverings listed below shall be the prices in effect on February 2, 1942:

George B. Galbraith and Company, Incorporated—Imported English Chenille;
J. J. Haines and Company—Stenciled Mourzouk, Woven Mourzouk, and Coir Fiber;
William Goodacre & Sons, Limited—Simla, Travancore, and Victor.

[Paragraph (a) (1) as amended February 7, 1942, effective February 7, 1942; 7 F.R. 907]

(2) If no sale, delivery or transfer of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) was made during such period, the maximum price shall be the highest net price received by the distributor for the sale, delivery or transfer during the period January 1–September 30, 1941, inclusive, of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) to the same person, or to a person in the same general class, or if there is no such person, to any person.

(3) If no sale, delivery, or transfer of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) was made during either of such periods, the maximum price shall be a price in line with the maximum price for related types, qualities and grades of wool floor coverings sold by such distributor during the period January 1–October 13, 1941, inclusive, to the same person, or to a person in the same general class, or if there is no such person, to any person.

(4) If the distributor purchased a wool floor covering unit after January 2, 1942, the maximum price for that unit shall be the price quoted by the manufacturer of such unit in his price list to the retailer effective on January 7, 1942.

[Subparagraph (4) added by amendment January 7, 1942, effective January 7, 1942; 7 F.R. 183]

(b) Imported floor coverings. (1) The maximum price for any unit of imported floor covering shall be the highest net price received by the distributor for the sale, delivery or transfer during the period December 1–December 31, 1941, inclusive, of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) to the same person, or to a person in the same general class, or if there is no such person, to any person.

(2) If no sale, delivery or transfer of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) was made during such period, the maximum price shall be the highest net price received by the distributor for the sale, delivery or transfer during the period January 1–November 30, 1941, inclusive, of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) to the same person, or to a person in the same general class, or if there is no such person, to any person.

(3) If no sale, delivery or transfer of an identical unit (or of a unit differing therefrom only in color or pattern) was made during either of such periods, the maximum price shall be a price in line with the maximum price for related types, qualities and grades of imported floor coverings sold by such distributor during the period January 1–December 31, 1941, inclusive, to the same person, or to a person in the same general class, or if there is no such person, to any person.*

Copies of Form 165:1 may be procured from the Office of Price Administration.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 65 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

Persons who have evidence of the receipt or demand of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of wool or imported floor coverings or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1352.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 65. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 65 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 65.*

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 66—RETREADED AND RECAPPED RUBBER TIRES, THE RETREADING AND RECAPPING OF RUBBER TIRES, AND BASIC TIRE CARCASSES

The war being waged with the Japanese Empire makes uncertain the future shipment of rubber from the Far East, which has hitherto been supplying this country with the greatest part of its crude rubber. In order to conserve for military and essential civilian purposes the rubber stockpile already accumulated in this country, it has been necessary to curtail sharply the consumption of rubber in the manufacture of products not essential to the immediate national defense. The production and sale of new rubber tires and tubes for ordinary civilian use have been greatly curtailed by Supplementary General Limitation Orders M–15–b[1] and M–15–c[2] of the Office of Production Management. The maximum prices for which new rubber tires and tubes may be sold at retail have been fixed by Price Schedule No. 63.[3]

A result of the regulation of the manufacture, sale and price of new rubber tires has been a sudden, greatly increased demand for basic tire carcasses, retreaded and recapped rubber tires and for the retreading and recapping of rubber tires. In a number of instances, in the last few weeks, prices, excited by the demand, have shot upward without regard to reason and with not even a claim of justification. Indeed, the price of camel back, the principal material used in the retreading and recapping process, was stabilized by action taken by the Office of Price Administration on December 3, 1941. To halt such flagrant profiteering and pending the outcome of a thorough investigation now in process of completion, the Office of Price Administration finds it necessary to issue a Price Schedule establishing as maximum prices the prices presently prevailing. These prices have been established after independent investigation and conferences with the industry.

Accordingly under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734 it is hereby directed that:

§ 1315.1201 Maximum prices for retreaded and recapped rubber tires, the retreading and recapping of rubber tires, and basic tire carcasses. On and after January 19, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or other commitment: (a) no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any retreaded or recapped tire or any basic tire carcass at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1315.1210; and (b) no person shall retread or recap any tire at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof.*

§ 1315.1202 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1315.1210, Appendix A, may be charged or demanded.*

§ 1315.1203 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 66 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, delivery or transfer of a tire carcass or retreaded or recapped rubber tire, alone or in conjunction with any other article or material, or in connection with the retreading or recapping of any rubber tire, by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding, or by increasing the charges for the extension of credit, or for the demounting or mounting of a tire on a vehicle, or rim or for any other service over those in effect on January 9, 1942, or by making the terms and conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than those available or in effect on January 9, 1942, or by any other means. The purchaser shall always have the option of paying at the time of the purchase the full cash price for any basic tire carcass or retreaded or recapped rubber tire or for retreading or recapping any rubber tire. When a puchaser has a tire retreaded or recapped he shall have the option of bringing it to the seller's place of business without having it demounted from a vehicle or rim by the seller or having any other service performed, and of receiving delivery of any basic tire carcass or retreaded or recapped rubber tire at the seller's place of business without having it mounted on a vehicle or rim or having any other service performed.*

§ 1315.1204 Posting of prices. Every person engaged in the business of retreading or recapping rubber tires or of selling retreaded or recapped rubber tires or basic tire carcasses shall keep posted in a conspicuous place in each establishment at which such tires are offered for sale, or at which such retreading or recapping is contracted for, a statement setting forth the maximum prices which he is permitted to charge under Price Schedule No. 66 for such basic tire carcasses, retreaded or recapped rubber tires, and for retreading or recapping such rubber tires. For this purpose it shall be permissible to employ a copy of the printed list of maximum prices published by the Office of Price Administration if a copy of such list is then in the hands of such person. Such statement or list shall be posted not later than 8 AM on January 19, 1942.

If, on January 9, 1942, the seller made special charges for the extension of credit or for the demounting or mounting of tires or tubes on a rim or vehicle, or for any other service, and if he desires to continue such charges after January 19, 1942, such seller shall prepare a notarized statement listing the prices charged on January 9, 1942 for such extra service and shall post such statement not later than 8 AM on January 19, 1942, along with the statement or list of maximum prices required to be posted by this section.*

§ 1315.1205 Records and reports. (a) Every person engaged in the business of selling retreaded or recapped rubber tires or of retreading or recapping rubber tires shall furnish the purchaser with a written statement reciting (1) whether the tire has been retreaded, full capped, or top capped; (2) the market price of the camelback used; and (3) the depth of the nonskid tread at the center of the tire after the completion of the retreading or recapping.

(b) Every person engaged in the business of selling basic tire carcasses or retreaded or recapped rubber tires or of retreading or recapping rubber tires shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than two years, complete and accurate records of every sale of such articles or of every retreading or recapping operation performed including the date thereof, the name and address of the purchaser, the price per unit, the quantity and size of tires sold, retreaded or recapped, specifying whether the work was retreading, full capping or top capping, the market price of the camelback used, and the depth of the nonskid tread at the center of the tire after the completion of the retreading or recapping.

(c) Every person engaged in the business of retreading or recapping rubber tires shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than two years, complete and accurate records of his entire inventory of camelback, showing the date of each purchase or acquisition, the name of the seller or source, the price paid and the stocks on hand as of the 19th and 31st days of January 1942 and of the last day of each succeeding month thereafter.

(d) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 66 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1315.1206 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, posting or record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 66, or in the event of evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 66, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 66; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county and local government by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 66 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits, and (d) that the Rubber Reserve Company and the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 66. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of basic tire carcasses, retreaded or recapped rubber tires or retreading or recapping rubber tires, or the hoarding or accumulating of un-

Although the industry was asked, by a letter of May 6, 1941, to hold firm the prices quoted on that date, there have been increases since May which are not entirely reflected in the general index of machine tool prices as prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. A substantial number of these increases have taken place without the approval of the Office of Price Administration.

Today, the War Program has placed upon this industry demands which far exceed anything experienced before. The Office of Price Administration believes that the voluntary program has not been adequate to meet the demands of the situation which has already developed.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1301.51 Maximum prices for new machine tools and extras. (a) On and after January 20, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any new machine tool or extra, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of any new machine tool or extra (1) at a price higher than the list price of such machine tool or extra in effect on October 1, 1941; or,

(2) if there were no list price in effect on October 1, 1941, the maximum price shall be the last price at which such new machine tool or extra was sold from January 1, 1941 to October 1, 1941; or

(3) if the new machine tool or extra had no list price on October 1, 1941 and was not sold within the period from January 1, 1941 to October 1, 1941, the maximum price shall be the price on October 1, 1941 of the most nearly comparable machine tool or extra produced by the same manufacturer, adjusted to reflect increases or decreases in cost resulting from significant mechanical differences. If the maximum price is to be determined under this subparagraph, the proposed price and a description of such new machine tool or extra together with an indication of the machine tool or extra deemed by the manufacturer to be most nearly comparable and cost estimates indicating the changes in cost resulting from significant mechanical differences shall be submitted on Form 167:1 to the Office of Price Administration not less than 30 days before the date of delivery of such machine tool or extra and such price shall be the maximum price unless an objection is made by this Office within 15 days after the receipt of such information.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not apply to deliveries under contracts entered into by the Army, Navy, Defense Plant Corporation, Procurement Division of the Treasury or any other agency of the United States prior to the effective date of Price Schedule No. 67.

(c) Nothing in this section shall prevent the inclusion, in any contract for the sale of any new machine tool or extra of a provision for adjustment of the original contract price on deliveries actually made more than nine months after the date of execution of the contract, if such provision expressly limits payments made under the contract to the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration or its successor and in effect on the date of delivery of any such new machine tool or extra.*

§ 1301.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth herein may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1301.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 67 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of new machine tools or extras, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other special charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise, as a result of which the net price received by the seller of a machine tool or extra will exceed the net price which would have been received by such seller if such machine tool or extra had been sold on October 1, 1941. The provisions of this section shall not apply to discounts, allowances or concessions on sales by a manufacturer of new machine tools to a dealer in new machine tools.*

§ 1301.54 Records and reports. (a) Every manufacturer of and every dealer in new machine tools making any sale after January 20, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the list price on the date of sale, the gross price on the date of sale if there is no list price, the net price received, and the number and description of each type of new machine tool or extra sold.

(b) On or before February 15, 1942, every manufacturer of new machine tools shall file a statement on Form 167:2 with the Office of Price Administration setting forth (1) the list price on October 1, 1941 of each type and size of machine tool and extra offered for sale by such manufacturer on such date, any special charges, discounts, allowances or concessions in effect on October 1, 1941, and the last price between January 1, 1941, and October 1, 1941 on every machine tool or extra for which there was no price list in effect on October 1, 1941; and (2) the list price on May 6, 1941 of any type of machine tool or extra on which the price has been increased and the amount of any such increase, and on Form 167:3 the names and addresses of all dealers in new machine tools to whom such manufacturer has sold new machine tools since January 1, 1941.

(c) On or before April 1, 1942, every manufacturer of new machine tools shall file with the Office of Price Administration a certified balance sheet as of December 31, 1941, and a certified profit and loss statement for the year, 1941.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 67—NEW MACHINE TOOLS

Machine tools are the equipment by which countless manufacturers produce vitally needed war materials essential to the fulfillment of the War Program.

Pyramiding up from the machine tool industry are all of the manufacturing organizations of the country. The market for machine tools therefore is dependent upon the demand for the products of other manufacturers. The War Program has placed billions of dollars of new orders with manufacturers of all types of military products and the impact of these orders has fallen, with concentrated effect, upon the manufacturers of machine tools. The demand for these products has been so great and so urgent that machine tool builders were given the first and one of the highest priority ratings of any industry.

Machine tool makers have been unable to keep pace with the orders for machine tools. The back-log of unfilled orders has steadily grown. Under such pressure the importance of price as a controlling force has been minimized. The time of delivery has become more important to buyers of machine tools than the price. Under such circumstances the inflationary danger is apparent.

All balance sheets and profit and loss statements shall be duplicates of the statements filed with the Bureau of Internal Revenue in making income tax returns. Any corporation whose fiscal year does not coincide with the calendar year shall file a certified balance sheet and a profit and loss statement within three months of the close of such fiscal year in the same form as is required for corporations whose fiscal year coincides with the calendar year.

(d) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 67 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1301.55 Affirmations. On or before April 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each third month thereafter, every manufacturer of and every dealer in new machine tools who, during the preceding three calendar months has sold new machine tools or extras, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 167:4 containing as worn statement that during the preceding three months all offers to sell, sales, deliveries and transfers were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 67. Copies of Form 167:4 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8" x $10\frac{1}{2}$" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations hereunder.*

§ 1301.56 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 67, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 67, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 67; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 67 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 67, and (e) that the War Production Board is requested to direct the withholding of priority ratings and the allocation of materials to any person failing to comply with Price Schedule No. 67. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or attempt to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of new machine tools, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1301.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 67. Persons claiming hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 67 as a result of subcontracting or for any other reason may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 67.*

§ 1301.58 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 67, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity;

(b) "Price" means the price for a machine tool or extra f. o. b. manufacturer's plant and before adjustment for any special charges, discounts, allowances or concessions;

(c) "Net price" means the price for a new machine tool or extra plus any applicable special charges and less any applicable discounts, allowances or concessions;

(d) "Manufacturer of new machine tools" includes any agent of such manufacturer and does not include any person whose work on machine tools is restricted solely to the reconditioning or repair of used machine tools;

(e) "Dealer in new machine tools" means any person engaged in the business of purchasing new machine tools for resale;

(f) "User" means any purchaser of a new machine tool or extra other than a dealer in new machine tools;

(g) "Certified" referring to a balance sheet or profit and loss statement means a balance sheet or profit and loss statement sworn to be a correct statement of the financial condition of a corporation by the principal accounting officer of the corporation or other person having knowledge of the relevant facts and authorized by the corporation to certify in its behalf;

(h) "Machine tool" means all machines for the cutting, abrading, shaping and forming of metals;

Issued this 20th day of January 1942.[1]

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 68—HIDE GLUE STOCK

Hide Glue Stock consists of a group of animal materials, which are waste products of the meat packing, tanning and fur cutting industries. From these materials hide glue, an important adhesive with essential defense and civilian uses, is manufactured.

As a result of economic activity induced by the national defense program, the demand for hide glue stock has increased greatly in recent months. Inadequacy of the supply of hide glue stock has forced glue manufacturers to curtail hide glue production. The prices of nearly all kinds of hide glue stock have risen sharply as a result of competition among hide glue manufacturers in attempting to retain their customary raw material suppliers and to obtain new sources of supply. One material, for instance, which sold for $1.75 per cwt. in 1940, is now commanding as much as $6.50 per cwt.. Such price advances have contributed to a 40% increase in hide glue prices since 1940. Further increases in the prices of hide glue stock are threatened.

After investigation and conferences with members of the hide glue stock industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that maximum prices should be established for hide glue stock to prevent inflationary trends not only in the price of such stock but also in the prices of hide glue and other related commodities.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.501 Maximum prices for hide glue stock. On and after January 20, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer hide glue stock in quantities of 100 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of hide glue stock in quantities of 100 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.510.*

*§§ 1335.501 to 1335.510, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.502 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1335.510, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.503 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 68 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of hide glue stock, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.504 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of hide glue stock in quantities of 100 pounds or more after January 20, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the hide glue stock purchased or sold.

§ 1335.505 Affirmations of compliance. On or before March 20, 1942, and on or before the 20th day of each month thereafter, every person, who during the preceding calendar month has purchased hide glue stock in quantities of 100 pounds or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 168:1 containing a sworn statement that during such month all such purchases were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 68 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 168:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, Provided, That no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x $10\frac{1}{2}$ paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1335.506 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 68, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 68, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 68; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 68, which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 68. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of hide glue stock, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.507 Modification of Price Schedule No. 68. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 68 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 68.*

§ 1335.508 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 68 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Hide glue stock" means the materials listed in § 1335.510, Appendix A, hereof, regardless of the uses to which such materials are to be put;

(c) "Seller's shipping point" means point of production or other point of distribution maintained by a producer or seller.*

PART 1355—LEAD

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 69—PRIMARY LEAD

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations.

Military and essential civilian demands upon the supply of lead have become increasingly heavy. The present supply of lead will not suffice to meet these needs, and imports are threatened. The combination of increased demand and insufficient supply threatens a bidding up of the price of lead, which will materially increase the cost of the war effort and tend to create an inflationary price spiral.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1355.1 Maximum prices for primary lead. On and after January 15, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer primary lead, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of primary lead, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1355.9.*

*§§ 1355.1 to 1355.9, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1355.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1355.9, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1355.3 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 69 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of primary lead, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Any purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of primary lead in quantities less than requested by the buyer in order to enable the seller to obtain a higher less-than-carload-lot differential shall be considered to be an evasion of Price Schedule No. 69 provided that the buyer is willing to accept delivery thereof in a single shipment.*

§ 1355.4 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of primary lead after January 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each grade or type purchased or sold, and (b) the quantity of primary lead (1) on hand, and (2), on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 69 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

who comply with Price Schedule No. 69; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 69 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with this Price Schedule No. 69; and (e) that the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board is requested to direct the withholding of priority ratings and the allocation of materials to any person failing to comply with this Price Schedule No. 69. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of primary lead, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1355.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 69. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 69 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 69 and other Schedules issued by the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1355.7 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 69, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Point of shipment" means the point from which the seller ships to the buyer. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but, where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment;

(c) "Primary lead" means (1) lead in the form of pigs, ingots, and other special shapes made from ores, concentrates, or bullion, even though other material is mixed therewith, provided such other material accounts for 50% or less of the lead content thereof, and (2) lead in the form of pigs, ingots, and other special shapes produced from lead made from ores, concentrates, or bullion even though other material is mixed therewith, provided such other material accounts for 50% or less of the lead content thereof;

(d) "Producer" means any person who makes pigs, ingots, or other special shapes of lead.

[§ 1355.7 as amended February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 726]

§ 1355.8 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 69. This Schedule (§§ 1355.1 to 1355.9, inclusive) shall become effective January 15, 1942.*

When used in paragraph (a) of this section, in reference to carload lots, the term "Base Price" means the price quoted in paragraph (c) of this section at the point of delivery. If the point of delivery is not listed, the price listed for the nearest point in distance to the point of delivery shall prevail.

The above grades of primary lead are to be determined in accordance with the specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials. Primary lead which fails to meet such standards should be sold at normal differentials below the established maximum prices.

The minimum quantity making up a carload lot for the purposes of Price Schedule No. 69 shall be the minimum quantity required to obtain railroad carload lot rates from the point of shipment to the point of destination.

(b) Sold and shipped, delivered, or carried away in less than carload lots. The term "Carload maximum price" referred to in subparagraphs (1) and (2) below means the maximum price as determined in paragraph (a) of this section, except that for the purposes of subparagraphs (1) and (2) below the maximum price shall be determined at the point of shipment instead of at the point of delivery. In this determination, the term "Base Price" means the price quoted in paragraph (c) of this section at the point of shipment. If the point of shipment is not listed, the price listed for the nearest point in distance to the point of shipment shall prevail.

(1) Sales of primary lead by the producer of the lead sold.

For sale in lots of:	Maximum price, per pound (f. o. b. point of shipment)
20,000 lb. and less than a carload	Carload maximum price plus .15¢.

(2) Sales by all other persons except plumbing supply houses.

10,000 lb. and less than 20,000 lb	Carload maximum price plus .75¢.
2,0000 lb. and less than 10,000 lb	Carload maximum price plus 1.00¢.
Less than 2,000 lb	Carload maximum price plus 1.50¢.

(3) Sales by plumbing supply houses. No plumbing supply house shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer primary lead at prices in excess of the carload maximum prices established in paragraph (a) of this section plus an amount not to exceed the difference between (i) the highest price received by such supply house in a sale on October 1, 1941, or on the last date previous thereto on which such a sale took place, of a quantity similar to that presently being sold on the same grade of lead and (ii) the price paid by such supply house for such lead in the last purchase prior to such sale.

(4) Terms of sale. The maximum prices set forth above are f. o. b. point of shipment. Primary lead in less than carload lots may, however, be sold, offered for sale, delivered, or transferred at a price delivered buyer's receiving point. In such cases, whenever the total delivered price exceeds the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price fixed by Price Schedule No. 69, in all price quotations (i) the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item and (ii) the price f. o. b. point of shipment, obtained by subtracting the transportation charge from the total delivered price, must not exceed the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price set forth in Price Schedule No. 69.

Whenever delivery is made in the seller's conveyance, the transportation charge shall not exceed the charge which would be applicable on an identical shipment from the same point of shipment to the same receiving point at the lowest available commercial transportation rate. In such cases the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item in all price quotations.

When used in Price Schedule No. 69, the term "point of shipment" means the point from which the seller ships to the buyer. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but, where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment.

PART 1355—LEAD

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 70—LEAD SCRAP MATERIALS; SECONDARY LEAD, INCLUDING CALKING LEAD; BATTERY LEAD SCRAP; AND PRIMARY AND SECONDARY ANTIMONIAL LEAD

The Office of Price Administration is charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations.

Lead is a basic requirement for military and essential civilian needs. A considerable portion of the lead supply comes from secondary materials. The increased demands upon the supply of lead, together with threatened reduction in imports, have created a critical situation in the secondary lead field. Prices have advanced beyond those of primary lead, and further increases will raise the direct cost of the war effort, and tend to create an inflationary price spiral.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1355.51 Maximum prices for lead scrap materials other than battery lead scrap. On and after January 15, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer lead scrap materials, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of lead scrap materials, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1355.64.*

*§§ 1355.51 to 1355.69, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875; 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1355.52 Maximum prices for secondary lead including calking lead. On and after January 15, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer secondary lead, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of secondary lead at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix B hereof, incorporated herein as § 1355.65.*

§ 1355.53 Maximum prices for battery lead plates purchased and sold by brokers. On and after January 15, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, in the execution of a brokerage sale (a) no broker shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer battery lead plates, and no broker shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of battery lead plates, and (b) no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer battery lead plates to a broker, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of battery lead plates from a broker, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix C hereof, incorporated herein as § 1355.66.*

§ 1355.56 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A, B, C, D, E, and F may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1355.57 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 70, shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of lead scrap materials, secondary lead, battery lead scrap, or antimonial lead, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, except as provided in § 1355.66 hereof, or by way of any service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Any purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of secondary lead or antimonial lead in quantities less than requested by the buyer in order to enable the seller to obtain a higher less-than-carload-lot differential shall be considered to be an evasion of Price Schedule No. 70, provided that the buyer is willing to accept delivery thereof in a single shipment.

(c) Any agreement or transaction in connection with which a smelter processes lead scrap materials or battery lead scrap for any person on toll shall be considered to be an evasion of Price Schedule No. 70, unless such agreement or transaction has first been approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1355.58 Records and reports. (a) Any broker or smelter completing a contract for brokerage sales as defined in § 1355.62 of Price Schedule No. 70 shall submit under oath to the Office of Price Administration not later than the 10th day after the completion of delivery thereunder a complete and accurate record of such contract showing:

(1) The date of the contract,

(2) The names and addresses of the contracting parties,

(3) The dates of the first and last shipments thereunder made to and received by the smelter,

(4) The quantity contracted for and the quantity delivered, and

(5) The broker's commission paid, if any.

(b) Every person making purchases or sales of lead scrap materials, secondary lead, battery lead scrap, or antimonial lead after January 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (1) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and (2) the quantity of lead scrap materials, secondary lead, battery lead scrap, or antimonial lead (i) on hand, and (ii) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

(c) In addition to fulfilling the other requirements of Price Schedule No. 70, every smelter or battery manufacturer making purchases of battery lead plates after January 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase, including the date of purchase, the name and address of the seller, the price paid, the quantity received, and the results of the sample assay made thereof in accordance with the requirements of Price Schedule No. 70.

(d) All records recording the purchase, sale, or transfer after January 15, 1942, of lead scrap material, secondary lead, battery lead scrap, or antimonial lead shall refer thereto, in addition to such other classifications as may be employed by the maker or keeper of said records, in the terms in which they are respectively classified in Price Schedule No. 70.

(e) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 70 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1355.59 Affirmations of compliance by smelters of battery lead plates or battery manufacturers purchasing battery lead plates. On or before February 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every smelter of battery lead plates or battery manufacturer purchasing battery lead plates shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 170:1, containing a sworn statement that during the preceding month in compliance with Price Schedule No. 70 an assay has been made in the manner prescribed in § 1355.67 of Price Schedule No. 70 of every shipment and delivery of battery lead plates received by said smelter or purchased by said battery manufacturer. Copies of Form 170:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8" x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1355.61 Modification of Price Schedule No. 70. (a) Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 70 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 70, and other Schedules issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Any person producing from scrap materials corroding lead of the specifications established by the American Society for Testing Materials may apply to the Office of Price Administration for permission to sell such materials at a premium to be established by the Office of Price Administration. Such permission will be granted only when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration that the material for which such application is made meets the required specifications.*

In such cases, whenever the total delivered price exceeds the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price fixed by Price Schedule No. 70, in all price quotations (1) the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item, and (2) the price f. o. b. point of shipment obtained by subtracting the transportation charge from the total delivered price must not exceed the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price set forth in Price Schedule No. 70.

Whenever delivery is made in the seller's conveyance, the transportation charge shall not exceed the charge which would be applicable in an identical shipment from the same point of shipment to the same receiving point at the lowest available commercial transportation rate. In such cases, the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item in all price quotations.

When used in Price Schedule No. 70, the term "point of shipment" means the point from which the seller ships to the buyer. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment.*

the percentage of metal content in the plates as determined by the smelter-purchaser thereof by a sample wet assay upon receipt of the shipment at his plant less
1.10¢

(2) Single shipments of less than 8,000 pounds. For a single shipment of less than 8,000 pounds, not less than $3.00 shall be subtracted from the maximum price for the entire shipment as determined in accordance with subparagraph (a) (1) of this section.

(4) Lugs. The above prices for battery lead plates are applicable whether said plates are sold with or without lugs attached.

(5) Weight of shipment. The weight of the battery lead plates at the time the assay sample is taken and the assay made shall be used to determine the maximum price in accordance with this section.

[Subparagraph (5) added by amendment February 2, 1942, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 727]

(b) Commission on brokerage sales. Any person who (1) contracts to supply a smelter with not less than 300 tons gross (wet) weight of battery lead plates to be delivered within a 30-day period and (2) routes all shipments under such contracts from a point of shipment other than the broker's plant, warehouse, or yard, directly to the smelter may receive from the smelter-purchaser, upon completion of each such contract, a commission not exceeding $1.00 a ton of the gross (wet) weight received under each contract provided all of the following requirements are fulfilled:

(1) Complete delivery of all the material called for in the contract is made to the smelter-purchaser within a period of 30 days;

(2) The commission is shown as a separate charge on all records;

(3) The broker does not split or divide the commission with any other person;

(4) The contract is fully performed before the commission, or any portion thereof, is received by the broker; and

(5) Complete and accurate records of each such sale are submitted to the Office of Price Administration as are required by § 1355.58 of Price Schedule No. 70.

(c) Terms of sale. The maximum prices set forth above are f. o. b. point of shipment. Battery lead plates may, however, be sold, offered for sale, delivered, or transferred at a price delivered buyer's receiving point. In such cases, whenever the total delivered price exceeds the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price fixed by Price Schedule No. 70 in all price quotations (1) the transportation charge must be shown as separate item, and (2) the price f. o. b. point of shipment obtained by subtracting the transportation charge from the total delivered price must not exceed the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price set forth in Price Schedule No. 70.

Whenever delivery is made in the seller's conveyance, the transportation charge shall not exceed the charge which would be applicable on an identical shipment from the same point of shipment to the same receiving point at the lowest available commercial transportation rate. In such cases, the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item in all price quotations.

When used in Price Schedule No. 70 the term "point of shipment" means the point from which the seller ships to the buyer. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment.*

§ 1355.67 Appendix D: Maximum prices for battery lead scrap purchased by smelters or battery manufacturers—(a) Battery lead plates, with or without lugs attached—(1) Single shipments of 8,000 pounds or more. The maximum price per pound of the gross (wet) weight, f. o. b. point of shipment, shall be determined for each such shipment according to the following formula:

multiplied by
the percentage of metal content in the plates as determined by the smelter-purchaser or battery manufacturer thereof by a sample wet assay upon receipt of the shipment at his plant 1.10¢

(2) Single shipments of less than 8,000 lbs. For a single shipment of less than 8,000 pounds, not less than $3.00 shall be subtracted from the maximum price for the entire shipment as determined in accordance with subparagraph (a) (1) of this section.

(3) Single shipment. For the purposes of this Schedule, the term "single shipment" means all deliveries made to a buyer by any one seller within a period of 48 consecutive hours, excluding Sundays and legal holidays.

(4) Weight of shipment. The weight of the battery lead plates at the time the assay sample is taken and the assay made shall be used to determine the maximum price in accordance with this section.

[Subparagraph (4) added by amendment February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 727]

(b) Used storage batteries (in boxes), drained of liquid. The maximum price per cwt., f. o. b. point of shipment, is $2.39.

Used storage batteries (in boxes) may be shipped to a smelter or battery manufacturer in an undrained condition, but the weight and price thereof shall be determined after the boxes are drained.

The maximum prices for used storage batteries (in boxes) set forth herein do not apply to rebuilders of used storage batteries.

(c) Terms of sale. The maximum prices set forth above are f. o. b. point of shipment. Battery lead scrap may, however, be sold, offered for sale, delivered, or transferred at a price delivered buyer's receiving point. In such cases, whenever the total delivered price exceeds the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price fixed by Price Schedule No. 70, in all price quotations (1) the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item, and (2) the price f. o. b. point of shipment obtained by subtracting the transportation charge from the total delivered price must not exceed the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price set forth in Price Schedule No. 70.

Whenever delivery is made in the seller's conveyance, the transportation charge shall not exceed the charge which would be applicable on an identical shipment from the same point of shipment to the same receiving point at the lowest available commercial transportation rate. In such cases, the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item in all price quotations.

When used in Price Schedule No. 70, the term "point of shipment" means the point from which the seller ships to the buyer. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment.

(d) Sample assay. Every sample assay of battery lead plates required to be made pursuant to Price Schedule No. 70 shall satisfy the following requirements:

(1) A wet or chemical assay shall be made of the metal and dross derived from the sample.

(2) The sample shall be selected at random from the shipment in a manner consistent with the past practice of the trade and shall be of a size not smaller than is consistent with such past practice.

(3) The assay in every other respect shall be performed in a manner consistent with the purpose of determining accurately the metal content of the shipment of battery lead plates.*

§ 1355.68 Appendix E: Maximum prices for primary and secondary antimonial lead—(a) Maximum prices. When used in Price Schedule No. 70, the term "base price" means the price quoted in § 1355.69, Appendix F hereof, at the point of shipment. If the point of shipment is not listed therein, the price listed for the nearest point in distance to the point of shipment shall prevail.

(1) Sold or shipped, delivered, or carried away in carload lots. The maximum price per pound, f. o. b. point of shipment, for any grade or type of antimonial lead sold in pigs shall be equal to 14 cents a pound for the antimony content plus the base price of lead for the remainder.

(2) Sold and shipped, delivered, or carried away in less than carload lots.

For sales of antimonial lead in lots of	Maximum price, per pound (f. o. b. point of shipment)
20,000 lbs. and less than a carload	Carload price as determined in Paragraph (a) (1) of this Section plus .15¢.
10,000 lbs. and less than 20,000 lbs	Carload price as determined in Paragraph (a) (1) of this Section plus .25¢.
2,000 lbs. and less than 10,000 lbs	Carload price as determined in Paragraph (a) (1) of this Section plus .40¢.
Less than 2,000 pounds	Carload price as determined in Paragraph (a) (1) of this Section plus .50¢.

(3) Differentials for sales in special shapes. For sales of antimonial lead in ingots, billets, or other special shapes, there may be added to the maximum prices set forth above a differential of .30 cent a pound.

(b) Terms of sale. The maximum prices set forth above are f. o. b. point of shipment. Antimonial lead may, however, be sold, offered for sale, delivered, or transferred at a price delivered buyer's receiving point. In such cases, whenever the total delivered price exceeds the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price fixed by Price Schedule No. 70, in all price quotations (1) the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item, and (2) the price f. o. b. point of shipment obtained by subtracting the transportation charge from the total delivered price must not exceed the maximum f. o. b. point of shipment price set forth in Price Schedule No. 70.

Whenever delivery is made in the seller's conveyance, the transportation charge shall not exceed the charge which would be applicable on an identical shipment from the same point of shipment to the same receiving point at the lowest available commercial transportation rate. In such cases, the transportation charge must be shown as a separate item in all price quotations.

When used in Price Schedule No. 70, the term "point of shipment" means the point from which the seller ships to the buyer. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment.

(c) Antimonial lead. When used in Price Schedule No. 70, the term "antimonial lead" means any lead-antimony alloy in the form of pigs or special shapes, containing not less than 98% antimony and lead combined, not less than 2% antimony, and not more than ½% tin.*

PART 1357—CADMIUM

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 71—PRIMARY & SECONDARY CADMIUM

The Office of Price Administration, being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations, has determined that the establishment of maximum prices for primary and secondary cadmium is essential in order to accomplish these purposes and is in the interest of national defense and the national welfare.

Cadmium is required for both military and essential civilian needs. Increased demands upon the supply of cadmium have created a critical situation in the secondary cadmium field. Prices of secondary cadmium have advanced far beyond those of primary cadmium and tend to make it impossible for persons in the trade to cooperate with the Government in maintaining price stability and in preventing excessive and speculative price increases. Such increases in the price of secondary cadmium impose an unfair burden on producers of primary cadmium who have refrained from selling at prices higher than those approved by the Office of Price Administration.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1357.1 Maximum prices for primary and secondary metallic cadmium. On and after January 19, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer metallic cadmium, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of metallic cadmium, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1357.9.*

*§§ 1357.1 to 1357.9, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875; 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1357.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1357.9, Appendix A, of Price Schedule No. 71 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1357.3 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 71 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of metallic cadmium, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Any agreement or transaction in connection with which any material containing cadmium is processed or treated on toll to obtain metallic cadmium therefrom shall be considered to be an evasion of Price Schedule No. 71, unless the total of the cost of materials, the charge for processing or treating the material, and all other charges in connection with the processing, treatment, handling, and delivery of said material in order to obtain metallic cadmium therefrom, does not exceed, on a per pound basis, the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 71.*

§ 1357.4 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of metallic cadmium after January 19, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each type or shape purchased or sold; and (b) the quantity of metallic cadmium (1) on hand and (2) on order as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 71 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1357.5 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 71 or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 71, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the government interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 71, (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 71 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of metallic cadmium, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the office of Price Administration.*

§ 1357.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 71. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 71 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom, provided that no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 71 and all other Schedules issued by the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1357.7 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 71, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Metallic cadmium" means the types and shapes of metallic cadmium set forth in Appendix A, § 1357.9, of this Schedule, regardless of the materials from which they are produced; and

(c) "On toll" means an arrangement whereby a servicing charge is paid for processing or treating material containing cadmium.*

§ 1357.9 Appendix A: Maximum prices for primary and secondary metallic cadmium.

Type or Shape	Maximum Price, per pound (Delivered)
Anodes, balls, discs, and all other special or patented shapes	95¢
Bars, ingots, pencils, pigs, plates, rods, slabs, sticks, and all other "regular" straight or flat forms	90¢

The prices quoted above are delivered prices before discounts of any nature have been deducted. Deductions for percentage and character of impurities should be made according to customary trade practices.*

PART 1340—FUEL

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 72—BUNKER C AND NO. 6 GRADE FUEL OILS, EAST AND GULF COASTS

Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils are the heavy residual oils used extensively for fueling both merchant vessels and the navies of the United States and the United Nations. They are also used in large quantities by industrial plants, many of which are engaged in war production. Some is imported, some is shipped from the Gulf to the East Coast by tanker, and some is produced on the East Coast from crude petroleum shipped there by tanker. The bulk of the deliveries of Bunker C and No. 6 fuel oils is controlled by companies owning their own tanker fleets or producing these fuel oils at their own refineries.

Requests have been received from certain companies engaged in the sale of Bunker C fuel for approval of a higher price than the base price of $1.35 per barrel f. o. b. New York Harbor, which was the prevailing maximum contract price in the second half of 1941. After consideration of all pertinent factors, including the actual cost of ocean transportation, maximum time charter rates, handling charges, and the supply position and financial status of the companies in the trade, it was found that $1.35 per barrel f. o. b. New York Harbor is a proper maximum price on which to base the prices of Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1340.101 Maximum prices for Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils on the East and Gulf Coasts. On and after January 9, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1340.109.*

*§§ 1340.101 to 1340.109, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§1340.102 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1340.109, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1340.103 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 72 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discounts, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1340.104 Records and reports. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 72 shall keep such records and submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1340.105 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 72, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 72, or in the event of any ministration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 72; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 72 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement and other services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 72.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of Bunker C and No. 6 grade fuel oils, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1340.106. Modification of Price Schedule No. 72. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 72 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 72.*

§ 1340.107 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 72 the term "person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity.*

PART 1363—FEEDINGSTUFFS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 73—FISH MEAL

The Office of Price Administration is charged with maintaining price stability and preventing unwarranted price increases. An adequate supply of food products can be obtained only by maintaining feed prices at levels consonant with the prices received for eggs, poultry and livestock. Sharp increases in the prices of certain essential feed ingredients have occurred since the outbreak of war. The prices of fish meal have risen approximately $16.00 per ton during the past two months. This price increase of approximately 26 percent indicates that supplies are being withheld in the expectation of further price increases, since the 1941 catch of fish was probably the largest on record. To prevent this withholding and to assure adequate food supplies it is evident that immediate action to prevent further increases in the prices of these ingredients is necessary. Price Schedule No. 73 temporarily establishes the general level of prices prevailing on January 17, 1942, as the maximum prices for fish meal. Upon the completion of studies now in progress, a permanent schedule of maximum prices for fish meal will be established.

Should unwarranted price rises occur at stages of distribution not covered by Price Schedule No. 73 appropriate action will be taken by this Office.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1363.1 Maximum prices for fish meal. On and after January 20, 1942, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer fish meal at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1363.10, except that contracts entered into prior to January 20, 1942, providing for a higher price than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price. The maximum prices shall include commissions and all other charges.*

§ 1363.3 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 73 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1363.4 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 73 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of fish meal or by way of premium, commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by any other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on January 17, 1942, or by any other means.*

§ 1363.5 Records and reports. On and after January 20, 1942, every manufacturer of fish meal making any sale of fish meal and every person purchasing fish meal from a manufacturer of fish meal shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, including the date thereof, the name of the seller or purchaser, the amount purchased or sold, and the price paid or received.

Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 73 shall submit such reports to The Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1363.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 73, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 73, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 73; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 73 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government, both State and Federal, are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 73.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of the prices of fish meal, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1363.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 73. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 73 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom; Provided, That no applications under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 73.*

§ 1363.8 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 73, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Fish meal" means clean, dry, ground tissues of undecomposed whole fish, fish cuttings, or fish scraps with or without the extraction of part of the oil.

(c) "Grade" refers to the percentage of protein content per ton of fish meal.

(d) "Sales at retail" means a sale to the ultimate user: Provided, That no manufacturer, processor, or purchaser for resale shall be deemed to be an ultimate user.

PART 1363—FEEDINGSTUFFS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 74—ANIMAL PRODUCT FEEDINGSTUFFS

The Office of Price Administration is charged with maintaining price stability and preventing unwarranted price increases. An adequate supply of food products can be obtained only by maintaining feed prices at levels consonant with the prices received for eggs, poultry, and livestock. Sharp increases in the prices of certain essential feed ingredients have occurred since the outbreak of war. The prices of animal product feedingstuffs have risen approximately $12.50 per ton. This price increase of approximately 20 percent indicates that supplies are being held in expectation of further price increases. To prevent this withholding and to assure adequate food supplies it is evident that immediate action to prevent further increases in the prices of animal product feedingstuffs is necessary. Price Schedule No. 74 temporarily establishes the prices prevailing on January 17, 1942, as the maximum prices. Upon the completion of studies now in progress a permanent Schedule of maximum prices for animal product feedingstuffs will be established.

Should unwarranted price rises occur at stages of distribution not covered by Price Schedule No. 74 appropriate action will be taken by this Office.

§ 1363.51 Maximum prices for animal products used as feedingstuffs. On and after January 20, 1942, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer animal product feedingstuffs at prices higher than the maximum prices, except that contracts entered into prior to January 20, 1942, providing for prices higher than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract prices. The maximum prices shall include commissions and all other charges.

(a) The maximum shipping point price for any kind and grade of animal product feedingstuff shall be:

(1) The highest shipping point price (or delivered price converted to a shipping point price) at which the seller sold at such shipping point such kind and grade on January 17, 1942, for delivery within thirty days, in a similar amount to the same type of purchaser; or

(2) If the seller did not sell such grade on January 17, 1942, for delivery within thirty days in a similar amount to the same type of purchaser, the maximum shipping point price shall be the highest shipping point price (or delivered price converted to a shipping point price) at which the seller sold at such shipping point the same kind of animal product feedingstuff of a different grade or in a different amount or to a different type of purchaser on January 17, 1942, for delivery within thirty days, making the necessary adjustments for differences in grade, amount, or type of purchaser, in accordance with the seller's practice for determining price differentials existing on January 17, 1942; or

(3) If the seller did not sell such kind of animal product feedingstuff on January 17, 1942, for delivery within thirty days, the seller's maximum shipping point price for any one of the various grades of such kind of animal product feedingstuff shall be the shipping point price (or delivered price converted to a shipping point price) at which such grade was sold in the market nearest the seller's shipping point on January 17, 1942, for delivery within thirty days, in a similar amount to the same type of purchaser, making adjustment for the normal differential, if any, between the seller's shipping point price and the shipping point price in such market.

(b) The maximum delivered price to any point shall be the maximum shipping point price determined under paragraph (a) plus the transportation charge at the lowest available established rate available for an identical shipment to such point.*

*§§ 1363.51 to 1363.59, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in Executive Orders Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1363.53 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established in Price Schedule No. 74 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1363.54 Evasion. The price limitations established by Price Schedule No. 74 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of animal product feedingstuffs alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or material or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or by a tying-agreement or other trade understanding or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on January 17, 1942, or by any other means.*

§ 1363.55 Records and reports. Every person making sales, except sales at retail, of animal product feedingstuffs on and after January 20, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each such sale, including the date thereof, the name of the purchaser, the price paid or received, and the kind and grade of animal product feedingstuff sold.

Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 74 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1363.56 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 74, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 74, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 74; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 74 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government, both State and Federal, are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 74.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of animal product feedingstuffs, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1363.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 74. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 74 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modifications thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no applications under this Section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 74.*

§ 1363.58 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 74, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Feedingstuffs" means commodities used as such or as ingredients in the manufacture of mixed feeds for the feeding of livestock and poultry. The term

PART 1362—CERAMIC PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 75—DEAD-BURNED GRAIN MAGNESITE

The most widely employed basic refractory material is dead-burned magnesite which is used in brick form largely to line basic open hearth steel and other metallurgical furnaces, and in grain form to maintain these furnaces by providing a protective covering for the refractory brick, principally on the furnace bottom. Price Schedule No. 75 establishes maximum prices only for the maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite.

Dead-burned magnesite is made by calcining crude magnesite (magnesium carbonate) or brucite (magnesium hydroxide) at high temperatures or by chemically processing brines or seawater bitterns. In the past the United States has imported substantial quantities of dead-burned magnesite, but the spread of war has almost entirely shut off foreign sources of supply. Existing domestic facilities are inadequate to satisfy expanded demands arising from increased output of steel, copper, and other materials required by the war effort. As a consequence, capacities of the domestic producers of dead-burned grain magnesite have been subject to vigorous competing demands of steel companies seeking maintenance material, and of refiners and smelters of non-ferrous metals and metallurgical products, and of brick manufacturers requiring other grades of grain magnesite.

The Office of Price Administration has determined that the establishment of maximum prices for maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite is essential to preserve price stability and prevent undue price rises and is necessary to protect consumers, the industry, and the national economy. Adoption of the prevailing market price as the maximum contained in Price Schedule No. 75 was determined to be fair and reasonable after extensive investigation; discussions with the Office of Production Management, and full consideration of all relevant factors, including the need of encouraging domestic production, and after a conference with the industry.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1362.1 Maximum prices for maintenance grades of dead-burned magnesite. (a) On and after January 28, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite in carload quantities at prices higher than the maximum price.

(b) The maximum price for maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite in bulk shall be $22.00 a ton f. o. b. Chewelah, Washington. A delivered price in excess of the maximum f. o. b. Chewelah price may be charged, consisting of such maximum price plus railroad freight from Chewelah to the point of delivery designated by the purchaser.

(c) The maximum price for maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite in bags or sacks shall be the maximum price stated in paragraph (b) above, plus $4.00 a ton to cover the cost of packaging.

(d) The following exception to the maximum price set forth above has been granted: In sales by the Westvaco Chlorine Products Corporation from its Patterson plant to its regular customers located in California, the maximum price shall be $32.00 a ton f. o. b. Chewelah, Washington. Additions for delivered prices and sales in bags or sacks shall be the same as set forth above. This exception is subject to the terms and conditions contained in a letter from the Office of Price Administration to said company, dated February 9, 1942.*

[Paragraph (d) added by amendment February 9, 1942; effective February 9, 1942; 7 F.R. 935]

§ 1362.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by Price Schedule No. 75 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1362.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 75 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite, alone or in conjunction with any other material; or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge; or by a tying-agreement or other trade understanding; or by making terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on January 6, 1942; or by any other means.*

§ 1362.4 Records and reports. Every person who, during any calendar month after January 1942, shall purchase or sell one carload or more of maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, a complete and accurate record of each such purchase or sale showing (a) the date thereof, (b) the name and address of the buyer and the seller, (c) the point of delivery to the buyer, (d) the price paid or received, (e) whether the grain magnesite was shipped in bulk or in bags or sacks, and (f) the quantities sold or purchased

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 75 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1362.5 Affirmation of compliance. On or before April 10, 1942, and on or before the tenth day of April, July, September, and January thereafter, every seller required by section 1362.4 to keep records, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., an affirmation of compliance on Form 175:1, containing a sworn statement that during such months all sales governed by Price Schedule No. 75 were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 75 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 175:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1362.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 75, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 75, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, and (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 75; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 75 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and

(d) that the procurement and other services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 75. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1362.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 75. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 75 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 75.*

§ 1362.8 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 75, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Delivered price" means the price including all commissions and freight to the railroad siding nearest the location designated by the purchaser;

(c) "Carload quantity" means a shipment of maintenance grades of domestic dead-burned grain magnesite the weight of which is sufficient to constitute a carload shipment or on which the charges would be collected at the car load rate under the tariffs of the railroad furnishing the car.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 76—HIDE GLUE

Hide glue is an essential adhesive used in the production of abrasives, furniture, printing press rollers, paper products, gum tape, rayon and matches. Abrasives produced from hide glue play an important part in the grinding and polishing of metals required in the manufacture of armaments.

As a direct consequence of expanded economic activity induced by the armament program, the demand for hide glue has risen greatly in recent months. In spite of increased production in 1941, there is a shortage of this commodity which is reflected in a sharp reduction in producers' inventories. The price of hide glue (251 gram jelly strength) in bags, carlot quantities, has increased from less than 17¢ per pound at the end of 1940 to 23¢ per pound at the close of 1941. This advance in price is only partly due to increased costs of production. Further price increases are threatened.

A major item in the cost of producing hide glue has recently been stabilized by the issuance of Price Schedule No. 68, establishing maximum prices for hide glue stock, from which hide glue is manufactured.

After investigation and conferences with members of the hide glue industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that maximum prices should be established for hide glue to prevent inflationary trends in the prices of hide glue and many other related commodities.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.701 Maximum prices for hide glue. On and after January 28, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer hide glue in quantities of 100 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of hide glue in quantities of 100 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.709.*

*§§ 1335.701 to 1335.709, inclusive issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875; 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.703 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 76 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of hide glue, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.704 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales of hide glue in quantities of 100 pounds or more after January 27, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the kind and size of the containers of the hide glue purchased or sold.

(b) On or before March 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every jobber, who during the preceding calendar month has sold hide glue in containers of 100 pounds or more, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affidavit sworn to by such jobber showing for such previous calendar month (1) the aggregate amounts in pounds of his purchases and sales of hide glue; (2) the aggregate amount in pounds of his sales of hide glue for which he charged prices in excess of the maximum prices for sales by producers established by Price Schedule No. 76; (3) and such other information as the Office of Price Administration shall require.

(c) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 76, shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.705 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 76, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 76, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 76; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 76 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 76.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of hide glue, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.706 Modification of Price Schedule No. 76. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 76 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 76.*

§ 1335.707 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 76, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Hide glue" means hide glue, including chrome glue and coney glue, of the grades listed in § 1335.709, Appendix A, hereof;

PART 1345—COKE

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 77—BEEHIVE OVEN FURNACE COKE PRODUCED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Maximum prices have already been established for pig iron (Price Schedule No. 10 [1]) and iron and steel scrap (Price Schedule No. 4 [2]), as well as by-product furnace and foundry coke (Price Schedule No. 29 [3]), vital elements of iron and steel costs. In the increased production of iron and steel necessitated by war requirements, beehive oven furnace coke becomes an essential raw material. Without question, the tremendous steel production achieved in 1941 would have been impossible without the greatly expanded use of beehive ovens located principally in Pennsylvania.

With only partial control of coke prices, the bidding of consumers is being diverted from by-product furnace and foundry coke now covered by a ceiling price regulation, with the creation of a constantly increasing pressure on prices of beehive oven furnace coke. A further upward movement of beehive oven furnace coke prices would unquestionably exert undue pressure on the costs and therefore the prices of iron and steel products which constitute the backbone of the war requirements. Prices of beehive oven furnace coke produced in Pennsylvania have risen during the 8-months period from January 1941 to October 1941 approximately 80¢ per ton, or about 15% of the market price. Since October 1, 1941, its price has been maintained with difficulty at $6.00 per ton f. o. b. cars ovens, Connellsville, Pennsylvania.

After full investigation and conferences with representatives of the coke industry, it has been determined that the establishment at this time of maximum prices for beehive oven furnace coke produced in Pennsylvania is in the interest of our national defense and the public welfare.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1345.51 Maximum delivered prices for beehive oven furnace coke produced in Pennsylvania. On and after January 26, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, beehive oven furnace coke produced in Pennsylvania to any consumer, and no consumer shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of beehive oven furnace coke produced in Pennsylvania at a delivered price higher than $6.00 per net ton f. o. b. cars ovens Connellsville, Pennsylvania, plus the transportation charges from Connellsville, Pennsylvania, to the place of delivery as customarily computed.*

PART 1335—CHEMICALS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 78—OXALIC ACID

Oxalic acid is an organic acid used in the tanning of leather, in the production of celluloid, rayon, and blueprint paper, and for many other industrial purposes. It is also used in the manufacture of an explosive called "pentaerythritol."

As a direct consequence of expanded economic activity induced by the national defense program, the demand for oxalic acid has increased greatly in the last year. The price charged by producers for crystalline oxalic acid in barrels, carlot quantities, which had remained at 10¾ cents per pound for five years, increased between July 1 and October 1, 1941, to 11¼ cents per pound. Numerous sales by resellers have been reported at prices ranging from twenty to forty cents per pound. Further price increases are threatened.

After investigation and conferences with members of the oxalic acid industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that there are no justifiable reasons for prices of crystalline oxalic acid in barrels, carlot quantities, in excess of 11¼ cents per pound. Increases in such prices at this time would, therefore, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.551 Maximum prices for oxalic acid. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer oxalic acid in containers of 100 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of oxalic acid in containers of 100 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.559.*

*§§ 1335.551 to 1335.559 inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.553. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 78 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of oxalic acid, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of grades of oxalic acid or otherwise.*

§ 1335.554 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of oxalic acid in containers of 100 pounds or more after February 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the kind and size of the containers, of the oxalic acid purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 78 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§1335.555 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 78, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 78, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 78; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 78 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 78.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of oxalic acid, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.556 Modification of Price Schedule No. 78. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 78 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 78.*

§ 1335.557 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 78, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity;

(b) "Oxalic acid" means crystalline and powdered oxalic acid.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 79—CARBON TETRACHLORIDE

Carbon tetrachloride is an important chemical used in dry cleaning fluids, fire extinguishers, fumigants, and the production of refrigerants. It is also used for the cleaning of machine tools and metal parts employed in the manufacture of airplane engines, military trucks, munitions and many other products.

As a result of economic activity induced by defense expenditures, there has been a substantial increase in the demand for carbon tetrachloride. A shortage of chlorine, essential in the manufacture of carbon tetrachloride, has restricted expansion in the production of the latter chemical. Consequently, the supply of carbon tetrachloride is inadequate. Producers' prices, after remaining constant for nearly three years, were increased on October 1, 1941, from the base price of 66 cents per gallon for drums in carload lots to 73 cents per gallon. Prices charged by resellers have advanced, in some instances, to two or three times their previous levels. Further price increases are threatened.

After complete investigation and conferences with members of the industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has determined that maximum prices should be established for carbon tetrachloride to prevent inflationary price trends in this commodity and that the maximum prices set forth below are fair and equitable.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.601 Maximum prices for carbon tetrachloride. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer carbon tetrachloride in containers of five gallons or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of carbon tetrachloride in containers of five gallons or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.609.*

*§§ 1335.601 to 1335.609, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.603 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 79 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of carbon tetrachloride, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.604 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of carbon tetrachloride in containers of five gallons or more on and after February 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity including the size of the containers of the carbon tetrachloride purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 79 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.605 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 79, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 79, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 79; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 79 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 79.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of carbon tetrachloride, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.606 Modification of Price Schedule No. 79. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 79 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 79.*

§ 1335.607 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 79, the term:

(a) "Person" means an additional partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 80—LITHOPONE

A sharp increase in the demand for lithopone has occurred in recent months as a result of the national defense program. Lithopone is an extremely important chemical, essential in the production of a great many products necessary to the armed forces and civilian population.

After investigation and conferences with other government agencies and representatives of the industry, the Office of Price Administration, in December 1941, entered into an agreement with all of the producers of lithopone whereby it was agreed that lithopone would not be sold at prices in excess of $.0425 per pound for the normal grade delivered in bags in Eastern Territory.

Speculation by others than producers has greatly increased the resale prices of lithopone. These speculative prices are threatening to rise to even higher levels. It is necessary to curb such speculation, not only to prevent inflationary rises in the price of lithopone, but also to eliminate the danger of price rises in other industries that use lithopone.

[1] Issued: 7 F.R. 586. Corrected: 7 F.R. 619.

PART 1303—ZINC

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 81—PRIMARY SLAB ZINC

The Office of Price Administration, being charged with the maintenance of price stability and the prevention of undue price rises and price dislocations, has determined that the establishment of maximum prices for primary slab zinc is essential in order to accomplish these purposes and is in the interest of national defense and the national welfare.

The present supply of zinc does not suffice to meet both military and essential civilian needs. The combination of increased demand and insufficient supply threatens the stability of the price of zinc, any increase in which is reflected in the cost of the war effort and tends to contribute to an inflationary spiral. Primary producers, recognizing the importance of these factors to the national welfare, have cooperated with the Office of Price Administration in preventing increases in slab zinc prices charged by them. However, because of the stringency of the supply situation, zinc sales have taken place during recent months at prices considerably in excess of those approved by the Office of Price Administration.

After careful investigation and consultation, it has been determined that the maximum prices set forth herein are fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1303.51 Maximum prices on sales of primary slab zinc. On and after January 29, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer primary slab zinc, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of primary slab zinc, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1303.59: Provided, however, That sales of primary slab zinc, resulting from production in excess of any quota established by the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration, made to Metals Reserve Company shall be excepted from the terms of Price Schedule No. 81.*

*§§ 1303.51 to 1303.59, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875; 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1303.53 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 81 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of primary slab zinc, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Any purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of primary slab zinc in quantities less than requested by the buyer in order to enable the seller to obtain a higher less-than-carload-lot differential shall be considered to be an evasion of Price Schedule No. 81: Provided, That the buyer is willing to accept delivery of the requested quantity in a single shipment.

(c) (1) Any agreement or transaction entered into after January 29, 1942, in connection with which any ore or other material containing zinc is processed or treated on toll to obtain primary slab zinc therefrom shall be considered to be an evasion of Price Schedule No. 81 unless such agreement or transaction has first been approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration.

(2) Any such agreement entered into on or before January 29, 1942, and not completed on that date, may be completed at contract prices provided that

(i) full details of such agreement, and such other pertinent information as may be requested, are reported by each party thereto to the Office of Price Administration on or before February 28, 1942, and (ii) such agreement shall be completed on or before April 1, 1942, or such later date as may be permitted upon application made to the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1303.54 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of primary slab zinc after January 28, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity in pounds or tons of each kind or grade purchased or sold; and (b) the quantity in pounds or tons of primary slab zinc (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 81 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1303.55 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 81, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 81, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 81; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 81, which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 81. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of primary slab zinc, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1303.56 Modification of Price Schedule No. 81. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 81 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 81 and all other Schedules issued by the Office of Price Administration.*

PART 1349—ELECTRICAL GENERATION, TRANSMISSION, CONVERSION AND DISTRIBUTION APPARATUS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 82—WIRE, CABLE AND CABLE ACCESSORIES

The production of wire and cable products is essential both to this country's war program and to its civilian economy. Wire, cable and cable accessories are integral parts of every communication and power distribution system, ranging from far-flung utility operations to the more localized requirements of battleships, airplanes and tanks. Since January 1, 1941, prices of many types of wire and cable have been increased between five and twenty-five percent. On October 29, 1941, therefore, manufacturers of these products were requested not to increase prices over the level prevailing on October 15, 1941, pending a further study of the industry.

After numerous conferences with representative members of the industry and a study of costs and other factors relevant to the production and sale of wire and cable products it has been decided that the prices in effect on October 15, 1941, with the modifications contained herein, are fair and equitable and that the informal request should be supplanted by a formal Price Schedule.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1349.1 Maximum prices for wire, cable and cable accessories. (a) On and after January 29, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in paragraph (c) below, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer wire, cable or cable accessories and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of wire, cable or cable accessories at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1349.10 and 1349.11.*

*§§ 1349.1 to 1349.11 inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

(b) On and after January 29, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract or other commitment, except as provided in paragraph (c) below, no person shall make a charge for rolling bars into rods or drawing wire therefrom in excess of the net charge made for similar operations on October 15, 1941, or on the latest date prior thereto on which such operation was performed.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any contract entered into by a manufacturer prior to November 1, 1941, nor to any contract entered into by the Army, Navy, Defense Plant Corporation, Maritime Commission, Panama Canal or the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department or any other agency of the United States prior to the effective date of Price Schedule No. 82.

(d) Nothing in this section shall prevent the inclusion in any contract for the sale of wire, cable or cable accessories of a provision for price adjustment to be applied only to those deliveries called for and made more than nine months after the date on which the contract is entered into: Provided, That the contract also contains a provision that the final prices, after all adjustments, will in no case exceed the maximum prices established by the Office of Price Administration at the dates of delivery. Any other form of price adjustment provision, whether contractual or set forth in a manufacturer's price list or discount sheet, purporting to establish automatic or other adjustment of the price of wire, cable or cable accessories, in the event of an increase in any cost or for any other reason shall be deemed a violation of Price Schedule No. 82 and of no effect.*

§ 1349.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 82 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

[1] Issued: 7 F.R. 601. Amended: 7 F.R. 701.

§ 1349.4 Records and reports. (a) Every manufacturer of wire, cable, or cable accessories making any sale after January 29, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale, showing (1) the date thereof, (2) the name and address of the buyer, (3) the price on the date of sale, (4) the net price received, and (5) the quantity and description of the wire, cable or cable accessories sold.

(b) Every person rolling bars into rods or drawing wire therefrom, after January 29, 1942, for a manufacturer of wire, cable or cable accessories, where bars or rods are furnished by such manufacturer, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such transaction, showing (1) the date thereof, (2) the name and address of the manufacturer for whom the operation was performed, (3) the net charge, and (4) description of the size, quality and quantity of wire drawn or bars rolled.

(c) On or before February 20, 1942, every manufacturer of wire, cable or cable accessories shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., if it has not already done so, price lists and discount sheets setting forth prices and all extra charges, discounts and allowances applicable on October 15, 1941 to wire, cable and cable accessories offered for sale by such manufacturer.*

(d) If the maximum prices of wire, cable or cable accessories are to be determined in accordance with the provisions of Appendix B hereof, incorporated herein as § 1349.11, the manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the specifications of such wire, cable or cable accessories, the proposed price, price or cost estimate sheets employing costs existing on October 15, 1941, the proposed billing date, a statement that the procedures and standards employed in estimating costs and determining prices are the same as those employed on October 15, 1941, and the increase, if any, based on lead content, all certified by an authorized agent of the manufacturer having knowledge of the facts. Such information shall be submitted by mail postmarked not less than twenty days before the proposed date of billing of such wire, cable or cable accessories, and such price shall be the maximum price unless an objection is made by the Office of Price Administration by mail postmarked not less than five days before such proposed billing date.

(e) Every manufacturer of wire, cable or cable accessories shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., any price lists or discount sheets issued subsequent to October 15, 1941, immediately after issuance and shall submit such information in the form of price data, cost data, profit and loss statements and balance sheets in such form and at such times as may be required by the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1349.5 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 82, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 82, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see: (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 82, (c) that full advantage will be taken of the various political subdivisions of state, county and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 82, (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 82, and (e) that the War Production Board is requested to direct the withholding of priority ratings and the allocation of materials to any person failing to comply with Price Schedule No. 82.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or of manipulation of prices of wire, cable or cable accessories are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1349.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 82. Persons claiming hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 82 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 82.*

PART 1336—RADIO, X-RAY, AND COMMUNICATION APPARATUS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 83—RADIO RECEIVERS AND PHONOGRAPHS

Radio constitutes an important factor in defense. Besides serving as a source of news and of entertainment vital to morale, it furnishes the principal channel through which civilian defense authorities are enabled to disseminate directions and intelligence necessary to the public safety.

During 1941, wholesale and retail prices of radio equipment for domestic use have increased substantially. Demand for radio equipment, at an all-time high during 1941, is likely to be accentuated by the nation's entry into war. Supply is seriously threatened by shortages of critical materials needed for the production of armaments, and by the prospect that much of the industry's capacity will be diverted to the manufacture of radio materials for the armed forces of this country and its allies. These conditions create danger of further increases to unwarranted levels and require the application of effective controls.

In order to prevent nullification of the Schedule, limited restrictions are imposed upon model changes, as a temporary measure. These restrictions, in their present form, expire on December 31, 1942.

Electrical phonographs employ many of the same components as radios and are frequently combined with radios in a combination unit. They are subject to similar price influences and are, therefore, included in Price Schedule No. 83.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1336.51 Maximum prices for radio receiving sets and phonographs. On and after February 9, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any radio receiving set or phonograph at a price higher than the maximum price.

(a) Current models offered for sale on or before October 15, 1941. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any current model of radio receiving set or phonograph offered during the period July 15, 1941, to October 15, 1941, inclusive for sale during such period shall be the highest net price, f. o. b. seller's point of shipment and exclusive of federal excise tax, at which such model was billed by the manufacturer for a delivery made during such period or, if there was no such billing, the highest net price, exclusive of federal excise tax, at any time quoted in writing by the manufacturer for a delivery during such period to the same person or a person of the same general class.

(b) Current models first offered for sale after October 15, 1941. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any current model of radio receiving set or phonograph first offered after October 15, 1941 for sale after such date shall be (1) until the Office of Price Administration has approved a price on the basis of a report to it in accordance with § 1336.54 (a) the highest net price f. o. b. seller's point of shipment, and exclusive of federal excise tax, at which such model was billed by the manufacturer for a delivery made before February 9, 1942 (or, if there was no such billing, the highest net price, exclusive of federal excise tax, at any time quoted in writing by the manufacturer for a delivery prior to February 9, 1942), to the same person or a person of the same general class, and (2) after such approval, shall be such approved price.

(c) Cost-plus contracts—(1) Completion of outstanding cost-plus contracts. The maximum price for any radio receiving set or phonograph delivered by the manufacturer after February 9, 1942, in order to complete a cost-plus contract outstanding on such date shall be determined by the terms of such contract.

(2) Future cost-plus contracts. On and after February 9, 1942, no radio receiving set or phonograph shall be sold, delivered, or transferred under a cost-plus contract not outstanding on such date until the manufacturer has submitted a copy of such contract to the Office of Price Administration, and the Office of Price Administration has approved such contract in writing. No such cost-plus contract will be approved unless (i) it is in writing and (ii) expires on a definite date stipulated therein or after delivery thereunder of a specified number of units.

(d) Discontinued models. A manufacturer who has at any time discontinued sale of any model may thereafter restore such model to his line and sell, offer for sale, transfer or deliver it at a maximum price no higher than the price in effect at the date of discontinuance, provided such price was not in violation of Price Schedule No. 83.

(e) Other models. The maximum price for any model other than a model referred to in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section shall be the price provided for such model in § 1336.53 hereof.*

*§§ 1336.51 to 1336.62, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1336.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Price Schedule No. 83 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

§ 1336.53 Limitation of model changes and maximum prices for new models. Between February 9, 1942, and December 31, 1942, inclusive, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any model of radio receiving set or phonograph other than a model referred to in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of § 1336.51 except as provided in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section.

(a) Replacement type models. Ten days before first offering it for sale, a manufacturer wishing to offer for sale a model replacing or similar to any other model in his line at that time, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an application on Form 183:1 for permission to take such action, containing (1) the specifications and description (including catalog, if any) of such model and (2) satisfactory evidence that the specifications of such model do not differ from those of such other model in a manner tending to degrade quality. Ten days after the mailing of such application, the manufacturer may sell, offer for sale, deliver or transfer such model at a price no higher than the maximum price for such other model.

(b) Models in process. A manufacturer wishing to offer for sale a model in process on the effective date of Price Schedule No. 83, which because of design and specifications cannot qualify under paragraph (a) hereof, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an application on Form 183:2 for permission to take such action, containing (1) satisfactory evidence (i) that the model cannot qualify under paragraph (a) hereof, (ii) that the design and specifications of the model were completed before the effective date of Price Schedule No. 83, (iii) that firm commitments for parts or cabinet of such model were made by the manufacturer prior to the effective date of Price Schedule No. 83, and (iv) that any of such parts or cabinet are usable by such manufacturer only in such model, and (2) the specifications and description (including catalog, if any) and the proposed maximum price for such model. If the Office of Price Administration approves the application, the manufacturer may sell, offer for sale, deliver or transfer such model at a price no higher than the maximum price stipulated in such approval.

(c) Models using new developments. A manufacturer wishing to offer for sale a model embodying a new technical development shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an application on Form 183:3 for permission to take such action, containing (1) the specifications and description (including catalog, if any) and proposed maximum price for such model, and (2) satisfactory evidence that such model embodies a new technical development. If the Office of Price Administration approves the application, the manufacturer may sell, offer for sale, deliver or transfer such model at a price no higher than the maximum price stipulated in such approval.

(d) Necessary substitutions. Manufacturers may change the specifications of any model, provided such change does not increase the price thereof, if (1) the material previously used is (i) unavailable or prohibitive in cost or (ii) its use in radio receiving sets or phonographs is so restricted by a priority or allocation order or other regulation of a federal agency as to require the proposed change, or (iii) the proposed change will result in substantial conservation of strategic materials, and (2) the change is calculated to preserve quality.

(e) A manufacturer may at any time change the cabinet finish of any model or may add to his line at any time a model differing from an existing model only in respect of cabinet finish, provided the price is not thereby increased over the price of the existing model.*

§ 1336.54 Reports—(a) Current models. On or before March 15, 1942, every manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration on Form 183:4 (1) the maximum prices, as determined by paragraph (a) of § 1336.51 hereof, the general specifications and description in effect on October 15, 1941, for each current model offered for sale during the period from July 15, 1941, to October 15, 1941, inclusive, and (2) the maximum prices, as determined by paragraph (b) of § 1336.51 hereof, and the general specifications and description in effect on the effective date of Price Schedule No. 83 for each current model first offered for sale after October 15, 1941. If the general specifications and description of any model are set forth in a catalog, a manufacturer may submit such catalog to the Office of Price Administration in lieu of any other specifications and description of such model.

(b) Substitutions of component parts. Not later than March 15, 1942, every manufacturer shall submit a report to the Office of Price Administration on Form 183:5 describing all substitutions of component parts made in any model between February 9, 1942, and February 28, 1942, inclusive, pursuant to § 1336.53 (d); and not later than the 10th day of May, July, September and November, 1942, and January 1943, shall submit a similar report covering two months immediately preceding the month in which each such report is made.

(c) Changes of cabinet finish. Within 10 days after taking any action authorized by § 1336.53 (e), every manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration on Form 183:6 a report describing the action taken.

(d) Cost-plus contracts. On or before March 15, 1942, every manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a copy of each of his cost-plus contracts for the sale of radio receiving sets and phonographs, outstanding on February 8, 1942. Any such contract which is not in writing shall be reduced to writing before March 15, 1942.

(e) Discontinued models. (1) On or before March 15, 1942, every manufacturer who has discontinued sale of any model of radio receiving set or phonograph offered for sale during the period from July 15, 1941, to January 31, 1942, inclusive, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on Form 183:7 containing identification of such model, the date of and reason for discontinuing production thereof, and the total number of completed units thereof produced during such period. A model shall be deemed discontinued when notice of discontinuance is given by the manufacturer to his customers.

(2) Within 30 days after any manufacturer discontinues sale of any model of radio receiving set or phonograph after January 31, 1942, he shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on Form 183:7 containing identification of such model, the date and reason for discontinuing production thereof, and the total number of completed units produced from July 15, 1941, to the date of discontinuance.

(f) Monthly output of radio receiving sets and phonographs. On or before March 15, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter every manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration on Form 183:8 a report setting forth the total number of completed units of each model of radio receiving set and phonograph produced by him in the preceding month. Such report shall refer to the model number or other appropriate designation of each such model. If a report containing such information is required to be submitted to any other federal agency, a copy therof may be filed with the Office of Price Administration at the time it is filed with such other agency instead of a separate report on Form 183:8.

(g) Other reports. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 83 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1336.55 Evasion. The limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 83 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the manufacture of radio receiving sets or phonographs by deterioration of quality, or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of any radio receiving set or phonograph alone or in conjunction with any other article, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making rebates, discounts or other terms and conditions of sale less favorable to the purchaser than those available or in effect on October 15, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1336.56 Records. Every manufacturer making sales of radio receiving sets or phonographs on or after February 9, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the name and number or other designation of each unit, the price received therefor and the quantity of each unit sold.*

§ 1336.57 Affirmations of compliance. On or before April 1, 1942, and quarterly thereafter, every manufacturer who is required to keep records of sales under § 1336.56 hereof shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 183:9, containing a sworn statement that during such period all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 83 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 183:9 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x $10^{1}/_{2}$ inch paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1336.58 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 83, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 83, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 83; and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 83. Persons who have evidence of the receipt or demand of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of radio receiving sets or phonographs or of the hoarding or accumulation or unnecessary inventories thereof are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1336.59 Modification of Price Schedule No. 83. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 83 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That, no application under this Section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 83.

PART 1336—RADIO, X-RAY, AND COMMUNICATION APPARATUS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 84—RADIO RECEIVER AND PHONOGRAPH PARTS

Radio constitutes an important factor in defense. Besides serving as a source of news and of entertainment vital to morale, it furnishes the principal channel through which civilian defense authorities are enabled to disseminate directions and intelligence necessary to the public safety.

During 1941, prices of parts for radios for domestic use have increased substantially and such increases have in many instances caused advances in prices of radio receiving sets. Demand for radio equipment, at an all-time high during 1941, is likely to be accentuated by the nation's entry into war. Supply of radio parts is seriously threatened by shortages of critical materials needed for the production of armaments and by the prospect that much of the industry's capacity will be diverted to the production of radio materials for the armed forces of this country and its allies. These conditions create danger of further increases to unwarranted levels and require the application of suitable controls.

The various branches of the industry may be found to require separate treatment after full economic data is at hand. Pending completion of a comprehensive study, it is essential to stabilize the price structure on a temporary basis.

Electrical phonographs employ many of the same parts as radios, and are frequently combined with radios in a combination unit. Phonograph parts are thus subject to price influences similar to those which affect radio parts, and are, therefore, included in Price Schedule No. 84.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1336.101 Maximum prices for radio receiving set and phonograph parts. On and after February 9, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any radio or phonograph part at a price higher than the maximum price.

(a) Parts sold and offered for sale between July 15, 1941, and October 15, 1941. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any part offered during the period between July 15, 1941, and October 15, 1941, inclusive, for sale during such period, shall be the highest net price f. o. b. seller's point of shipment and exclusive of federal excise tax, at which such part was billed by the manufacturer for delivery during such period, or if there was no such billing, the highest net price, exclusive of federal excise tax, at any time quoted in writing by the manufacturer for a delivery during such period to the same person or a person of the same general class.

(b) New parts offered before October 15, 1941, for sale thereafter. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for a part offered before October 15, 1941, to be delivered for the first time after such date, shall be the highest net price f. o. b. seller's point of shipment and exclusive of federal excise tax, quoted in writing by the manufacturer for such part before October 15, 1941.

(c) Parts first offered for sale between October 16, 1941, and February 9, 1942. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any part offered for the first time during the period between October 16, 1941, and February 9, 1942, inclusive, for sale during or after such period, shall be (1) until the Office of Price Administration has approved a price on the basis of a report to it in accordance with § 1336.103 (a), the highest net price f. o. b. seller's point of shipment, and exclusive of federal excise tax, at which such part was billed by the manufacturer for a delivery made on or before February 9, 1942, (or, if there was no such billing, the highest net price, exclusive of federal excise tax, at any time quoted in writing by the manufacturer for a delivery of such part to the same person or a person of the same general class, and (2) after such approval, shall be such approved price.

(d) Parts first offered for sale after February 9, 1942. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any part offered for the first time after February 9, 1942, for sale after such date shall be the price approved by the Office of Price Administration on the basis of a report to it in accordance with § 1336.103 (b).

(e) Parts sold pursuant to cost-plus contracts—(1) Completion of outstanding cost-plus contracts. The maximum price for any part delivered by the manufacturer after February 9, 1942, in order to complete a cost-plus contract outstanding on such date shall be determined by the terms of such contract.

(2) Future cost-plus contracts. After February 9, 1942, no part shall be sold, delivered, or transferred under a cost-plus contract not outstanding on such date until the manufacturer has submitted such contract to the Office of Price Administration, and the Office of Price Administration has approved such contract in writing. No such contract will be approved unless it (i) is in writing, and (ii) expires on a definite date stipulated therein or after delivery thereunder of a specified number of units.*

*§§ 1336.101 to 1336.110, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R., 1917, 4483.

§ 1336.102 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Price Schedule No. 84 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

(b) Parts first offered for sale after February 9, 1942. A manufacturer wishing to obtain approval of the maximum price for a part referred to in § 1336.101 (d) shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an application for such approval containing a description of such part and stating the proposed price therefor. If within ten days after the mailing of such application, it has not been disapproved by the Office of Price Administration, the manufacturer may sell, offer for sale, deliver or transfer such part at the proposed price.

(c) Cost-plus contracts. On or before March 15, 1942, every manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a copy of each of his cost-plus contracts for the sale of parts, outstanding on February 9, 1942. Any such contract which is not in writing shall be reduced to writing before March 15, 1942.

(d) Other reports. Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 84 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1336.104 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 84 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the manufacture of radio or phonograph parts by deterioration of quality or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of any radio or phonograph part alone or in conjunction with any other article or by subdividing and selling separately the components of an assembled unit, or by way of any service, transportation, or other charge or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making rebates, discounts or other terms and conditions of sale less favorable to the purchaser than those available or in effect on October 15, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1336.106 Affirmations of compliance. On or before April 1, 1942, and quarterly thereafter, every manufacturer who is required to keep records of sales under § 1336.105 hereof shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 184:1, containing a sworn statement that during such period all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 84 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 184:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the Form and that it is reproduced on 8 x $10^{1}/_{2}$ inch paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

PART 1360—MOTOR VEHICLES AND MOTOR VEHICLE EQUIPMENT

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 85—NEW PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES

The complete diversion of automobile manufacturing facilities to war work has brought the production of passenger automobiles to an end. Rationing Order No. 2 of the Office of Price Administration restricts the sale of new automobiles to those persons who can show a need related to the public interest. Price Schedule No. 85 establishes maximum wholesale and retail prices for new passenger automobiles as a measure of coordination with the rationing program.

Prices announced by automobile manufacturers at the beginning of the 1942 model year represented an average advance of 14% over 1941 prices. At the request of the Office of Price Administration, each manufacturer agreed not to change the announced prices without prior consultation with the Office. Price Schedule No. 85 serves to formalize that agreement.

An investigation undertaken by the Office of Price Administration with respect to retail prices showed a general upward trend although there was a wide variation in prices among dealers. The rise in price had been effected not by an increase in the list price but by means of an advance in charges for handling and delivery, for services to be rendered after delivery, and for transportation. Price Schedule No. 85 fixes the maximum amount which may be charged at retail based on the list price established by the manufacturer, and the maximum charges which may be added for transportation and handling and delivery.

Because dealers and manufacturers may be obliged to carry their inventories over an abnormally long period due to the rationing program, the prices established are subject to monthly adjustment upward to compensate for the added burden.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1360.51 Maximum wholesale prices for new passenger automobiles. (a) On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer, distributor, or exporter of new passenger automobiles shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer a new passenger automobile to any person at a price higher than the maximum price. The maximum price shall be the highest price prevailing for the same make and model between October 1, 1941, and October 15, 1941, for the same class of purchaser, except that, in the case of the Packard Motor Car Company and the Crosley Corporation the maximum price shall be the highest price prevailing on the effective date of Price Schedule No. 85.

(b) In the event that the automobile is without equipment which was standard on October 15, 1941, the maximum price shall be reduced by the wholesale value of the equipment removed.

(c) To the maximum price may be added an amount equal to 1% of the list price of the automobile, or $15, whichever is lower, for each calendar month or greater part thereof, after January 31, 1942, which elapses prior to the sale of the automobile by the manufacturer, distributor or exporter.*

*§§ 1360.51 to 1360.61, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1360.52 Maximum retail price for new passenger automobiles. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer a new passenger automobile with standard equipment as of October 15, 1941, at retail, at a price higher than the maximum retail price for the automobile, which shall be the sum of the following items:

(a) The manufacturer's list price at the factory for the automobile with standard equipment as of October 15, 1941, as shown for each make and model of automobile in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1360.61.

(1) If the automobile is without equipment which was standard on October 15, 1941, the list price shall be reduced by the retail value of the equipment removed.

(b) The Federal Excise Tax.

(c) An allowance for transportation which shall not exceed the actual rail freight charge for the transportation of the automobile from the factory to dealer at carload rate.

(d) An allowance of 5% of (a) and (c) above, or $75.00, whichever is lower, which includes the charge for handling and delivery, for which the dealer shall render all of the services customarily performed in order to prepare the automobile for delivery to the purchaser and all of the factory recommended get-ready and delivery operations.

(e) An amount equal to 1% of the list price of the automobile, or $15, whichever is lower, for each calendar month or greater part thereof, after January 31, 1942, which elapses prior to the sale of the automobile to the purchaser.*

§ 1360.53 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth above may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1360.54 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 85 shall not be evaded either by direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, delivery or transfer of a new passenger automobile, alone or in conjunction with any other consideration or by way of any commission, charge for transportation, for equipment, for handling or delivery services, or by the removal of parts or equipment from an automobile.

(b) No buyer of a new passenger automobile shall be required, as a condition of the sale, to agree to purchase any equipment other than standard equipment as defined by the manufacturer, or any after-delivery services. The price demanded for any such equipment or services shall be separately listed on the invoice or bill of sale given to the buyer, and on any price tag, display sign, or other advertising used by the dealer in connection with the sale or display of a new passenger automobile.

The State and local taxes imposed on the transaction and payable by the buyer, and the charge imposed under § 1360.52 (e) hereof, shall also be separately listed on the invoice or bill of sale.

Nor shall any buyer of a new passenger automobile be required, as a condition of the sale of a new passenger automobile, to agree to make payment over a period of time, nor to finance the purchase of the automobile through any lending agency, nor to agree to a transfer to the seller of a used car, in part payment of the purchase price.*

§ 1360.55. Records and reports. (a) Within twenty days of the effective date of Price Schedule No. 85, each manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration a list of standard equipment as of October 15, 1941, for each make and model of passenger automobile manufactured by him.

(b) Every manufacturer, distributor, or exporter of, or retail dealer in, new passenger automobiles after the effective date of Price Schedule No. 85 shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each sale of a new passenger automobile, showing the date thereof, the make and model, the name and adress of the buyer, the price paid, and the make, model, model year, and valuation of any automobile which may be accepted in part payment of the purchase price, and any other consideration which may be accepted in payment of the price of the new passenger automobile.

(c) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 85 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1360.56. Notices to be posted. Every retail dealer in new passenger automobiles shall post in a conspicuous place on his premises where new passenger automobiles are offered for sale, a notice not less than 18 inches by 24 inches in size which shall set forth in legible fashion the following:

(a) Section 1360.52 in its entirety;

(b) The make and model of each new passenger automobile offered for sale, accompanied by a break-down of the maximum retail price for the automobile, as specified in paragraphs (a) through (e) inclusive of § 1360.52 and the actual price charged for the automobile;

(c) A statement that lower prices may legally be charged or demanded;

(d) A statement that no buyer is required, as a condition of sale of a new passenger automobile, to agree to buy any equipment other than standard equipment as defined by the manufacturer, or any after-delivery services, or to agree to make payment over a period of time or to finance the purchase of the automobile through any lending agency or to agree to the sale of a used car in payment of the purchase price.*

§ 1360.57. Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the provisions of Price Schedule No. 85, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 85, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 85; and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 85. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, or demand of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1360.58 Modification of Price Schedule No. 85. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 85 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 85.*

§ 1360.59 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 85, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity;

(b) "Retail dealer" means any person engaged in the business of offering automobiles for sale to the public;

(c) "Manufacturer" means any person who manufactures passenger automobiles for sale to distributors or retail dealers.

(d) "Distributor" means any person, other than a manufacturer, who sells new passenger automobiles to retail dealers.

(e) "Exporter" means any person who is directly or indirectly engaged in the business of dealing in automobiles which are ultimately sold to a person in a foreign country.

(f) "List price" means the suggested retail price established by each manufacturer without any charge added thereto on account of transportation, the Federal Excise tax, or handling and delivery. These prices appear in Appendix A hereof and are incorporated herein as § 1360.62.

(g) "New passenger automobile" means a 1942 model automobile.

(h) "Standard equipment" means equipment stated to be standard equipment by the manufacturer as of October 15, 1941.*

PART 1380—HOUSEHOLD AND SERVICE INDUSTRY MACHINES

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 86.—DOMESTIC WASHING MACHINES AND IRONING MACHINES

Manufacturers' prices for domestic laundry equipment, which includes washing machines and ironers, advanced approximately 12% on a weighted average basis between January 1 and September 15, 1941. By letter of September 16, 1941, to all industry members, the Office of Price Administration requested that it be consulted prior to the institution of any price increases. This served to check the upward trend of prices. Subsequently, this Office made the same request to the manufacturers of wringers, tubs and motors, the three major component parts of the washing machine. This has had a stabilizing effect upon manufacturing costs.

On October 29, 1941, the Office of Production Management issued an order cutting production of domestic laundry equipment to almost 80% of that in the base year ending June 30, 1941. Subsequent orders have cut production down to approximately 60%. With further restriction of production likely, it becomes necessary to take effective steps to prevent inflationary price increases. Price Schedule No. 86 has been determined after industry-wide studies of price, cost, and profit trends, and after consultation with members of an industry panel on January 21.

In order to prevent nullification of Price Schedule No. 86, changes in specifications are temporarily restricted.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

Such report shall refer to the model number of other appropriate designation of each such washing machine or ironing machine. If a report containing such information is required to be submitted to any other Federal agency, a copy thereof may be filed with the Office of Price Administration instead of a separate report.

(f) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 86 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of the prices of washing machines or ironing machines, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 87—SCRAP RUBBER

The War being waged with the Japanese Empire makes uncertain the future shipments of rubber from the Far East. In order to conserve for military and essential civilian purposes the rubber stockpile already accumulated in this country, it has been necessary to curtail sharply the consumption of rubber in the manufacture of products not essential to the immediate national defense. This restriction upon the processing of crude rubber is expected to cause a marked increase in the use of such materials as reclaimed rubber which serve as substitutes for crude rubber. The demand for scrap rubber, the material from which reclaimed rubber is made, may be expected to expand sharply, thereby producing grave danger of further price increases.

Scrap rubber prices have been rising steadily in recent months. The maximum prices fixed by Price Schedule No. 87 are based on prices prevailing shortly before the outbreak of the war in the Pacific. The Office of Price Administration has determined, after investigation and conference with both the producing and consuming elements of the industry, that price advances beyond the maximum prices set forth hercin are not necessary to produce the maximum supply of scrap rubber.

Because of the vital importance to the nation's war effort of keeping the cost of substitution of reclaimed rubber for crude rubber to a minimum, the Office of Price Administration fixed the price of reclaimed rubber by Price Schedule No. 56. As an essential and integral part of the Government's rubber program, and in order to make the other steps effective, it is necessary during the present emergency to establish maximum prices for scrap rubber.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1315.1251 Maximum prices for scrap rubber. On and after February 5, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer scrap rubber to any consumer, and no consumer shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of scrap rubber at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1315.1260.*

*§§ 1315.1251 to 1315.1260, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875; 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1315.1253 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 87 shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of scrap rubber, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1315.1254 Records and reports. Every person making any sale of scrap rubber to a consumer and every consumer making any purchase of scrap rubber after February 5, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold, and the price paid or received, showing as a separate item any transportation charges added to the maximum price pursuant to paragraph (e) of § 1315.1260, Appendix A, and (b) the quantity of each grade of scrap rubber (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 87 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1315.1255 Affirmations of compliance. On or before March 10, 1942, and on the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person who, during the preceding calendar month, has sold scrap rubber to a consumer, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 187:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 87, or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 187:1 can be procured at the Office of Price Administration or, provided that no change is made in the style and content of the form and that it is reproduced on 8 by 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1315.1256 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 87, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 87, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 87, (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 87 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the Rubber Reserve Company and the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 87.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or any evasion or effort to evade the provisions thereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of scrap rubber, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1315.1257 Modification of Price Schedule No. 87. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 87 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no applications under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 87.*

§ 1315.1258 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 87 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Scrap rubber" means the kinds and grades of scrap rubber listed in § 1315.1260, Appendix A;

(c) "Consumer" means any person consuming scrap rubber in the manufacture of any product except tire repair materials or accessories. It does not include a person who repairs or reconditions scrap rubber articles to make them re-usable for the purpose for which they were originally manufactured.

(d) "Consuming mill" means a mill or other establishment where a consumer uses scrap rubber.

(e) "Consuming center" means one of the towns, listed in Tables I and II of § 1315.1260, Appendix A, in which consuming mills are located;

§ 1315.1259 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 87. This Schedule (§§ 1315.1251 to 1315.1260, inclusive) shall become effective on February 5, 1942.*

§ 1315.1260 Appendix A: Maximum prices for scrap rubber—(a) Chief consuming centers. The maximum prices listed in Tables I and II for each consuming center are applicable to every sale of scrap rubber to any consumer for use in a consuming mill located in such consuming center, regardless of the place from which the scrap rubber may have been shipped or where the actual sale may have been made.

If from any such consuming mill the freight charge on scrap rubber to two or more of the consuming centers listed in Tables I and II is equal and it is not lower to any of the others, the maximum prices applicable to sales for consumption in such mill shall be the prices set forth in Tables I and II for the one of those consuming centers with equal freight rates whose maximum prices are lowest.

(c) Delivered prices. The prices specified in this Appendix are the maximum prices that may be paid by any consumer or charged by any person for scrap rubber delivered to a consuming mill. PART 1340—FUEL

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 88—PETROLEUM AND PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

The production, refining and distribution of petroleum and petroleum products constitute one of the largest industries in the United States. Ample supplies of petroleum products are of prime importance to the armed forces and are equally essential to the industrial activity required by the war effort and to the civilian life of the nation. Inflationary increases in the prices of petroleum and its products will not only be multiplied in the whole structure of costs and prices; they will directly increase the cost of living and the burden of supplying the armed forces.

Price stabilization in the petroleum industry was initiated on the basis of informal agreements between the Office of Price Administration and members of the industry. The increasing scope of control and the growing multiplicity of informal agreements and understandings has made it necessary to embody these agreements and understandings in a Price Schedule. Such action will serve to clarify the price policies of this Office as they affect the petroleum industry and to protect the industry and the public from the inflationary effects of unwarranted price increases.

Asphalt and asphalt products are sold principally on the basis of long-term contracts. In 1941 these contracts were agreed upon at low price levels, but by the end of 1941 it became apparent that contracts for 1942 were being negotiated at considerably higher prices. In order to prevent inflationary increases in the prices of asphalt and asphalt products, Price Schedule No. 88 has been amended to cover asphalt and asphalt products.

[Preamble as amended February 9, effective February 10, 1942; 7 F.R. 934]

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1340.151 Maximum prices for petroleum and petroleum products. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, except as provided in § 1340.159, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer petroleum or petroleum products, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of crude petroleum at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1340.159.

[§ 1340.151 as amended February 7, effective February 2, 1942; 7 F.R. 906]

§ 1340.152 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in § 1340.159, Appendix A, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1340.153 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 88 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a sale, delivery or transfer of petroleum products, or a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of crude petroleum, alone or in conjunction with any other materials, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding or by a change in the quality of a product, or otherwise.*

§ 1340.154 Records and reports. All purchase prices for crude petroleum as of October 1, 1941, whether or not such purchase prices were posted, shall be filed with this Office within thirty days after the effective date of Price Schedule No. 88 (§§ 1340.151 to 1340.159, inclusive). Purchase prices for crude petroleum described above may be submitted in the form of such price schedules or price lists as were in use on the dates specified, provided such price schedules or price lists are corrected to indicate any variance between the schedule or list price and the purchase price.

Where a contract was in effect as of October 1, 1941 for the sale of crude petroleum at the well in excess of the posted purchase price for the pool involved, duly authenticated copies of such contracts shall be filed with this Office within thirty days after the effective date of Price Schedule No. 88.

Where maximum prices for any sale or purchase of crude petroleum or sale of petroleum products are not provided for in Section 1340.159, purchasers and sellers of crude petroleum and sellers of petroleum products shall, within ten days after the purchase or sale in question, submit to this Office the price and description of the crude petroleum or petroleum product in question.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 88 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration and keep such records as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1340.155 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 88 (§§ 1340.151 to 1340.159, inclusive), or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 88, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 88; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 88 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 88.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of petroleum or petroleum products, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1340.156 Modification of Price Schedule No. 88. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 88 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 88.*

Prices for petroleum products sold at retail at service stations, garages and stores are not governed by Price Schedule No. 88.

The prices on which Price Schedule No. 88 is based are the prices after all usual discounts, such as those for quantity, prompt payment or ease of handling.

Except as specifically provided hereinafter, and pending the preparation of a comprehensive schedule or schedules of specific prices, the maximum prices for petroleum and petroleum products shall be the prices determined according to paragraphs (a) and (b) below.

(a) Crude petroleum. (1) The maximum price at the well for crude petroleum shall be the posted purchase price as of October 1, 1941, for the pool in which any given well is located: Provided, That where a contract was in effect on October 1, 1941 for the purchase of crude petroleum at the well in excess of the posted purchase price for the given pool, such contract price shall be the maximum price at the well for any given well for the production covered by the contract, or any renewal of such contract, or a new contract between the same buyer and seller concerning the production from the same well.

(2) Where, on October 1, 1941, there was in any given pool more than one posted purchase price or no posted purchase price, the maximum price at the well for crude petroleum shall not be, for any given well, in excess of the price paid for crude petroleum from that given well as of October 1, 1941, unless this price is below the lower or lowest of the posted purchase prices, if any, and in that case the maximum price shall not be in excess of such lower or lowest posted purchase price: Provided, That where a contract was in effect on October 1, 1941, for the purchase of crude petroleum at the well in excess of the posted purchase price for the given pool, such contract price shall be the maximum price at the well for any given well for the production covered by the contract, or any renewal of such contract, or a new contract between the same buyer and seller concerning the production from the same well.

(4) Where a well was a shut-in well on October 1, 1941, and is subsequently reopened, or where a new well is completed subsequent to October 1, 1941, the maximum price at the well for crude petroleum produced from such well shall be determined as follows:

(i) Where there was only one purchase price posted as of October 1, 1941, for the pool in which the well is located, such posted price shall be the maximum price at the well for crude petroleum produced from the well in question.

(ii) Where there was more than one purchase price posted as of October 1, 1941, for the pool in which the well is located, and

(a) Where the location of the new or reopened well was included in the same lease with one or more producing wells on October 1, 1941, the posted price applicable to those producing wells on October 1, 1941, shall be the maximum price at the well for crude from the new or reopened well.

(b) Where the above provision does not apply, the highest price posted as of October 1, 1941, for the pool in which the well is located shall be the maximum price at the well for crude from the new or reopened well.

(iii) Where there was no purchase price posted as of October 1, 1941, for the pool in which the well is located, a purchaser may set a temporary price for crude petroleum produced from the new or reopened well, subject to the provisions of § 1340.154 above. This provision covers wells representing discovery and development of new pools subsequent to October 1, 1941.

(5) The maximum prices for crude petroleum purchased at points other than at the well shall be at no greater differentials at such points over the maximum price for such crude at the well than existed on October 1, 1941.

(b) Petroleum products. (1) The maximum price on each product sold, contracted to be sold, delivered, or transferred by a seller shall be the lowest quoted price published in the October 2, 1941 issue of Platt's Oilgram and the Chicago Journal of Commerce, the October 8, 1941 issue of the National Petroleum News, or other publications designated by this Office, for a product of the same class, kind, type, condition and grade. Where such products are sold and prices are quoted on a delivered basis, then the maximum delivered price shall be the lowest quoted delivered price so published. Where products are sold and prices are quoted on an f. o. b. shipping point basis, then the maximum f. o. b. price shall be the lowest quoted f. o. b. price so published.

[Subparagraph (1) as amended February 5, effective February 5, 1942; 7 F.R. 821]

(2) Where the maximum price for a petroleum product at a given shipping or delivery point cannot be determined under subparagraph (1) of this section the maximum price for each seller at such shipping or delivery point shall not exceed the price charged at that point by him on the last sale of a substantial quantity of the same product within sixty days prior to October 15, 1941. Where the product is sold on a delivered basis at a given point the maximum price shall be the price charged on the last sale of a substantial quantity of the same product made on a delivered basis at that point in the period specified. Where the product is sold at a given point on an f. o. b. shipping point basis, the maximum price shall be the price charged on the last f. o. b. shipping point sale at that point of a substantial quantity of the same product in the period specified.

[Subparagraph (2) as amended February 7, 1942, effective February 2, 1942, 7 F.R. 906]

(3) Where the maximum price for products at a given shipping or delivery point cannot be determined under (1) or (2) above, sellers may sell such products at the market price prevailing at that point on October 1, 1941.

(4) Notwithstanding (1), (2) and (3), where contracts covering domestic sales of petroleum products had been made prior to November 10, 1941, the prices in such contracts may be charged pursuant to such contracts up to and including March 1, 1942.

(5) Notwithstanding (1), (2) and (3), where contracts covering export sales of petroleum products had been made prior to January 20, 1942, the prices in such contracts may be charged pursuant to such contracts up to and including March 1, 1942.

(6) Notwithstanding (1), (2) and (3), sales of petroleum products may be made up to and including March 1, 1942 under the following provisions:

(i) The maximum price on each product sold, contracted to be sold, delivered, or transferred by a seller shall be the lowest quoted price published in the first issue after November 7, 1941 of the National Petroleum News, Platt's Oilgram, or the Chicago Journal of Commerce, for a product of the same class, kind, type, condition and grade. Where such products are sold and prices are quoted on a delivered basis, then the maximum delivered price shall be the lowest quoted delivered price so published. Where products are sold and prices are quoted on an f. o. b. shipping point basis, then the maximum f. o. b. price shall be the lowest quoted f. o. b. price so published.

(ii) Where the maximum price for products at a given shipping or delivery point cannot be determined under (i) above, sellers may sell such products at the market price prevailing at the time of the sale, providing, however, that notice of such price and sale is furnished to this Office within ten days after such sale.

Should there have been only two such contracts of sale or sales of paving asphalt, cut-back asphalt, asphalt emulsions and road oils for shipment to a given destination during this period, the maximum price for any such subject shall be the average of the two sales of such product to the given destination. Where a person wishes to make a sale to a particular destination and the maximum price cannot be determined upon the basis of the preceding two paragraphs, the maximum price shall be the price of the last contract made prior to October 15, 1941, but not before July 1, 1941, pursuant to open or public bidding, for shipment to that destination of a product of substantially the same quality.

When a person wishes to make a sale to a particular destination and the maximum price cannot be determined upon the basis of the preceding three paragraphs, the maximum price shall be computed upon the basis of the preceding three paragraphs, as if the sale were made for delivery to the destination nearest to the particular destination involved (nearest in terms of freight cost to the seller) and appropriate adjustments to reflect difference in freight costs to the seller shall be made.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 89—BED LINENS

Stable operation of the cotton textile industry is essential to the production of commodities necessary for the successful prosecution of the war and to the largest possible flow of goods to civilian consumers. The past several months have seen a rapid advance in the price of bed linens. Largely responsible for this inflationary trend have been the greatly expanded demand for bed linens resulting from increased consumer income and the heavy purchases of such goods for use by the military forces. The increase has not been justified on the basis of increased costs of materials and production, save to a negligible extent. In order to remedy the effects of the inflationary trend, and to insure stability of the price structure it is necessary that maximum prices be established for bed linens.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed:

§ 1316.101 Maximum prices for bed linens. (a) On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer bed linens, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of bed linens at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as §1316.111.

(b) The provisions of Price Schedule No. 89 (§§ 1316.101 to 1316.111, inclusive) are not applicable:

(1) To sales or deliveries of bed linens made by any wholesaler, jobber or retailer in the performance of a recognized distributive function: Provided, That except in accordance with subparagraph (2) hereof, sales and deliveries of bed linens by the manufacturer thereof or by any agent of such manufacturer, shall not be made at prices higher than the established maximum prices;

(2) To sales or deliveries of brown sheeting to a manufacturer, converter, or finisher for further processing prior to resale.*

*§§ 1316.101 to 1316.111, inclusive, issued pursuant to the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1316.103 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 89 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of bed linens, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) No price agreed upon in any contract shall be changed by amendment of such contract, by substitution therefor of a new contract, or otherwise (whether or not such change is made pursuant to the terms of the original contract) if the change so effected results in an agreed price in excess of the maximum price applicable under § 1316.111 hereof, in accordance with the date the original contract was made, to the original contract or to deliveries pursuant thereto.*

§ 1316.104 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of bed linens after February 2, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of (a) each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity in yards or dozens of pieces of each type of bed linens purchased or sold; (b) the quantity in yards or dozens of pieces of each type of bed linens (1) on hand, and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month; and (c) in the case of manufacturers, the quantity in yards or dozens of pieces of each type of bed linens manufactured during each calendar month.

No bed linens shall be sold on or after March 2, 1942, unless each piece bears a label containing:

(a) A statement of its type and size;

(b) if the piece is a second, a statement of that fact; and

(c) if the piece does not meet the minimum specifications set forth in Table I, the term "substandard."

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 89 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1316.105 Details required in contract of sale and invoice. (a) Every seller of bed linens shall, with respect to each sale thereof, deliver to the purchaser a contract of sale which shall contain, in addition to the terms thereof, (1) the date on which the sale or contract of sale was made; (2) a full description of the bed linens sold including all details necessary to determine the applicable maximum price from Price Schedule No. 89; and where, in conformity with Price Schedule No. 89, a premium is charged or deduction made, the feature of the goods for which such premium is allowed or deduction required; and (3) the discount required by Price Schedule No. 89 for prompt payment.

(b) Every seller of bed linens shall, with respect to each delivery thereof, transmit to the purchaser an invoice or similar document which shall either contain the information required by (a) above or make reference to the contract in which such information is set forth.*

§ 1316.106 Affirmations of compliance. On or before March 10, 1942, and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter, every person, who during the preceding calendar month has purchased or sold bed linens, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall submit to the Office of Price Administration an affirmation of compliance on Form 189:1, containing a sworn statement that during such month all such purchases or sales were made at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 89 or with any exception therefrom or modification thereof. Copies of Form 189:1 can be procured from the Office of Price Administration, or provided that no change is made in the style and content of the form, and that it is reproduced on 8 x 10½" paper, they may be prepared by persons required to submit affirmations of compliance hereunder.*

§ 1316.107 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 89, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 89, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 89; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 89 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 89. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of bed linens, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1316.08 Modification of Price Schedule No. 89. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 89 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 89.*

§ 1316.109 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 89 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Bed linens" means finished sheets, finished pillow cases, finished bolster cases and shall include both brown sheeting and bleached sheeting: Provided, That the term "bed linens" shall include only goods made of cotton and shall not include any goods made entirely of combed yarn.

§ 1316.111 Appendix A: Maximum prices for bed linens—(a) Terms of sale. The maximum prices set forth in this Appendix are prices f. o. b. the seller's point of shipment. PART 1401—SYNTHETIC TEXTILE PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 90—RAYON WASTE

The state of war existing between this country and the Axis nations makes it imperative that steps be taken to protect the civilian population against increases in the cost of clothing and other primary requirements. Hostilities in the Pacific have raised the possibility of interference with the free flow of wool from foreign countries. At the same time the wool requirements of the armed forces will be considerably increased. This combination of circumstances would, unless forestalled, result in a bidding up of the prices of raw wool substitutes such as rayon waste. As a measure of public interest it becomes necessary to establish maximum prices for such materials.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1401.51 Maximum prices for rayon waste. On and after February 3, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer rayon waste, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of rayon waste at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1401.59 and 1401.60.*

*§§ 1401.51 to 1401.60 inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 FR. 1917, 4483.

§ 1401.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in §§ 1401.59 and 1401.60, Appendices A and B, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1401.53 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 90 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of rayon waste, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding, or by upgrading or otherwise.*

§ 1401.54 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of rayon waste after February 3, 1942, aggregating 20,000 pounds or more in any calendar month shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each kind or grade purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 90 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

PART 1351—FOODS AND FOOD PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 91—TEA

Wholesale prices of tea, which had remained fairly stable during the four months previous to the outbreak of war on December 7, 1941, have increased sharply since that date. This increase has occurred in spite of substantial stocks of tea in the United States and continued large imports after the outbreak of war. The primary cause of the price rise has been a speculative markup of inventories by importers and brokers in anticipation of a shortage of shipping space available for tea. Studies made by this Office show that the prices prevailing from October 1 to October 15, 1941, are fair and equitable to producers and consumers and, in view of the actual cost of tea on hand in this country, form a satisfactory basis for trading. The establishment of maximum prices at this level will, therefore, remove unfair speculative profits, achieve price stability, and prevent further unwarranted price increases.

Should unwarranted price rises occur at stages of distribution not covered by Price Schedule No. 91, appropriate action will be taken by this Office.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1351.251 Maximum prices for tea. On and after February 3, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, except as provided in section 1351.254 hereof, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer tea, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of tea at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1351.261.*

*§§ 1351.251 to 1351.261, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1351.254 Permission to carry out contracts entered into prior to February 3, 1942. Any person who, prior to February 3, 1942, has entered into a contract of sale or other firm commitment calling for the delivery or transfer after that date, of tea, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 91, may make application in a sworn statement to the Office of Price Administration for permission to deliver such tea at its actual cost. Such statement shall certify (a) the name and address of the buyer and seller; (b) the quantity, type and grade of tea involved; (c) the cost of that tea to the applicant; (d) the price contracted for with the buyer; and (e) the delivery date provided for in the contract. Permission will be granted only when necessary to protect the applicant against loss in the disposition of inventory acquired prior to February 3, 1942 at prices higher than the established maximum prices and held by the applicant on that date. Such application must be filed with the Office of Price Administration on or before February 17, 1942. No permission will be granted, in any case, to make delivery of tea on or after April 1, 1942 at prices higher than the established maximum prices.*

§ 1351.255 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 91 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of tea, or by way of premium, commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by any other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on October 1, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1351.256 Records and reports. (a) All persons who have received deliveries of tea under contracts of sale entered into after October 15, 1941, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 91, shall report the quantity and cost of such receipts to the Office of Price Administration on or before February 24, 1942.

(b) Every person making purchases or sales of tea on and after February 3, 1942 shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records thereof, including the name of the purchaser, the date of the contract, the price paid or received, and the type, grade, quality, and amount sold.

(c) Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 91 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1351.257 Modification of Price Schedule No. 91. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 91 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom: Provided, That no applications under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 91.*

§ 1351.258 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 91, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 91, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who comply with this schedule; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 91 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from, those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 91. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of tea, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1351.258 Modification of Price Schedule No. 91. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 91 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom: Provided, That no applications under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 91.* [Same as § 1351.257]

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Sales at retail" means sales to the ultimate consumer: Provided, That no packer, blender, purchaser for resale, or commercial user shall be deemed to be an ultimate consumer.

§ 1351.261 Appendix A: Maximum prices for tea. (a) The maximum prices shall include all commissions and all other charges except that increases in the charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941, for ocean freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance may be added to the maximum prices if such charges have been actually incurred by the seller on such sale. Decreases in said charges prevailing prior to the opening of business on December 8, 1941, shall be subtracted from the maximum prices.

(b) The maximum prices for tea shall be those listed below. All maximum prices are subject to three per cent discount for payment within thirty days.

PART 1351—FOODS AND FOOD PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 92—SOY BEAN AND PEANUT OILS

The outbreak of war has led to sharp increases in the prices of soy bean and peanut oils. The recent heavy buying movement has added to the danger of inflationary price spiralling and makes it necessary that steps be taken to control prices of these important oils. The prices of soy bean oil specified herein are based on levels prevailing on October 1, 1941, with upward adjustment to conform with prices of competing oils and for other relevant factors. Peanut oil prices are based on levels prevailing October 1, 1941.

Should unwarranted price rises occur at stages of distribution not covered by Price Schedule No. 92 appropriate action will be taken by this Office. Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1351.301 Maximum prices for soy bean and peanut oils. (a) On and after February 4, 1942, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer soy bean or peanut oils at prices higher than the maximum prices, except that contracts entered into prior to December 13, 1941 providing for a higher price than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price. The maximum prices shall include commissions and all other charges.

(b) (1) For any kind, grade, or quality of soy bean or peanut oil the maximum price shall be the highest price at which the seller sold such kind of soy bean or peanut oil of the same grade and quality in a similar amount to a similar purchaser on October 1, 1941, for delivery within sixty days: Provided, That in determining the maximum prices for soy bean oil three-fourths of one cent per pound shall be added to such October 1, 1941 price.

(2) If the maximum price cannot be determined under paragraph (b) (1), the maximum price shall be the highest price at which the seller sold the same kind of soy bean or peanut oil of a different grade or quality or in a different amount or to a different type of purchaser on October 1, 1941, for delivery within sixty days, making the necessary adjustments for differences in grade, quality, amount or type of purchaser in accordance with the seller's practice for determining price differentials existing on October 1, 1941: Provided, That in determining the maximum price for soy bean oil three-fourths of one cent per pound shall be added to such October 1, 1941 price.

(3) If the maximum price cannot be determined under either paragraph (b) (1) or (b) (2), the maximum price shall be the price at which such kind of soy bean or peanut oil of the same grade or quality in a similar amount to a similar purchaser was sold in the locality of the seller's shipping point on October 1, 1941, for delivery within sixty days: Provided, That in determining the maximum prices for soy bean oil three-fourths of one cent per pound shall be added to such October 1, 1941 price.

(4) If the maximum price cannot be determined under paragraph (b) (1), (b) (2) or (b) (3), the maximum price shall be the price at which such kind of soy bean or peanut oil of the same grade and quality in a similar amount to a similar purchaser was sold in the nearest market in which such sale was made, making adjustments for the customary differential between the price in such market and the price in the locality of the seller's shipping point.

(5) If the maximum price determined under the above subparagraphs is less than 111 percent of the price at which the same kind of soy bean or peanut oil of the same grade and quality was sold by the seller or was sold in the locality of the seller's shipping point, or in the nearest market as the case may be, in a similar amount and to a similar purchaser on November 26, 1941, for delivery within sixty days, the maximum price shall be 111 percent of such November 26 price.

(c) The maximum price for both domestic and imported soy bean and peanut oils determined under paragraph (b) shall include at least the same absorption of transportation and other charges as were or would have been absorbed by the seller on comparable shipments to the same place of destination on October 1, 1941.

(d) The maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 92 for soy bean and peanut oils shipped into or out of the United States by ocean transportation shall include the charges prevailing on October 1, 1941, for freight, war risk insurance, and marine insurance connected with such transportation. Increases in such charges may be added only if such charges have been actually incurred by the seller on such sales. Decreases in such charges shall be subtracted from the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 92.*

§ 1351.305 Records and reports. Every person making any sale of soy bean or peanut oils on and after December 13, 1941, except sales exempted under § 1351.151a, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each such sale, including the date thereof, the name of the purchaser, the price paid or received, and the grade, quality and amount sold.

Every person affected by Price Schedule No. 92 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1351.306 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 92, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 92, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 92; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 92 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from, those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 92. PART 1312—LUMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 94—WESTERN PINE LUMBER

Price Schedule No. 94 brings under a price ceiling Western pine lumber, the largest remaining section of the softwood lumber industry not previously regulated by a Price Schedule. It covers ponderosa pine, Idaho white pine, and sugar pine, which species account for approximately 21% of the total lumber production in the United States. Ponderosa, Idaho white, and sugar pine lumber are used in the manufacture of pine millwork and boxes, and for interior and exterior construction purposes, with a considerable degree of interchangeability. The lower grades of ponderosa and sugar pine are particularly well-adapted to the box market. In addition to the civilian demand for these woods both for building construction and for container purposes, particularly containers for agricultural products and canned goods, government buying, for use in cantonment construction purposes, as well as for boxes for armament and other war purposes, is becoming an increasingly important factor. A study of the Western pine industry reveals that the increase in prices has markedly outstripped cost advances, and that a ceiling is necessary in order to halt the upward trend in prices. The prices set herein generally follow the levels existing during the period October 1–15, 1941, and have been found to be high enough to bring out the full volume of production called for by present needs. However, the schedule is subject to revision if further study of the profits in this industry shows the need for a decrease or other change in the schedule prices.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1312.251 Maximum prices for western pine lumber. On and after February 15, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, for domestic or export use, any Western pine lumber, where the shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distribution yard, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A, B and C hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1312.260, 1312.261, and 1312.262 respectively: Provided, That in the case of retail sales as defined in § 1312.257 (f), where the shipment originates at a mill rather than at a distribution yard, a mark-up of not more than $3.50 per 1,000 feet board measure may be added to the maximum prices set forth herein.*

§ 1312.252 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A, B and C (§§ 1312.260, 1312.261 and 1312.262) may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1312.253 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 94 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of Western pine lumber, alone or in conjunction with any other material; or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege; or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding; or by making terms or conditions of sale more onerous than those in effect or available to the purchaser on October 1, 1941, or by unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard; or by unreasonably refusing to ship except in specified lengths or widths, or under other circumstances entitling the seller to a premium; or by charges for delivery which exceed the actual cost to the seller of such delivery except as provided in § 1312.258 hereof; or by falsely or wrongly grading or invoicing lumber; or by grading as a special grade lumber which can be graded as a standard grade; or by any other means.*

§ 1312.254 Records and reports. Every person who, during any calendar month, shall sell, deliver or transfer 34,000 pounds or more of Western pine lumber for shipment originating at the mill, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of every sale, delivery or transfer of such lumber made during such month, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the prices, and the quantities and grades sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 94 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1312.255 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 94, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 94, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 94, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from purchasing Western pine lumber from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 94.

Persons who have evidence of any offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade provisions hereof, or of speculation, or of manipulation of prices of Western pine lumber, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1312.256 Modification of Price Schedule No. 94. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 94 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom; Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 94.*

§ 1312.257 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 94, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, association, partnership, corporation, or other business entity. The term includes, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, any mill operator, manufacturer, commission salesman, manufacturer's representative, concentration yard operator, wholesaler, wholesale distributor, wholesaler's agent, or retailer.

(b) "Western pine" includes ponderosa pine (pinus ponderosa), Idaho white pine (pinus monticola), and sugar pine (pinus lambertiana) produced in the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California, and Montana.

(c) "Mill" means a manufacturing plant, concentration yard, or other establishment which processes, by sawing, or by planing or other comparable method at least 25 per cent of the volume of Western pine logs or lumber purchased or received by it.

(d) "Distribution yard" means a wholesale or retail lumber yard which purchases or receives Western pine logs or lumber from a producer, a mill, or another distribution yard for purposes of unloading, sorting, and resale or redistribution, which regularly maintains a stock of lumber, and which processes, by sawing, or by planing or other comparable method, less than 25 per cent of the volume of such logs or lumber so purchased or received by it.

(e) "Volume" means the board foot volume of lumber processed from logs, processed from other lumber, or sold, as the case may be, within six months immediately prior to the transaction subject to Price Schedule No. 94.

(f) "Retail sale" means a sale which satisfies all of the following tests:

(1) It must be a sale of lumber to a consumer or contractor for use in building, construction, remodeling, repair, maintenance, or fabrication, and not for resale in substantially the same form.

(2) It includes only sales in less than carload quantities. Where shipment is by water or by truck the maximum retail sale quantity shall be 20,000 feet board measure. For the purpose of this paragraph the size of the sale is determined by the size of the order.

(3) The sale must be accompanied by the following services: delivery to the job site or other point specified by the purchaser and at such times and in such quantities as the purchaser specifies; tallying and checking; the privilege of exchanging goods and returning unused material; and the readiness and ability of the seller to replace deficiencies and adjust complaints from stocks kept on hand for such purposes.

(g) "Deliver" means to make physical transfer of lumber to the purchaser, or to a carrier, not owned or controlled by the seller, for carriage to the purchaser to whom the lumber has been previously sold.

(h) Grade terms used herein have the meaning set forth in the Standard Grading Rules issued by the Western Pine Association, effective April 1, 1939.*

§ 1312.258 Delivered prices. A delivered price in excess of the maximum f. o. b. mill prices set forth in Appendices A, B, and C (§§ 1312.260, 1312.261 and 1312.262) may be charged, consisting of such maximum prices plus actual transportation costs paid by the seller. However, for the purposes of this section, the following two practices shall not be deemed a deviation from the use of actual transportation costs:

(1) the charging of a sum equivalent to the one-quarter of a dollar nearest to such actual transportation costs; and

(2) the computation of transportation costs on the basis of a system of estimated average weights established by the seller, and adhered to by him during the period October 1 to October 15, 1941: Provided, That a copy of such system of estimated average weights has been filed with the Office of Price Administration either before the use of such system in a transaction subject to Price Schedule No. 94, or within thirty days of the effective date of Schedule No. 94.*

§ 1312.259 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 94. This Schedule (§§ 1312.251 to 1312.262, inclusive) shall become effective February 15, 1942.*

§ 1312.260 Appendix A: Maximum prices for ponderosa pine lumber. (a) The maximum prices f. o. b. mill per 1000 feet board measure, surfaced, air dried or kiln dried, in mixed or straight load shipments, shall be as follows:

PART 1401—SYNTHETIC TEXTILE PRODUCTS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 95—NYLON HOSE

Nylon hose constitutes an important commodity of civilian consumption. With the curtailment of the supply of silk and recent reductions in the supply of nylon yarn, prices of nylon hose have undergone an extremely rapid increase. This increase has not been occasioned by any comparable rise in the cost of production and is inflationary in character. Because of the scarcity of nylon hose, prices have been bid up and there is ample evidence that their present level reflects widespread profiteering. Further unjustified price advances are now threatened unless remedial action is taken.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1401.1 Maximum prices for nylon hose. (a) On or after February 10, 1942 regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer nylon hose and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery of nylon hose, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in § 1401.10, Appendix A: Provided, That contracts entered into prior to February 10, 1942, at prices in compliance with Price Schedule No. 95 (§§ 1401.1 to 1401.9, inclusive) may be carried out at the contract price.

(b) The provisions of Price Schedule No. 95 (§§ 1401.1 to 1401.10, inclusive) are not applicable to sales at retail.

[§ 1401.1 as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 10, 1942; 7 F.R. 935]

§ 1401.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by Price Schedule No. 95 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1401.3 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 95 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of nylon hose, alone or in conjunction with any other material or commodity, or by way of any premium, commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding or practice involving a related sale or allotment of other types of hosiery or any other commodity, or by making the discounts given or other terms or conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on October 15, 1941, or by any other means.

[§ 1401.3 as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 10, 1942; 7 F.R. 935]

§ 1401.4 Records and reports. Every manufacturer or wholesaler making sales of nylon hose after February 4, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of (a) each such sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the price received, and the quantity in dozens of pairs of nylon hose of each type, style and construction sold; and (b) the quantity in dozens of pairs of nylon hose of each type style and construction (1) on hand and (2) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 95 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time require.*

§ 1401.5 Details required in contract of sale and invoice. (a) Every manufacturer or wholesaler shall, with respect to each sale of nylon hose, deliver to the purchaser a contract of sale which shall contain, in addition to the terms thereof, (1) the date on which the sale or contract of sale was made; (2) a full description of the nylon hose sold, including (i) the type, style and construction; (ii) the quantity in dozens of pairs of each type, style and construction; and (3) the discount, if any, allowed for prompt payment. Every such seller of nylon hose shall, with respect to each delivery thereof, transmit to the purchaser an invoice or similar document which shall either contain the information required by this paragraph or make reference to the contract in which such information is set forth.

§ 1401.6 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 95, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 95, the Office of Price Administration will make every effort to assure (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 95, and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 95. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of nylon hose or the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1401.7 Modification of Price Schedule No. 95. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 95 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 95.*

§ 1401.8 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 95 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Sale at retail" means sale to the ultimate consumer or sale to another for use by the ultimate consumer without further resale: Provided, That no manufacturer, processor, or purchaser for resale shall be deemed to be an ultimate consumer;

(c) "Nylon hose" means women's hosiery of the types, styles and constructions set forth in Table I of Appendix A.

[Paragraph (c) as amended February 9, 1942, effective February 10, 1942; 7 F.R. 935]

§ 1401.9 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 95. This Schedule (§§ 1401.1 to 1401.9, inclusive) shall become effective February 5, 1942.*

§ 1401.10 Appendix A: Maximum prices for nylon hose. (a) The prices set forth in Table I are maximum prices applicable to sales of nylon hose by manufacturers. Maximum prices applicable to sales of nylon hose by wholesalers or jobbers shall be the prices set forth in Table I increased by ten percent. They are prices f. o. b. the seller's point of shipment and are gross prices, before discounts of any nature are deducted, and include all commissions.

PART 1330—CONTAINERS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 96—DOMESTIC FUEL OIL STORAGE TANKS

Oil storage tanks are indispensible to domestic oil burner installations, many of which are used in defense housing projects. Jobbers' prices for a typical basement tank have more than doubled in some localities during the past year. These price increases far out strip the increased production costs and the increased selling prices to jobbers which were reported by manufacturers to the Office of Price Administration. Reports of hoarding have been numerous, and the market has been upset by a growing scarcity caused by shortages of steel.

Present inflated storage tank prices make it impractical in many localities to equip new defense houses with low cost, automatic oil heat. Moreover, high tank prices have not resulted in expanded production, because of preference orders affecting sheet steel, or in the development of satisfactory substitutes for steel tanks.

The Office of Price Administration has determined that the establishment of maximum prices for domestic fuel oil storage tanks is essential to maintain price stability and prevent undue price rises and is necessary to protect consumers, the industry, and the national economy. After analysis of information submitted by the industry, a conference with producers and distributors, and full consideration of all relevant factors, it was determined that representative prices charged by manufacturers during the first two weeks in October 1941, adjusted to allow distributors a reasonable markup, would constitute fair and equitable ceiling prices.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1330.101 Maximum prices for fuel oil storage tanks. On and after February 20, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer any domestic fuel oil storage tanks, other than on an installed basis, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A, B, and C hereof, incorporated herein as §§ 1330.110, 1330.111, and 1330.112, respectively.*

*§§ 1330.101 to 1330.112, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1330.102 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendices A, B, and C (§§ 1330.110, 1330.111, and 1330.112) may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1330.103 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 96 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of domestic fuel oil storage tanks, alone or in conjunction with any other material; or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge; or by a tying-agreement or other trade understanding; or by making terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on October 15, 1941; or by unreasonably refusing to ship in carload and truckload quantities when available; or by excessive charges for tank accessories; or by any other means.*

§ 1330.104 Labeling by manufacturers. Every manufacturer shall permanently affix to each domestic fuel oil storage tank manufactured by him a durable label setting forth the name and location of the manufacturer, the size and capacity of the tank, and the gauge of steel used therein.*

§ 1330.105 Records and reports. (a) Every person making purchases or sales, other than on an installed basis, of domestic fuel oil storage tanks of a value of more than $100.00 during any calendar month after February 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of (1) each such purchase or sale, showing (i) the date thereof, (ii) the name and address of the buyer and the seller, (iii) the point of delivery of the tank to the buyer, (iv) the price paid or received for the tank (exclusive of accessories other than lugs), (v) the freight paid by the seller and charged to the buyer where the tank is delivered to the buyer within the Midwestern Area (as described in § 1330.111 (a)), (vi) the gauge of steel used in the tank, (vii) whether the tank was sold with or without lugs, (viii) the capacity of the tank in gallons, (ix) the size of the tank in inches, and (x) the quantity of each type of tank purchased or sold, and (2) the quantity of domestic fuel oil storage tanks (i) on hand, and (ii) on order, as of the close of each calendar month.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 97—SOUTHERN HARDWOOD LUMBER

Southern hardwood lumber is an industrial wood extensively used in the manufacture of furniture, automobile trucks, containers, radio cabinets, agricultural implements, and farm and household utensils. The war effort and the accompanying expanded economic activity have increased the demand for certain species and grades of southern hardwood lumber beyond the readily available supply. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has caused and continues to cause price increases which outstrip advances in costs, and which will serve no purpose in bringing out appreciably increased production. Attempts by individual producers to maintain reasonable prices have proved unsatisfactory because demand is accelerating, and because many operators have refused to cooperate with the Government in stabilizing prices. Under these circumstances, voluntary cooperation with the request of the Office of Price Administration to maintain reasonable prices would subject those complying with the request to unjust discrimination.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1312.301 Maximum prices for southern hardwood lumber. On and after February 20, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, for domestic use or export use, any southern hardwood lumber, where shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distribution yard, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendices A and B, incorporated herein as §§ 1312.309 and 1312.310, respectively: Provided, That a shipment pursuant to an order of less than 1,000 feet of southern hardwood lumber shall not be subject to this Price Schedule No. 97: And provided, That Price Schedule No. 97 shall not apply where actual delivery has been made to a purchaser, or to a carrier for delivery to a purchaser, prior to February 20, 1942.*

§ 1312.303 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 97 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of southern hardwood lumber, alone or in conjunction with any other material; or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege; or by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding; or by making terms or conditions of sale more onerous than those in effect or available to the purchaser on October 1, 1941; or by unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard; or by unreasonably refusing to ship except in mixed cars or trucks, or under other circumstances entitling the seller to a premium; or by charges for delivery which exceed the actual cost to the seller of such delivery (except as provided in §§ 1312.309 (c) and 1312.310 (d)); or by falsely or wrongly grading or invoicing lumber; or by grading as a special grade lumber which can be graded as a standard grade; or by any other means.*

§ 1312.304 Records and reports. Every person who, during any calendar month after February 1942, shall sell 34,000 pounds or more of southern hardwood lumber for shipment originating at the mill shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for a period of not less than one year, a complete and accurate record of every such sale made during such month, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the prices, and the quantities and grades sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 97 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.*

§ 1312.305 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 97, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 97, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 97; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 97 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement and other services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 97. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of southern hardwood lumber, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1312.306 Modification of Price Schedule No. 97. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 97 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 97.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 98—TITANIUM PIGMENTS

A sharp increase in the demand for titanium pigments has occurred in recent months as a result of the national defense program. Titanium pigments are extremely important pigments, essential in the production of a great many products necessary to the armed forces and civilian population.

In December 1941, after notice had been received of a proposed price advance by one of the largest producers, the Office of Price Administration requested the five United States producers of titanium pigments not to raise prices above those quoted on October 1, 1941. This request has been complied with by all of the producers.

Speculations by others than producers has greatly increased the resale prices of titanium pigments. These speculative prices are threatening to rise to even higher levels. It is necessary to curb such speculation, not only to prevent inflationary rises in the price of titanium pigments, but also to eliminate the danger of price rises in other industries that use titanium pigments.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.751 Maximum prices for titanium pigments. On and after March 1, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer titanium pigments in quantities of 50 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of titanium pigments in quantities of 50 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.759.*

*§§ 1335.751 to 1335.759, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.753 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 98 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of titanium pigments, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.754 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of titanium pigments in quantities of 50 pounds or more on or after March 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the titanium pigments purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 98 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.755 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, records and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 98, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 98, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 98; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 98 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocations of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 98. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of price of titanium pigments, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.756 Modification of Price Schedule No. 98. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 98 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 98.*

§ 1335.757 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 98 the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Titanium pigments" means the grades of titanium pigments listed in § 1335.759 Appendix A hereof.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 99—ACETYL SALICYLIC ACID

Increased domestic and foreign demands for acetyl salicyclic acid, commonly known as aspirin, has resulted in a shortage of supply. Speculation by others than producers has led to resale prices as high as $1.50 per pound, in sharp contrast to the manufacturers' price of 40 cents per pound for a comparable grade and quantity. Further increases in resale prices are threatened.

After conferences with producers, resellers, and exporters of acetyl salicyclic acid, and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that no justifiable reasons exist for producers and primary jobbers charging prices in excess of their prevailing price of 40 cents per pound, or for resellers and exporters charging prices in excess of 52 cents and 56 cents per pound, respectively, for acetyl salicylic acid, either powdered or in crystals for sales of large quantities. Increases in such prices would, consequently, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.801 Maximum prices for acetyl salicylic acid. On and after February 16, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, deliver, or transfer acetyl salicylic acid in quantities of one pound or more and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of acetyl salicylic acid in quantities of one pound or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.809.*

*§§ 1335.801 to 1335.809, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.803 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 99 shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer, of acetyl salicylic acid or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer, of any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, discount, premium, or other charge or privilege, or by alteration of grades of acetyl salicylic acid, or by tying-agreements or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.804 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of acetyl salicylic acid in quantities of one pound or more after February 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity including the kind and size of the containers, of the acetyl salicylic acid purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 99 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.805 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 99, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 99, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 99; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 99 which may be regarded as ground for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from, those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 99. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of acetyl salicylic acid, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.806 Modification of Price Schedule No. 99. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 99 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 99.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 100—CAST IRON SOIL PIPE AND FITTINGS

Cast iron soil pipe and fittings are extensively used in the construction industry to carry off drainage and waste. In the defense program they are widely employed in housing projects, cantonments and all types of factories and industrial plants. The increased need for cast iron soil pipe and fittings has prompted Government efforts to secure expanded production by allocating needed pig iron to the industry, but the supply has failed to keep pace with the augmented demands stemming from the defense program and the accompanying economic expansion. As a consequence, inflationary pressure has caused price increases which outstrip advances in costs, and which will serve no purpose in bringing out appreciably increased production. Issuance of a price schedule accordingly is necessary to protect consumers, the industry, and the national economy.

In this Price Schedule No. 100 the Office of Price Administration is utilizing the Birmingham, Alabama, single basing point system, presently in effect in the soil pipe industry. Such acceptance of this system, merely as a vehicle for determining maximum prices, should not be regarded as approval thereof, nor should this reservation be regarded as indicating disapproval.

Accordingly, pursuant to and under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1306.301 Maximum prices for cast iron soil pipe and fittings. On and after February 20, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment, no manufacturer, jobber, or wholesaler shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer any cast iron soil pipe and fittings, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of cast iron soil pipe and fittings from a manufacturer, jobber, or wholesaler at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1306.309.*

*§§ 1306.301 to 1306.310, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4463.

[1] Issued: 7 F.R. 819.

§ 1306.303 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 100 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of cast iron soil pipe and fittings, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by making credit terms more onerous than those available or in effect on October 1, 1941, or by any other means.*

§ 1306.304 Records and reports. Every manufacturer, jobber and wholesaler who sells, and every person who buys from a manufacturer, jobber or wholesaler cast iron soil pipes and fittings of a value of more than $200.00 per month after February 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity of cast iron soil pipes and fittings purchased or sold.*

§ 1306.305 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 100, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 100, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 100; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 100 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement and other services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 100. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of cast iron soil pipe and fittings, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1306.306 Modification of Price Schedule No. 100. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 100 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That, no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 100.*

§ 1306.307 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 100, the term

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Manufacturer" means a person operating a foundry or plant which produces cast iron soil pipe and fittings. Except for purposes of the records requirements of § 1306.304, the term includes, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, any manufacturer's representative, factory commission salesman, or other manufacturer's agent.

(c) "Jobber" and the term "wholesaler" means a person who purchases cast iron soil pipe for purposes of resale, normally maintains a complete line of pipe and fittings, and sells primarily to plumbers, contractors and industrial concerns.

(d) "Cast iron soil pipe and fittings" means cast iron pipes and fittings of the types listed in § 1306.310, Appendix B, of Price Schedule No. 100.

(e) "Delivered price" means net price including all commissions and all freight and delivery charges incident to transporting the pipe and fittings to the place of delivery as described in paragraph (b) (3) of § 1306.309, Appendi A, of Price Schedule No. 100.

(f) "Carload shipment" or the term "carload quantity" means a shipment or quantity of cast iron soil pipe and fittings, the aggregate weight of which totals at least the lowest applicable minimum carload weight as specified in the established tariff of the rail carrier involved, or for which a carload rate would be paid.*

§ 1306.308 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 100. This Schedule (§§ 1306.301 to 1306.310, inclusive) shall become effective February 20, 1942.*

§ 1306.309 Appendix A: Maximum prices for cast iron soil pipe and fittings. (a) The maximum f. o. b. Birmingham, Alabama, prices for cast iron soil pipe and fittings shall be the prices arrived at by applying the following discounts to the prices set forth in § 1306.310, Appendix B, of Price Schedule No. 100.

	Carload shipments by rail; ten ton or greater shipments by motor carrier	Less than carload shipments by rail; less than ten ton shipments by motor carrier

2" to 6" Fittings	37½-10-10	37½
8" to 15" Pipe and Fittings	43½-10-10	43½

(b) The maximum delivered price for domestic sales of cast iron soil pipe and fittings shall be the maximum f. o. b. Birmingham, Alabama, price established in paragraph (a) hereof, plus a freight and delivery charge computed in accordance with the following provisions (whether shipment is by rail or motor carrier):

(1) Where shipment moves directly from foundry to purchaser (regardless of whether the seller is a manufacturer, jobber, or wholesaler), the delivery charge may not exceed the carload railroad freight from Birmingham, Alabama, to the railroad siding nearest to the point of delivery designated by the purchaser.

(2) Where shipment to a purchaser originates from some place other than a foundry (as where shipment originates at a distribution warehouse operated by a manufacturer, jobber, or wholesaler), the delivery charge may not exceed the carload railroad freight from Birmingham, Alabama, to the place at which the shipment originates. No further delivery charge may be made for transportation from the place at which the shipment originates to the location designated by the purchaser.

(3) For purposes of this paragraph, the seller shall be considered as having completed his delivery obligations when, in the case of a rail shipment, the shipment arrives at the rail siding nearest to the location designated by the purchaser; or when, in the case of shipment by motor carrier, the shipment arrives at the site designated by the purchaser.

(4) Carload railroad freight from Birmingham, Alabama, may be computed by deducting for every 25¢ ton freight ½ point from the applicable base (or first) discount.

(c) The maximum price for export sales of cast iron soil pipe and fittings shall be the maximum price, as established by subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) hereof, for delivery of carload quantities of pipe and fittings to the export loading dock, plus ocean freight and marine insurance to the extent that such charges are paid by the seller. Where the seller performs the service of wiring or otherwise bundling pipe and fittings for export shipment, an added charge of $1.00 per ton of pipes and fittings may be made.

(d) No addition to the maximum prices herein established may be made for treating cast iron soil pipe and fittings with tar.*

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 101—CITRIC ACID

Citric acid is produced by fermentation of beet molasses and extraction from lemon culls and pineapples. Its most important uses are in pharmaceutical manufacture, and in food and beverage flavoring. While estimated production for 1942 is in excess of the amount produced in 1941, it is anticipated that there will be an increased consumer demand for goods and beverages which will be reflected in the demand for citric acid.

In recent months, speculation in citric acid has led to resales of this commodity at prices over three times the prices quoted by producers. In addition, export sales have been made at abnormally high prices. Further increases in these prices are threatened.

After conferences with producers, resellers, and exporters of citric acid, and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that no justifiable reasons exist for producers and primary jobbers charging prices in excess of 20 cents per pound, or for resellers and exporters charging prices in excess of 26 cents and 28 cents per pound, respectively, for sales of U. S. P. granular citric acid in carload lots. Increases above those prices would, consequently, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.851 Maximum prices for citric acid. On and after February 16, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, deliver, or transfer citric acid in quantities of 5 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of citric acid in quantities of 5 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.859.*

*§§ 1335.851 to 1335.859, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.853 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 101 shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer, of citric acid or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer, of any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, discount, premium, or other charge or privilege, or by alteration of grades of citric acid, or by tying-agreements or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.854 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of citric acid in quantities of one pound or more after February 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity including the kind and size of the containers, of the citric acid purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 101 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.855 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 101, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 101, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 101; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 101 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocations of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 101. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of citric acid, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.856. Modification of Price Schedule No. 101. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 101 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 101.*

§ 1335.857 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 101, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(b) "Citric acid" means the various grades referred to in § 1335.859, Appendix A, of this Schedule.

(c) "Producer" means a person who synthesizes, extracts, or otherwise manufactures or makes citric acid.

(e) "Reseller" means a person who buys citric acid from other than producers for resale.

(f) "Shipping point" means the point of distribution maintained by a seller from which actual shipment is made.*

§ 1335.858 Effective date of Price Schedule No. 101. This Schedule (§§ 1335.851 to 1335.859, inclusive) shall become effective February 16, 1942.*

PART 1380—HOUSEHOLD AND SERVICE INDUSTRY MACHINES

PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 102—HOUSEHOLD MECHANICAL REFRIGERATORS

Household mechanical refrigerators are of considerable importance to the consuming public. Between January and June, 1941, manufacturers' prices on these refrigerators were revised upwards on three occasions and advanced on the average 5.9 per cent. On June 23 the Office of Price Administration requested refrigerator manufacturers not to make further increases without consultation with this Office. Thereafter, no price increases have become effective without the approval of the Office of Price Administration and this approval has been granted only on the basis of a demonstrated rise in costs of production. In effect, therefore, the present level of prices accords with that prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, with necessary adjustments for these increased costs for all companies except the General Electric Company and the Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corporation who have not yet submitted their cost figures.

After investigation it has been determined that efficient administration, and uniform treatment of all manufacturers, make advisable the formalization of the existing arrangement by the issuance of a Price Schedule.

§ 1380.51 Maximum prices for household mechanical refrigerators. On and after February 9, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer any model of household mechanical refrigerator at a price higher than the maximum price:

(a) Manufacturer's brand household mechanical refrigerators. (1) In the case of all manufacturers who have had price lists on 1942 models approved by the Office of Price Administration, the maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any model of household mechanical refrigerator sold under the manufacturer's brand during the two-month period ended February 2, 1942, shall be the net price quoted to the same general class of purchasers for such model in the manufacturer's price list in effect on February 2, 1942.

(2) In the case of all other manufacturers, the maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any model manufactured for sale under the manufacturer's brand during the two-month period ended February 2, 1942, shall be the net price quoted to the same general class of purchaser for the most comparable model in the most recent 1941 price list, until a new price list has been approved by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Private brand household mechanical refrigerators. The maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for any model of household mechanical refrigerator sold under a brand other than the manufacturer's brand during the two-month period ended February 2, 1942, shall be the highest price, exclusive of federal excise tax, specified for such model in a contract with a purchaser of the same general class in effect on February 2, 1942.

(c) New models. The maximum price for any 1942 model not manufactured or offered for sale before February 2, 1942, and for any other model not offered for sale by the manufacturer in the two-month period ended February 2, 1942, shall be the price approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration after the submission to it of a report in accordance with § 1380.54 (c), and no sale, offer to sell, delivery or transfer of such model shall be made until such approval shall have been given.*

§ 1380.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by Price Schedule No. 102 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.*

§ 1380.53 Evasion. The limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 102 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the manufacturing or assembling of household mechanical refrigerators by deterioration of quality or performance thereof, or in connection with a purchase, sale, or transfer of household mechanical refrigerators, alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by decreasing cash discounts, allowances for or absorption of transportation costs, or by any other means.*

§ 1380.54 Reports—(a) Present line. On or before February 25, 1942, every manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on all models currently offered for sale, giving the maximum price established for each model by § 1380.51, the specifications, and the terms of sale. Manufacturers who have already submitted all or any part of this information need not duplicate such material but shall send a reference to the material already submitted.

(b) Approval of price lists. Manufacturers who have not had price lists on 1942 models approved, may submit to the Office of Price Administration price lists on 1942 models for approval, giving the necessary description of the models, cost, profit, and other information which may be required by the Office of Price Administration.

(c) New models. Manufacturers wishing to offer for sale a new model as defined in § 1380.51 (c) shall submit to the Office of Price Administration a report on such model, giving proposed maximum price, the specifications and the terms of sale.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 102 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1380.55 Records. Every manufacturer making sales of household mechanical refrigerators on or after February 9, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such sale showing the date of billing, the name and address of the buyer, the name, number or other designation and the price received for each household mechanical refrigerator, the quantity of each household mechanical refrigerator sold, and discounts and allowances of any nature given.*

§ 1380.56 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 102, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 102, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interest of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 102; and (c) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 102. Persons who have evidence of the receipt or demand of prices higher than the maximum prices or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of the speculations, or manipulation of prices of household mechanical refrigerators, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1380.57 Modification of Price Schedule No. 102. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 102 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 102.*

PART 1335—CHEMICALS

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 103—SALICYLIC ACID

Salicylic acid is chiefly used in the production of aspirin and other internal and external medicinals, in making chrome and khaki dyes, and in vulcanizing natural rubber. The acid is itself made from phenol, which is under allocation by the War Production Board on account of its importance in the production of plastics and explosives. As a result, present and future supplies of salicylic acid are distinctly limited by the amount of phenol which can be spared for its production.

At the same time, increased demand for aspirin and khaki dye, coupled with anticipated increased demand for the acid in rubber vulcanization, has led to speculation on the resale market at prices nearly triple the manufacturers' prices for comparable grades and quantities. These forces threaten further upward pressure on the price of salicylic acid.

After conferences with producers, resellers, and exporters of salicylic acid, and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that no justifiable reasons exist for producers and primary jobbers charging prices in excess of 35 cents per pound, or for resellers charging prices in excess of 46 cents per pound, for U. S. P. salicylic acid in 100 to 150 pound barrels. Increases above these prices would, consequently, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.951 Maximum prices for salicylic acid. On and after February 16, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, deliver, or transfer salicylic acid in quantities of one pound or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy, or accept delivery or salicylic acid in quantities of one pound or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.959.*

*§§ 1335.951 to 1335.959, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.953 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 103 shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer, of salicylic acid or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer, of any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, discount, premium, or other charge or privilege, or by alteration of grades of salicylic acid, or by tying-agreements or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.954 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of salicylic acid in quantities of one pound or more after February 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity including the kind and size of the containers, of the salicylic acid purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 103 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.955 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 103, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 103, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 103; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 103 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 103.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of salicylic acid, or of the hoarding or accumulation of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.956 Modification of Price Schedule No. 103. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 103 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 103.*

§ 1335.957 Definitions. When used in Price Schedule No. 103, the term:

(a) "Person" means individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

[1] Issued: 7 F.R. 908.

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 104—VITAMIN C

Progress during recent years in biochemical research has led to the isolation of vitamin C, also known as ascorbic acid. This vitamin is indispensable to the development of sound bony structure in humans. Although it is found in fresh fruits and raw vegetables, vitamin C which is used in therapy is mainly a synthetic product.

Wider use of vitamin therapy, coupled with the scarcity of fresh fruits and raw vegetables in some foreign countries, has stimulated a sharply increased domestic and foreign demand for vitamin C produced in this country. This pressure has led to speculation by resellers to such an extent that a number of transactions have been made at prices approximately double the prices quoted by producers. This speculation has taken place and threatens to lead to even higher prices in the resale market, in spite of a distinct downward trend in producers' prices.

After conferences with producers, resellers, and exporters of vitamin C, and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that no justifiable reasons exist for producers and primary jobbers charging prices in excess of $1.65 per ounce, or for resellers charging more than $2.15 per ounce, for sales of large quantities. Increases above those prices would, consequently, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.901 Maximum prices for vitamin C. On and after February 16, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, deliver or transfer vitamin C in quantities of one ounce or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of vitamin C in quantities of one ounce or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.909.*

*§§ 1335.901 to 1335.909, inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.903 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 104 shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer, of vitamin C or in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer, of any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, discount, premium, or other charge or privilege, or by alteration of grades of vitamin C, or by tying-agreements or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.904 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of vitamin C in quantities of one pound or more after February 15, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the kind and size of the containers, of the vitamin C purchased or sold.

Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 104 shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.905 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 104, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 104, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 104; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 104 which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 104.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of vitamin C, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration."

§ 1335.906 Modification of Price Schedule No. 104. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 104 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 104."

PART 1406—MECHANICAL POWER-TRANSMISSION EQUIPMENT

REVISED PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 105—GEARS, PINIONS, SPROCKETS, AND SPEED REDUCERS

Gears, pinions, sprockets, and speed reducers are used in the transmission of power. They are an important and integral part of most industrial mechanical equipment. Large quantities are used in the necessary machinery of modern warfare.

During the past year, as the expenditures of the War Program have expanded, the demand for these vital products has grown with great rapidity. The need for them in machines for industry and for war has become acute. Under this pressure, output has been more than doubled and schedules calling for continuous production have been introduced in many plants manufacturing this type of equipment. In spite of this there exists an increasing unsatisfied demand for these products creating a condition favorable to inflationary price changes.

During the year 1941, the prices of these articles moved sharply upward. In the absence of price control there is imminent danger that prices will increase even further. To avoid this consequence and the inflation which price increases occasion under the conditions described it has been decided, as a result of a study of pertinent facts and of conferences with representative members of the industry, that controls should be established over the prices of gears, pinions, sprockets, and speed reducers.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1406.1 Maximum prices for gears, pinions, sprockets, and speed reducers. (a) On and after February 18, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, no manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery from a manufacturer of any gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A incorporated herein as § 1406.9.

(b) The provisions of Price Schedule No. 105 shall not apply to deliveries under contracts entered into by the Army, Navy, Defense Plant Corporation, Maritime Commission, Panama Canal, Procurement Division of the Treasury or any other agency of the United States prior to the effective date of Price Schedule No. 105.

(c) Nothing in Price Schedule No. 105 shall prevent the inclusion in any contract for the sale of gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers of a provision for price adjustment to be applied only to those deliveries called for and made more than nine months after the date on which the contract is entered into: Provided, That the contract also contains a provision that the final prices, after all adjustments, will in no case exceed the maximum prices established by the Office of Price Administration at the dates of delivery. Any other form of price adjustment provision, whether contractual or otherwise, shall be deemed to be in violation of Price Schedule No. 105.

(d) The provisions of Price Schedule No. 105 shall apply both to domestic sales and sales for export, but nothing in Price Schedule No. 105 shall prevent the inclusion in the price of gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers sold for export of the amount of expenses actually incurred in packing for export and in shipment, and the amount of any other expenses not ordinarily incurred in connection with domestic sales, provided that the amount of all such expenses is stated separately on the invoice."

§ 1406.3 Evasion. The price limitation set forth in § 1406.1 shall not be evaded in connection with the purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of any gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers, alone or in conjunction with any other material, whether by direct or indirect methods, by way of barter or exchange, or by way of any service, transportation or other such charge, or by way of any change in discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise, as a result of which the net price received by the manufacturer will exceed the net price which would have been received by him if the sale had been made on October 15, 1941."

§ 1406.4 Records and reports. (a) Every manufacturer making any sale of gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers after February 18, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year complete and accurate records of each such sale showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the list price, if any, on the date of sale, the net price received after adjustment for all extra charges, discounts, and allowances, and the quantity and description of each type of gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer sold, and in addition, in the case of "special" gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers, as defined in § 1406.7; the actual cost incurred in the production of the gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer sold, and a summary of the calculations made in the computation of the price charged.

(b) On or before March 1, 1942, every manufacturer of gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers, shall file with the Office of Price Administration the following: published or confidential price lists and discount sheets setting forth prices and all extra charges, discounts, and allowances in effect on October 15, 1941, applicable to gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers; and a statement of the standard method of estimating net, selling prices in use October 15, 1941, for special gears, pinions, sprockets and speed reducers, together with an illustrative computation.

(c) On or before April 10, 1942, and on or before the tenth day of every month thereafter, every manufacturer of gears, pinions, sprockets, and speed reducers shall file with the Office of Price Administration a report of sales during the preceding month of all "recurring special" gears, pinions, sprockets, and speed reducers, as to which no such report has previously been filed. The first such report shall cover the period February 18 to March 31, 1942.

(1) For each "recurring special" gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer sold during the preceding month, of which a sale was made during the year ending February 18, 1942, the report shall be filed on Form 205:1 and shall contain the following information: (i) A description of the item; (ii) the date of the last sale of the item prior to February 18, 1942, the quantity sold and the net price charged at that time; (iii) the net price which would have been charged for this quantity on October 15, 1941, if such price had been calculated on the basis of labor rates and material prices existing on that date by the use of procedures and standards employed in estimating costs and determining prices on that date and making use of the manufacturer's experience as to actual machine hours and materials required; (iv) the date of the sale being reported, the quantity sold and the net price charged.

(2) For each "recurring special" gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer sold during the preceding month, of which no sale was made during the year ending February 18, 1942, the report shall be filed on Form 205:2 and shall contain the following information: (i) A description of the item; (ii) the date of the first sale of the item after February 18, 1942, the quantity sold, and the net price charged; (iii) the date of the sale being reported, by force of which the item became a "recurring special," the quantity sold and the net price charged.

If reports have been filed in previous months as to all the "recurring special" gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers sold during any single month, or if no sales of "recurring special" gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers have been made during any single month, a report shall nonetheless be filed, containing a statement of the relevant fact, signed by an authorized person. Copies of Forms 205:1 and 205:2 can be obtained from the Office of Price Administration, or Forms 205:1 and 205:2 can be reproduced by the manufacturer providing no change is made in style or content of the forms.

(d) Persons affected by Price Schedule No. 105 shall submit such other reports, including periodic profit and loss statements and balance sheets, to the Office of Price Administration, as it may from time to time require."

§ 1406.5 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record requirements, or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 105 or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of Price Schedule No. 105, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command, including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both State and Federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with Price Schedule No. 105; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of State, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities failures to comply with Price Schedule No. 105 which may be regarded as ground for the revocation of licenses and permits; (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with Price Schedule No. 105; and (e) that the War Production Board is requested to direct the withholding of priority ratings and the allocation of materials to any person failing to comply with Price Schedule No. 105. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand, or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or attempt to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of gears, pinions, sprockets, or speed reducers, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration."

§ 1406.6 Modification of Price Schedule No. 105. Persons claiming hardship or inequity in the operation of Price Schedule No. 105 may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof, or exception therefrom: Provided, That such application will not be considered unless filed by persons complying with Price Schedule No. 105."

Upon any subsequent sale of this new "recurring special" gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer, the maximum price shall be the price charged upon such sale, by force of which the item became a "recurring special," and filed in column 10 of Form 205:2 as required in § 1406.4, adjusted to reflect differences in costs consequent upon substantial differences, if any, in the quantity sold.

(c) The maximum price for any "special" gear, pinion, sprocket, or speed reducer shall be the price which would have been charged on October 15, 1941, if such price had been calculated upon labor and material costs existing on that date by the use of procedures and standards employed by the manufacturer in estimating costs and determining prices on that date.*

EXECUTIVE ORDER

AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF WAR TO PRESCRIBE MILITARY AREAS

WHEREAS the successful prosecution of the war requires every possible protection against espionage and against sabotage to national-defense material, national-defense premises, and national-defense utilities as defined in Section 4, Act of April 20, 1918, 40 Stat. 533, as amended by the Act of November 30, 1940, 54 Stat. 1220, and the Act of August 21, 1941, 55 Stat. 655 (U.S.C., Title 50, Sec. 104);

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in me as President of the United States, and Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, I hereby authorize and direct the Secretary of War, and the Military Commanders whom he may from time to time designate, whenever he or any designated Commander deems such action necessary or desirable, to prescribe military areas in such places and of such extent as he or the appropriate Military Commander may determine, from which any or all persons may be excluded, and with respect to which, the right of any person to enter, remain in, or leave shall be subject to whatever restrictions the Secretary of War or the appropriate Military Commander may impose in his discretion. The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to provide for residents of any such area who are excluded therefrom, such transportation, food, shelter, and other accommodations as may be necessary, in the judgment of the Secretary of War or the said Military Commander, and until other arrangements are made, to accomplish the purpose of this order. The designation of military areas in any region or locality shall supersede designations of prohibited and restricted areas by the Attorney General under the Proclamations of December 7 and 8, 1941,[1] and shall supersede the responsibility and authority of the Attorney General under the said Proclamations in respect of such prohibited and restricted areas.

I hereby further authorize and direct the Secretary of War and the said Military Commanders to take such other steps as he or the appropriate Military Commander may deem advisable to enforce compliance with the restrictions applicable to each Military area hereinabove authorized to be designated, including the use of Federal troops and other Federal Agencies, with authority to accept assistance of state and local agencies.

I hereby further authorize and direct all Executive Departments, independent establishments and other Federal Agencies, to assist the Secretary of War or the said Military Commanders in carrying out this Executive Order, including the furnishing of medical aid, hospitalization, food, clothing, transportation, use of land, shelter, and other supplies, equipment, utilities, facilities, and services.

This order shall not be construed as modifying or limiting in any way the authority heretofore granted under Executive Order No. 8972,[1] dated December 12, 1941, nor shall it be construed as limiting or modifying the duty and responsibility of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, with respect to the investigation of alleged acts of sabotage or the duty and responsibility of the Attorney General and the Department of Justice under the Proclamations of December 7 and 8, 1941, prescribing regulations for the conduct and control of alien enemies, except as such duty and responsibility is superseded by the designation of military areas hereunder.

§ 77.15 Persons who may be admitted to Army hospitals—(a) General. When suitable facilities for hospitalization are available, sick and injured persons enumerated in paragraph (b) of this section may be admitted to Army hospitals, except that admissions to the Army and Navy General Hospital, Hot Springs, Ark., and to the Fitzsimons General Hospital, Denver, Colo., will be governed by special provisions relating to those hospitals, as published in §§ 77.24 and 77.27, respectively.

(b) List. (1) Officers, Army nurses, warrant officers, cadets of the United States Military Academy, and enlisted men in the Army; also contract surgeons serving full time. The admission of retired personnel on inactive status will be limited to cases which, in the judgment of the commanding officer of the hospital, will be benefited by hospitalization for a reasonable time. Those requiring merely domiciliary care by reason of age or chronic invalidism will not be admitted. Officers on the Emergency Officers' Retired List and officers retired under the provisions of the act of April 3, 1939 (53 Stat. 557; 10 U.S.C. 456), are not admissible except under the provisions of subparagraphs (16) or (20) of this paragraph.

(2) Members of the Officers' Reserve Corps, and of the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Army who suffer personal injury or contract disease while on active duty under proper orders; or who are injured while voluntarily participating in aerial flights in Government owned aircraft by proper authority as an incident to their military training, but not on active duty; or who are readmitted under proper authority for further treatment of injuries or diseases incurred in line of duty.

(3) Officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men of the National Guard who suffer personal injury or contract disease in line of duty while en route to or from, or during attendance at encampments, maneuvers, or other exercises, or at service schools, under the provisions of sections 94, 97, and 99 of the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, as amended; or who suffer personal injury in line of duty when participating in aerial flights prescribed under the provisions of section 92 of the National Defense Act, as amended, and members of the National Guard of the United States who suffer injury or contract disease in line of duty while on active duty under proper orders; or who are readmitted under proper authority for further treatment thereof. Hospitalization must be authenticated in each case by the National Guard Bureau, subject to the report of a line of duty board convened by the camp or school commander, or the State adjutant general.

(4) Members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and members of the Citizens' Military Training Camps who suffer personal injury or contract disease in line of duty while en route to or from, or during their attendance at camps of instruction under the provisions of the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, as amended, or who are readmitted under proper authority for further treatment of the same.

(5) Officers, commissioned warrant officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men of the Navy or Marine Corps, and members of the Navy Nurse Corps, in active service or on retired, inactive, or leave (furlough) status, including enlisted men transferred to the Fleet Naval Reserve after 16 or more years of service, as follows:

(i) In active service. On the request of their commanding officers, or on their own request if the commanding officer of the hospital concerned deems their admission necessary. Whenever authority has not been received from the commanding officer of such active duty personnel, a report of hospitalization should be made immediately to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy Department, Washington, D. C., and authorization for such hospitalization requested.

(ii) On inactive status. On the request of the proper representative of the Navy Department, or on their own request if their admission be deemed necessary by the commanding officer of the hospital concerned, provided beds are available in the hospital concerned. In emergency admissions involving personnel admitted from a leave (furlough) status, reports should be made immediately to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy Department, Washington, D. C., and authorization for such hospitalization requested.

The admission of patients requiring merely domiciliary care by reason of age or chronic invalidism is not authorized.

(6) (i) Commissioned officers of the United States Public Health Service on active duty, disabled on account of sickness or injury, upon the individual officer's own written request.

(ii) Officers or employees of the United States Public Health Service on duty at any national quarantine station or on a national quarantine vessel, or detached for duty in foreign ports, suffering from sickness or injury, upon written authorization by a responsible officer of the United States Public Health Service.

(7) Officers, cadets, and enlisted men of the United States Coast Guard, on active duty, including those on shore duty, and those on detached duty, upon written authorization of the responsible Coast Guard officer.

(8) Commissioned officers, ship officers, and members of the crew of vessels of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, on active duty, including those on shore duty, and those on detached duty, upon written authorization of the responsible Coast and Geodetic Survey officer.

(9) The wife and dependent children of officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men, and other dependent members of the family when residing with such persons, provided, they are not legally dependent upon an individual not in the military service, requiring hospital treatment or isolation, when suitable accommodations for their care are available. Application in each case will be made to the commanding officer of the hospital concerned by the officer, warrant officer, or enlisted man with evidence, satisfactory to the commanding officer, showing the relationship, dependency, residence, and, also, the nature of the illness and the need for hospital treatment. Dependents of military personnel should not undertake travel to a military hospital without first ascertaining whether and when accommodations will be available. If the case is under the care or within the province of an attending surgeon of the Army, the application will be made by him; otherwise, it will be made direct.

(10) Civilian employees compensable by the United States Employees' Compensation Commission who suffer personal injury while in the performance of official duty, or who acquire a disease as a natural result of such injury, or who acquire an occupational disease in the performance of official duty, are entitled to hospitalization or treatment in conformity with circular letters issued from time to time by The Surgeon General.

(11) Any civilian employed at a military station and paid from an exchange, mess, company, or similar unit fund, provided civilian hospital service is not available.

(12) Recently discharged soldiers needing hospital treatment who arrive in the United States on Government transports may be sent to one of the military hospitals in the vicinity of the port of debarkation, and commutation of rations drawn for them while undergoing treatment.

(13) A civilian seaman or river boatman, only on a permit issued by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service or by a customs officer, unless his condition demands immediate relief, when, in the discretion of the station commander, he may be admitted in advance of the receipt of the permit.

(14) An enrolled Indian who is a beneficiary of the Indian Service, upon written approval by the Office of Indian Affairs, Department of Interior, or, preferably, by the superintendent of the agency to which the Indian belongs, provided beds are available.

(15) Red Cross field directors and other officially recognized welfare workers on duty at military stations for treatment, on the status of officer patients.

(16) Beneficiaries of the United States Veterans' Administration may be admitted, in limited numbers, to certain designated Army hospitals upon request of the proper representatives of the United States Veterans' Administration.

(17) Prisoners of war, persons undergoing internment, and other persons in military custody or confinement.

(18) Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees and former enrollees when undergoing hospitalization at the expense of CCC funds, provided beds are available.

(19) Civilians not in the public service (other than those enumerated above) may be admitted only in case of extreme necessity, and when in the opinion of the commanding officer of the hospital or his authorized representative such admission is necessary to save life or prevent greater suffering. Under these circumstances, a written report will be submitted immediately to the post commander.

(20) Such other persons as may be designated by the Secretary of War.* [Par. 6]

§ 77.16 Disposition of patients—(a) General. Unless directed by higher authority, the commanding officer of a hospital will not order a patient discharged or transferred from the hospital until, in such commanding officer's opinion, the discharge or transfer in question would not endanger the life of the patient concerned. The commanding officer may appoint a board composed of three or more medical officers, to be known as a disposition board, to advise him in such cases as he considers necessary. The report of the disposition board will be forwarded with his recommendations to higher authority in appropriate cases. For disposition of the insane see §§ 76.1 and 76.2 and AR 600-505.[2]

(b) Discharge. (1) Persons other than those in the public service will, in the discretion of the commanding officer of the hospital, be discharged from hospital upon completion of hospital treatment.

(2) Civilians admitted to Army hospitals as patients must, in all particulars, conform to the rules and regulations governing the operation of such hospitals, and, in the event of failure or refusal to comply therewith, the patient at once becomes liable to discharge from the hospital in the discretion of the commanding officer. A patient so discharged from hospital for disregard or disobedience of rules and regulations will be refused admission thereto or to any other Army hospital within 90 days after such discharge, except when, in the opinion of the commanding officer, earlier admission is necessary to save life or to prevent extreme suffering. Whenever beneficiaries of the United States Veterans' Administration are discharged from hospital under the preceding conditions, the commanding officer of the hospital involved will forward to the Director of the United States Veterans' Administration, through the regional manager, a report giving the reasons for the patient's discharge, together with his full name and address, and condition at the time of discharge.

(c) Transfer. Patients may be transferred, under proper military authority, from one hospital to another, for observation or to obtain better treatment or hospital accommodations. See AR 40-600.[3]

(d) Discharge of members of civilian components. Members of the civilian components, hospitalized or rehospitalized under provisions of § 77.15 (b) (2), (3), or (4) for personal injury or for disease requiring treatment after expiration of the period of active duty during which contracted, will be brought before boards of medical officers for final disposition when hospital treatment is no longer necessary, or when discharged upon their own request before maximum improvement has been reached. The medical boards acting on cases of individuals remaining in hospital subsequent to completion of the period of active duty in which their disability was incurred will recommend the final disposition of the patients, and will incorporate in the proceedings the diagnosis, line of duty status, physical condition on completion of hospitalization, statement that further hospitalization is not required, and a concise medical history of the case. If further medical or surgical treatment will be required after return home, the reasons therefor, and the probably duration of such treatment will be included in the proceedings. Arrangement for such treatment as is required after return home will be made by the local commanding officer in accordance with § 77.3, and with the approval of the corps area commander. The proceedings of the disposition board will be forwarded in duplicate to the corps area commander, stating the date upon which hospitalization was terminated, and, in the case of Reserve personnel, will be accompanied by the report of physical examination made by the board of W.D., A.G.O. Form No. 63 (Report of Physical Examination). Any claim for injuries sustained while en route to or from, or while at camps of instruction will be acted on by a board of officers convened by the military commander having immediate jurisdiction.* [Par. 7]

§ 77.17 Patients' effects—(a) General. These provisions have particular application to and are intended to cover the ordinary requirements of peacetime conditions. In time of war, when large numbers of patients are being received daily, strict adherence to the procedures herein prescribed may be impracticable; therefore, such deviations as the commanding officer of the hospital concerned may deem necessary may be made to assure the safeguarding of patients' effects.

[1] §§ 77.15 to 77.21 are superseded. The regulations contained in §§ 77.15 to 77.20 are also contained in AR 40-590, dated February 2, 1942, the particular paragraphs being shown in brackets at the end of sections.

[2] Administrative regulations of the War Department relative to Army Commitment Boards.

[3] Administrative regulations of the War Department relating to hospitals.

(b) Responsibility. The commanding officer of a hospital is responsible that due care is observed in safeguarding the money, valuables, clothing, and other effects of patients admitted to hospital. The registrar ordinarily will be the custodian of money and valuables turned over to the hospital by patients for safekeeping.

(c) Money and valuables. Patients will be informed by the admitting officer that the hospital will receive, for safekeeping, money and valuables, including watches, trinkets, personal papers, keepsakes, etc., and that receipts will be given for such articles by a commissioned officer. In case the patient is unconscious, he will be searched by the admitting officer, in the presence of a witness, for money and valuables, which will be receipted for by a commissioned officer and properly safeguarded. Money and valuables will be received and receipted for without condition or other evasion of complete responsibility by the commanding officer or by an officer designated by him. Money and valuables of considerable intrinsic value, such as watches and jewelry, will be deposited in a bank or locked in the hospital safe. Articles of lesser value may be stored in locked compartments in a well safeguarded storeroom. Enlisted men are forbidden to receive money or other valuables from patients for safekeeping. When a patient is discharged, transferred, dies, or deserts, his money and other valuables will be disposed of as prescribed for the disposition of effects other than public property.* [Par. 8]

§ 77.18 Subsistence and other charges for patients—(a) Subsistence charges; rates. The following is the schedule of rates for subsistence charges for patients in Medical Department establishments (except the Army and Navy and the Fitzsimons General Hospitals), who are not entitled to commutation of rations under the provisions of Army Regulations. Rates for patients in the Army and Navy and the Fitzsimons General Hospitals will be found in § 77.24 and § 77.27, respectively.

(1) For officers, Army nurses, warrant officers, and cadets of the United States Military Academy, $1 a day, except in mobile hospital units, where the rate will be an amount equal to the commutation rate prescribed in Army Regulations. Retired enlisted men who have been advanced on the retired list to commissioned or warrant grades under the provisions of the act of Congress approved May 7, 1932, will be subsisted as officer patients unless they elect to be subsisted on enlisted status. See subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(2) For officers, commissioned warrant officers, and warrant officers of the Navy and Marine Corps, active or retired, and for active and retired members of the Navy Nurse Corps, the same rates as prescribed for officers of the Army in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) For retired enlisted men of the Army and for enlisted men of the Navy and Marine Corps, active or retired, an amount per day equal to the commutation rate prescribed in Army Regulations.

(4) For civilians in the status of officers $1.25 a day for civilians in the status of enlisted men, the same rate as that prescribed for enlisted patients plus 10 cents a day, except that in the Philippines the commanding general may prescribe such special reduced rates for Filipino civilians as will cover the cost of their subsistence. The surgeon will determine in each case, subject to instructions from higher authority, whether civilian patients will be on the footing of officers or of enlisted men.

(5) When necessary to protect the hospital fund at stations in Alaska against actual loss, the station commander may prescribe an additional charge for each patient not to exceed 25 cents a day, except in the case of retired enlisted men of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps.

(b) Medicine charges; rates. Per diem charges of 50 cents for medicines and dressings will be collected from civilian employees and other civilians who are patients in Medical Department establishments and who are not entitled to medical relief at the expense of public funds.* [Par. 12]

§ 77.19 Civilian hospital employees—(a) General. The employment of civilians necessary for the proper care of sick officers and enlisted men is authorized in the annual appropriations "Medical and Hospital Department" under such regulations fixing their number, qualifications, assignment, pay, and allowances as may be prescribed by The Surgeon General with the approval of the Secretary of War.

(b) Number and assignment. The number and assignment of civilians employed for the proper care of the sick will be determined by The Surgeon General for hospitals within the continental limits of the United States, and by the department or expeditionary force surgeons under instructions of The Surgeon General for hospitals beyond the continental limits of the United States.

(c) Qualifications. The employment of hospital employees is subject to the requirements of the Civil Service Commission under the procedure established by the Civil Service Act and rules.

(d) Appointment, promotion, demotion, suspension, and discharge. Hospital employees will be appointed, promoted, demoted, suspended without pay, and discharged under the provisions of such regulations as The Surgeon General may from time to time prescribe with the approval of the office of the Secretary of War and the Civil Service Commission.

(e) Rations. Whenever it is found necessary or deemed desirable, civilian employees, irrespective of their rate of pay, may be either furnished meals at the hospital, or, by special authority of The Surgeon General in exceptional circumstances, furnished with a ration in kind: Provided, That deductions are taken from their pay for such subsistence or ration, or that reimbursement in cash is received. Civilian employees permitted or required to take meals regularly at the hospital will have appropriate deductions made from their gross compensation. Civilian employees permitted to take an occasional meal at the hospital will make reimbursement to the hospital fund in cash. The deductions for subsistence will be made according to the evaluation set forth in AR 35-3840. The cash value of subsistence furnished will be determined by The Surgeon General.

(f) Quarters. Such quarters as may be available will be furnished for the use of employees whose constant presence at the hospital is necessary or appropriate.* [Par. 13]

§ 77.20 Laundry—(a) General. The hospital laundry will consist of—

(1) The linen, clothing, and bedding belonging to the Medical Department.

(2) The washable clothing of Army nurses and enlisted men while patients in the hospital.

(3) The white coats and trousers of enlisted attendants.

(4) The uniforms of Army nurses and of civilian nurses, paid from Veterans' Administration or Civilian Conservation Corps funds, employed in the hospital.

(5) Washable clothing of civilian attendants when their contracts of employment entitle them to this service.

(b) Purchase from commercial sources. Any excess laundry service required at hospitals with laundries, and the entire laundry service at other hospitals, and at dispensaries, unless otherwise provided for under special instructions from The Surgeon General, will be purchased from commercial sources as prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Instructions governing purchases—(1) General provisions. For general instructions governing the contracts for or the purchase of laundry services, see §§ 81.1 to 81.9. The paragraphs thereof defining supplies as including nonpersonal services (such as laundry service), prescribing the duties of contracting officers, citing general laws, directing how purchases will be made, prescribing the forms to be used, and indicating the offices of permanent record for various purchase papers should be given special attention.

(2) Periods for which purchases are to be made and estimates of services required. Ordinarily, laundry services will be purchased for one entire fiscal year. Under special conditions, they may cover other periods within one fiscal year, but in no case will a purchase cover services in different fiscal years. Decision having been made as to this period, an estimate will be prepared to show, for each different piece of laundry, the quantity thereof which will probably be required to be laundered during the future period. This estimate will be based upon the total services which have been required by the hospital or dispensary concerned for the preceding 12 months, or based upon the average monthly service required in the case of large general hospitals. Applying to the above estimate the unit prices being paid under the current contract or, in the absence of such, local commercial prices for laundry service, an estimate of the total money value of the future services required will be made.* [Par. 14]

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 18th day of February, 1942.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, acting pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, particularly sections 205 (a) and 409 (a) thereof, and deeming its action necessary to carry out the provisions of said Act and to exercise its powers and perform its duties thereunder, hereby makes and promulgates the following regulation:

Effective March 10, 1942, § 248.1 of the Economic Regulations is hereby amended in its entirety to read as follows:

§ 248.1 Approvals of interlocking relationships—(a) Application. If approval by the Board is desired of an interlocking relationship which would otherwise be prohibited by section 409 (a) of the Act (hereinafter referred to as an "interlocking relationship"), an application for such approval shall be filed with the Board by the individual (hereinafter referred to as the "individual applicant") occupying or seeking to occupy the interlocking relationship, and by each air carrier (hereinafter referred to as the "air carrier applicant") in which such individual holds or seeks to hold the position of officer or director. At their election such applicants may join in a single application. If separate applications are submitted it is desirable that all shall be filed at the same time. An application may incorporate by specific reference current information contained in another application in the same matter or in any document then on file with the Board.

(b) Formal requirements. Applications filed pursuant to this section shall conform generally to the outline set forth in paragraph (c) hereof and to the requirements of rule 3 of § 285.1 of the Economic Regulations, with the additional requirement that each individual verifying the application shall include in his verification a statement that he has personally made a careful investigation of the proposed interlocking relationship and that the application includes all of the information required by this section of the Economic Regulations and that it contains no misleading statement and does not omit information which would tend to show that the public interest would be adversely affected by the existence of the proposed interlocking relationship. If a joint application is filed it shall be verified by the individual applicant and by a responsible officer of each air carrier applicant. However, any individual verifying any such joint application may disclaim responsibility for any statements therein except statements concerning matters which are peculiarly within his knowledge. In any such case, however, every allegation contained in the application shall be verified by one or more qualified individuals.

(c) General provisions concerning contents. Each application (except one filed pursuant to paragraph (d) hereof) shall, among other things, include the following information;

(1) the full name, place of residence and citizenship of the individual applicant.

(2) The name and address of the major business or professional activity of the individual applicant.

(3) A complete description of the interlocking relationship for which approval is sought, as well as a description of any other interlocking relationship occupied by the individual applicant which has been approved by the Board. This description shall include the date and manner of the individual applicant's election or appointment to the position or positions which he occupies or seeks to occupy, and shall state the name or names of the persons primarily responsible, directly or indirectly, for his election or appointment. It shall also include a statement of his present or contemplated duties in connection with the interlocking relationship for which approval is sought and the approximate amount of time devoted or expected to be devoted thereto.

(4) The name of the person or persons, if any, whom the individual applicant represents or will represent on the board of directors of each air carrier applicant, together with a statement as to any financial interest held by such person or persons in any air carrier, common carrier, person engaged in any phase of aeronautics otherwise than as an air carrier, or person whose principal business, in purpose or in fact, is the holding of stock in, or control of any other person engaged in any phase of aeronautics.

(5) The name and address of each business (including but not limited to corporations, partnerships, trusts, etc.) of which the individual applicant is an officer, director, partner, trustee, receiver, manager, attorney, agent, or controlling stockholder or employee, the general character of each such business and a description of the individual applicant's financial interest therein.

(6) A complete description of any benefit and of the amount of and basis for any money or thing of value (i) received by the individual applicant during the last year from each air carrier applicant and from any person with whom the individual applicant has or seeks to have an interlocking relationship, whether for services, reimbursement of expenses or otherwise, and (ii) which the applicant contemplates receiving from any such person during the continuance of the interlocking relationship.

(7) The names and titles of all officers and directors of each air carrier applicant, and of each person with whom the individual applicant has or seeks to have an interlocking relationship.

(8) With respect to each officer and director (including the individual applicant) of each air carrier applicant, a statement that the information contained in the most recent reports filed with the Board pursuant to § 280.1 of the Economic Regulations for each of such individuals is the same as of the date within 30 days of the filing of the application pursuant to this section, or, if such information has changed, a statement setting forth the details of such changes. If no such report is on file with respect to any such officer or director (including the individual applicant), it shall be filed concurrently with the application pursuant to this section.

(9) The name of each stockholder, but not exceeding the twenty largest stockholders of each air carrier applicant, holding 1 per centum or more of the voting capital stock of at least one air carrier applicant, and the name of each person with whom the individual applicant has or seeks to have an interlocking relationship, together with the number of shares of each class of stock held by each of such stockholders and the percentage which such shares bear to the total authorized and outstanding number of shares of the same class. If all or any part of such shares are held for the account of any person other than the holder the names of such other persons shall be disclosed.

(10) A description of the shares of stock or other interests held by each air carrier applicant for its account in persons other than itself.

(11) A full description of any professional, financial or other business transactions or arrangements which have been entered into within one year prior to the date of the filing of the application by each air carrier applicant with the individual applicant and by each air carrier applicant or individual applicant with any person with whom the individual applicant has or seeks to have an interlocking relationship, together with a full statement as to any such transactions or arrangements which it is contemplated may be entered into while such interlocking relationship continues.

Each application shall state fully such further facts as the applicants respectively deem desirable in order to show that the public interest will not be adversely affected by the approval by the Board of the interlocking relationship.

(d) System of affiliated and subsidiary companies. In the event that an individual occupies or seeks to occupy an interlocking relationship falling within the purview of section 409 (a) of the Act which involves only the holding by him of the position of officer or director in two or more companies within the same system of affiliated and subsidiary companies (as hereinafter defined), an application for approval of such relationships need not comply with the requirements of paragraph (c) (11), of this section, but shall comply with all other requirements of that paragraph. Such application shall also include:

(1) Such information as is necessary to disclose the fact that the companies in which the individual applicant occupies or seeks to occupy the interlocking relationships are members of the system of affiliated and subsidiary companies as defined herein, and

(2) A statement that the individual applicant does not occupy or seek to occupy any interlocking relationship falling within the purview of section 409 (a) of the Act other than those within the same system of affiliated and subsidiary companies.

The individual applicant may include in any application made by him pursuant to this regulation a request for an order authorizing him to hold generally, in addition to the positions so specifically requested, directorships or offices within the same system of affiliated and subsidiary companies, and it shall not be necessary to file a separate application with respect to each such relationship. Any applicant assuming a directorship or office pursuant to such authorization shall, not later than 15 days after assuming such directorship or office, make or cause to be made a full and complete report thereof to the Board. As used in this regulation, the term "system of affiliated and subsidiary companies" shall include only a specified company and those companies of which it, directly, or indirectly, through one or more intermediate companies, owns 50 per centum or more of the voting capital stock issued by such companies.

(e) Supplements. Applicants under this section shall, upon requests of the Board and within such time as may be allowed, supplement any application with such information as may be required by the Board. In the event of any substantial change in the information set forth in the application prior to a decision by the Board upon such application, either by reason of the individual applicant's election or appointment to another position or positions involving an interlocking relationship or otherwise, the application shall be supplemented by such information as will fully describe such change. Such supplements shall comply with the formal requirements of paragraph (b) hereof.

(f) Uninterrupted tenure. After the individual applicant has been authorized by the Board to hold a particular position, further application in connection with each successive term will not be required so long as he continues in uninterrupted tenure of such position, except as may be ordered by the Board.

(g) Notice of changes. In the event of the individual applicant's resignation, withdrawal or failure of reelection or reappointment with respect to any of the positions for which authorization has been granted by the Board or in the event of any other material or substantial change therein, the individual and each air carrier applicant shall promptly and not more than thirty days after any such change occurs give notice thereof to the Board, setting forth fully the details of any such change. Such notices shall comply with the formal requirements of paragraph (b) hereof, except that the verification may be in simple form.

(h) Extent of authorization. An order by the Board authorizing an individual applicant to hold the position of director of a company will be construed as sufficient to authorize him to serve also as chairman of the board of directors or as a member or chairman of any committee or committees of such board.

(i) Revocation of authorization. Any order issued by the Board pursuant to section 409 (a) of the Act shall be subject to revocation in whole or in part by the Board at any time if it deems that the public interest will be adversely affected by the holding by the individual applicant of any or all of the positions authorized to be held by such order. If any individual or air carrier applicant knowingly or wilfully withholds any information called for by this regulation or any other information which may be material or relevant to the application, or misrepresents facts disclosed in the application, such omission or misrepresentation may be considered sufficient cause for the immediate revocation of any such order.

(j) Effect of order. No order of the Board entered in connection with any application filed pursuant to this regulation shall constitute approval by the Board of any interlocking relationship which was not fully disclosed.

(k) Reports. An individual occupying an interlocking relationship pursuant to authorization of the Board may be required to file such periodic or special reports as the Board may deem necessary.

(l) Effect of regulation on prior applications. Any application filed prior to the effective date of this regulation shall not be subject to the provisions of this regulation, except to the extent that the Board may, by appropriate request, in particular cases require compliance with any specific provision or provisions hereof.

(m) Procedure governing disposition of applications. (1) Each application will be docketed as received and applicants will be advised of the docket number assigned thereto.

(2) If the Board is convinced by the application and its consideration and investigation thereof that applicants have made a due showing that the public interest will not be adversely affected by the interlocking relationships for which approval is sought, an order of approval will be entered.

(3) If the Board is not convinced that applicants have made a due showing, applicants will be advised to that effect by letter. Thereupon applicants may file with the Board a petition in the proceeding for leave to withdraw the application; may request that the application be assigned for hearing; or may submit, within a reasonable time to be fixed by the Board, such additional information as they believe will result in a due showing.

(4) In the event additional information is submitted, the Board reserves the right to assign the application for hearing on its own initiative or to enter an order of approval or an order of disapproval in accordance with its determination that a due showing has or has not been made.

(5) The Board further reserves the right to vary the procedure herein set forth insofar as necessary or desirable in disposing of any particular application. (Secs. 205 (a), 409 (a), 52 Stat. 984, 1002; 49 U.S.C., 425 (a), 489 (a))

In the case of a decedent dying after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1940 and before the expiration of five years after such date, the total amount of tax payable under this chapter shall be 10 per centum greater than the amount of tax which would be payable if computed without regard to this section. For the purposes of this section, the tax computed without regard to this section shall be such tax, after the application of the credits provided for in section 813 and section 936.

SEC. 401. (b) [Revenue Act of 1941.] DEFENSE TAX REPEALED.—

Subchapter C of Chapter 3 of the Internal Revenue Code is repealed.

SEC. 401. (c) [Revenue Act of 1941; enacted September 20, 1941.] EFFECTIVE DATE.

Subsections (a) and b) shall be effective only with respect to estates of decedents dying after the date of the enactment of this Act.

DESCRIPTION OF THE TAX

§ 81.2 General description. Federal estate taxation under the Internal Revenue Code (chapter 3), applicable to estates of decedents dying on or after February 11, 1939, consists of, first, the basic tax, second, the additional tax, and, third, if the decedent died after June 25, 1940, and before September 21, 1941, the defense tax. Prior estate tax statutes are applicable to the estates of decedents who died before February 11, 1939.

The basic estate tax is imposed under subchapter A (Part II, section 810, estates of citizens or residents of the United States, and Part III, section 860, estates of nonresidents not citizens of the United States). The additional estate tax is imposed under subchapter B (section 935). The defense tax, imposed under subchapter C (section 951), as added by the Revenue Act of 1940 and repealed by the Revenue Act of 1941, is applicable to estates of decedents who died after June 25, 1940, and before September 21, 1941.

A credit is authorized against the basic estate tax (not in excess of 80 per cent thereof) for estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes paid a State, Territory, or the District of Columbia (or, if the decedent died after June 29, 1939, a possession of the United States). A specific exemption of $100,000 is authorized for the purpose of the basic estate tax in the case of a resident or citizen of the United States.

No credit is allowable against the additional estate tax for estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes paid a State, Territory, the District of Columbia, or any possession of the United States. A specific exemption of $40,000 is authorized for the purpose of the additional estate tax in the case of a resident or citizen of the United States.

Credits for Federal gift taxes are, under certain conditions and limitations, allowable against both the basic and the additional estate taxes. No specific exemption is authorized if the decedent was a nonresident not a citizen of the United States.

The Federal estate tax is neither a property nor an inheritance tax. It is imposed upon the transfer of the entire net estate and not upon any particular legacy, device, or distributive share. The relationship of the beneficiary to the decedent has no bearing on the question of liability or the extent thereof. The transfer of property is taxable although it escheats to the State for lack of heirs.*

§ 81.3 Gross estate. In addition to the general provisions of subsection (a) of section 811 requiring the inclusion in the gross estate of property (except real property situated outside the United States) to the extent of the interest therein of the decedent, other subsections of section 811 more specifically include in the gross estate for the purpose of the estate tax, as more fully explained hereafter in these regulations, certain transfers made during the decedent's life without an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth, joint estates with right of survivorship, tenancies by the entirety, life insurance even though payable to beneficiaries other than the estate, property over which the decedent exercised a general power of appointment and dower or courtesy of the surviving spouse or statutory estate in lieu thereof.*

§ 81.4. Net estate. The term "net estate" has a distinct meaning in the statute, signifying the difference between the total value of the gross estate and the total amount of the authorized deductions. There is no basis for tax if the value of the gross estate does not exceed the total amount of the authorized deductions, but whether taxable or not, a return must be filed for every estate, unless in the case of a resident or citizen the value of the gross estate at the date of death does not exceed the specific exemption of $40,000.*

§ 81.5 Definition of "resident" and "nonresident." A resident is one who, at the time of his death, had his domicile in the United States; or one who was a citizen of the United States at the time of death and with respect to whose property any probate or administration proceedings are had in the United States Court for China. (See section 851.) A missionary who, at the time of death, was serving as such under a foreign missionary board of any religious denomination in the United States, will be presumed to have died a resident of the United States, if domiciled therein at the time of his or her commission and departure for such service, and not a nonresident merely by reason of his or her intention to remain permanently in such service. (See section 850.)

All persons not residents of the United States as above defined, or to whom the presumption just stated does not apply, are nonresidents.

Section 3797 (a) (9) of the Internal Revenue Code provides that (where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof) the term "United States" when used in a geographical sense includes only the States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

A citizen of the United States is a nonresident if his domicile is in Puerto Rico, the Philippine Islands, or otherwise outside the United States as defined in section 3797 (a) (9), whereas a subject or citizen of a foreign country is a resident if his domicile is in the United States; i. e., in any of the States, the Territory of Alaska or Hawaii, or the District of Columbia. A person acquires a domicile in a place by living there, for even a brief period of time, with no definite present intention of later removing therefrom. Residence without the requisite intention to remain indefinitely will not suffice to constitute domicile, nor will intention to change domicile effect such a change unless accompanied by actual removal.

Different provisions control the determination of the tax liability of the estates of citizens or residents of the United States and the estates of nonresidents not citizens of the United States.*

DETERMINATION OF TAX LIABILITY

§ 81.6 Manner of determining liability. The first step in the determination of tax liability is to ascertain the total value of the decedent's gross estate. (See §§ 81.20 to 81.28, inclusive, also § 81.49.) The second step is to determine the total amount of the deductions authorized and to subtract such total from the value of the gross estate in order to arrive at the value of the net estate. (See §§ 81.29 to 81.48, inclusive, and §§ 81.50 to 81.55, inclusive.) The third step is to compute the tax and any allowable credits. (See §§ 81.7, 81.8, and 81.9.)

If the decedent was a resident or citizen of the United States, a net estate computed with a specific exemption of $100,000 must be determined for the purpose of the basic estate tax, and another net estate computed with a specific exemption of $40,000 must be determined for the purpose of the additional estate tax.*

§ 81.7 Rates and computation of tax. Both the basic estate tax and the additional estate tax are computed in accordance with progressively graduated rates. The basic tax schedule provides rates from 1 per cent on the first $50,000 to 20 per cent on any amount in excess of $10,000,000. The additional tax schedule applicable to estates of decedents dying after September 20, 1941, provides rates from 3 per cent on the first $5,000 to 77 per cent on any amount in excess of $10,000,000. The additional tax schedule applicable to estates of decedents dying on or before September 20, 1941, provides rates from 2 per cent on the first $10,000 to 70 per cent on any amount in excess of $50,000,000.

The gross basic tax is computed, in accordance with the basic tax schedule, on the value of the net estate determined for the purpose of the basic tax. The gross additional tax is ascertained by subtracting the gross basic tax from an amount computed, in accordance with the additional tax schedule applicable, on the value of the net estate determined for the purpose of the additional tax. In the case of a resident or citizen of the United States, the value of the net estate determined for the purpose of the basic tax differs from the value of the net estate determined for the purpose of the additional tax, since for the former a specific exemption of $100,000 is authorized while for the latter the amount of the specific exemption is $40,000.

Column (A) of the table sets forth the net estates of specified amounts to which the taxes shown in the first subcolumn of each of the numbered columns relate. Column (B) indicates the respective maximum limits to which the rates shown in the second subcolumn of each of the numbered columns are applicable. Column (1) of the table sets forth the gross basic tax upon net estates of specified amounts and the rate for the gross basic tax upon the excess of such amounts. Column (2) of the table sets forth the total gross basic and additional taxes for net estates of specified amounts in the case of decedents dying prior to September 21, 1941, and the rate for the total gross basic and additional taxes upon the excess of such amounts. Column (3) of the table sets forth the total gross basic and additional taxes for net estates of specified amounts in the case of decedents dying on or after September 21, 1941, and the rate for the total gross basic and additional taxes upon the excess of such amounts.

The net basic tax is obtained by subtracting any authorized credits for gift, estate, and inheritance taxes from the amount of the gross basic tax. The net additional tax is obtained by subtracting any further authorized credit for gift tax from the amount of the gross additional tax. The total estate tax payable is the sum of the net basic tax and the net additional tax, unless the decedent died after June 25, 1940, and before September 21, 1941. The defense tax, applicable if the decedent died after June 25, 1940, and before September 21, 1941, is obtained by computing 10 per cent of the total of the net basic and net additional taxes. If the decedent died within such period, the sum of the net basic and net additional taxes, plus the defense tax, is the total estate tax payable.

There is provided below a table for the computation of the estate tax imposed by the provisions of the Code, together with an explanation thereof:

An illustration of the table's use is as follows: The net estate for the basic estate tax amounts to $1,240,00. By reference to the table it will be seen that the specified amount in column (A) nearest to the value of the decedent's net estate but less than such value is $1,000,000. The tax upon this amount as indicated in column (1) opposite $1,000,000 in column (A) is $48,500. Upon the remainder of the net estate, $240,000, the tax is computed at the rate of 8 percent set out in the second subcolumn of column (1) opposite $1,000,000 in column (A). The tax on this remainder is, consequently, $19,200. The following result is thus obtained:

Tax on	$1,000,000	$48,500
Total	1,240,000	67,700

Example (1) (estate subject to both the basic tax and the additional tax, and involving credit for State inheritance tax). A resident decedent died July 15, 1939, leaving a net estate of the value of $210,000 after deducting the specific exemption of $100,000 allowed by section 812 (a). The tax shown in the first subcolumn of column (1) of the table on a net estate equaling $200,000 is $4,500. As $210,000 exceeds $200,000 and falls below $400,000, the tax on the excess of $10,000 is computed at the rate of 4 per cent, the rate shown in the second subcolumn of column (1). The $400 tax on such excess added to $4,500 gives $4,900, the gross basic tax computed under section 810. (Credit for gift tax is not involved in this example.) It will be assumed that the maximum amount of credit, $3,920, or 80 per cent of $4,900, is allowed for inheritance tax. The net basic tax is the difference between $4,900 and $3,920, or $980. For the purpose of the additional tax, the decedent's net estate after deducting the specific exemption of $40,000 is $270,000. The total gross basic and additional taxes shown in the first subcolumn of column (2) on a net estate equaling $200,000 is $26,600. As $270,000 exceeds $200,000 and falls below $400,000, the total gross taxes on the excess of $70,000 is computed at 20 per cent, the rate shown in the second subcolumn of column (2). The total gross taxes on such excess is, consequently, $14,000. The $14,000 added to the $26,600 gives $40,600, the total gross basic and additional taxes computed upon the net estate of $270,000 at the rates set forth under section 935. The difference between the total gross taxes, $40,600, and the gross basic tax, $4,900, is $35,700, the gross additional tax. As in this example no credit for gift tax is involved, the amount of the gross additional tax is the same as the net additional tax. The net basic tax $980, added to the net additional tax, $35,700, results in a total estate tax payable of $36,680. A tabulation of this example is as follows:

Gross basic tax	$4,900
Credit for gift tax	0
Gross basic tax, less credit for gift tax	4,900
Credit for estate or inheritance tax	3,920
Net basic tax	980
Total gross taxes (basic and additional taxes)	40,600
Gross basic tax	4,900
Gross additional tax	35,700
Credit for gift tax	0
Net additional tax	35,700
Total estate tax payable	36,680

Example (2) (estate subject only to the additional tax imposed by section 935). The gross estate of a resident decedent who died August 1, 1939, amounts to $85,000. Deductions for administration expenses and claims against the estate are allowed in the amount of $10,000, leaving $75,000 before the deduction of the specific exemption authorized by section 812 (a). As that exemption is $100,000, it is apparent that the estate is not subject to the basic tax under section 810. However, as the specific exemption authorized by subsection (c) of section 935 is only $40,000, the estate is subject to the additional tax imposed by that section. For the purpose of such additional tax the net estate amounts to $35,000. The tax shown in the first subcolumn of column (2) of the table on a net estate of $30,000 is $1,200. As $35,000 exceeds $30,000 and falls below $40,000, the tax on the excess of $5,000 is computed at 8 per cent, the rate shown in the second subcolumn of column (2). The tax on such excess is, consequently, $400. The $400 added to the $1,200 gives $1,600, the tax computed upon the net estate of $35,000 at the rates prescribed by section 935. Inasmuch as, in this example, the estate is not subject under section 810 to the basic tax, $1,600 is the gross additional tax under section 935. As credit for gift tax is not involved in this example, the gross additional tax is the same as the net additional tax. It will be noted that credit for estate or inheritance taxes is not allowable against the additional tax imposed by section 935.

Example (3) (estates subject to both the basic tax and the additional tax, and involving credits for State inheritance tax and for gift tax). The value of the gross estate of a resident decedent who died April 15, 1940, is $400,000 and the value of the net estate for the purpose of the basic tax is $225,000. The gross basic tax computed on that net estate is $5,500. (See illustration for use of table in computing the tax.) On January 15, 1940, the decedent, in contemplation of death, transferred certain real estate to his daughter as a gift. The value of the real estate as of the date of the gift, and as of the time of death, was $144,000. As the result of this gift, a gift tax was paid in the amount of $7,200 on a net gift of $100,000 after deducting an exclusion of $4,000 and the $40,000 specific exemption allowed by provisions of the gift tax chapter. As the value of the transferred real estate is included in the decedent's gross estate, a credit for gift tax is allowed against the gross basic tax in such amount as does not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the gross basic tax, $5,500, as the value at which the taxable gift ($144,000 less the gift tax exclusion of $4,000) is included in the gross estate bears to the value of the entire gross estate. (See section 81.8.) This ratio, which is ascertained by dividing $140,000 by $400,000, is 0.35. The credit for gift tax is, therefore, allowed in the amount which results from multiplying $5,500 by 0.35, or $1,925. The gross basic tax $5,500, less the credit for gift tax, is $3,575. It will be assumed that State inheritance taxes paid equal or exceed the maximum amount of the credit allowable therefor (80 per cent of the difference between the gross basic tax and and the gift tax credit). Accordingly, $2,860 is allowed as the credit for State inheritance taxes. The difference between $3,575 and $2,860 is $715, which is the net basic tax.

The net estate for the purpose of the additional tax is $285,000. The total gross basic and additional taxes computed in accordance with the table are $43,600. The difference between such total gross taxes and $5,500, the gross basic tax, is $38,100, the gross additional tax. The credit for gift tax against such gross additional tax (1) cannot exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the gross additional tax as the value at which the taxable gift is included in the gross estate bears to the value of the entire gross estate ($38,100, the gross additional tax, multiplied by 0.35 equals $13,335), and (2) cannot exceed the difference between the total amount of the gift tax paid and the credit for gift tax allowed against the gross basic tax. The credit here allowed is $7,200 less $1,925, or $5,275. A tabulation of this example is as follows:

Gross basic tax	$5,500
Credit for gift tax	1,925
Gross basic tax, less gift tax credit	3,575
Credit for estate or inheritance tax	2,860
Net basic tax	715
Total gross taxes (basic and additional taxes)	43,600
Gross basic tax	5,500
Gross additional tax	38,100
Credit for gift tax	5,275
Net additional tax	32,825
Total estate tax payable (net basic and additional taxes)	33,540

Example (4) (estate subject to the basic tax, the additional tax, and the defense tax, and involving credits for State inheritance tax and for gift tax). Assume the same facts stated in example (3) except that the date of the decedent's death is July 15, 1940. To the total net basic and additional taxes of $33,540 is added the defense tax of 10 per cent thereof, $3,354, resulting in a total estate tax payable of $36,894.

If the decedent died after September 20, 1941, the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1941, column (3) instead of column (2) of the table must be used in computing the total gross basic and additional taxes, and the defense tax is not applicable to such an estate.

SEC. 813. [Part II, Subchapter A.] CREDITS AGAINST TAX.

(a) Gift tax—(1) Revenue Act of 1924. In case a tax has been imposed under section 319 of the Revenue Act of 1924, 43 Stat. 313, as amended by section 324 of the Revenue Act of 1926, 44 Stat. 86, upon any gift, and thereafter upon the death of the donor the amount thereof is required by any provision of this subchapter to be included in the gross estate of the decedent then there shall be credited against and applied in reduction of the estate tax, which would otherwise be chargeable against the estate of the decedent under the provisions of this subchapter, an amount equal to the tax paid with respect to such gift; and in the event the donor has in any year paid the tax imposed by said section 319 with respect to a gift or gifts which upon the death of the donor must be included in his gross estate and a gift or gifts not required to be so included, then the amount of the tax which shall be deemed to have been paid with respect to the gift or gifts required to be so included shall be that proportion of the entire tax paid on account of all such gifts which the amount of the gift or gifts required to be so included bears to the total amount of gifts in that year.

(2) (As amended by Joint Resolution, approved March 17, 1941, Public Law 18, Seventy-seventh Congress, effective as of February 11, 1939.) Revenue Act of 1932 or Chapter 4. (A) If a tax has been paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932, 47 Stat. 245, on a gift, and thereafter upon the death of the donor any amount in respect of such gift is required to be included in the value of the gross estate of the decedent for the purposes of this subchapter, then there shall be credited against the tax imposed by section 810 or 860 the amount of the tax paid under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932 with respect to so much of the property which constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, except that the amount of such credit shall not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the tax imposed by section 810 or 860 as the value (at the time of the gift or at the time of the death, whichever is lower) of so much of the property which constituted the gift as is included in the gross estate, bears to the value of the entire gross estate.

(B) For the purposes of paragraph (A), the amount of tax paid for any year under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932 with respect to any property shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total tax paid for such year as the value of such property bears to the total amount of net gifts (computed without deduction of the specific exemption) for such year.

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1), the amount of tax paid for any year under chapter 4 or under Title III of the Revenue Act of 1932 with respect to any property shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total tax paid for such year as the value of such property bears to the total amount of net gifts (computed without deduction of the specific exemption) for such year.

(b) (as amended by section 403 of the Revenue Act of 1939, effective as of June 29, 1939, and by Joint Resolution, approved March 17, 1941, Public Law 18, Seventy-seventh Congress, effective as of February 14, 1939) Estate, succession, legacy, and inheritance taxes. The tax imposed by section 810 or 860 shall be credited with the amount of any estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes actually paid to any State or Territory or the District of Columbia or any possession of the United States, in respect of any property included in the gross estate (not including any such taxes paid with respect to the estate of a person other than the decedent). The credit allowed by this subsection shall not exceed 80 per centum of the tax imposed by section 810 or 860 (after deducting from such tax the credits provided by section 813(a)(2)), and shall include only such taxes as were actually paid and credit therefor claimed within four years after the filing of the return required by section 821 or 864, except that—

(1) If a petition for redetermination of a deficiency has been filed with the Board of Tax Appeals within the time prescribed in section 871, then within such four-year period or before the expiration of 60 days after the decision of the Board becomes final.

(2) If, under section 822(a)(2) or section 871(h), an extension of time has been granted for payment of the tax shown on the return, or of a deficiency, then within such four-year period or before the date of the expiration of the period of the extension.

SEC. 403. Revenue Act of 1939. CREDITS AGAINST ESTATE TAX OF TAX PAID TO POSSESSIONS.

(a) Section 813 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code (relating to the 80 per centum credit for estate, legacy, succession, and inheritance taxes paid) is amended by inserting after "District of Columbia," the following: "or any possession of the United States."

(b) The amendment made by subsection (a) shall be applicable only with respect to estates of decedents dying after the date of the enactment of this Act.

§ 81.8 Credit for gift tax. The estate is entitled, with certain limitations, to credit against the estate tax for Federal gift tax paid in respect of property included in the gross estate.

(a) Credit against the basic tax imposed by section 810 or section 860. Credit against the basic tax as authorized by section 813 (a) (2) for Federal gift tax paid on gifts made by the decedent cannot exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the gross basic tax as the value of the property which was included for the purpose of the gift tax and also included in the gross estate bears to the value of the entire gross estate. In computing this ratio, the value of such property is the value determined for the purpose of the gift tax or the value determined for the purpose of the estate tax, whichever is the lower. In accordance with section 813 (a) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, credit for the entire amount of gift tax paid under the Revenue Act of 1924 in respect of property included in the gross estate is allowed against the basic tax.

(b) Credit against the additional tax imposed by section 935. Credit against the additional tax as authorized by section 936 for Federal gift tax paid on gifts made by the decedent cannot exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to the gross additional tax as the value of the property which was included for the purpose of the gift tax and also included in the gross estate bears to the value of the entire gross estate. In computing this ratio, the value of sueh property is the value determined for the purpose of the gift tax or the value determined for the purpose of the estate tax, whichever is the lower. Furthermore, the credit cannot exceed the difference between the total amount of such gift tax paid and the amount of the credit therefor against the gross basic tax imposed by section 810 or section 860. No credit for gift tax paid under the Revenue Act of 1924 is allowed against the additional tax imposed by section 935.

Property included for the purpose of the gift tax and also included in the gross estate does not embrace any portion of the gift excluded under the provisions of the statute imposing the gift tax, and due allowance must be made for any such exclusions when computing the credit in accordance with the limitations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs (a) and (b). For example: A donor, in contemplation of death, transferred property valued at $100,000 to his five children subsequent to the effective date of the gift tax imposed by chapter 4 of the Internal Revenue Code, and paid the resulting tax. The property is thereafter included in his gross estate for the purpose of the estate tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code at a value of $90,000. As the total value of the property at the time of the gift was $100,000 and the amount of $20,000 was excluded under the provisions of section 1003 (b) (2), the amount of $80,000, or four-fifths of the property, was included for the purpose of the gift tax. As the total value of the property determined for the purpose of the estate tax is $90,000, the value of four-fifths thereof is $72,000. Since $72,000 is the lower of the two values ($80,000 and $72,000), this amount is used in computing the ratio.

If only a part of the property, included for the purpose of a gift tax imposed upon transfers made during a certain calendar year, is also included in the decedent's gross estate for the purpose of the estate tax, the gift tax paid in respect of such a part of the property is an amount which bears the same ratio to the total gift tax paid for such calendar year as the value of such part of the property bears to the total amount of the net gifts (computed without deduction of the specific exemption) for such year. For the purpose of computing this proportion the values finally determined for the purpose of the gift tax will control, irrespective of the values determined for the purpose of the estate tax.

If all of the property, included for the purpose of a gift tax imposed upon transfers made during a certain calendar year, is included in the decedent's gross estate for the purpose of the estate tax, the gift tax paid in respect of the property included in the gross estate is the amount of the gift tax paid for that calendar year.

Example. On May 15, 1940, a resident donor gave to his son personal property valued at $52,000, donated cash of $50,000 to a charitable organization, and, in contemplation of death, transferred to his wife real property valued at $100,000. The total amount of gifts for the year for the purpose of the gift tax was $190,000, the amount of $4,000 for each of the three donees being excluded from the total gifts under the provisions of chapter 4 of the Internal Revenue Code. After deducting $40,000 specific exemption and $46,000 for the gift to the charitable organization, the net gifts amounted $104,000. The gift tax of $7,710 on the net gifts was paid. The donor later died and the value of the real property transferred in contemplation of death was included in his gross estate for the purpose of the estate tax. The gift tax paid in respect of the property included in the gross estate is an amount which bears the same ratio to $7,710 as $96,000 bears to $144,000 or $5,140. Note that $96,000 is the portion of the real property subject to gift tax ($100,000 less the excluded $4,000) and that $144,000 is the amount of the net gifts computed without deduction of the specific exemption, $40,000.

The credit is allowable even though the gift tax is paid by the executor after the decedent's death and the amount of the gift tax is deductible from the gross estate as a debt of the decedent.

For a further illustration of the computation of gift tax credit, see example (3) in § 81.7.*

§ 81.9 Credit for estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes. Under certain conditions a credit is authorized against the basic Federal estate tax for estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes actually paid with respect to the estate of the decedent to any State or Territory or the District of Columbia. If the decedent died after June 29, 1939, the credit against the basic Federal estate tax, is, under the same conditions, authorized by section 813 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended by section 403 of the Revenue Act of 1939, for estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes paid to any State or Territory, the District of Columbia, or any possession of the United States. The credit is limited to 80 per cent of such Federal estate tax, after deduction of the credit allowed, if any, against such tax for Federal gift taxes paid. No credit for payment of estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes is allowed against the additional estate tax imposed by section 935. The credit is limited to the amount of the estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes paid to any State, Territory, possession of the United States, or the District of Columbia in respect of property included in the gross estate of the decedent for Federal estate tax purposes.

The credit is also limited to such taxes as were actually paid and credit therefor claimed within four years after the filing of the return, required by section 821 or 864 except as otherwise provided in this paragraph. If a petition was filed with the Board of Tax Appeals for the redetermination of a deficiency within the time prescribed by section 871 (a) (see § 81.73), the credit is limited to such taxes as were actually paid and credit therefor claimed within four years after the filing of the return or before the expiration of 60 days after the decision of the Board becomes final, whichever period is the longer. If an extension of time has been granted for payment of the tax shown on the return or of a deficiency under section 822 (a) (2) or section 871 (h), the credit is limited to such taxes as were actually paid and credit therefor claimed within four years after the filing of the return or before the date of the expiration of the extension, whichever period is the longer. Should the executor, in accordance with the provisions of sections 925 and 926, elect to postpone the payment of the Federal estate tax attributable to a reversionary or remainder interest, the credit allowable against the basic tax attributable to such interest is limited to estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes attributable to such interest as are actually paid to any State or Territory or the District of Columbia (or, if the decedent died after June 29, 1939, to any possession of the United States) and credit therefor claimed prior to the expiration of 60 days after the termination of the precedent interest. (See section 927 of the Internal Revenue Code and § 81.79 (b) of these regulations.)

Refund based on the credit, despite the provisions of sections 910, 911, and 912, will be made if claim therefor is filed within the period provided for filing claim for credit. Such refunds will be made without interest.

Before the Commissioner allows any credit for any estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes, there must be submitted to him the following:

(a) Certificate of the proper officer of the taxing State, Territory, District of Columbia, or possession of the United States showing: (1) the total amount of tax imposed (before adding interest and penalties and before allowing discount); (2) the amount of discount allowed; (3) the amount of penalties and interest imposed or charged; (4) the total amount actually paid in cash; and (5) the date of payment.

(b) A certificate of the above-mentioned officer showing whether (1) a claim for refund of such taxes or any part thereof is pending and (2) whether a refund of such taxes or any part thereof has been authorized. If any refund has been made, the date, the amount thereof, and a description of the property or interest in respect to which such refund was made must be shown in the certificate.

The evidence described above should be filed with the return, but if that is not convenient or possible, then it should be submitted as soon thereafter as practicable.

The Commissioner may require the submission of such additional proof as is deemed necessary to establish the right to the credit. For example, he may require an itemized list of the property in respect to which such taxes were imposed by the State, Territory, District of Columbia, or possession of the United States, certified by the officer having custody of the records pertaining to such taxes, and an affidavit of the executor stating whether any litigation has been instituted, or appeal taken, or any such action is designed or contemplated, either by him or, to his knowledge, by any beneficiary or other person, the final determination of which may affect the amount of such taxes.

If, subsequent to the allowance of a credit by the Commissioner, a refund is made of any such estate, inheritance, legacy, or succession taxes, the executor, or if the refund is made after the executor is discharged, then any person or persons to whom the refund is made, is required to advise the Commissioner of the date of the refund and the amount thereof, to furnish the Commissioner with a description of the property or interest in respect of which the refund was made, and to pay the Federal estate tax, if any, due as a result of such refund, together with interest.*

GROSS ESTATE—VALUATION

SEC. 811. [Part II, Subchapter A.] GROSS ESTATE.

The value of the gross estate of the decedent shall be determined by including the value at the time of his death of all property, real or personal, tangible or intangible, wherever situated, except real property situated outside of the United States—

* * * * *

(j) Optional valuation. If the executor so elects upon his return (if filed within the time prescribed by law or prescribed by the Commissioner in pursuance of law), the value of the gross estate shall be determined by valuing all the property included therein on the date of the decedent's death as of the date one year after the decedent's death, except that (1) property included in the gross estate on the date of death and, within one year after the decedent's death, distributed by the executor (or, in the case of property included in the gross estate under subsection (c), (d), or (f) of this section, distributed by the trustee under the instrument of transfer), or sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of, shall be included at its value as of the time of such distribution, sale, exchange, or other disposition, whichever first occurs, instead of its value as of the date one year after the decedent's death, and (2) any interest or estate which is affected by mere lapse of time shall be included at its value as of the time of death (instead of the later date) with adjustment for any difference in its value as of the later date not due to mere lapse of time. No deduction under this subchapter of any item shall be allowed if allowance for such item is in effect given by the valuation under this subsection. Wherever in any other subsection or section of this chapter, reference is made to the value of property at the time of the decedent's death, such reference shall be deemed to refer to the value of such property used in determining the value of the gross estate. In case of an election made by the executor under this subsection, then for the purposes of the deduction under section 812 (d) or section 861 (a) (3), any bequest, legacy, devise, or transfer enumerated therein shall be valued as of the date of decedent's death with adjustment for any difference in value (not due to mere lapse of time or the occurrence or nonoccurrence of a contingency) of the property as of the date one year after the decedent's death (substituting the date of sale or exchange in the case of property sold or exchanged during such one-year period).

SEC. 802. [Part I, Subchapter A.] APPLICATION OF PARTS.

Part II shall apply to the estates of citizens or residents of the United States and, except as otherwise provided, to the estates of nonresidents not citizens of the United States, subject to the exceptions and additional provisions contained in Part III. * * *

§ 18.10 Valuation of property—(a) General. The value of every item of property includible in the gross estate is the fair market value thereof at the time of the decedent's death; or, if the executor elects in accordance with the provisions of § 81.11, it is the fair market value thereof at the date therein prescribed or such value adjusted as therein set forth. The fair market value is the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller, neither being under any compulsion to buy or to sell. The fair market value of a particular kind of property includible in the gross estate is not to be determined by a forced sale price. Such value is to be determined by ascertaining as a basis the fair market value as of the applicable valuation date of each unit of the property. For example, in the case of shares of stock or bonds, such unit of property is a share or a bond. All relevant facts and elements of value as of the applicable valuation date should be considered in every case.

(b) Real estate. The property should not be returned at the local assessed value thereof unless such value represents the fair market value as of the applicable valuation date. (See § 81.12 for the manner of listing and describing real estate.)

(c) Stocks and bonds. The value of stocks and bonds, within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code, is the fair market value per share or bond on the applicable valuation date.

In the case of stocks and bonds listed on a stock exchange the mean between the highest and lowest quoted selling prices on the valuation date shall be considered as the fair market value per share or bond. If there were no sales on the valuation date, such value shall be determined by taking the mean between the highest and lowest sales on the nearest date before and the nearest date after the valuation date (both such nearest dates being within a reasonable period), and by prorating the difference between such mean prices to the valuation date, and by adding or subtracting, as the case may be, such prorated portion of the difference to or from the mean price obtaining on such nearest date before the valuation date. For example, assume that sales of stock nearest the valuation date (June 15) occurred two days before (June 13) and three days after (June 18) and that on such days the mean sale prices per share were $10 and $15, respectively. The price of $12 shall be taken as representing the fair market value of a share of such stock as of the valuation date. If, however, on June 13 and June 18 the mean sale prices per share were $15 and $10, respectively, the price of $13 shall be taken as representing the fair market value of a share of such stock as of the valuation date. If the security was listed on more than one exchange, the records of the exchange where the security is principally dealt in should be employed. In valuing listed stocks and bonds the executor should observe care to consult accurate records to obtain values as of the applicable valuation date.

In the case of stocks and bonds which are not listed upon an exchange, but are dealt in through brokers, or have a market, the fair market value shall be determined by taking the mean between the highest and lowest selling prices as of the valuation date; or, if there were no sales on that date, such value shall be determined by taking the mean between the highest and lowest sales on the nearest date before and the nearest date after the valuation date (both such nearest dates being within a reasonable period), and by prorating the difference between such mean prices to the valuation date, and by adding or subtracting, as the case may be, such prorated portion of the difference to or from the mean price obtaining on such nearest date before the valuation date. If quotations are obtained from brokers, or evidence as to the sale of securities is obtained from the officers of the issuing companies, the executor should preserve in his files the letters furnishing such quotations or evidence of sale for inspection when the return is verified by an investigating officer.

If actual sales are not available during a reasonable period beginning before and ending after the valuation date, the fair market value may be determined by taking the mean between the bona fide bid and asked prices on the nearest date before and the nearest date after the valuation date (both such nearest dates being within a reasonable period), and by prorating the difference between such mean prices to the valuation date, and by adding or subtracting, as the case may be, such prorated portion of the difference to or from the mean price obtaining on such nearest date before the valuation date.

If actual sale prices or quoted bona fide bid and asked prices are available on a date within a reasonable period prior to the valuation date, but if no actual sale prices or bona fide bid and asked prices are available on a date within a reasonable period after the valuation date, or vice versa, then the mean between such highest and lowest available sale prices or bid and asked prices may be taken as the value.

If actual sales or bona fide bid and asked prices are not available, then, in the case of corporate or other bonds, the value is to be arrived at by giving consideration to the soundness of the security, the interest yield, the date of maturity, and other relevant factors, and in the case of shares of stock, upon the basis of the company's net worth, earning power, dividend-paying capacity, and all other relevant factors having a bearing upon the value of the stock. Complete financial and other data upon which the valuation is based should be submitted with the return.

In cases in which it is established that the value per bond or share of any security determined on the basis of selling or bid and asked prices as herein provided does not reflect the fair market value thereof, then some reasonable modification of such basis or other relevant facts and elements of value shall be considered in determining fair market value.

The full value of securities pledged to secure an indebtedness of the decedent should be included in the gross estate. If the decedent had a trading account with a broker, all securities belonging to the decedent and held by the broker at the date of death must be included at their fair market value as of the applicable valuation date. Securities purchased on margin for the decedent's account and held by a broker should also be returned at their fair market value as of the applicable valuation date. The amount of the decedent's indebtedness to a broker or other person with whom securities were pledged will be allowed as a deduction from the gross estate in accordance with §§ 81.29, 81.36, and 81.52. (See § 81.12 for manner of listing and describing stocks and bonds.)
